

CAPTAIN HENRY C. TAYLOR.

Captain Taylor, in command of the battleship Indiana, was born in the District of Columbia and graduated from Annapolis in 1868. He was commissioned lieutenant commander in 1868 and was attached to the frigate Sabine on a special cruise.

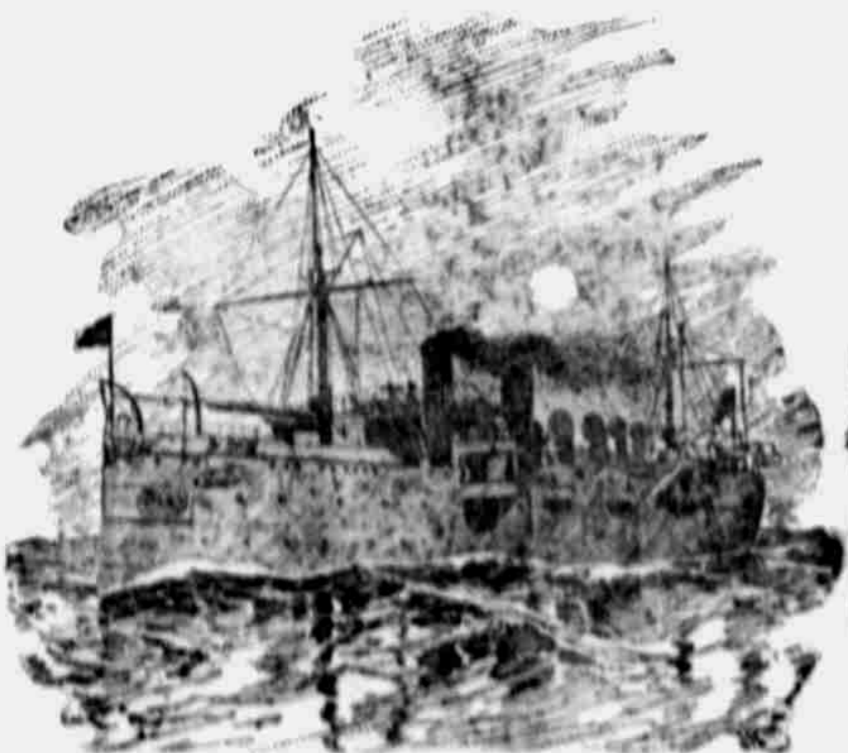

COMMODORE JOHN C. WATSON.

Commodore John C. Watson, who has had charge of the blockade of Havana, was born in Kentucky in 1842 and graduated at the Naval academy in 1860. He was commissioned as lieutenant commander in 1866 and as commander in 1874.

ENSIGN GHERARDI.

Ensign Walter Gherardi, the "baby of the navy," is the youngest commander of a ship in the service. He is the son of Admiral Gherardi, was born in Honolulu in 1875 and graduated at Annapolis a year ago. His ship is the picket boat Sioux.

THE CRUISER PHILADELPHIA.

The protected cruiser Philadelphia, assigned to reinforce Dewey at Manila, has a displacement of 4,324 tons and can steam 19.7 knots an hour. She is armed with twelve 6 inch guns, four 6 pounders and eleven guns of smaller caliber. She cost $1,850,000.

JUDGES IN SCOTLAND.

Quaint Law Which Governed Their Elevation to the Bench.

From the Westminster Gazette: By an old act of the Scottish parliament the qualifications of a judge in Scotland are quaintly set out. He is to be "one man that fears God, of gude literature, practik, judgment and understanding of the lawes, of gude fame, havand sufficient living of his ain, and wha can make good expedition and dispatch of matters touching the lieges of the realm," and by a later statute the judge is to be at least 25 years of age. By the act of union writers to the signet of a certain standing are eligible for seats on the bench, as well as members of the faculty of advocates have always managed to retain the honor for themselves. The most curious circumstance connected with a new appointment is the probationary trials the nominee has to go through to show whether he is a fit and proper person. By an old rule of court he was required to sit three days with one of the pulse, and report on cases heard by him there to the inner house, i. e., the court of appeals, and then sit for one day in the inner house and give his opinion on the cases debated there. In one old case the court rejected a nominee as not being duly qualified, and in another instance they claimed to exercise the same power, which led to the passing of an act which provided that, even if the presentee is reported not to be qualified, the crown may insist on his admission. Nowadays, the "trials" occupy only a few hours; the lord probationer is invariably found qualified, and is at once transformed from an "apprentice" into a regular senator of the college of justice. All Scotch judges are entitled to be called "lord," but that does not confer on their wives the title of "lady," and this, in some instances, where the judge has taken a territorial title, has given rise to some misconception. It is said that a certain lord of sessions, who bore one of these territorial titles, accompanied by his wife, visited a south coast watering place, and inscribed his and his wife's names in the hotel book as "Lord X. and Mrs. Y." This brought the landlord upon the scene at once. "Beg your pardon, my lord," said he, "I fear you must find accommodations elsewhere; this is a respectable house." The use of these territorial designations was much more common in former days than now. Boswell's father, it may be remembered, was Lord Auchinleck. The practice, indeed, seemed to be dying out, when the old custom was recently reasserted by Mr. Mackintosh and Mr. Gloag, who occupy seats on the bench with the titles Lord Kyllachy and Lord Kincardine respectively.

It would not do to say how long she had had it. She had won it at a fair, where for some unknown reason—perhaps for the good of the cause—she had had several "guesses" on the great, heavily frosted cake. It is such a wonder to win anything for which chances are bought that the cake came as a great surprise, and then its great size appealed to her housewifely soul. Rich fruit cake, with that birdlike frosting, would keep indefinitely. It was put safely away and from time to time she gazed at it with wondering admiration. Finally the propitious moment arrived—an event of sufficient importance to warrant the cutting of so great a cake. She would allow no one to lift it but herself, notwithstanding its great weight. She put her hands on either side and braced her muscles to the task. The great cake came up with the lightness of a down pillow. The house of frosting was an empty shell. There were boys in the family, and they, too, had gazed with admiring, but not such self-sacrificing eyes at the great cake. Only a crumb or two had been taken at first, then a little more and a little more as a realization of its virtues grew upon the youthful palates, until only the frosted shell, still in perfect condition, remained—a deceiving semblance of something that was not.

Americans Are Wasteful.

Colonel Waring of the street cleaning commission in New York has found upon investigation that material that sells on an average for $700,000,000 every year is carried to the dumps. In the first place there are thrown away 230,000 pounds of rags every week worth 60 cents per 100 pounds, an item aggregating $73,532 a year. There are besides 1,000 pounds of grease per week, worth $1.10 per 100 pounds, and having a value of 25,787 a year. Then there are unburned coal, metals and a great variety of more or less valuable things, a part of which is intercepted by scrounge pickers but a greater part of which is thrown into the sea. That scrounge worth $700,000,000 a year would be lost to us in the winds in a day, 200,000,000 suffer from street cleanliness to a very prejudicial and unhealthy degree, and the world is made a little less comfortable.

Traveling Military Invention.

A traveling military veterinary has been invented by a doctor of Berlin, called Dr. Galle. It looks like a small box with a large handle and is carried by a man on his back. The inventor is a Polish engineer, and claims that this arrangement would facilitate any epidemic arising from the burial of human bodies in one place during a campaign. Germany ever in the van of military innovation—promises to test the invention.

For sprains apply cloths wrung out of very hot water until the inflammation and pain have subsided. For black and blue spots an ounce of muriate of ammonia to a pint of lukewarm water makes a good application to be kept on constantly.
