WHAT a nice scheme it is for the A. P. A. influence to secure a nomination and then figure to get Catholics to elect the candidates.

DEMOCRATIC chances are improving every day. Its candidates are unimpeachable for integrity and unapproachable in character. And as the time goes by it is apparent that they are winners.

GEORGE SPURLOCK, the republican candidate for county judge, went out campaigning last week. We could give him a pointer that he had better stay at home. His boyish manner does not impress one very powerfully with the dignity expected of the county judge.

BILLY WHEELER, the next sheriff of Cass county, will fill that office with credit to his party and the people in general. His record is clean and he will receive the undivided support of the democracy and enough votes from other parties to give him a handsome majority.

For county treasurer the democrats could not have nominated a better man than Jacob Tritsch. He is a man in whom the people have the utmost confidence, having faithfully and conscientiously served them as county commissioner. A vote for Mr. Tritsch is a vote for an honest and capable man.

MICHAEL ARCHER, the candidate for county judge, needs no introduction to the people of Cass county. He is well versed in law, has been police judge and justice of the peace several years and his record will creditably stand the closest scrutiny. Judge Archer will be elected by a good majority.

The republicans are badly scared, and are defending their candidates against imaginary charges. The Press this morning has a lot of figures trying to prove what Judge Chapman has and has not done. When it is necessary to write such articles the candidate must indeed be in a bad way.—Nebraska City News.

B. S. RAMSEY was recommended by the committee at Union on Friday, the 11th, for favorable consideration of the Independent voters, and the committee asked that he be given the support of the people's party, as they considered him a just and fair judge and on many things in accord with the people.—Independent Citizen.

THE JUDGESHIP IN OTOE.

Among its political notes the Nebraska City News of the 19th has the following:

"The republicans realize that Judge Chapman has but little show of being elected. He cannot carry his own county, and already his backers here are offering to trade off the entire county ticket for votes for Chapman. A prominent republican said to a News man last evening: 'This way of campaigning is despicable, and only hurts rather than aids the candidate in whose favor such a move is made. I have been approached in regard to the matter, but refused to have anything to do with it. I am not in favor of sacrificing the whole ticket for Chapman, for I do not consider him the proper man for the place; but even if I had been going to vote for him I would not do it now when his friends offer to sell out the whole ticket for his benefit. They, of course, will deny this, but I can produce at least a dozen republicans who have been approached on the subject.' Chapman's friends realize that the tide of public sentiment is against him, and that aside from one member of the bar in this county he will not get a vote. Some of the legal fraternity openly assert that they will have to give up practice if Chapman is re-elected, for they cannot get justice in his court. This is a grave charge, but it was openly made by republican members of the bar before and after his nomination. If the bar cannot get justice, then, for goodness sake, what will the people do who have to go into his court? The people want a good, honest man, and that man is Basil S. Ramsey. Vote for him and you will have no reason to complain when you are compelled to go into court to get justice."

THE failure of the great Morse dry goods house in Omaha some time since, is now followed by that of Falconer & Co. This is much more astonishing, because nobody suspected that anything of the sort was possible. With the recurrence of these misfortunes comes the question, "who'll be the next?" Has Shylock not had enough? Must the business community be crushed beneath the iron heel of the gold standard? Is there no help for the people? Must low prices be succeeded by still lower prices, until universal bankruptcy and ruin comes upon the land? Where are the boasted good times that were so glibly promised? Can not men see that we must go on from bad to worse unless bimetalism is adopted?

THIS thing of partisanship sometimes covers a multitude of sins. There's John M. Thurston who is looked up to and almost worshipped because he is a republican, has a glib tongue and lots of gall, is drawing a salary of $5,000 a year as senator in congress, and is also drawing a big salary ($12,000 a year, it is said) as chief solicitor for the Union Pacific railway receivers. If he were to call himself a democrat nothing too mean could be said of him. After his election to the senate last winter he went to Washington and lobbied to secure the passage of a bill in the interest of the stockholders of that company, yet republicans who imagine that democrats are the worst people on earth take no exception to that sort of conduct. As we said in the beginning of this paragraph, partisanship covers a multitude of sins. If Thurston were a poor devil his conduct would not be tolerated.

