

PERSONAL, POLITICAL AND PERTINENT.

A San Diego, Cal., woman who was pestered, as many folks are, by other people's chickens scratching up her flower beds and littering up her yard, hit upon a novel scheme of conveying a gentle hint to her neighbors.

Iowa numbers among its little incidental crops this year 200,000,000 bushels of oats, averaging forty-seven bushels to the acre.

Col. Graves of the Union Ledger apologises to the readers of his paper this week for the lack of news, stating that he cut a large-sized sandwich out of his hand last Friday, while cutting paper, and has found the task of setting type rather difficult since then.

Col. Sherman, who was here when the hills about Glenwood were covered with their natural green, enjoyed the carnival. The colonel, who now publishes the Plattsmouth Weekly Journal, is something of a horticulturalist himself, and was pleased with all he saw.

Alabama woman who has been married to thirteen different men, has just gone where, according to the best authority, there is neither marrying nor giving in marriage. It is a puzzle to surviving friends: how she will contrive to amuse herself.

Girls under 18 in Michigan who are matrimonially inclined and don't care to wait, are much annoyed by the new law which compels them to obtain the written consent of their parents before they can be led to the altar.

John Withrow of Everett, Pa., had hiccougs, and the doctors could not furnish him relief. His mother-in-law procured a gun and crept under the bed. When they were alone she pulled the trigger, but she had aimed the weapon upward.

The Omaha World-Herald has commenced a $50,000 damage suit against the Bee Publishing company, for printing an article alleged to be injurious to the World-Herald's financial standing and credit among its advertisers.

I. O. Montie, a beardless youth of twenty, and Cora Adams, a giddy "young" maiden of thirty-eight, both residents of Council Bluffs, have eloped to St. Louis, where they were married. The boy's papa is very angry and declares that the "girl" kidnapped his son.

G. W. Chapman of York has an apple tree which he claims has produced four crops of fruit this year. The first apples ripened in June, the second crop is now ripe, the third is nearly full grown and the fourth is blossoming out.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Nebawka bank Oct. 1st, Geo. I. Sheldon was elected president, to succeed C. H. Parmelee. L. C. Polard was re-elected vice-president and D. C. West cashier.

We are to have a real Adamless Eden. "Dr. Mary Walker," says a dispatch from Oswego, N. Y., "has bought a farm containing 135 acres of land seven miles west of that city and proposes to form a colony in which men shall have no part. Only females who will bind themselves to a life of celibacy, while members of the community, and to wear bloomers for life are to be eligible."

Alarmed by the growing frequency and boldness of train robberies, the officials of the Chicago & Northwestern railway have determined to take away from temptation of the Jesse James species of highwayman one of the most luring prizes carried over the iron rails through the west.

The Plattsmouth Tribune outfit that came down from Omaha to revolutionize the republican cause in Cass county was small potatoes and far between, and last week it returned to its favorite wallow—Omaha. We understand, however, that one of the proprietors will build on the old Tribune foundation and continue the "revolutionization" business at the old stand.—Elmwood Echo.

Over fifty people are claiming the $500 reward, for the capture of the Brady Island train robbers, offered by the Union Pacific company.

The governor has issued his proclamation for an election on November 5, of a judge of the supreme court, two regents of the state university, district judges in all the judicial districts, one senator in the Thirteenth district, one representative each in the Forty-fifth, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth and two in the Tenth districts to fill vacancies.

The man who thinks a newspaper will suspend because he quit taking it, is like the man who took a drink from Lake Michigan and then looked along the shore to see how much he had lowered the water.

That it is impossible for a man to maintain a character inconsistent with his business has been well illustrated in the case of James J. Corbett. The title "Gentleman Jim," has become a misnomer, and the once gentleman of the prize ring is now nothing more than a tough.

A Georgian, who witnessed the reception of the union veterans at Louisville, Chattanooga and Atlanta, suggests that some northern city should now invite the Confederate Veterans' Association to hold a reunion in the north. There are several cities that would be glad to welcome and entertain the confederate veterans, and Chicago is among them, but there is no general association of ex-confederate veterans to correspond to the Grand Army of the Republic, and it would be more difficult to arrange for such a reunion.

