GOVERNMENT BY INJUNCTION.

Some Cases Where It has been Resorted to by Corporations in Nebraska.

Every effort made by the last legislature to prevent robbery by corporations has been estopped by injunctions issued either by the federal or state judges. First, hanging over us all like a great incumbus is the injunction of Judge Brewer, which forbids the board of transportation to lower freight rates in this state, and which for three years has forced from the pockets of the farming community millions in overcharges for carrying freight. If that money had been left in the hands of the farmer instead of having been sent out of the state as dividends and interest to foreign bondholders every commercial interest would have felt its effect.

In the last eight months nine more injunctions have been granted by the courts. First came those of Lancaster county to prevent a delivery of ballots by the clerk of the county and the recounting of the ballots by the legislative committee; then there was one at Beatrice preventing the board of public lands and buildings from controlling an institution located there; next there is the stockyards injunction which compels the farmers shipping stock to South Omaha to pay $1 a bushel for corn and $20 a ton for hay, besides extortionate and unreasonable yardage; then there is the injunction against the board of transportation to prevent it from lowering the extortionate telephone charges in the state.

The State Journal also comes up with an injunction preventing the printing board from getting a part of the public printing done at reasonable rates. And so the story goes on. Injunction after injunction prevents the people of Nebraska from reaping the benefit which should come to them from just such laws and honest government and making us pay continual tribute to foreign bondholders and railroad corporations. There's no hope for us until we get control of the courts. Vote for Judge Sullivan. T. H. Tibbles.

EDITORS' IDEAS.

Whenever you hear a republican say that Bryan will never again be a presidential candidate, you can readily observe a pale, sickly, sad look on his face. —The Wahoo Democrat.

If the republican press was honest in its attacks on Judge Sullivan it would give the record as it is. Sullivan voted for both the house and senate bills reducing railroad rates and for the railroad commission.—Wisner Courier.

It takes twelve bushels more corn to buy a thousand feet of lumber than it took a year ago. That may be prosperity to the lumber trust but how is it with the farmer?—The Teller.

It is not right to allow one man to control thousands of acres of land, to to the exclusion of others who would like to make a living thereon. Study our land sytem.—People's Advocate, Osceola Mo.

How can republicans boast of being the cause of the rise in the price of wheat? We well remember, it is only a few years since corn was 60 cents a bushel in this county and that under Grover Cleveland's administration.—The Press.

David Been-it Hill is now enjoying the well earned oblivion to which he is so justly entitled for his perfidy to his party and his country. Oh, David, may you long languish in obscurity. The Grand Island Democrat.

If the government owned the railroads and mines, there would be no strikes and employes would get better and living wages. There would be no need of a standing army to protect the owners. No injunction would be needed. Uncle Sam pays $75 to $100 for eight hours. You never hear of a letter carrier or postal clerk out on a strike, or tramp, as is many free and independent citizens working for greedy corporations.—The Burwell Eye.

It will take a vast amount of watchfulness on the part of Bryan democrats to prevent the traitors in the democratic party in 1900, who supported McKinley and got from him the offices themselves back into the party and securing control of the party machinery to be used against the platform adopted at Chicago. The silver trail of Hill, Whitney, Gorman and Brice was plainly in the recent convention of Tammany democrats in New York. The sole object of these men is to disrupt the present democratic organization and make it a party of corporations instead of a party of liberty and reform.—Silver Knights.

A Stephenson Estimate of Post.

The Plattsmouth News, a republican paper, in the issue of August 5, 1897, published the following in its editorial columns: "Among a class of brass collar editors, a good deal of slobbering over Judge Post is going on just now, well calculated to make a layman sick at his stomach. By all means if the republican party has no better timber, nominate Judge Post, and then note what will happen in November. If a real jurist, clean, able and above reproach were nominated he would have been elected.—Nemaha County Herald.

A survey of the political field shows that William Jennings Bryan is already assured of the nomination for the presidency upon the assembly of the next democratic national convention. In the first place he is certain of the delegations from Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and one or two more states in this part of the country. Then he has the delegations from every southern state without a single exception and the delegates from all the western states but two. This can mean only one thing. For a long time the men who had controlled the democratic party in the time of Mr. Cleveland's supremacy, endeavored to wrest the organization away from the Bryanites. They now admit that this effort of theirs is and must remain futile. The Bryanites are wedded to their idols. This result is not at all that which was predicted. We remember having read in more than one respected and careful newspaper that at the end of the campaign last November Bryan would be heard of no more. But how different the result.—Twentieth Century.

Tom Watson for Governor.

It is asserted that a political deal has been made which insures a red-hot gubernatorial contest in Georgia next year. State Senator Yancy Carter, the populist leader of the state, has been in consultation with United States Marshal Walter Johnson, United States District Attorney Edward G. Augier, and other conspicuous republicans. The result of the conference is a positive declaration that the republicans will indorse Thomas E. Watson, the late candidate for vice president, for governor as soon as the populists nominate him for that office.

The friends of Watson have also arranged for his nomination by the prohibitionists and the farmer's alliance. The indications are that this arrangement will lead to one of the hottest fights in the history of Georgia politics. Watson is personally very popular throughout the state, and his success in getting together the several minority parties has alarmed the democratic leaders a good deal more than they will admit. The probable democratic leader is former Congressman Allen D. Chandler, now secretary of state.

Never Too Late to Mend, Mr. McKinley.

On November 2 Mr. McKinley you will be on trial in two cities, with the people of the entire country as your jurors in each case.