JOHN M. THURSTON is now on a new tack. He used to favor coining the American product of silver, with the condition that every feather in the eagle's tale should stand rampant. Now he wants inter-national bimetalism—England's consent, but, unfortunately for John's mortgage ridden constituents, England says she will never consent. She is has a soft snap and proposes to hold on to it. With two substantial salaries, Mr. Thurston needn't hear any wolf howling at his door for the next five years.—Butler County Press.

THE regular annual meeting of the Pullman company was held yesterday afternoon, and the usual quarterly dividend of 2 per cent declared. This 2 per cent was declared on a valuation four times the cost of the plant, and still there is a surplus of ten millions of dollars set aside. Pullman is a man who reduced already low wages because he could not pay more. Pullman and his ilk have grown rich under the fostering care of a tariff system that benefitted them at the expense of the producers and the weary toilers.—Fremont Herald.

WHAT do the goldites mean when they say the government must retire the greenback and get out of the banking business? They mean that the United States shall get out of the governing business and surrender the sovereign power to coin money and regulate the value thereof to the national banks, and pay the banks interest on the money which the national banks loan to the public for such interest as avarice may dictate.—Silver Knight.

OUR readers will not fail to observe the action taken by the committee appointed by the populist judicial convention to represent the party in the matter of nominating a candidate for judge of this second judicial district. This committee met last week and after thoroughly discussing the situation, passed resolutions recommending Judge B. S. Ramsey to the favorable consideration of the populists of this district. This action of the committee will doubtless carry much weight and ought to result in influencing populists to cast their votes solidly for Judge Ramsey, who is entitled to the support of every honest citizen who believes that our judiciary should be divorced from politics. Judge Ramsey is the present county judge of Cass county, and is serving his third term, having been elected three times in a strong republican county. His course as county judge is universally approved and meets with the approbation of all honest citizens, irrespective of politics. No such damaging charges are made against him as are preferred against Judge Chapman by all classes of people, of favoritism, fraud and collusion. Ramsey is a man who can safely be trusted, and who will preside over the judicial tribunal with impartiality, honesty and ability.—Otoe County Progress (Ind.)

THE spectacle of the Omaha World-Herald opposing the election of Charles H. Brown, no matter by whom he was nominated, and favoring that of W. J. Broatch is a sight for the gods. Has Mr. Hitchcock gone daft from an attack of Rosewaterphobia, and completely lost his head? It looks that way to an outsider who has none but the best of wishes for him and his paper. Why, in a personal, public and political sense Charles Brown is worth a dozen such narrow-minded bigots as Mr. Broatch, and if the tall young man in the editorial room of the World-Herald had not gone completely daft he would know it, too. It would be a pleasure to every democrat in the state to see the World-Herald back in the democratic harness, supporting the ticket endorsed by the Douglas county democrats, even if that ticket is supported by the Bee.

THE republican press is publishing the statement that "Louisiana lost just $14,216,549 last year by having the sugar bounty cut off by a democratic congress." By which token it is proven that the good people of the United States saved just that amount in taxes which would have been divided among not more than 700 greedy planters of Louisiana had the McKinley monstrosity continued on the statute books. Besides, had this bounty been continued the sugar beet growers in Nebraska would by this time have found out that their business would have been short-lived and unprofitable. This bounty business is a good thing—for those who receive the bounty—but for nobody else.

AL. BEMER, the man who contracted with the board of lands and buildings to feed the convicts, but was prevented from doing so by order of the governor, whose consent was necessary to make his contract legal, is pleased to be able to draw $4000 a month from the state treasury for not feeding them. The penitentiary contractors are so infected with the mania for robbing the state that they are not satisfied with doing honest work. It makes no difference whether they earn the money or not, so the state treasury opens its doors to them.

THE latest sensation in republican circles is the declaration recently made by Platt, the boss of New York republicans, that "we want no more Ohio men for President." Sometime since he gave out a declaration of hostility to Harrison which sent that statesman into practical retirement, and now he has aimed a blow at McKinley which will try the sticking powers of the Ohio tariffite. Mr. Platt is openly favoring the nomination of Mr. Morton, but it is shrewdly guessed that he would prefer to see the man from Maine carry off the honors of the presidential nomination.

