

BEAT HIS WIFE.

Oscar Beck Hammered Up His Family White Drink. LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 6.—Oscar Beck filled up on some of the beverages he has been selling yesterday evening and went home to make life miserable for his family. He assaulted his stepdaughter, a young lady nineteen years of age, and after striking her several times threw her through a window. A cash fully two inches in length was cut across the back of her right hand. His wife was beaten and bruised. A call was sent to the station for the patrol wagon by the neighbors. When it arrived the young lady was found holding her hand, a napkin having been bound around it to staunch the blood, while her mother was sitting in a chair where she had been thrown by Beck. Mrs. Beck says that her husband has made her life a burden for fourteen years and she can stand it no longer. He was taken to the station, where he passed the night in a cell, the police feeling little pity for him.

A Bad Runaway.

SALEM, Neb., Aug. 6.—A runaway which came very near resulting in the death of at least one person occurred here Sunday afternoon. Dr. H. P. Wentworth and his family accompanied by a young lady named Miss Daisy King of Oregon, Mo., came down to attend the Chautauqua exercises. After the rain when they started home their team was frightened by an incoming train and became uncontrollable. The vehicle was overturned and the entire party deposited on the ground, the horses keeping up their fight until they attempted to cross the track when they were both struck and killed by the train. Dr. Wentworth and his wife were badly shaken up but received nothing more than a few bruises. Miss Gertrude Wentworth had her nose bruised. Miss King had her right arm strained and a dark bruise on the back of her head shows why she was rendered unconscious. A little girl three years of age escaped unhurt.

The Murderer's Row.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 6.—The county jail has all the murderers that it can well take care of at present. Peter Wablgren, who recently shot Mrs. Maitland, is acting in such a peculiar manner that the jailors think he is becoming insane. He has recently displayed a wonderful love for the Bible. He keeps two copies in his cell which he reads constantly. At times he acts as if he was in a stupor and sits for hours gaping at the walls of his cell. Mikau and Irobno, who were implicated in the Selan murder, have a jolly time every day laughing and shouting. Buchove, implicated in the same murder, is rather melancholy. Mr. and Mrs. Ish are the only other alleged murderers in the jail. Mrs. Ish spends most of her time reading paper back novels. Each day she and her child take an outing, accompanied by a guard.

Omaha A. P. A. Muddle.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 6.—The A. P. A. combine attempting to control the police and fire departments will not be able to make another move before next Tuesday. The district court heard arguments Saturday on the injunction restraining the new commission from acting, and indicated that a decision would be rendered Tuesday. The court further intimated that if its mandates were again ignored by the city council they would be jailed. In the meantime the old board runs the city.

Election of Bank Examiners.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 6.—The state banking board has elected a new set of bank examiners. The action occurred yesterday, and the number of examiners was reduced from five to four. At any rate only four were elected. Examiners McGraw of Red Cloud, Cline of Minden and Cowdery of Lincoln were re-elected. E. L. Dodder, assistant cashier of the Bank of Commerce of Grand Island, was also elected. Examiner Wells of Crete, and Creighton Morris of Humboldt retire.

Found in a Sewer.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 6.—A. Walbren residing at 1103 North Thirteenth street, found a boy baby in an open sewer on Eleventh street between Cuming and Izard streets. The baby was dead and had a strip of paper pasted over its mouth. The body was so badly decomposed that it was impossible to tell how old the child had been. All the sewers in the northern part of the city empty into this sewer. The body may have been placed in any one of these and washed down.

Found a Buzzard's Nest.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 6.—H. K. Kemper, who lives near Cheney, has made an excellent find of a nest of turkey buzzards in the woods near his place. He gave information of his find at the state university, and the department of ornithology sent after some of the birds. They are very rare in this locality. Although only a few months old the buzzards have a wing expanse of about four feet. They will be killed and mounted for the museum.

Raised It One.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 6.—Alonzo Norris was arrested yesterday morning upon complaint of a man named Wilkinson, who charges him with raising an order. Wilkinson gave Norris an order for $1.50 on F. X. Clark and before the order was presented to Mr. Clark it was raised to $5.50.

