Long Pine Chautauqua.

Nature has done more to beautify the Long Pine Chautauqua grounds than any similar grounds in the west, but it being a portion of Nebraska that is not well settled the attendance is never very large, notwithstanding the most excellent program that is furnished each year. Not only is the scenery beautiful, but the water that comes from some of the most beautiful springs is as pure as water can be. And then the pure invigorating air—well, one will have to go there to appreciate it. Prof. A. K. Gouly made a splendid president. Space will not permit of our mentioning all of the worthy subjects that were discussed by eminent men of the state, but we must speak of the violin music furnished by Miss Silence Dales of Lincoln. She is a very unassuming young lady, granddaughter of the first chancellor of our university and a pupil of Mendelssohn. No citizen of Lincoln who loves music can afford to fail to hear her whenever she may play in this city. Many men bought lots expecting to build there next year, among them being J. H. Edmiston, state oil inspector, and several college professors whose names we failed to learn. We bespeak for the Long Pine Chautauqua success as a health and pleasure resort.

The Only Irrigation Journal.

Representing the thousands of irrigation farmers in western America, there is only one journal published today representing their interests. Right in the midst of the great irrigated districts of the west is the home of "Arid America," a handsome 32 page journal of incalculable value to all those interested in irrigation matters and the advancement of irrigation enterprises, having a bona fide paid circulation at this time east of the Mississippi river exceeding 3,000, and in the western states exceeding 6,500 monthly.

In order to secure 5,000 extra subscribers in the next six months this Journal will be mailed free of charge to any address for one year on receipt of 50 cents in stamps. You get all the irrigation news of the world, with over 400 inches of original half tone engravings illustrating scenes in irrigated territory. Address Grant S. Yauger, Editor, P. O. box 233, Denver, Colo.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT.

J. Y. M. Swigart Editor—Hail, Cyclone and Fire, Farm and Town—Agents Wanted—Write Editor of Insurance Department.

HAIL.

The hail season is nearly over, but on the 17th Lancaster county had a part of its corn crop utterly annihilated. Some of the men who suffered thereby were asked to insure against hail, but their answer was the same as is given everywhere, that we never have any hail here, but over in the valley they get it every year or two. If the agent should get over into that self same valley the farmer there would tell him that up on the table land they get hail quite often. (This same thing occurs in cyclone insurances.) If the farmers south of Lincoln had insured with us we would owe them 29 bushels for every bushel he paid for his insurance. Next year many of these farmers will insure but in two years they will say it never hails here.

TOWN MUTUAL.

Many reports are coming in promising good results in the Dwelling House Insurance Co. We will have a meeting on September 2 of all who are contingent members. We hope to have enough to make the insurance good at that time.

WILL HOLD COMPANY CAMPS.

Companies of the National Guard Will Be Assembled for Two Days.

At the regular session of the Military Board, Wednesday, it was decided that instead of regimental encampments this year, each company of the national guard shall hold a two days' camp of instruction at their home stations. Of course if two or three companies wish to get together at their own expense, a battalion camp may be enjoyed.

The members of the board present and making the decision were: Adjutant-General P. H. Barry, Col. John P. Bratt, First regiment; Col. William Bischof, jr., Second regiment; Col. Edwin W. Hale, judge advocate-general. Colonel Bills is in Colorado and telegraphed his inability to be present. The motion as carried in the board was:

"Moved that the companies of the Nebraska national guard be assembled at their home stations for instructions in the authorized manuals of drill, guard duty and target practice in compliance with section 31, chapter 50, session laws of 1897, for a period of two days prior to October 1, 1897. And that the officers and enlisted men of the Nebraska national guard be allowed for such service such compensation as is provided in section 37 of said chapter 50."

This pay is $1 a day and one ration or combination thereof for all enlisted men and the same pay as for officers of the regular army for officers.

Right to Inherit Property.

The right to inherit property is a statutory right only. That is, an heir inherits an estate not by virtue of anything in the constitution, but simply because the legislature of the state chooses to permit a man to leave property to his children or friends, or in case he dies intestate, declares that his next of kin are to have it. The legislature could change this state of things at any time. It could abolish inheritance altogether. These vast fortunes of $100,000,000 and more could be broken up by a law made at Albany to provide that no citizen can inherit more than a million dollars. The dangerous Vanderbilt, Astor and Gould fortunes ought to be treated in this fashion. Let the heirs take a million and the rest go to the state. This will have to be done one of these days in order to preserve the liberties of the people. The law need not start too suddenly. It might provide that after the year 1910 no man can inherit more than a million dollars. This would give ample warning to the plutocracy. It might abate the American passion for wealth gathering and thus do a great deal of good.—Twentieth Century.
