

Several World's Records Broken.
From Friday's Daily.

The dirt track at the Denver Wheel club park maintained its reputation for being the fastest track in America by having three records broken yesterday in the opening races of the national circuit meet.

The first record to go was the one-mile open, class A, paced by the quad ridden by Crowell, Pippin, Beck and Banks. C. C. Collins followed the quad so closely as to clip off two seconds from the former record of 2:04 1/5. Harry Clark of Denver went for the one-mile, class A, un-paced record of 2:10 held by A. B. Hughes of Denver, and succeeded in cutting down to 2:05 1/5, a world's record that will probably stand for the remainder of this racing season. The third record to be changed was the one-mile quad time, which was 1:54. Stone, Swanborough, Dixon and Connibear, with all conditions favorable, lowered the time to 1:47 4/5.

Orlanda Stevens, the Ottumwa wonder bicycle rider, reduced the quarter-mile un-paced record at Hedrik, Iowa, in the sensational time of 2:31 1/5, lowering the world's record for that distance.

NEW TWO-YEAR-OLD COLT RECORD.
The two-year-old colt, Tommy Britton, yesterday afternoon wiped out all race records at Lexington, Ky., by placing himself in a class alone, as "the incomparable." The record for two-year-old fillies of 2:16 1/2, held jointly by Sillican and Impetuous, has been beaten by half a second, and the honored title that Oakland Baron held as the king of racing colt trotters has passed and a new name is written above all others, and Tommy Britton, 2:16 1/2, is the king of his age, and by conservative horsemen is regarded as the greatest one ever bred.

Obituary.
Sarah, the beloved wife of E. B. Sampson, departed this life at two o'clock Thursday afternoon at the family residence in South Park, after suffering for some time with cancer of the stomach.

Mrs. Sampson was known as a devout Christian lady, and a loving wife and mother. Mr. and Mrs. Sampson and family removed to this city from Glenwood, Iowa, some eighteen years ago, and have resided here ever since. A husband and nine children are left to mourn her loss, and are as follows: Mrs. D. F. Foster, Mrs. Val Burkel, Will, Robert, James and David Sampson, of this city, Mrs. Alice Curtis, of Sedalia, Mo., Mrs. Nellie Creanin, of Tacoma, Washington, and Fred Sampson, of Columbus, Ohio.

The funeral occurred on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock from the M. E. church, Rev. Couffer, officiating, and the remains were interred at Oak Hill cemetery.

Puts on a New Engine.

The Burlington has put into service a new engine on the fast mail between Omaha and Chicago that promises to be something of a record breaker. The engine is No. 590 and has just been given its trial tests at Galesburg, and is being used for a few days on passenger trains between Chicago and Galesburg and will then be put in the fast mail service. On the trial trips the engine, attached to four cars, made a mile in forty-three seconds, and on longer distances struck and maintained a speed of sixty-six miles an hour. In spurts it made an average of seventy-six miles an hour, and when once in active service is expected to furnish some records in fast time.—Bee.

In enumerating the agricultural and horticultural blessings of a bountiful Providence this year, dear brethren, let us not forget the meek and lowly pumpkin. The pumpkin is not as pretty as a peach or a bunch of luscious grapes. Its neck is too small and its belly too large for horticultural beauty, but when the innards of the pumpkin get into a stew and become involved between the upper and nether crusts of an old Virginia pie crust, we'd like to see the human palate that wouldn't be tickled to death with the performance.—Nebraska City News.

PERSONAL, POLITICAL AND PERTINENT.

Some joys of life make me most sad,
When I think of how I miss 'em,
The girls I want to kiss are those
Who don't want me to kiss 'em.

India is railway crazy. It is reported that the director general of railways in India has approved of forty-five new railway projects which, when carried out, will add over 6,000 miles to the railway. The friends of progress in India declare they must have 60,000 miles of railways. India seems to be waking up.

"Some of these days," muttered the cannibal, "they will be ringing horse meat in on me in place of corned missionary."

In the hands of an artist truly great the camera is mightier than Munchausen. Photographs of an eleven foot California mummy are chasing pictures of the eighty-six pound Colorado potato around the country.

Taylor, the defaulting ex-treasurer of South Dakota, who was sentenced to confinement for only two years for getting away with some $300,000 of the people's money, is to serve his time in the Sioux Falls penitentiary close to Nebraska's famous bank wrecker, who secured a sentence correspondingly light when compared to the huge sums of which he defrauded others.—Omaha Bee. Moral: Don't steal money unless you can get several hundred thousand dollars.

"Country editors are pack horses for the public, without even 'thank you,'" says an exchange. "Their generosity, as a general thing, receives the kicks and cuffs of the public, instead of its blessings. They have one comfort, however, and that is they will leave no estate for the sharks to gobble up after they have gone to the beautiful beyond. The Lord will give them a front seat in the big church made without hands, and order their delinquents on the bleaching boards that skirt the great pavilion."

It is getting too cool for the joyous ass
Who racks the bust for fun;
And he has to wait till weeks do pass
For the advent of ice as brittle as glass
To keep him through on the run.

A bit of white wedding stationery bearing gold letters brings this announcement to many Nebraska people: "Gratefully recognizing Divine preservation Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Furnas will hold in remembrance their fiftieth marriage anniversary, Brownville, Neb., October twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred ninety-five. No invitations. No presents." Robert W. Furnas and Miss Mary E. McComas were married at Cincinnati, O., on October 29, 1845.—Lincoln Journal.

The Methodist Episcopal church at York was burned to the ground last week. The church was one of the handsomest houses of worship in the state and cost some $20,000. It was insured for $8,000. An electric light wire is supposed to have caused the fire.

