ship the golden image their party had set up they were defending the history of the republican party. (Great applause.)

"The republican platform of 1888 denoured the democratic administration for having attempted to degrade silver. And in 1891, on the 12th day of February, in Memorial hall, at Toledo, 0, on the Lincoln day banquet, the present candidate for president upon the republican ticket used the words which I shall now read to you. I have found these words published in a Toledo paper and they have been published so long without correction that we may safely as words published so long without correction that we may safely as a shall deny the correctness of this representation of the word. Who does not stand appared which leads to you is willing to be a partner in a conspiracy, the consummation of that many particles. My friends all these trusts together fall into insignificance when compared with the money trust which has its hands upon our country. (Voice, That's so.)

"Place the control of the standard money of the world in the hands of a attorney general and auditor.

A committee was appointed to look over the field and carefully consider who could be trusted by the mutual people, and recommend their names to the secretaries of the local companies in a circular for each member who will be asked to attach his signature and to each member of his company. This is not a political dodge to defeat any landing the state fair represent subjects.

Last week during the sentatives of farm mutuals held a meeting and talked over different subjects, attention our country. (Voice, retracting these words. These are the words which he is said to have used:

"'During all of Grover Cleveland's years at the head of the government he was dishonoring one of our precious metals, one of our own great products, discrediting silver and enhancing the price of gold. He endeavored even before his inauguration to office to stop the colnage of silver dollars and afterward, and to the end of his administration, persistently used his power to that end. He was determined to contract the circulating medium and demonetize one of the lating medium and demonetize one of the coins of commerce, limit the volume of coins of commerce, limit the volume of money among the people, make money scarce, and therefore dear. He would have increased the value of money and diminished the value of everything elsemoney the master, everything else the sesvant.' (Great applause.)

"Following these same lines, the republican convention in 1892 declared at Minneapolis that the American people from neapolis that the American people from tradition and interest were in favor of bimetallism. (Voice, 'That's so.') That is the language in 1892, that the American people from tradition and interest are in favor of bimetallism. Have traditions changed in four years? (A voice, ditions changed in four years? (A voice, 'No.') Have interests changed in four years? (A voice, 'No.') No, my friends, and forgetting the platform of 1880, forgetting the denunciation uttered by their distinguished leader in 1891, forgetting the platform of 1892, the republican party in convention, declared that the American people must forego the advantages of the bimetallic system to which tradition and interest indorsed them, until foreign nations should bring these advantages to them. (Applause.)

PRECEDENT ESTABLISHED.

"It is strange that men who had looked for bimetallism in the republican party should have given up hope and turned elsewhere for relief. These re-publicans cannot be criticised for leaving publicans cannot be criticised for leaving the republican party. They have done what every American citizen has a right to do. They have done better than our democratic advocates of the gold staudard have done because these republicans when they left the party joined with those who had a chance to succeed, while our democratic advocates of the gold standard sought to secure the election of a republican candidate by nominating a democratic candidate. (Cries of 'That's so.') To show you that the action of these republicans is defended by experience and example, let me carry you back to the period just preceding the war. If you will turn to a book published entitled 'John Sherman's ook published entitled 'John Sherman's Book published entitled John Sherman's Recollection,' (laughter), you will find on page 112 of the first volume, a portion of a speech he delivered in congress in 1856. Let me read this extract: 'I am willing to stand by the compromise of 1820 and 1850; but when our whigh brethren of the south allowed their administration to lead them off from their neinciples: when they abandon the ministration to lead them on from their principles; when they abandon the position which Henry Clay would have taken, forget his name and achievement, and decline any longer to carry his banner, they lose all their claims on me. And I say now, that until this wrong is righted, until Kansas is admitted as a free state, I cannot act in party association with tham."

"There was the distinguished senator from Ohio asserting to the people of this country upon the floor of congress that he was willing to accept compromise after compromise, but that the time had at last come when he could go with them no longer; that until certain things were lished he could not act with them. accomplished he could not act with them. The situation today is but a repetition of history. Compromise has been submitted to by these republicans in the hope that the party of their choice and love would at last bring to the people the relief which they desired. But the republican party, like that party in 1856, has been led off by another administration until it has deserted its traditions and its platform and these republicans have a right to say to their publicans have a right to say to their republican associates, 'We will go with you no longer until this nation is redeemed.' (Applause.)

BE TRUE TO CONVICTIONS.

"We do not ask those who present this nomination to pledge their future services to the democratic party. The same intelligence which directs them today in the discharge of this duty will be with them four years from now to direct them in the discharge of duties that will then arise. The same patriotism that leads today in what they do will be with leads today in what they do will be with them four years from now to guide and direct them. We trust them now, we shall trust them then. The democratic party has proven itself worthy of their confidence today and it receives their their support. If four years from now it proves unworthy of their confidence it should not then have their support. (Applause and cries of 'That's right, that's the way to talk.') ing Narrative. From the World Herald, Omaha, Neb. Mr. William C. Hart, favorably known among his friends and acquaintances as "The Old Salt Doctor," is probably the most familiar character in the vic-inity of Twenty-fourth and Franklin streets, Omaha, Nebraska. Mr. Hart is now over 80.

