

"COME CLOSER"

Do you want to scrape an acquaintance with a summery, sunny suiting? We have a beautiful olive flannel which we sell in coat and pants for $9.50. It's one of the season's dress novelties, bright and welcome as a June morning tipped with gold, and appealing with inherent forcefulness to the good taste of all who would keep step to the bugle notes of fashion. There's character in every thread of it, and for a spring suit it's "just what the doctor ordered." Remember only $9.50-we have others both sides of this price.

Fine rain we had, wasn't it?

Senator Bailey of Texas, who has an established reputation as an able exinsular decision of the supreme court:

"The decision is certainly bad enough, but it is not so bad as the administration papers are claiming. The friends of the administration are congratulating themselves much too early if they think the decision relieves them from the embarrassment of constitutional restriction in dealing with our new possessions. They will find the question of taxation one of the least among the perplexities of a colonial policy; and they can only carry out their plans for governing thes: is- | derful recovery. This great liniment lands by setting aside other and great- | is for sale by all druggists. er constitutional provisions. The court is apt to find that the next case will not furnish it with a subterfuge like 'The United States' to which it can limit constitutional guarantees. It will be compelled sooner or later to meet the proposition as to whether congress can enact laws for these insular possessions which are contrary to the express inhibitions of the constitution. The decision, standing by itself, will become the source of endless mischief and confusion. But its harm will not end there. Following so closely upon the decision in the income tax case, it will inevitably convince the people that the supreme court holds the laws of congress, according as it deems them wise or unwise.

With the wisdom of a law the court properly has no concern, and its only inquiry ought to be whether the law is or is not constitutional. For many years this rule was followed by the court, and then its decisions were respected by all men; but I regret to say that at this time the conviction is almost universal in the public mind that the most important decisions are political rather than judicial.

Presidential booms have been before now constructed of flimsy materials, but nothing was ever flimsier than the material out of which a few republicans are trying to build a boom for Senator Foraker-the decision of the supreme court that the Porto Rican tariff act is constitutional. There is one unsurmountable obstacle to Foraker's getting the republican nomination-Hanna. Hanna wants that nomination himself; but even if he didn't he would not allow Foraker to get it.
