BARTLEY TRYING TO ESCAPE.

His Attorneys Only Attempt to Find Technical Irregularities.

The attorneys in the case against Joseph Bartley examine every document filed by the state, in all its minutest details in the hope of finding some slight irregularity in the form or wording of the document. They do not pretend to claim that Bartley is innocent. They have filed a plea in abatement in the Douglas county case to have the trial dismissed, setting up two reasons, first, that Bartley had not had a preliminary hearing before a magistrate clothed with proper authority to conduct the hearing and that he had not waived his right to such a hearing. The second reason is that there is a case pending in Lancaster county covering the crime of which he is charged and on trial in Douglas county, and as both courts might require his attendance at the same time, he might be unable to comply with the court's order. The attorney-general had anticipated the defense set up in the second instance and has had the Lancaster county case dismissed without prejudice to a new action. The first contention involves only the question of the jurisdiction of the Omaha police judge and the regularity of the proceedings.

Peculiar Poisons.

GENERATED IN THE HUMAN BODY.

The Result of Imperfect Digestion of Food.

Every living thing, plant or animal, contains within itself the germs of certain decay and death.

In the human body these germs of disease and death (called by scientists Ptoimines), are usually the result of imperfect digestion of food; the result of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The stomach, from abuse, weakens, does not promptly and thoroughly digest the food. The result is a heavy, sodden mass which ferments (the first process of decay) poisoning the blood, making it thin, weak, and lacking in red corpuscles; poisoning the brain causing headaches and pain in the eyes.

Bad digestion irritates the heart, causing palpitation and finally bringing on disease of this very important organ.

Poor digestion poisons the kidneys, causing Bright's disease and diabetes.

And this is so because every organ, every nerve depends upon the stomach alone for nourishment and renewal, and weak digestion shows itself not only in loss of appetite and flesh, but in weak nerves and muddy complexion.

The great English scientist, Huxley, said the best start in life is a sound stomach. Weak stomachs fail to digest food properly, because they lack the proper quantity of digestive acids (lactic and hydrochloric) and ptyalogenic products; the most sensible remedy in all cases of indigestion, is to take after each meal, one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply in a pleasant harmless form all the elements that weak stomachs lack.

The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure every form of stomach trouble except cancer of stomach.

They increase flesh, insure pure blood, strong nerves, a bright eye and clear complexion, because all these result only from wholesome food well digested.

Nearly all druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents full sized package or by mail by enclosing price to Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., but ask your druggist first.

ONE CASE DISMISSED.

Attorney-General Smyth will not take Chances.

In proceeding in the cases against ex-Treasurer J. S. Bartley, Attorney-General Smyth is exercising great caution. It is not his intention to allow the courts that are in sympathy with Bartley any excuse whatever for releasing him. He has had Bartley arraigned twice once in Douglas county on the charge of embezzling the $181,000 general fund warrant and again in Lancaster county on the charge of embezzling the entire amount of his defalcations including the $181,000 warrant, in all $537,000. Bartley's attorneys in Omaha were expected to file objections to the progress of the trial on the ground that he was to be tried twice on the same charge. To avoid this the Attorney-General has ordered that the Lancaster county case be dismissed without prejudice to a new action. Bartley will then be re-arrested on a complaint charging embezzlement of $537,000 less the $181,000 warrant which is included in the charge in Omaha. What the result of the trial will be depends largely upon the action of the judges. They will have the opportunity to convict the Honorable J. S. Bartley if they so desire. That is all the attorney-general can give them.

The proposition made by the secretary of the navy that the government establish a plant and make its own armor for its battle ships is seriously alarming the armor plate manufacturers. These giant corporations have been charging the government nearly twice as much for armor plate as they receive from foreign governments, and the secretary is backed by a large contingent of congressmen in his desire to make the government independent of private enterprise in this important matter. We make the best guns in the world at our government gun shop in Washington and should easily make the best armor plate if congress would make the necessary appropriations. —Saw-les County Journal.

