

One Wife and Three Husbands.
Lizzie Anderson, of Erie, Pa., aged 37, was married three times, and yet was not legally separated from any of her husbands. Death brought them together, and they shook hands silently over her coffin. She met and married Jesse Samson when but a young girl, but eloped with Moses Armstrong. Soon afterward she left him and was wedded to Noah Anderson. The husbands were sworn enemies and never spoke. No legal proceedings were taken and the matter never got into the courts. Then she got sick and was thought to be dying. She rallied, but again had a relapse. She died last week. Then it was that the three men met at her coffin. Samson stretched out his hand slowly, and they all forgave.

A Cartoon Saved His Life.
Several weeks ago an abscess developed in the stomach of William Thorpe, a resident of Quantico, Md. The growth so weakened him that physicians feared to use the knife and patient was slowly dying. A few days ago he saw a Philadelphia paper in which there was a cartoon making fun of Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania. Thorpe laughed and immediately a stream of blood gushed from his mouth. The doctor happened to call just then, and after examining Thorpe, declared that the abscess had broken and that the patient would now get well.

A DOCTOR THIS TIME.
Portland, May 6th.—Dr. E. A. Rose, a practicing physician, formerly of Yates Center, Kans., was on what everyone supposed was his death bed. He had Diabetes, and six of his brother doctors were in attendance and consultation at his bedside. They had done everything that medical skill could suggest to save his life, but they were at last reluctantly forced to tell him that he must prepare for death.

His aunt had been summoned to his dying bedside. After the doctors had given her nephew up, she insisted that as a last resort, he be given a treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

From the very first dose, the tide turned in his favor. His life was saved, and he is hale and hearty today. This case and its cure has amazed the physicians, and is the sensation of the hour. It is interesting to note that while many others are being cured this great discovery in medicine, the physicians themselves are among the first to benefit, and that while the simpler and more prevalent forms, such as Rheumatism, Sciatica, Bladder and Urinary Trouble and Female Weakness disappear before it, the more malignant forms, such as Bright's Disease, Diabetes and Dropsy, which have always been regarded as incurable, are yielding just as easily. Dodd's Kidney Pills are fast superseding all other treatments for Kidney Disease, and as nearly all human sickness and suffering has its origin in the Kidneys, the use of this wonderful medicine is becoming almost universal.

Work of One Woman.
There will be only one building at the Pan-American exposition in Buffalo designed in its entirety by a woman, and that one is the structure which will represent the states of New England. The woman whose brilliancy as an architect has gained for her this honor is Miss Josephine Wright Chapman of Boston.

For Good Roads.
"We want good roads," which has so long been the slogan of the League of American Wheelmen, is now to be taken up by the Automatic club of America. The movement is to be formally launched at a banquet to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York, on the evening of April 18, when the list of guests will include the secretary of war, the governors of the states of New York and New Jersey, the New York engineer, the state commissioner of roads for New Jersey and the director general of the Pan-American exposition.

The Oldest Doctor.
The oldest duly qualified physician in the world resides at Carlsbad in the person of Gallus Ritter von Hochberger, M. D., imperial and royal counselor of the Austrian court. He was born on October 15, 1803, and therefore is 97 years old. He has been in practice for seventy-four years and still gives medical advice.

DOUGLAS FACTORY
To Be Enlarged Before the First of July. Will Make 6,000 Pairs Daily.
Advertising pays.
W. L. Douglas is going to increase the capacity of his factory to 6,000 pairs of shoes per day. The addition will add 16,000 square feet of space for manufacturing purposes. At the same time a new 400-horse-power engine and an additional 150-horse-power boiler will be installed, which will afford adequate power for the present and another addition to the factory, which will no doubt be necessary later on.
When the factory starts up the first of July it will be on an output of 500 dozen or 6,000 pairs of shoes per day, and the weekly pay roll, exclusive of office help, superintendent, foremen, etc., will be $22,000 per week. The Douglas salesmen on the road are selling 25 per cent more goods than last season. The increased sales is the direct result of good shoemaking and extensive advertising. The advertising expenditure of Mr. Douglas is now larger than at any period of his business, and this is to be still further increased. Beginning this week half-page advertisements of the Douglas shoe will appear in all the principal newspapers of the large cities, as well as such papers as the Youth's Companion.—Brookton, Mass., Times.

