WHO SHOULD BE THE CANDI-DATE?

[This department is opened for the public discussion of the available candidates for governor at the coming election. Free speech and open discussion of every public question has always been one of the principal tenets of the populist party. It is better for the party, better for the state, better for the candidate, that the public should know the good qualities and bad qualities of a man before he is nominated, than to proceed to a nomination and take chances in finding out his character and qualifications afterwards. Open discussion will injure the chances of no worthy candidate. It may prevent the nomination of an unworthy candidate if there be any. The public has a right to know. Their only way of knowing, is by public discussion. When thoroughly acquainted with the facts, the people can be trusted to do right.

Communications upon this matter should not be long, and in every instance must be signed by the author. Any article abusive and purely slanderous, written for spiteful purposes, will not be published.

to further the principles of the populist party throughout the country. He

I slosed find oil ($1.00 sub.) to keep my , aper running for another year.

I am very pleased to see you giving the people space to express their ideas as to fit candidates; for my part I would wish that all our present state officials could be elected for another term and then all go out after a successful service, and give place to another company as honest and capable. Some may think that our governor should not have a third term, but I say: let us elect him again, by all means, for his first term was not what it should be and be could not serve us as he wished; much of his power was taken from him by the partisan legislature and we have not had a chance to witness his ability and honesty of purpose in all things, for a little more than a year. By the way these "ignorant pops" are conducting the state affairs, we won't have any state debt by the end of another term, and then we will hear our republican friends howl because we are so niggardly in business. If I cannot get any pie from the present officials I won't get disgruntled. I believe I could draw my salary with regularity and dispatch, if I could get a good, fat office, but if I don't get one I will try to keep men in office who will keep down our taxes and do faithful service for the salary the state pays them. I would much prefer having our present corps of officials in office for life, than to give the G. O. P. a chance to elect a thief to fill one of the offices, and rob the state again for campaign purposes. Keep Mr. Holcomb in office for another term and then he can a trip to Washington and occupy J. U. P. Thurston's chair in the senate. Would any Nebraskan be ashamed to see Bryan in the white house and Allen and Holcomb in the senate? We would have plenty of brain to rent to other states represented by gold bugs. We might go over to the other end of the capitol and find some 18 carat brains dishcarge the duties of an office, is the from the state that the pops have de-filed by having the pigs in the parlor. My idea is that when you have a good thing keep it. The newspaper men are making a grand good fight for the people, and we farmers must keep up our subscriptions, so that the editor may for whom we can all work heartily, en-work on a full stomach. No man can do ergetically and successfully; one who will faithful work while the club of debt is work with us as heartily, as energetically held over his head, or while hungry. EDITOR INDEPENDENT:-

There is at the present time a good deal of discussion in regard to who should be the candidate for governor, and every one seems to take a hand in the deliberations. This is a sign that the people as a mass are alive to their best interests when the people are on guard. We need not fear for the welfare of our liberties. The founders of that grand institution, which has been the cradle of nearly every plank in the people's party platform, the Knights of Labor, enunciated a great truth, and one that shall go down in history as will the impassioned words of Patrick Henry, when they selected the motto of the order: "That is the most perfect government in which an injury to one is the concern of all" and while all take an in-terest in the welfare of the state our liberties are safe.

Next to the return of W. V. Allen to the senate, the most important duty devolving upon the deliberations of the people is the selection of our chief executive in the state. We have quite a number who would make good standard bearers. We should have a man who has and will have the confidence of all the people; a man who has been before the public snough that he is known throughout the state before his nomination, and one whom the people know is, and has been true to the principles of our party and the cause which we represent.

Such we have in D. Clem Deaver of Omaha, and with all those traits of charactor which are necessary for a man for the position of governor.

Mr. Deaver is in every way well qualited for the peculiar duties of the office of governor, and has the admiration and respect of all the liberty loving people of the state and repectally is be much admired where labor organizations are strong. The New York Sun, commenting on the provisions of a resolution introduced in the senate by Mr. Vest, of Missouri, sums up its argument in these words:

No Bonds Without Bondage.

What would bonds be worth if they do not bind anybody? How could there be bonds without bondage somewhere? asks the Appeal to Reason. The law and a bill of sale were the bonds that took from the chattel slave the result of his laber and gave it to his master who held the bond. The law and the parch ment of the government are the holders of public bonds are as much op-posed to doing away with conditions by which he profits as were the masters of chattel slaves. There is no difference between the two except in the method. The results on those in bondage are just the same so far as loss is concerned. When the people wake up to the fact that they are in bondage, that they are still suffering from one of the many forms of slavery that has been the curse of the world, they will make short work of the bonds. That they submit is only because they do not realize the nature of their condition. The present system is one form of slavery and the people are
