is to work deception on caucuses and conventions or patronage for the advancement of themselves and their favorites. To create and preserve confidence between the people and party managers is a root of wisdom in party management. If the party leaders really have faith and trust in the people, the latter will find it out, and that trust will be reciprocated. If the people do not believe that party lenders have confidence in them it is the best attainable successful. evidence that it is not true.

This was first clearly realized by Thos. Jefferson and finds its greatest exempli-fication in the career of Andrew Jackson. both of whom were, with the party they espoused, maintained principally by the agricultural people, like the people of Ne-braska. The people of Nebraska have not now confidence either in the princi ples or management of the republican party, nor is it certain that they have sufficient confidence in the management of any other party of the state to cause them to place it in power. It is safe to trust with them the principles of tariff re-form as represented by President Cleve-land and the majority of the members of congress. And yet we cannot forget that the tariff has been calloused by a hundred years of discussion, in which critics say, that no new arguments bave been ad vanced since the days of Jefferson and Hamilton; and that there is another and newer question which has taken the foremost place in the minds of the people who demand an opportunity to record their views theron in unmistakable and unequivocal language—a right which they have, and of right ought to have.

A question arising out of the demone tization of silver twenty years ago-a question of restoration—whether silver shall be remonetized, whether we shall have the single gold standard or the double standard of gold and silverwhether we shall have monometallism or bimettallism. We are confronted by the startling alleged discovery of local ex-plorers of the dictionary, that the statesmen of the world of every age and clime, as well as writers on political economy, have always been under the delusion that there might be a double standard of values, when in fact ther is no such a thing, never has been nor ever can be. They would run the subject into a question of dictionary, where democrats, from Andrew Jackson down, are not counted heavy.

Another line of local philosophers tell us that perfect bimetallism, which they profess to favor, is the use of an equal amount of each metal, which we did not formerly have, but we have got it now. So according to their dictionaries their millenium in metallism has come. In every government where the owner of gold and silver bullion can at pleasure, on equal terms, and without discrimination against either, convert all his bullion of both kinds into standard money, a certain amount of gold into a certain number of units of value, and a certain amount of silver into a certain number of units of value, there is a double standard, according to the statesmen of the world, including Hamilton, Jefferson, Jackson, and an unbroken line of Ameriard and not a single standard-bimetalism and not monometallism-irrespective of how much of one or how little of the other is being used at a given time, nor how much the one may go abroad in exchange for the other, thereby both relieving strains on each other in different places on the automatic plan (which | money of the world. The necessary thing is unlimited coinage of both metals, so that no part of either will be excluded, thereby making a surplus excluded to fix a of bullion so commodity value different the coinage value. Inasmuch as there must be a ratio, we should proceed on the present ratio of 16 to 1. and not permit a quibble on ratios to defeat remonetization. An unlimited coinage of one metal and a limited coinage of the other gives a commodity value to the latter measured by the former.

It is in vain to attempt to compromise a question that in its nature is not susceptible of compromise. It is a monstrosity having not the simplicity, merit or sta bility of either the pure single or double standard, and must be either abandoned for one or the other. But we are told that we must wait for greatest statesman says, will hold to the single standard of gold, because being a creditor nation, it gives her the advantage over others, including the American people. JUDGE BROADY AT TABLE ROCK.

In line with the above record Judge Broady delivered his great speech at Table Rock September 5, 1896, in his present campaign for congress which was published in full in the World-Herald next morning. In this speech he follows up the subject to date and answers the gold standard objections to the restoration of the double standard of silver and gold in a masterly way. All demands for that speech will be supplied.

Here comes old Mephisto himself: Look at him, grinning as he trots along and looming red against the white of the snow, says Longman's Magazine. The first is, that from I shall not be hanged for it in this country; indeed, no one will think the worse of me for the act, but rather the better. Then he is the evil genius of many worthy forest people besides the silly, old Mr. Hare. TRUTH NOT IN THEM

METROPOLITAN PAPERS PAND-ER TO THE GOLD BUGS.

Dailles Have Been Choked Into Declaring for Mark Hanna and the Gold Standard-Time for Plain Talk.

National Democratic and Silver Headquarters, Chicago, Official Letter: For the first time in the history of the United States the greedy hand of the usurer is at the throat of the press. With a few courageous and honorable exceptions, the metropolitan papers have been choked into a declaration for Mark Hanna and the gold standard. Their columns are filled with sophistry, with evasion, and with lies.

At the dictation of the banks which own mortgages on their plants, and therefore on their souls, these newspapers have hoisted the American flag in behalf of monopoly, and beneath its sacred folds charge the patriotic majority of the American people with repudiation, dishonesty, and anarchy.

The truth is not in them. At the command of a bankocracy they do not hesitate to stultify every honest declaration of an honorable past. They suppress all news calculated to enable the people to render a fair decision at the November election. There are two sides to the money question, but they dare not present even their own sideor rather that of their owners and masters-and present it fairly.

