

PURE POP PHILOSOPHY

Read and Grow Wise, Enact it Into Law and Make a Happy Country.

The Rising Sun is the rights of the People, the Setting Sun is Corporate Monopoly

Men who make a business of wrecking banks are the fellows who insist that the present financial system is the best the world ever saw. It is—for them.

The love of human liberty, if left to itself is harmless; but, if confined, it becomes an explosive that is dangerous. Plutocracy should get off the safety valve.

The minds of the great plain people keep pretty close to the primary standard of right. When the minds of the leaders, through lust of power or of gold, get too far away from that standard, then it is that the masses assert themselves and place new men in the front.

The average man kicks about monopoly and hard times for three hundred and sixty-four days in a year and on the three hundred and sixty-fifth day goes to the polls and puts in his ballot in favor of both of them.

Men who have brains to think for themselves and eyes to see into the future know that there is an invisible power which stands on the side of right and finally carries it forward to success. The enemies of human liberty may seem to succeed for a time, but, when they meet this power, they are swept aside as autumn leaves before a storm.

In the old days the thief did not show his face openly. He haunted the highways and byways on the borders of civilization, or prowled the unfrequented parts of the sea. He fell on his victims by night and fled before the majesty of the law. Now the thief lives in houses with brown stone fronts. He is at the "top of the heap" in society. He haunts the stock exchange and the halls of congress. He is even elected by the people to hold office. Times have changed, you see.

Did you ever watch the coming of a storm? First, the faint mutterings and distant flashes of light; the marshaling of the hosts of the air on the far western horizon; the rising of the blue, trembling masses through the sky, accompanied by gleams and rumblings, while the earth holds its breath; then the clashing of the elements, the assault of the rain, the wind and the hail; and finally the peace and beauty of the earth after it has all passed over? Such is the coming of the great industrial revolution.

Did you ever pinch a dog's tail and watch him turn around and bite his tail instead of biting you? You doubtless thought the dog foolish. But the people have done the very same thing for many years. When plutocracy pinched the people, the people began fighting each other instead of fighting plutocracy.

A poor devil can steal a horse and probably get hung for it. A thieving gang of state officers and their contractors can steal a whole state treasury and stay in their places unmolested. It all depends on the amount, you see. At least, it is so in my state.

Mossbacks, old fogies, and hypocrites have always tried to block the advance of reforms. They have always stood in the way of the car of progress—until finally run over and left behind.

There is an abundance on this earth to make every human being comfortable and happy, were it not that a few shysters seek to gobble everything and make the rest of mankind their slaves.

How sublime is the selfishness of a hog! Not satisfied with what he can eat, he tries to fight all his fellows away from the trough. Were we rid of the human hogs, the race would be much happier.

A tramp is the economic complement of a millionaire. You cannot get rid of the one without getting rid of the other.

Make the millionaire an impossibility and give the tramp a chance. You will thus free society of two evils at once.

To the young men who are stirred by the acts of the old heroes, I would say: There was never a better opportunity to fight for freedom than now. You have the same chance as those heroes of old. Will you use it?

We should call things by their right names. If a man is a thief call him a thief, not a capitalist. If he is a gambler, call him a gambler, not a speculator. If he is a boodler call him a boodler, though he hold the highest office in the gift of the people.

When I see a rich man I do not particularly envy him. I say that the wealth, which has been stolen from the hands of toil, may buy him immunity from the law, may buy him power, may buy him the applause of fools, and may even buy him happiness, but it never can buy him character and it never can buy him brains, and those, after all, make the man.

In 1856 slavery was at the very height of its power. It controlled the national government and almost every state government. Every particle of legislation that had looked toward the curbing of the system had been defeated. The few abolitionists of the country were sneered at, hooted, mobbed. All the wealth of the nation was for slavery, nearly all the churches were for it, the government was for it, the politicians were for it, and the people themselves seemed to be for it. Yet in ten short years slavery was wiped out. Let the friends of reform take heart. We are dealing with the same American people who freed the slave. The same God reigns today who reigned in the sixties.

Man can only work a small portion of the time. He must sleep, he must eat, he must rest. But interest works every hour, night and day, week day and Sunday, winter and summer.