MILLIONS OF RUBBER BANDS.
Elastic Industry in Furnishing Little Elastic for Commercial Trade.
"The little elastic rubber band that is nowadays used in various businesses in place of twine seems a simple sort of thing, but there are few, if any, of the multitude of small articles made out of rubber for which there is such an enormous demand, especially in the United States," remarked a wholesale dealer in rubber bands in New York the other day. "In this country the number of rubber bands sold in one year amounts to about 400,000 gross, or 57,000,000 single bands. At least 60 per cent of the goods are made in New York and the rest are produced in factories located in New Jersey and New England. In New York there are a half dozen factories devoted partly or exclusively to the manufacture of rubber bands. The process by which the bands are made is simple. The rubber in a liquid state is molded into tubing of sizes suitable for forming the small and medium varieties of bands. When the tubing is ready for use it is put into a rapid-running machine having knives which cut or slice the rubber into bands. The larger bands are cut by machinery from flat sheets of rubber and joined together with the aid of heat and a pressing machine. Rubber bands are made in only two colors, black and brown. They range in size from one-quarter of an inch to six inches in length. The smallest bands are one-sixteenth of an inch wide and the largest are one and one-half inches wide. The smallest bands are worth 24 cents per gross, while the medium-sized ones sell at from 45 to 96 cents per gross. The greatest consumers of rubber bands are druggists and grocers. They use the smallest and medium-sized bands in place of twine for putting up small packages. The large flat and expensive bands are used by court officers, lawyers, bankers and merchants for filing documents and papers. No rubber bands are imported into this country, but a few American rubber bands are exported to the West Indies and South American countries."

MAKING CHARITY MARMALADE.
A Very Successful Business That Is Carried On by Women.

The reduced gentleness who sells jellies and jams for her own benefit is a familiar figure in the commercial world. The big and little grocers take her wares and the "invalid delicacy" establishments charge fancy prices for them. The gentleness who makes marmalade for charity is a different person, but her success has been so encouraging financially that women at their wits' end to know what to do for church fairs and village libraries and other worthy objects may take a leaf from the recipe book of this philanthropic business woman. Eight years ago Miss Watson, a young woman interested in church work in a country town, suggested to a few of her fellow-workers that they make some marmalade for sale, giving the proceeds to the parochial charities of the village, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. The idea met with favor and the good church women started to work in a business-like, practical manner. They knew how to make marmalade. They were business-like and practical and they had executive ability. That year 117 pounds of marmalade were sold, and after all expenses were paid there remained $6.75 profit. The following year both sale and profit nearly doubled. The accounts for 1900 show a sale upward of 18,000 pounds. The benefits of the manufacture were quickly extended to other charities, a large number of which now receive contributions from the funds thus raised, which are devoted entirely to charitable purposes. The work is carried on upon strictly business lines. Several cottages have been rented as a "factory," and the village girls find work in this new industry. The marmalade is daintily put up, with ornamental labels, and is, of course, as good as its raison d'être, or it would never have sold so well and for so long a time.

Vienna's Club of the Divorced.
Vienna has a new society which should rouse some American cities to noble emulation. No woman not divorced is eligible to membership, but there is nothing frivolous about the organization. It is to be called the Humanity club, and its badge is a silver ring, engraved with that word, and worn on the wedding ring finger. The appropriateness of the name seems a trifle occult; but, presumably, a divorced woman has more troubles of her own, in Austria, than here and needs moral support. The idea of a band of divorced women meeting weekly "for mutual entertainment and support" will probably strike the average American citizen as distinctly humorous; but it is a serious matter in Vienna, and the club proposes building for itself a permanent home.—New York Sun.