Mark Hanna does not own or control this paper. Wall street controls, with a few exceptions, the great newspapers of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and other centers of population and wealth, but there is as yet no power in organized monopoly which can entirely suppress the publication of truth. Thanks to the independent and fearless press of the smaller cities, there are yet citadels from which shot and shell can be poured into the ranks of the usurers who now aspire to political supremacy.

It will be the province of this paper to tell the truth. The truth is good enough in this campaign. If the American people can become acquainted with the und sted facts, Wall street will not carry ... county in the United States. No statement will be given publicly until it has been thoroughly investigated and its accuracy established. Nothing will be suppressed. Things will be called by their right names. If a man steals he is a thief. If he utters an untruth he is a liar. If he indulges in cant he is a hypocrite.

It is time for plain talking. With an audacity unparalleled, a clique of gold lenders is attempting to forever bind the hands of the American people. Emboldened by past triumphs; with an appetite whetted by successive raids on the United States treasury, they have thrown discretion to the winds and are fighting in the open.

come out from behind the screen and is commander-in-chief. He has in his posession William McKinley's notes for a large amount and proposes to collect them by grace of the voters of the United States. Who is helping him? Production of gold from 1873
Payne of Milwaukee—Payne, the Production of silver from 1873 avowed enemy of labor; Payne, the man on whom the outraged citizens of Milwankee placed a boycott and walked for weeks rather than ride in his street cars. Who else is on Hanna's staff? Verkes and Pullman of Chicago: H. C. Frick of Homestead; Thurston of Omaha, the senatorial lobbyist of the Union Pacific road. Every man who ever plundered labor or evicted a workman is arrayed on the side of Hanna and an English gold standard.

Can they win? Not if the spirit of independence yet dominates the people of America.

LAYING A TRAP FOR AMERICA What Bankers and Plutocrats Mean by International Elmetallism.

The Chicago Times-Herald, William McKinley's special organ, in referring to the statement of Bryan in his New York address that "if the gold standard is such a good thing why do you wish to get rid of it through international bimetallism?" replies as follows:

"The answer is that we do not desire to get rid of the gold standard. If bimetallism is a good thing, as Mr. Bryan and his supporters so continually proclaim, it is only good so far as it brings silver into parity with gold. If it does not do this it is not good. Bringing silver into parity with gold still makes gold the standard. We assert that it is only by cooperation among the leading commercial nations that this can be done, and operation."

Hon. William B. Morris, of Springfield, Ill., in a communication, makes the following suggestive analysis of the above.

"The Times-Herald's construction of the Republican pledge to promote international bimetallism-ought to be forced on the notice of every voter in the land. The gold men do not want international bimetallism at all. They want internationl gold monometal-Ham. Silver under such a compact would still among all the treaty powers be held down to the present position as debased token money. It would not be allowed to share to any extent whatever in the work of measuring values because it is itself to be measured in gold. Gold therefore is to be maintained by treaty with the leading European powers as the sole standard of values, and the talk about a double standard is only so much dust throws in the people's eyes. Morever, if after bitter experience, the people seek by legislation to throw off the shackles of the single gold standard after once being entrapped into international en tanglements over their finances, the they will be warned that the matter has passed from their hands, that the treaty making power, once exercised, having effected such an international arrangement, their right to abrogate it is subject to the will of all the other signatory powers. From this it needs no prophet's eye to foresee international complications that would leave these United States absolutely at the mercy of the powers of Europe. Nor need we expect the aid of our sister American republics, for by entering into arrangements calculated to still further depress the products of their silver mines we close the gates to them, bid them adieu forever and literally choose the monarchies of Europe as our company and turn our backs on all the republics of the western continent. The pledge of the Republican party to promote a policy that is certain to eventuate in the consummation of this, the most gigantic infamy of all the ages, unless it be destruction of Carthage or the dismemberment of Poland, ought to damn its leaders beyond redemption.

GOLD THE CHEAPER PRODUCT. It Costs Much Less to Mine It Than It Does to Mine Silver.

One of the oft-repeated statements of Republican newspapers and orators and of their allies, the gold Democrats, is that the abundance of silver ore and the cheapness with which the metal can be produced are the causes why people of this and other countries will not and should rot sanction its free coinage, as a rademption money, at the ratio of 16 to 1, or even the French ratio of 151/2 to 1. If this reasoning be accepted the truth is it is gold which should be demonetized, for its production during the past fifty years has been relatively much larger, in coin value, than that of silver, and the cost of its production is now much less. Today, for instance, to get out of the earth the silver in a dollar costs the Colorado miner 55 cents, while the South African gold in a dollar costs but 35 cents to mine. These figures the gold standard men never reveal, though practically acquainted with them, for this campaign is made on falsehoods which they hope the people will not find out. Based on the cost of the production of both metals there the just market price of the yellow metal as compared with the white is only a little more than 631/2 cents, and so their present bullion prices should be exactly reversed. According to the strictly interpreted logic of the Shylocks gold is the cheap and debased metal and silver should be the standfollowing statistics are instructive:

Tet They Pretend that They Are Afraid That the Working Men Will Be Paid in Cheap Dollars-The Chicago Tribune "Ordered Up."

