Nebraska—the rain state. Butter is 7 cents at Shelton. Farmers are mostly through planting corn. Eggs sell in Fremont for 5 cents a dozen. Emerson and Tekamah are to have new depots. Russian thistles are making their appearance. A local Nebraska club has been organized at Sidney. Turner Bros. of Fremont recently purchased 6,300 sheep. Hamilton county's court house cost $80,000 and is one of the best in the state. Peter Wehn of Hampton died very suddenly at his home last week of heart failure. The Gosper county Sunday school convention was held at Elwood May 16 and 17. Pierce citizens are rejoicing because the demi-reps of that burg have agreed to levant. Lack of rain last year destroyed more than half the shade trees at the Sidney military post. Germantown pays better prices for stock and produce than any of her neighboring burgs. One thousand four hundred names are on the pay roll at Cudahy's packing house this month. It is intimated that the North Platte valley people are soon to hear some cheering railroad news. The Hartington papers are warring with each other over the legal printing and are cutting the price deep. At a recent meeting of the city council of Hebron that body dispensed with the services of the city marshal. The authorities of Lincoln have declared open war on the dogs, and are killing off all canines on which taxes have not been paid. W. D. Frymire of Eustis will answer in district court to the very serious charge of selling pale beer without first procuring a license. Two families of Valentine recently started for Oregon in wagons. The trip is entirely for pleasure and the return will be made by rail. C. P. Cornelius has filed a claim against the city of Kearney for $5,000 for damages sustained by breaking his leg in a defective sidewalk. The little daughter of L. Hoogner of Wayne was bitten by a rattlesnake, but an early application of the usual remedies saved any serious results. People attempting to leave Deuel county without paying their taxes are followed by the sheriff with a distress warrant and "everything goes." Desher, the metropolis of western Thayer county, feels pretty well, thank you. She is out of debt and has two hundred dollars in the treasury. At Eagle recently, as H. M. Dopp was trimming the foot of a young horse the animal knocked him down and stamped on his breast, breaking three ribs. The First National bank of North Platte is making money right along and stockholders get a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent. with pleasing regularity. The recent crusade on the suburb of Theford known as rattlesnaketown resulted in the death of 300 of the reptile, but not till after they had disposed of two horses and two cows. The farmers feel encouraged since the recent heavy rains. It was the means of killing the chinch bugs which were feasting on small grain in some localities, and besides it brightens up the crop prospects. A. W. Hinds, a prosperous resident of Arlington, arose the other morning in apparent good health, but shortly afterward fell to the floor and expired instantly. His remains were taken to New Jersey for interment. The manager of the telephone exchange at Norfolk experimented the other day in holding a long distance conversation. He made the acquaintance of the manager at Kansas City, and had no trouble in hearing all that was said. Wilkinson Bros., a firm of Wyoming sheep feeders, have purchased the William Powell place, one and one-half miles southeast of Aida. This firm intends to feed 5,000 sheep annually at this point and is a valuable addition to the interests of Hall county. Fred Quimby of Verdigré, while chasing cattle fell and snapped one of his legs square off at the ankle. The local blacksmith set the limb and held it in place with an iron band. It was a wooden leg that originally cost $180 f. o. b. C. C. Turney has an acre of chickory planted as an experiment as to whether it will pay better to grow chickory for market or whether sugar beets will yield the most profit for the labor expended. O'Neill has a factory where the product is worked up for adulterating coffee.—Ceresco Courier. Vet Weller of Raymond had a close call recently. He went down a well that had fire damp in it and was overcome by the gas. His partner, Mr. Wilson, tied ropes to his own feet and went down head first and tied a rope to Weller and pulled him out in time to save him. They were down about 20 feet in a 115 foot well. Wind and Sea. The sea is a jovial comrade; He laughs wherever he goes; His merriment shines in the dimpling lines That wrinkle his hale repose; He lays himself down at the feet of the sun, And shakes all over with glee, And the broad-backed billows fall faint on the shore In the mirth of the mighty sea! But the wind is sad and restless, And cursed with an inward pain; You may hark at will, by valley or hill, And you hear him still complain. He wails on the barren mountains, And shrieks on the wintry sea; He sobs in the cedar and moans in the pine And shudders all over the aspen tree. Welcome are both their voices, And I know not which is best— The laughter that slips from ocean's lips Or the comfortless wind's unrest. There's a pang in all rejoicing, A joy in the heart of pain, And the wind that saddens, the sea that gladdens, Are singing the self-same strain. —N. Y. Morning Journal. A Phenomenon. "Mother," said a little Scotch lassie, "dae ye ken what a phenomenon is?" "Yes, dear, I can tell ye that. Dae ye see thon coo in the field? Weel, that's no phenomenon. Dae ye see thon tree?" "Aye, mother, I see the tree," "Weel, that's no phenomenon; but when you see thon coo climbing up thon tree with its tall forinist, that's be a phenomenon."