WHAT does McKinley mean when he says that he cannot express an opinion on the Cuban question or on other public questions, "on account of his position." His position as governor of Ohio or as a demagogue seeking the republican nomination for president? A statesman courageous enough to advocate an addition of 40 per cent to the price of clothing, should be courageous enough to say whether he is in favor of Spain or Cuba.

Another Endorsement.

After a long and hard fought battle the democratic delegations of Cass and Otoe counties, have agreed upon a candidate for judge of the second district. As both counties had an equal number of delegates, and both candidates being honorable and highly respected men, consequently the nomination proved to be a closely contested one. Hayden and Ramsey are both democrats as pure as water and as clear as crystal. How the Otoe county democrats have again conceded is a puzzle to many, but great honor is due them for their action. Mr. Hayden himself asked his delegation to vote for his opponent, which goes to show that he is not an office seeker or boodle politician, and as the Otoe county democrats sacrificed their candidate to his opponent it goes to show that they set their self interest aside and labored for the general welfare of their party; this they proved by nominating Judge Ramsey as their leader and banner carrier. Judge Ramsey enjoys the general good will of the people. His personal knowledge and experience as a jurist is a guarantee that the bench of the second district will be honorably filled, honorably conducted, and honorably carried out.—Nebraska Staats Zeitung. [Translated from the German.]

"To elect the entire democratic ticket in this county it is only necessary that every democratic voter should go to the polls. The only possible danger of defeat is from those who think one vote isn't much and stay at home in the orn field. The cleanest, best ticket ever put up in the county was nominated by the democrats and it behooves every democrat to see that it is elected. The republicans who desire the offices in the hands of good, clean, honest MEN are requested to look the ticket over carefully and give the candidates their vote. They are all good men and men who will fill the offices as they should be and will faithfully perform their duty." The above was written of Otoe county by the Nebraska City News, but it is just as true of Cass as of Otoe.

NOW THAT the democrats of this judicial district couldn't work the independents into endorsing B. S. Ramsey for district judge their hopes of electing him are rather slim. Mr. Ramsey is a good man and has made an able county judge, but as to his comparison with Judge Chapman's ability to sit on the judicial he falls far short. Chapman is the man for that place.—Elmwood Echo.

Mr. Chapman also failed to work the independents. Now, what are you complaining about? It is a fair race and let the best man win.

EASTERN democrats, who apparently haven't enjoyed the gold standard to its full fruition, are doing much talking just now in favor of the renomination of Mr. Cleveland next year. What nonsense! Why, he couldn't carry a county in the whole United States, and those fellows ought to know it. He is the dearest duck in politics in the country, unless it be Carlisle. The next democratic nominee will be a free coinage man, without a shadow of a doubt.

THE National Democrat is the title of a newspaper published in Chicago with Charles R. Tuttle as editor. Its name indicates its politics in general. It has been set on foot as the advocate of bimetalism, and if received with any cordiality will be followed by the publication of a daily. Its editorials commend the National Democrat as an able, dispassionate exponent of true democracy. The price of the weekly is 50 cents a year. Send in your name and money.

If the gold standard is a good thing, and we have it, why are times still bad? "The fear of free silver" used to be blamed for every calamity; now Secretary Carlisle says the silver question is dead, and yet failures continue and business does not improve. What excuse will they give now? When did a goldbug ever prophesy truly?—World-Herald.

ISN'T it a very suspicious fact that ninety-nine out of a hundred of the bankers and money-lenders of the county are in favor of the gold standard? They all want the dollar to increase in value, so that when they get back the money they have loaned, it will represent more property than when it was loaned out.

THE republicans are in a fearful muddle, and the factions are about to engage in a war to the knife. There is evidence on hand to show that the county ticket will be cut to save Judge Chapman, if possible, and also that some of the candidates on the county ticket will try to save themselves, even if they have to do it at Chapman's expense.