The following letter was recently addressed to the Chicago Tribune, That paper boasts that it answers all letters received. It evidently made an exception of this one for the very good reason that its publication would have spened the eyes of a large number of the Tribune's readers. We publish it that its influences may not be lost:

Editor, Sound Money column, Chicago Tribune-Sir: its not a fact that Pierpont Morgan, who is at the head of the gold movement in this country, and who recently made a profit of $8,-900,000 on a bond transaction (which transaction was only made necessary because we are on a gold basis, and insist on paying our obligations in gold), is also at the head of the anthracite coal trust; which trust has recently raised the price of that article for no known reason whatever except its own voraciousness? Is it not also a fact that Senator J. M. Thurston, one of the leading supporters of the gold party, is the paid attorney of the Union Pacific railroad, a corporation which has robbed the United States government of millions of dollars?

Did not the Union Pacific make every Commissioner Fitzgerald spoke at scores of republican meetings throughout western New York during the campaign of '88. He has been United States commissioner for the past 27 years, during which time he has been of great service to the party.

SHERMAN'S TWO SPEECHES.

Sherman's plea for labor in the senas estimated by Dr. Linderman, some to a thousand dollars in one payment. ninety-nine transactions out of every one hundred will be transacted with it. $2,060,897,000 And all business between individuals to 1892 inclusive 2,264,419,000 not bankers, between the mechanic and employer, between farmers and their merchants, and all wages, and indeed between the bankers and those between this and foreign nations would continue to be in gold, but the silver as the small dealer, and indeed of all those persons who do not deal in millions at a clip. I therefore, Mr. President, look upon this as one of the great steps toward resumption. It is by utilizing the silver which we produce in large amounts in this country and making it a legal tender as it was heretofore. It remains a legal tender in France, and it is there successful as the coin of the people. It is also a legal tender in many other parts of Europe. France is one of the great commercial nations, and they have retained the double standard; and from my reading I believe if Germany could go back to the double standard it would do it most cheerfully. They believed that the large amount of French coin which had been brought there in a day would remain, and so believing they demonetized all the millions of silver that had been coined all the little principalities and duchies of Germany for ages before and substituted gold exclusively, recoining the French coin so as to make it the coin of the empire. But this imperial coin must go back to its dition of paralysis and prostration, not surpassed by its sad condition during the Napoleonic wars. It should be received as a fundamental fact so as to guide the statesmen of this country that the reverse of what suits England always suits us. And as the exclusive gold standard undoubtedly suits her, the double standard suits us .- See Congressional Record, March 6, 1876, pages 1472 to 1483.

John Sherman's plea for labor at ard and international coin, being the ate of the United States in 1876: We Columbus in 1896: But by far the dearest one. In this connection the are producing in this country this year, greatest injury resulting from the free coinage of silver will fall upon PRODUCTION OF GOLD AND SILVER. $40,000,000 in silver bullion. He esti-workingmen. Their wages are now Production of gold from 1792 to mates the total production at $80,- based upon money of the highest value, legal tender? I admit that if it is made the silver dollar will fall to 53 cents Excess of production of silver over gold a legal tender; equal to gold, it being a in gold, or, as I have already said, the hundred cents of the gold dollar will be worth 190 cents of the silver dollar. With free coinage of silver every workingman can and ought to demand enough silver for his daily wages to be equal to the purchasing power of his present wages in gold. The struggle between workingman and employer will then commence and no one kn better than the workingman how difficult it is to get an advance of pay. We have strikes and strife enough now, when the workingman gets his pay in gold coin or its equivalent, but what will be the condition when he is paid in cheaper money of the same nominal amount, but of less purchasing power? Every sentiment of justice will be on the side of the workingman in his struggle for good money or increased wages in cheap money. Of all the evils which a government can inflict none can be greater than cheap money, whether of coin or paper.

The question will never be settled until you determine the simple question whether the laboring man is entitled to have a gold dollar if he earns it, or whether you are going to cheat him with something else. Gold has made the world respect it all the time. The English people once thought they could get along without gold for a while, but they had to come back to it. With the free coinage of silver gold will be demonetized. Nothing can be more certain than that the cheaper money only will circulate. The United States has thus far maintained its silver coins at parity with gold coins only by its exclusive monopoly of coinage and by limiting the amount, but with free coinage of silver there could be no limitation. Silver bullion in every form will be pressed upon the mints and with the mandatory duty of free coinage, silver dollars will soon fill the channels of circulation and the gold dollar will be hoarded or will be quoted and sold as a commodity at about 190 cents of the silver coin. Silver will stand as the par of value and gold will be quoted, at its commercial value. -See John Sherman's speech et Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 15, 1896.