"THEOLD SALT DOOFOR." Mr. William O. Hart Relates An Interest-

An interesting history of his recovery from a common malady follows: A lit-tle over five years ago I became afflicted with a malady, the name of which I do not know. My family have been trou-bled the same when they arrived at my age, and they said I was on the same road and that there was no cure for me. The symptoms were dizziness, loss memory, and an utter prostration of the nerves. The most notable trou-ble was a swimming of the head, when I came in from a walk, or was out standing in the sun or doing any kind of exercise at all. When I would sit down my head would swim and everything would dance before my eyes, and I would be-come so dizzy that I would have to hold to a chair to keep from falling: or if I were sitting down and got up sud-denly, everything would whirl before me, and I would have to hold to the was so poor that it was difficult for me to remember some of my best friends. This state of things continued for about a year and a half, and kept getting worse and worse; I could not re-member anything, and my head was in a constant whirl; everything swam be-fore me so that life was really miser-

On the recommendation of some friends, I went to my druggist, Mr. Shrader, on Twenty-fourth and Clark street, and got a box of Pink Pills for trial, and after taking a few doses I began to feel the effects and found that they were doing me good. When the first box was gone I got another and another until I had taken four boxes and I was entirely relieved. And now although my memory is not so good as it was forty years ago, it is greatly improved, and is better than many men's memory that are much younger than I; my dizziness is entirely gone, and my nerves are strong as they were ten years ago, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did it too. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and have and shall continue to recommend them to all my friends or any one else that is in need of a strengthening

The reporter interviewed Mr. Shrader, the druggist, and many of Mr. Hart's friends and acquaintances in regard to his statements, and they all told the same story as to Mr. Hart's recovery from his malady.

One Mark of Disrespect Which the Republicant Overlooked.

It would have been a fitting finale for the republicans after all their disreputable actions in Liucoln thus far this campaign to have cut the electric light wires so that it would have been impossible to hold the out door exercises last evening. Every discourtesy of which their brains could conceive has been actively carried out thus far but the above suggestion was evidently never thought of

THEY'ER ONTO JOHN M. He Tells a Baltimore Audience That

He Was Always For Gold. That well known political weather cock, John M. Thurston, spoke to a crowd of goldbugs in Baltimore last night, and the press dispatches have this to say about him: "The republicans opened the campaign in Baltimore last night with a big mass meeting at Music hall. It was under the joint auspicies of the state and city committees and called to order by Senatorelect Wellington. There were between 3,500 and 4,000 persons present. The galleries were filled with ladies and their escorts. A great many gold standard democrats came to hear Senator John M. Thurston denounce unlimited coinage and the Chicago platform generally. Most of them remained until the close of the meeting listening to the speech, but others created some confusion by interrupting Senator Thurston with questions and in a few cases leaving the hall. Senator Thurston talked for an hour and a half. He devoted a little time to labor day and then called atteneton to a

'dodger" which had been distributed at Mr. Kerr of Pueblo, Colo., was then introduced just as thousands began to start home, but they were arrested by his strong clear tones that challenged attention and in a few minutes they were yelling for him to "go on." The speaker captured the audience by the fighting qualities he displayed. He handled gold

WAS HE A PROPHET?

How Ashland Students Grew Into Bryan

Two or three years ago the senior clas of the Ashland High school by a unanimous vote selected W. J. Bryan to deliver their commencement oration, and laid their plans before the board of education. For reasons of their own the board refused to ratify the choice of the class. Members of the class became very indignant because they believed that the board was actuated wholly by political motives, and many prominent members declared they would refuse to receive their diplomas. One leader of the class declared to the board, "Gentlemen the time may again come when we, as citizens, may have a chance to vote for W. J. Bryan, and I warn you now that our vote may again be unanimous."

NEWMAN DENIES.

Says That the Newspapers Simply Want

Dr. C.C. Lasby of this city has received the following denial from Bishop New man relative to recent utterances of his on the political situation.

"There was no disturbance at Asbury Park; much applause and no hissing. I did not denounce the populists as an archists—it was a newspaper sensation."

We are glad to lay the facts before our readers. A speaker of good taste and culture can be trusted not to turn the pulpit into a political rostrum, and no gentleman with any sense of fairness would take advantage of such a situation to score a point in favor, of any party or candidate.

In the suit of the county against the bondsmen of Maxey Cobb, Jepthah A. Huddleson filed a demurrer yesterday claiming that the district court has no jurisdiction over the defendant and also laiming that the plaintiff has no legal capacity in the suit. Mr. Huddleson also alleges that in the plaintiff's petition there are not facts sufficient to constitute a legal cause of action.