The executive committee of the republican central committee held a meeting last night in this city and attempted to devise means by which Judge Ramsey could be prevented from carrying the county by a large majority. Just what schemes were evolved we do not know.—Nebraska City News.

If Corbett and Fitzsimmons can be induced to hold out in their intention to "pull it off" somewhere in the United States, and keep on moving from state to state, several other governors will have an opportunity to make world wide reputations. The opportunity may never come again and the pugs ought to give every living governor a show if possible.—Lincoln Journal.

San Jose, Cal., is the largest prune market in the world. In a single week that city has shipped to other markets 4,600,000 pounds.

At Frascati, near Rome, there is a bachelors' union, which recently protested against the overdressing and the general misconduct of the girls of the town, and resolved to boycott all those who did not heed the warning and to do all they could to prevent them from marrying. Whereupon the girls of Frascati marched to the club room, forced their way in, tore up the circular and drove out the bachelors with clubs.

Here is the latest: "Maud Muller on a summer's day stuffed the manger full of hay. Her hat was there, but not the rake, for that was but a poet's fake. Slapping the old cow on the side, she laughed until she nearly cried. 'Just think, old bossy,' cried the maid, 'I'm going to have some bloomers made.'"

The young woman who was city librarian in Omaha is alleged to have died from consumption, contracted in handling books into which consumptive persons had coughed. If librarians are in danger from library books, readers are also in peril. Perhaps a newspaper, fresh from the press, is the safest reading that can be indulged in while the earth is in its present state of health.

A man up in Minnesota has sued that state for damages, because he was attacked and injured by a moose. The Nebraska City News says that "if he succeeds in getting a verdict by virtue of the contention he raises that as the state makes it unlawful to kill a moose at any time or in any circumstances, it is responsible for all acts its wards may commit, then it will be necessary to prepare for an advance in the rate of taxation all over the country. Game laws exist everywhere, nowadays, and when one thinks of how many people are bitten by trout each year during the close season, of how many are devoured by partridge and prairie chickens, and of the hecatombs annually sacrificed to appease the ferocity of woodchucks and gray squirrels, the drain to which the treasures of the various commonwealths will be subjects can easily be imagined.

At 20, when a man is young, he thinks he knows it all; he likes to wag his tongue and exercise his gall; he struts about in noble rage; the world is all his own, he laughs to scorn the world of age and lists to self alone; he wears a window in his eyes, to see his whiskers grow; he thinks the ladies pine and die because they love him so. At 40, as you may suppose, he's knuckled down to biz; 'tis not till 70 that he knows how big a chump he is.

What will the new woman resort to next? Not content with the bloomin' bloomers, a society belle in Topeka says an exchange, is so bothered by her sweetheart while buggy riding, that she now takes a baseball mask and wears it when they get fairly out of town.

The Mills County Journal stirs up its delinquents in the following manner:

We are in need of our dues.
So come a-runnin';

Gives us the blues.

Byron's household, according to Shelley, consisted, besides servants, of ten horses, eight enormous dogs, three monkeys, five cats, an eagle, a crow and a falcon, and all except the horses went to and fro in the house at their pleasure.

His country's foe to battle;
He drew the sword because he held

For the first time in forty years, the United States can boast of a live volcano. For several days past the mountains in the Olympian range, near the British line, in Washington, have been belching forth smoke, fire and lava at a terrible rate.

The Burlington carried just 228 people out to inspect the Milford gold fields yesterday, says last Monday's Lincoln Journal. Mr. Dillenbeck escorted the excursionists to the places on his land where signs of richness have been discovered. The demand for samples was enormous. A very rich find was unearthed in the sands along the creek. It is reported that the best samples were secured by Morris Turner and E. Hallett, and their joy over finding the "gold" was only equalled by their disgust when they found the stuff to be brass. A funny man had filled his pockets with brass filings in a Lincoln bicycle shop during the week in order to be prepared to have some fun with the gold-hunters on Sunday.

Now comes a Milwaukee horse doctor with the assertion that beneath the shaggy yellow blossoms of the golden rod flower lurks germs of a disease that is death to horses. He claims that the horses which eat the tempting plant go into a gradual decline, the blood is destroyed, the tissues waste away, and they die in from three weeks to three months. This is a startling assault on Nebraska's favorite flower. It should be remembered that Milwaukee has been celebrating for a week, and it is not likely that the horse doctors resisted the deluge of local inspiration.—Bee.

PAINTING.

[Written for Grand Army Advocate and W. R. C. Magazine.]
I draw with sable pencil line on line
The leaf, the flower, the mountain far and blue,
The golden flecks of sunlight falling through
Wide-spreading branches of the dark green pine.
Each day a little, 'till this scene of mine
Becomes a glass, reflecting nature's hue.—
Or, if it seems imperfect and untrue,
With one broad sweep to chaos I resign.
And 'tis no more. Could we obliterate
As easily the colorings we trace
Upon the unseen canvas of our fate
And limn another picture in its place,
I deeply wonder if the last attempt
From faults that marred the first would be exempt!

A Prominent Wholesale Grocer of Omaha, Neb., Writes:

To the afflicted:
Several years ago I discovered a slight falling and bleeding of the lower bowel which increased and became very distressing. I made inquiry as to the nature of the disease and learned that I had a somewhat aggravated case of Hemorrhoids or Piles. Was told of several remedies and used them as directed, obtaining thereby some temporary relief. Not being satisfied with such slight relief I cast about for a permanent cure; when a friend directed the use of the famous MAGNET PILE KILLER. I used it. Immediate relief from pain followed, and soon a complete cure was effected.
Very respectfully,
OSCAR ALLEN.