During the recent panic the claim was everywhere made that the country was suffering from a lack of confidence. I wonder if the very wise men who made that claim ever reflected that a lack of confidence presupposes a lack of something to inspire it? Confidence, or the lack of it, does not create conditions, but is created by conditions. It is hard to have a maximum of confidence on a minimum of currency.

There never was a dishonest dollar except one made dishonest by law. There never was a depreciated money unless some of its money functions had been taken from it by legislation.

There is a rising sun and a setting sun; and the rising sun is the rights of the people, and the setting sun is corporate tyranny. God still reigns, and true nobility in the human race still lives.

Men fighting singly can gain nothing. Men fighting in unison can gain everything. The toilers must unite.

Whenever you hear a man talking about financial panics being necessary every so often, you may put that man down as one who talks through the crevices of his head-gear. Panics are not natural and are not necessary in a rightly constructed financial system. A panic is caused by a scarcity of money. Too much of our business is done on a credit system; and, whenever, by a combination of circumstances, credit becomes strained, confidence is shaken and there is a demand for more money than is in circulation—hence a panic. With a sufficient volume of currency and with a perfectly stable system of government banks of deposit, panics would become impossible.

The old parties declaring the reform movement dead are considerably like an Irishman. "Begorry," said Pat, "that man is dead." Just then the supposed corpse moved. "He's dead," reiterated Pat, "but he ain't sensible of it."

Somebody has said that gold was intended for money. By whom? There is no commandment in Holy Writ to that effect. On the contrary God chastised the people for worshipping the golden calf. Somebody also has said that gold is the oldest money. Oh no. Silver is equally as old and other metals were used as money before either.

There is a new sun rising, a new banner in the air, a new battle cry ringing upward. The masses of the people, driven from the parties of the past, are falling in line with the party of the future.

Why Did They Howl?
When Tillman, the farmer, used his pitchfork on Grover the other day, all of the rep dogs of the press, big and small, commenced to bark at him. There is something suggestive in this. If you attack Cleveland's policy all the republicans who are in good standing from Dan to Beersheba commence to howl.—Beatrice Tribune.

Grover Wouldn't Do It.

The unmitigated infamy of the bond deal is shown by the following letter of a banker who offered to furnish $100,000,000 of gold to Grover for greenbacks. To Grover Cleveland and John G. Carlisle:

If you cannot do it yourselves and will let me have $105,000,000 of the greenbacks now lying idle in the United States treasury, I will procure $100,000,000 of gold to put in place thereof by February 15, 1896, and save you borrowing $100,000,000 in gold for thirty years at 4 per cent payable quarterly. I will give security to perform this if notified that the offer is accepted by February 1, 1896.

The policy of the American kings and feudal lords, will be this year, as in the past, conducted after the motto: "Divide and Conquer."—Iowa Searchlight.

Not Silver Alone.
Some of the peoples party editors are in the habit of styling the silver men's money plank as a "silver plank," and say they want the peoples party to run on a single plank, and that narrowed to the sole issue of free coinage. An examination of the silver men's plank adopted at Washington would dispel this illusion, and show that it is as broad as any reasonable populist need ask for, and is almost a repetition of the money plank of the Omaha platform. Neither do they claim that money is the only issue, but is the "PARAMOUNT" issue, just as every populist claims.—Iowa Searchlight.

CONSUMERS' PURCHASING AGENCY

Buy Your Goods Direct From the Manufacturers.

These hard times compel many to economize, and if you want to make what money you have go as far as possible, I believe I can help you. Since coming to Omaha I have had many of my friends throughout the state write to me to make purchases for them, which I have always freely done and such splendid satisfaction has resulted that I have concluded to establish a Consumers Purchasing Agency. Knowing inside prices of wholesalers and manufacturers, and buying in large quantities, I can undoubtedly buy goods for you cheaper than you could buy them yourself and if you are in need of any kind of merchandise, dry goods, groceries, clothing, farm implements, buggy, bicycle, any make, or in fact anything, I am satisfied I can save you money by getting you inside wholesale prices.