Sewed Up for the Winter.
This is a true story, and it was told to the reporter by a prominent worker in one of the east side settlements. The other day a woman living in Rivington street brought her little boy to the settlement house and expressed a desire to have him enter the kindergarten. The child had a bright face, but it was woefully dirty, and one of the settlement rules is that all pupils must present at least a clean exterior. So the teacher looked at the little boy and said: "Why, certainly he can come to the kindergarten, but we want all the children to be clean. Give him a good bath tonight and send him to us in the morning." "Bath," gasped the mother. "How can I bathe him? I've sewed him up for the winter."—New York Mail and Express.

For Health and Decency.
Disregard for the law against expectorating in public conveyances has at last moved the New York health department to action. Tuesday morning seventy officers of the department in citizen's attire were detailed to travel all day in the cars of the various companies throughout the city and on all the ferry boats. They had orders to arrest any person found violating the ordinance. Before noon several men were compelled to accompany the officers to a magistrate's court, where they were fined and warned against a repetition of the offense.

Guns Heard Eighty-Four Miles.
An interesting matter, from a scientific point of view, in connection with the death of the queen is the distance at which the sound of firing was heard when the fleet saluted as the body was conveyed from Cowes to Portsmouth. Letters in the English journals of science show that the sounds of the guns were heard in several places at a distance of sixty miles, and that at a distance of sixty miles the concussions were sufficiently intense to shake windows.

The Brains of Ogilvie.
Dr. Alexander Ogilvie, who, at the age of 70, has resigned the principalship of Robert Gordon's college, Aberdeen, Scotland, is the youngest of four brothers who have made high reputations as educators. The eldest, Dr. Joseph Ogilvie, is rector of the Church of Scotland Training school, Aberdeen; Dr. George Ogilvie was until lately headmaster of George Watson's college, Edinburg; Dr. Robert Ogilvie (deceased) was senior inspector of schools. None of them was a minister, but all were given the LL. D. degree by Aberdeen university.

Bored The Holes With A Rifle.
A novel method of boring holes in a flat bar of iron was recently adopted on a flat ship where a breakdown occurred. To repair the breakage it was necessary to make bolt holes in the square bar, and as the engineer was without the appliances required for the purpose he marked the exact places in chalk and then fired a 30-caliber bullet through from a rifle.

The great multitude take this remedy without any other advice than the directions to be found upon the bottle and in the pamphlets. There are those who prefer, however, to correspond with Dr. Hartman during their sickness. To all such he will make prompt and careful answer without charge.

Hon. J. F. Crooker of Buffalo, N. Y., who was for years Superintendent of Schools at Buffalo, in a letter dated October 16, writes:

"I have been a sufferer from catarrh six or seven years, and after trying many remedies was induced by a friend to take Peruna. The results have been highly satisfactory. I take pleasure in recommending Peruna to any one suffering with catarrh, as my case is complete."

Hon. B. B. Doylner, Congressman from West Virginia, in a letter from Washington, D. C., to The Peruna Medicine Co., says the following of their catarrh remedy, Peruna:

"I join with my colleagues in the House of Representatives in recommending your excellent remedy, Peruna, as a good tonic and also an effective cure for catarrh."

Mrs. Mary C. Pentz writes from Paradise, Tex., the following: "I think I can say that your good advice and medicine has cured me of chronic catarrh. I have had no pains in my head since I have taken Peruna. I have been in bad health ever since '93, and have taken a good many medicines which were only of temporary relief. Peruna is the catarrh cure. The Peruna stopped my catarrh of the head so that it did not become chronic, and I am very thankful for Dr. Hartman's advice and medicine."

Peruna is a specific for all catarrhal diseases. It acts quickly and beneficially upon the inflamed mucous membrane, thus removing the cause of catarrh.

Catarrh is catarrh wherever located. Catarrh is essentially the same everywhere. The remedy that will cure catarrh in one situation will cure it in all situations.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