Shut Up the Bank.

DAKOTA CITY, Neb., Aug. 6.—State Bank Examiner Cowdery yesterday closed the Citizens' State bank at South Sioux City. Liabilities are about $30,000; assets about $21,000, with affairs in a bad condition. The bank was the county depository, and about $8,000 over was on deposit. The cashier and principal stock owner has given chattel mortgages and disposed of all his property.

Nebraska Well Soaked.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 6.—Rain fell all over Eastern Nebraska yesterday, and corn is considered quite safe.

POINTS FOR THE PEOPLE.

—Legislation fixes the price of a money metal. Let gold be demoted and see how quickly it will decline.

—Do you believe in free silver? Then join the populists. Are you opposed to a gold standard? Abandon the old parties.—Pioneer Exponent.

—Scratch a banker and you scratch a gold-bug who wants to live by loaning his own notes and collecting interest thereon. He calls this "sound currency."—People's Pilot.

—It begins to look as if South Carolina had solved the liquor problem. The state dispensary is an experiment in state ownership that may lead to others.—Star and Kansas.

—Christ drove the money changers from the temple with a scourge of ropes, but he has professed followers to-day who preach the sacredness of vested rights and the righteousness of usury.—Farmers' Tribune.

—John C. Calhoun said: "I undertake to affirm, without fear of contradiction, that paper money issued by the government with the simple promise to receive it for all dues, would be as uniform in its value as the metals themselves."

—The sound money people affect to believe free and unlimited coinage of silver would be ruinous to this country because it would enable foreigners to bring in their silver and have it coined at the government's expense, yet 120 per cent. of the gold coined in 1894 was of foreign production.—Pueblo (Col.) Reform.

—Henry Clews says the good times are right upon us. All right, Henry, let's come. Nobody needs it worse than those who are about to get struck with it. But, Henry, is it the same quality that you have hit us with every week since times have been growing gradually harder? If so we've had our share.—Iowa Farmers' Tribune.

—"Keep your nerve and trust your bank" says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. That's all right, boys; let the old partyites keep up all the confidence they want, but our advice to our people is this: Keep your eyes open and don't get caught by the banks. The next panic will be a big one, and don't you forget it.—Chicago Express.

—There are now united into one organization about 2,000,000 advocates of free silver. That organization is the people's party. If the free silver men outside the people's party vote with us we will be able to carry the next presidential election, and free coinage of silver will again become the law of the United States.—Allen (Neb.) News.

—Don't be led astray with the erroneous idea that the populist party is dead, dying or going to die. That bad odor permeating the atmosphere comes either from the old democratic corpse or the unwashed feet of the republican party. The populist party is ready at a moment's notice for a scrap in the arena of political fame.—Butte (Mont.) Hystander.

—The Chattanooga banker who wrote a book, laaments the fact that while we go to experts in the several lines of business when we want advice or service, we refuse to go to the banker when we want advice on finance. Sensible people never go into a lion's den to learn what the brute thinks of a respectful distance.—Farmers' Voice.

—If money is to be loaned at all it ought to be loaned at the cost of the service—and the government should do it. Private corporations have no incentive to do it except the profit there is in the business. This profit is always greater than the average increase in wealth. Such being the case, the lenders are always growing rich at the expense of the borrowers.—Star and Kansas.

—England was $300,000,000 richer and the rest of the world $300,000,000 poorer last year, because of the gold standard. That isn't what the silver men say, but the estimate of the London Statist, which uses the fact as an argument why England should stick to the gold standard. A vote for Cleveland or Sherman, for democracy or republicanism, is a vote to become slaves of the English money lords.—Star and Kansas.

—The populist candidate for governor of Kentucky, Hon. Thomas S. Pettit, is a brilliant orator and until very recently a leading democrat. The populists expect to poll about 75,000 votes and to elect enough members of the legislature to give them the balance of power between the two old parties. The only hope for a sound money successor to Blackburn is in a complete republican victory, for Blackburn can get the democratic caucus nomination and populists will support him.