If you will write me, giving full particulars about what you need, I will quote you prices on anything you want, and give you my terms which are very reasonable. This will be much cheaper than for you to come to Omaha yourself and I will be as careful in making a purchase for you as if I were buying for myself and I believe I can please any reasonable person. For further information, terms, samples, prices etc. write me.

List of Seeds.

BEANS.

Golden Wax—A standard variety needing but little introduction. The pods are large, long, entirely stringless, and of a rich golden color. This bean is very prolific of dwarf habit and abundant growth. Pkt. 15c.
Golden Black Wax—One of the standard varieties. It has a vigorous growth and is one of the most productive of Wax Beans. The pods are long, of waxy yellow color, solid and tender. Pkt. 15c.
Early Yellow Six Weeks—A kidney shaped bean; color, yellowish drab with a dark blotch around the eye. The vines are vigorous and productive. Pods long, slender, and when young of good quality. Pkt. 15c.
Improved Early Red Valentine—One of the most popular of green podded sorts, and by many preferred to the wax varieties. The beans are of medium size, long, irregular, pink, marbled with red. The vines are erect and vigorous. Pods are of medium length, very fleshy, crisp and tender. Pkt. 15c.

BEEETS.

Best Early Blood—An old standard variety. The tops are small, stem pink, leaves bright green, and roots turnip shaped, with a medium sized top. Oz. 10c.
Smooth Long Dark Blood—A standard main crop variety, with a large top, small neck and large blood red roots which tapers towards both ends, growing even with the surface. Very tender and sweet. Oz. 10c.

CARROTS.

Danvers Half Long Pointed—This sort is well recommended for field purposes. Pkt. 5c.
Improved Long Orange—A standard late variety, handsome and uniform in shape. It is of deep orange color, of good flavor, and yields very heavily. It keeps well and is suitable for the table or stock. Pkt. 5c.

CAULIFLOWER.

Early Snow Ball—We have taken great pains to secure the best seed of this variety procurable, and confidently recommend it as equal to that of any other house. It is exceedingly early and early, and is one of the surest to make a solid, compact head. For these reasons it is growing more and more in favor as a late sort. Pkt. 5c.

SWEET CORN.

Crosby's Early—A most excellent variety, early, and of the best flavor; often called the "12 rowed," although it frequently has only 10. This sort is largely grown in the east for canning purposes. The ears are of medium size, grain thick and sweet. Pkt. 10c.
Early Minnesota. The old standard variety, well adapted to our climate and soil; stalks very short, bearing one or two ears close to the ground, and well covered with husks. The ears are of medium length, and show kernels very broad, sweet, and tender. Pkt. 10c.
Improved Stowell's Evergreen—The standard main crop variety, both on account of its quality and productiveness, and its habit of remaining green for a long period of time. The ears are large and well filled, with deep white kernels loosely set upon a medium sized cob.

CABBAGE.

Improved Early Jersey Wakefield. Very popular with gardeners. Its thick stout leaves, combined with its very compact growth, make it the best for wintering over in cold frames or for very early setting out in the spring. The heads are compact of medium size, and conical. Throughout the northern states the gardeners depend upon it for the bulk of their extra early crop. Pkg. 5c.
Henderson's Early Summer.—This may be called an improvement on the Early Flat Dutch, from which it was formerly selected. The heads are large, flat, or slightly conical, and will keep long without bursting. Pkt. 5c.
Fettler's Brunswick.—A compact growing general crop cabbage, having medium sized to large thick heads and many outer leaves. It is a good shipper. Pkt. 5c.
Large Late Drumhead.—A favorite winter variety, and by some considered a little later than the Flat Dutch, although many large cabbage growers fail to see any material difference between the two. Heads large and flat, short stemmed, tender, and of good flavor. One of the best of keepers. Pkt. 5c.

CUCUMBERS.

Early Frame, or Short Green—A popular early sort, of medium size and ranking among the best of the pickling class. Fruit straight, smaller at each end, crisp and tender. Also an excellent sort for the table. Pkt. 5c.
Nichols' Medium.—Desirable for all purposes alike. As a pickling sort it has few superiors, and is adapted for early forcing or main crop. It is very productive, of medium size, and always straight and smooth. Pkt. 5c.
Long Green.—The leading late variety, 12 to 16 inches long, and of excellent quality; dark green, firm and crisp. The young fruit is suitable for pickles, and when ripe, for sweet pickles. Pkt. 5c.