—Ram's Horn. Not With Men, at Least. West Virginia has produced what might be called a superserviceable inventor, who wants to take out a patent for a bicycle screen to hide the feet and ankles of women who ride wheels. It is doubtful whether this device can ever be made popular with either sex. FAITH CURE A GOOD THING In Some Diseases, But It Is a Failure in Stomach Troubles. Mere faith will not digest your food for you, will not give you an appetite, will not increase your flesh and strengthen your nerves and heart, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do these things, because they are composed of the elements of digestion, they contain the juices, acids and peptones necessary to the digestion and assimilation of all wholesome food. Stuart's Dyspepsia tablets will digest food if placed in a jar or bottle in water heated to 98 degrees, and they will do it much more effectively when taken into the stomach after meals, whether you have faith that they will or not. They invigorate the stomach, make pure blood and strong nerves, in the only way that nature can do it, and that is, from plenty of wholesome food well digested. It is not what we eat, but what we digest that does us good. Stuart's Dyspepsia tablets are sold by nearly all druggists at 50 cents for full-sized package, or by mail from the Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. Send for book on Stomach Disease. A Guarantee That Means Something—Files Absolutely Cured. Any kind or degree—external, internal, blind or bleeding, recent or chronic. To those who are afflicted we will say that your business need not be interrupted during treatment, and we will give you a written guarantee to cure you or charge nothing for the treatment. To convince you of the unbounded confidence we have in our treatment, and as an assurance that you take no chances, we have made an arrangement with the publishers of the NEBRASKA INDEPENDENT for you to deposit $10 with them, with the understanding that it is to be forwarded to us when you notify them that a cure has been effected; otherwise the money will be returned to you. This offer is open but for a limited time, it is made in perfect good faith, and we want to say earnestly to those who have spent much money and have become hopeless and despairing of ever being cured that they now have an opportunity to test the merits of a treatment that has never yet failed to cure when applied according to instructions; as we assume all responsibility in the matter, you must certainly be impressed by our confidence and belief in our remedies, for contrary to the usual mode of doing business, we put ourselves entirely in your hands and our only reliance is that when cured you will act honorably by us and instruct the publishers of this paper to forward us the amount deposited. On being notified that you have deposited $10 with the NEBRASKA INDEPENDENT, we will PREPAY all charges and send you the treatment. Write us the fullest particulars of your case, what kind or degree of piles you have, what you have tried as a cure and how long you have been troubled, and further and most important, we must be assured that you will follow strictly our instructions in the treatment, for we take all the risk in sending you our expensive preparation, which we do not desire to have wasted through neglect. We put our faith in you to do your part intelligently, having no fear of the results if you co-operate with us according to directions. Please bear in mind that this offer will last but a short time, and there is not nor will be any other condition connected with it than that stated. It is simply a straight out, honest proposition, that means exactly what we have said, no more, no less, and the proposition is made with the endorsement of the NEBRASKA INDEPENDENT. THE CATTLE SHOW. A Parisian Reporter Describes His Experience in London. I am a representative of the Parisian press. Knowing the English quite well, I am sent to England for seven days to examine the prize cattle show, and acquaint myself with the manners of the English people, says the London Man of the World. I obtain an introduction to a country family—bucolic agricultural—consisting of a fat madame, a fatter monsieur, a fatter son and a charming daughter. In the night I get "dead drunk" (idiom English) on potterbeer with the fattest son; in the morning I am "olright," "al-lalivoo" (also idioms English). At the entrance of the cattle show I meet madame and her charming daughter. I salute. "Howdudo?" says madame. "Olright; oh, yes, olly," I respond. "Have you seen my son?" "I have not yet had that pleasure this morning. "He's in the show," says madame, with great joy. "You will find him among the beasts—he has taken a prize." It is the first time I discover that prizes are given to fat men, but I conceive surprise and congratulate madame. "He deserves it—he is very fine." "I exhibit every year—one of our family. My husband was highly commended last year. Now it is my son's turn. Next year we shall exhibit ourselves again if we haven't too much to worry us." "Madame, I am sure will take a prize," I say. Indeed she is extremely large. She acknowledges the compliment with a smile. "My husband and I do not quite agree with regard to feeding." "Is it possible?" "Now, be believes in mangels, but I say cake." "Madame, I should prefer cake myself." "And it's cheaper when you come to use two or three tons a month." "I can hardly believe what I hear. Again I smother my astonishment and, turning to the lovely daughter, I say: "You do not yourself exhibit, mademoiselle?" "Yes, I do," she replies, dropping her eyes and blushing with charming modesty. "Oh, yes; Florence has got something here and it's a shame she didn't get a prize. You shall judge for yourself, monsieur. Here, Florence, my dear, while I go and find your father, take monsieur and show him your calves." I am astounded. I know what to say I am astounded. I know not what to say or where of look. I say "Mademoiselle more private, but—", and, overcome by my modesty I rush away.

THE MERMAID FABLE. The Manatee, an Unlovely Creature, Much Resembles the Human Form. Few people who visit the curio stand on the lake front at Palm Beach, just north of the Royal Poinciana grounds, to see the live manatee, or "sea cow," are imaginative enough to perceive in the wonderful, unlovely form of the huge pachyderm in its cage of inadequate proportions the origin of the delightful fable of the mermaids or the Grecian legends of the sirens, says the Florida Citizen. That these did originate in this monster of the sea is indisputable. The manatee, or lamantin, the Latin name for which is manatus, belongs to the genus of herbivorous cetacea, or manatidae, its chief characteristic being its rounded tail fin, further distinguished by the presence of small flat nails at the edge of the swimming paws, in the edge of which under the skin fingers can easily be felt. Connected together as they are by strong ligaments, they possess considerable power of motion, whence the same manatee, from the Latin manus, hand, The name sea cow originated in the similarity of the manatee's mouth and nose to that of the cow. The structure of the teeth is also distinctive; the crowns of the grinders are square, with two transverse ridges. The species, all of which are inhabitants of tropical coasts, feed entirely on plants and grasses which grow along shore and on the bed of the water, the former made accessible by the tide, which after it has retired often exhibits plain proof of their browsing. They live chiefly in shallow bays and creeks and often ascend rivers to a considerable distance from the sea.