Some citizens assume that when they have paid a year's subscription to a newspaper, they have a right to control and dictate its policy. The time has gone by when any newspaper depends longer upon the patronage of any man who would make the editor his servant. The citizen who realizes that the newspaper is a business institution in the city or town where it is located; that it is entitled to consideration as such, is the one whose good opinion is of value.

Dense volumes of smoke were seen rising heavenward and the flames shot up and seemed to lick the very skies; the seething mass flared and spluttered, not unlike a cauldron of molten lead. The situation was terrible. Would no one save her? Was there no hope of escape? Ah, yes! A gallant fireman is seen to mount a ladder, a rope was thrown and the fireman cries for the victim to save herself.

Among the delegates from Cass to the judicial convention was Jacob Valery, Sr., aged eighty-three years. Mr. Valery enjoys the phenomenal distinction of having attended every national democratic convention since 1845, and, judging from appearances, he will be physically able to attend at least one more.—Nebraska City Press.

A very clever forgery has just come to light at Talmage. Some time ago a note for $60 was brought to the bank and discounted, and, as it had Nick P'hlelan's signature to it, the bank was confident the note was good. But now it turns out the signature was a forgery and no one knows who committed the crime.—Nebraska City News.

Like some very wise doctors, who shy at their own medicine, Pierre Lorillard, the tobacco manufacturer, does not use the weed in any form. He is too familiar with its composition.

Alarmed by the growing frequency and boldness of train robberies, the officials of the Chicago & Northwestern railway have determined to take away from temptation of the Jesse James species of highwayman one of the most luring prizes carried over the iron rails through the west.

Beginning with the current month the Northwestern company pays its rolls by checks on Chicago banks instead of in currency and gold as heretofore. This change marks the passing of the pay car.

This morning's Omaha Bee contained the following interesting bit of reminiscence:

"Some very strange things occurred in Nebraska in the early days," said a Plattsmouth man at the Millard last night. "Not the least of these was an occurrence recently recalled to my mind by meeting one of the principal actors in a business deal."

"Well, it all worked. The crowd met the sheriff in camp at night and demanded the prisoner. The sheriff played his part so well the mob concluded he meant it and would not make a move to take the prisoner. He was brought to Plattsmouth, where he proved an unmistakable alibi and was released. Today he is one of Cass county's best citizens, as is also the sheriff who had him in charge."

Take your jewelry repairing to Coleman, Plattsmouth.

L. G. Todd's identity. There is at least one young man in town who is not likely to soon forget L. G. Todd. Friday evening "Gov." Todd was addressing an interested audience in front of the Waterman block, just after the convention adjourned.

The "Plan Sifter" flour is the popular brand. Ask for it from your grocer. Was a Fake Hold-Up. J. N. Simmons, the postmaster at Bell, Ia., who was arrested for raiding postoffice funds at Nebraska City, and now in jail here, has confessed to P. W. Harding of the firm of Harding & Harding of Charter Oak, Ia., attorneys for the St. Paul and Kansas City Grain company, that in October, 1894, he was not robbed, as reported at the time by him, but that he embezzled the money, amounting to $200. He claimed at the time that he was robbed on the public highway by two masked men. An affidavit by Simmons, to the effect that he was not robbed, and that he used the money for private purposes, is now in possession of the company's attorneys.

I am now located on west Vine street, No 1203, where I solicit the patronage of one and all. Work done promptly and satisfaction guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Please call. Mrs. E. WEAMER. Geo. Another Rumor from Jackson's Hole. A dispatch in last Monday's World-Herald from Salt Lake City, Utah, says: "J. H. Wilson, who lives near Jackson's Hole, reported at Idaho Falls, Idaho, yesterday that Captain Smith, who precipitated the Indian troubles in the Jackson Hole country last July, and two other white men were killed by Indians on October 3. The killing took place at the lower end of Jackson's Hole, the victims being shot from ambush."

"Wilson, the man who brought the news, and Constable Manning, who were scouting in the locality of the shooting, saw the bodies of the murdered men. The names of Smith's companions could not be learned."

To the afflicted: Several years ago I discovered a slight falling and bleeding of the lower bowel which increased and became very distressing. I made inquiry as to the nature of the disease and learned that I had a somewhat aggravated case of Hemorrhoids or Piles.