On that day in the city of Omaha you will be on trial for fulfilling a corrupt bargain between another of your agents, and the Union Pacific railroad. Under the terms of that bargain the Union Pacific gave $2,000,000 to your campaign fund last fall in expectation of getting at least $20,000,000, not of your money, not of Hanna's money, but of the money of the people of the United States.

On that day in the city of New York you will be on trial for fulfilling a corrupt bargain between another of your boodle-fund raisers, Cornelius N. Bliss, as your agent, and the despicable double despotism of Platt and Croker. Under the terms of that bargain Platt the Boss promises to give you the New York delegation to the national republican convention in 1900 in exchange for the use of your federal patronage and your appointees, Bliss, Butterworth, and so forth, to help him bolster up Tracy the tool, assistant Tammany candidate. In return for a promise of support three years hence, you help Platt the Boss elect a Bryan mayor of the vast new metropolis of the nation, you help Platt the Boss deliver the city to his brother Boss Croker for four years of pillage and plunder—four years of "to hell with reform" and "terrible revenge."

You still have time not only to prevent a verdict of guilty on each indictment, but also to regain the public confidence which you have now almost lost—but there is no time to waste.

Stop the steal of more than $20,000,000, Mr. McKinley! Stop the still greater steal of the revenues, the welfare and the liberty of New York! Stop the steal of the good name and honor of the republican party! Reject the ring of Union Pacific public thieves! Withdraw your support from the double despotism that now disgraces Greater New York!

Declare your independence! Assert your integrity! Listen to the voice of your own conscience! Heed the best sentiment of your own party throughout the nation! Follow the dictates of self interest as well as public interest! Save your reputation and your political future! Protect the people both at Omaha and in greater New York!

It is never too late to mend, Mr. McKinley.—New York World.

Some seventy-five of the leading nations of the world own their own and operate their own telegraph systems, while Cuba, Hawaii, Honduras and the United States being cursed with tyranny and monopoly in various forms, are compelled to pay enormous tribute to the private monopolies that own their telegraph system.—Journal of the Knights of Labor.

"Mr. Bryan's future was supposed to depend upon the result in Nebraska, where he has succeeded in effecting a fusion. But his extraordinary hold upon the party every where, as evidenced by the resolutions, speeches and cheers in favor of his renomination in the democratic convention in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, renders it probable that even a defeat in Nebraska—which he does not anticipate—would not disturb in the least his position as the undisputed leader of his party."—New York World.

It requires only a slight acquaintance with Judge Post's record to convince any impartial observer that if he is re-elected, every republican defaulter who can devise a quibble upon which to get his case into the supreme court, will escape the punishment he deserves. If republicans are sincere in the claim that they want to see these men punished, let them demonstrate it by voting for Sullivan, who, even his enemies admit, will administer the law fairly.—The People's Champion.

It cost nearly $600,000 less to pay the expenses of '97 under populist administration than it did for the same length of time in 1895. Let's figure a little, there are about 225,000 voters in Nebraska. $600,000 divided per capita between 225,000 voters means about $2.75 that has been saved by electing populist state officials. When some republican striker asks you to vote the republican ticket tell him no and give him these figures: If by having populist state officials nine months makes a saving to each man of $2.75, two years would mean a saving of $5.50. When a man can go to the polls and make $5.50 by voting for pop officials wouldn't he be foolish to vote for republicans? That's not all that was saved when we carried the state last fall as we have less taxes to pay to keep up our schools. —Stanton Register.

Adams County Populists.

SPECIAL TO THE INDEPENDENT.

Adams county silver forces are in the win, and doubtless will achieve a complete victory. Our candidates are strong ones—bright, pure, pronounced silver men. They are in the country among the people almost day and night and the voters are usually full of life and interest. They are aware of the full significance of a victory or of a defeat this fall. The rottenness and dishonesty of the gold bugs all along the line in county, state and national affairs, is being carefully figured and certainly will inspire all true, honest and justice-loving men to do their duty at the coming election. The perfidy of the gold bug supervisors of Adams county in regard to the farming out of the publishing of the delinquent tax list to the gold bug local press at four times the price that the silver papers bid, is not to be forgotten or passed lightly over. They will be turned down for their treachery. Judge Powell and his Burtley decisions, Judge Munger and his stock yard injunctions, and Lyman J. Gage, and the gold bug currency commission are all being watched and our people will vote their disapproval and condemnation of both men and measures.

TRY GRAIN-O! TRY GRAIN-O!

Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it with as much as the adult. All who try it, like GRAIN-O, as it has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it with pleasure. It has the nourishing power of coffee, but is free from its injurious properties. Prices 15c and 25c per package.

A special inspector, who has made an examination of the city water department, has detected gross frauds and reports that many political favorites have been receiving their water gratis.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels; never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c

Very frequently we hear inquires regarding the Shepard Medical institute and its work in chronic diseases. The physicians of this institution are specialists in their particular lines of work. After years of regular general practice, they are devoting their lives to the practice of curing chronic diseases which the busy family doctor has not time or facilities to treat. That their efforts in this direction have been a great success is proven by the fact that within the last six years upwards of eight thousand patients have received the benefits of the Shepard treatment. Dr. Shepard and his associates have the finest and best equipped suite of offices in the state, and are daily treating more patients than any other medical firm known. Hundreds of patients are treated through the mails. The home treatment is adapted to those who cannot come to the city. We would strongly recommend any of our readers who are interested to write for Dr. Shepard's book, "The New Treatment, How it Cures." Also read announcement on page 8 of this issue. Specialties: Catarrh, nerve and blood diseases, rupture, piles, deafness.