MILITIA OF THE UNITED STATES

General Barry Favors Its Mobilization at the Exposition.

The idea of making a grand display of the militia military forces of the United states at the trans-Mississippi exposition as one of the chief attractions is rapidly spreading.

The Military Gazette has written to Adjutant general Barry for his opinion in relation to the proposed encampment in reply to which he has sent the following letter:

Headquarters Nebraska National guard, adjutant General's Office, Lincoln, Neb., May 28.—Editor Military Gazette, Chicago, Ill.—Sir: Referring to your letter of April 26 relative to the mobilization of the National guard at Omaha during the exposition, and requesting an expression of my opinion on the matter. I will say that not only myself, but all of the officers of the National guard of this state with whom I have consulted are heartily in favor of the idea, believing that the concentration of the guard of the several states of our great country in a camp of instruction, can, as a matter of course, but result for the very best interests of our citizen soldiers.

The policy of our government has not in the past, nor will it in the future, admit of the keeping of a standing army sufficient to meet a sudden declaration of war. Consequently we must rely upon the organized militia to meet emergencies.

To this end, it is of vast importance that the National guard should receive sufficient support, and instruction in order that it may at all times be ready for mobilization at threatened points. The gathering together of the troops of the different states in camps of instruction carries more with it than the mere routine of drill, guard duty and ceremonies.

The principles of minor tactics can be better exemplified, strategical problems on a large scale can be demonstrated and worked out. Officers learn to know each other, observing the methods of administration, etc., possibly detecting errors, or it may be seeing in the system of their comrades of other states better methods.

In fact, one might go on and enlarge on this subject until he had matter enough to make a good sized pamphlet.

While I have expressed myself in favor of the mobilization of the National guard of the United States at Omaha, I must also express the opinion that in order to insure the best results from such joint encampments the present militia law of the United States should be changed so as to give to the general commanding and all subordinate officers full military control, equal to that now exercised by officers of the regular army, and officers of the National guard over their commands within the boundaries of their own states.

The commanding officer of the joint encampment could only command by voluntary agreement, he having no authority by law to issue an order and enforce obedience thereto. The passage of the militia bill prepared at the war department and introduced at the last session of congress would obviate this difficulty. It seems to me there should be no trouble to get such a bill passed by the congress now in session. To bring about an enactment of such a law only requires the united efforts of the adjutant generals of the several states who should call the attention of their congressional delegation to such a measure and urge them to support the same. I am assured by each member of the Nebraska delegation that such a measure will receive their cordial support. I am very truly yours, P. H. BARRY, Adjutant General.

Are the older members of the senate content to leave it to Senator Tillman to move an investigation into the facts and allegations that seriously compromise the honor of that body? Do they imagine that the old Sugar Trust scandal can be "hushed up" when a new and greater scandal is impending? The country hears a great deal about the "courtesy of the senate." Is it not high time to hear something about its honor? —New York World.

That was a nice bit of partisan hypocrisy when Senator Thurston of Nebraska, speaking of the Cuban belligerency resolution the other day, "recalled the stirring scene when the convention enthusiastically inserted the Cuban plank in the platform, and declared that this resolution was in practical fulfillment of that pledge." —Topeka Advocate.

Address A. C. Gaylord, 1230 G street, Lincoln, Neb.

In discussion recently in the United States senate the facts of the true relationship between the government and the Union Pacific railroad was brought out by Senator Pettigrew. He showed the government of the United States had property on the main line and all the branches and the company holds the stocks and bonds of the branch lines. The earnings were used to construct the branches, and the company holds the stocks and bonds of the branch lines. These stocks and bonds are worth $30,000,000 or more. They are put up for six or eight millions borrowed money.

The proposition now is to sell these stocks and bonds for what they will bring and pay the trust notes. The senator said he proposed that the United States government should put up the money and save the property, for if the branch lines were severed from the main line the road would be almost worthless. It is certainly the duty of the government to protect itself. It is a business proposition. —Fremont Leader.