LETTUCE.

Prize Head Green.—Forms a mammoth plant in which the outer leaves are crisp and tender, changing from a dark green in the center to a bronze at the edge. It is of good flavor and very hardy. Pkt. 5c.

MUSK MELON.

Nutmeg.—This is one of the standard varieties, growing to a fair size, with thick, sweet flesh of a light green shade. The rind, though not thick, is tough, and on this account stands shipping very well. Shape nearly round, somewhat flattened at each end, and deeply ribbed. Pkt. 5c.
Montreal Market.—A mammoth melon weighing from 15 to 20 pounds; shape almost round, very deeply ribbed, skin green, changing to a grey when ripe, flesh very thick, light green, coarse, but of good flavor. Pkt. 5c.

ONIONS.

Westerfield Large Red.—Grown probably more in this country twice over than all other varieties of onions combined. It is essentially a late cropper, and undoubtedly the heaviest yielder in the American market. The bulbs are of large size, round form, somewhat flattened, but thick through; skin deep purple red; flesh purplish white, moderately fine grained, and of rather stronger flavor than the yellow onions. There is no better keeper. Pkt. 5c.
Yellow Globe Danvers.—This sort is excellent for general cultivation, either for the market or home garden, and is a splendid keeper. Pkt. 5c.

WATER MELON.

Mountain Sweet.—One of the oldest and best of the early melons, good either for home or market garden use. In shape oblong, with a deep green skin, and red flesh; solid and of good size, considering its earliness. Pkt. 5c.
Cuban Queen.—Skin beautifully marked with dark and light green; the flesh is bright red, solid, crisp, and sugary. An excellent keeper. Pkt. 5c.

PEPPERS.

Ruby King.—A very desirable and profitable pepper for the market and family use. Plant large, bearing a profusion of large, deep red, and mild flavored peppers. This sort is often used for salads, pickling, and stuffing. Pkt. 5c.

PARSNIP.

Hollow Crown.—This variety has a smooth, clean skin, and is easily distinguished by the leaves arising from a depression on the top of crown of the root. Has a small tap root, and grows almost entirely beneath the surface. Pkt. 5c.

PEAS.

American Wonder.—This is a comparatively new sort, but has already taken first place among the extra early sorts on account of its extra fine flavor. For sweetness and tenderness it is absolutely unequalled. Qt. 15c.
Bliss' Everbearing.—Vines about 18 inches in height. Will continue to bear for a long while. They are of the largest size, wrinkled, very tender, cooking quickly. Pt. 15c.

PUMPKINS.

Small Yellow Sugar.—Fruit round, about ten in. in diameter. An excellent keeper. Pkt. 5c.
Large Cheese.—One of the best varieties for cooking purposes. Flesh thick, sweet, and tender. Pkt. 5c.

SQUASH.

Early White Bush Scallap.—Fruit early, flat, scalloped shaped; color white; flesh pale white, and well flavored. Very productive. Pkt. 5c.
Hubbard.—By all odds the standard variety throughout the northern states and the best winter keeper known. Pkt. 5c.

RADISH.

Early Scarlet.—A standard early turnip variety. Root of a scarlet color; flesh crisp and tender. Pkt. 5c.
Charlier.—A long, scarlet variety, large, handsome and attractive. Bright scarlet color, shading into white at the tip. Retains its crispness and tenderness for a remarkably long time. Pkt. 5c.

TURNIP.

Extra Early Purple Top Munch.—Very popular among gardeners. Of medium size, grows quickly, is flat, sweet, and tender. Pkt. 5c.
Purple Top Strap Leaf.—This is the standard variety. Root large, flat, hardy and very prolific. Pkt. 10c.

RUTA BAGA.

American Purple Top.—The roots grow to large size under favorable conditions, and are the most desirable of all. Pkt. 5c.

TOMATOES.

Acme.—A handsome early variety, of medium size, is a good yielder. Pkt. 5c.
Livington's Beauty.—A decided favorite for the home or market garden; it is early, hardy, and strong grower, good size. Fruit glossy crimson, with a slight tinge of purple. Pkt. 5c.
