HOW IT WAS DONE.

The Populist State Committee Send Their Thanks and Congratulations to the Workers in the State.

It is fitting that every friend of good government should be congratulated because of the brilliant victory achieved at the polls last Tuesday. Every man who cast his vote for Silas A. Holcomb, John L. Teeters and Edson Rich, by so doing expressed his wish that the highest judicial tribunal of Nebraska shall be a court of last resort for all the people, instead of a defender of corporation tyranny and robbery; that the State University shall be rescued from the hands of corrupt politicians and conducted as it should be—a great institution of learning where the youth of Nebraska may learn to love the Declaration of Independence rather than English sentiments, and to respect the U. S. Congress rather than the English Parliament; to admire American institutions, American independence and American manhood rather than to ape the English aristocracy in speech and mannerisms.

Every man who cast his vote for Silas A. Holcomb, John L. Teeters and Edson Rich did more than this: He helped to pay the highest tribute of respect and confidence the people of any state ever paid to any man; because every vote cast for the fusion nominees meant an unqualified endorsement of that peerless statesman and patriot, William Jennings Bryan. It meant a vote of confidence in every tradition dear to the American heart; confidence in the wisdom of our forefathers when they said:

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Early in the campaign which has ended in such a signal victory for the friends of reform, this committee, in an address to the voters of Nebraska, said:

Let no man be deceived regarding the importance of the coming election in Nebraska. Its results will be felt for years, not only in this state, but in the nation as well. Nebraska is the storm center of political activity and will be so until after the election to the presidency of that peerless statesman, William Jennings Bryan, in 1900. All eyes are turned toward Nebraska. An overwhelming victory for the fusion forces will mean glad tidings of great joy to the friends of good government in other states; and it will strike terror to the hearts of the advocates of imperialism, militarism, monopolies and trusts.

How true this prediction was, in part, may be known when we consider the many eminent orators and statesmen from other states who took part in the Nebraska campaign. Standing for the principles of liberty and good government, we may name Hon. John P. Altgeld, ex-governor of Illinois, Hon. William J. Stone, ex-governor of Missouri, Hon. Charles A. Towne, ex-congressman from Minnesota, Hon. Robert Schilling, noted economist, author and editor of Wisconsin, Hon. W. H. (Coin) Harvey, of Illinois, Hon. J. H. Davis, familiarly known as "Cyclone" Davis, of Texas, Hon. James B. Weaver, of Iowa, ex-congressman and former nominee of the people's party for president, Mrs. Helen Gougar, of Indiana, widely known as a lecturer and fearless in her advocacy of truth, besides scores of speakers of lesser note, yet none the less earnest in their convictions. It is impossible to overestimate the influence for good exerted by these speakers from abroad, and to each and all of them are extended the heartfelt thanks of every patriotic citizen of Nebraska.

On the other side, standing for monopolies, trusts, imperialism, militarism, and the gold standard, were many speakers of national reputation. Hence, it cannot be said in truth that the election in Nebraska went by default. Every inch of the ground was hotly contested, and the victory for truth and right is in the ultimate due to the superior intelligence and judgment of Nebraska people.

It must not be forgotten that the people of Nebraska owe a debt of gratitude to the reform press of the state. The World-Herald and Nonconformist of Omaha, and Nebraska Post and Nebraska Independent of Lincoln, together with nearly two hundred wide-awake country weeklies, working harmoniously together, made our splendid victory possible. The constant, conscientious work of these papers first provided the way to educate the people in the principles of correct economics, and in this campaign appealed to the patriotism and good judgment of every reader. All honor to the reform newspapers of Nebraska for the gallant fight they made in behalf of good government.

While it is true that in the ultimate the whole credit is due to the voters of Nebraska for this glorious victory for American principles, yet we must not forget the precinct workers, who, without pecuniary reward, devoted many days to perfecting a thorough organization for the purpose of bringing to the polls every negligent elector. Although this precinct organization was not perfected in every voting precinct, yet the beneficial results of such are apparent to all. All honor to the precinct workers.

Nor should we forget the tireless energy of our noble leader, William J. Bryan, in the last days of the campaign. His very presence in the state meant increased exertions on the part of every worker. His matchless eloquence wherever heard meant redoubled enthusiasm. And his tour of the state showed to the world that the people of Nebraska will be found standing loyally by Bryan, 120,000 strong, in 1900.

A critical examination of the vote of 1899 as compared to that of 1898 will reveal the fact that the fusion electors who, being over-confident, stayed at home on election day in 1898, came to the polls in 1899. It will further show that fully 8,000 or 9,000 recruits joined the reform forces, and that these recruits are principally voters of foreign birth or foreign parentage. Naturalized Americans, born in Germany, Bohemia, Sweden, Denmark and Norway, know full well the meaning of a great standing army and colonial possessions, and they are nearly a unit in opposing the republican policy as outlined by President McKinley on these questions. However, many of them are not quite ready to abandon the republican party until congress has done something or nothing to settle the Philippine question, and the vote in Nebraska this year shows that while with us at heart, only a portion of the naturalized Americans who formerly voted the republican ticket, voted with the reform forces this year. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the German, Bohemian, Swedish, and Danish papers of Nebraska for their gallant fight against imperialism and militarism.

It was a glorious victory. Let each friend of reform and good government congratulate his neighbor.

E. W. NELSON, Secretary.
J. H. EDMISTON, Chairman.

KICK HIM OUT.

D. Clem Deaver should at once resign his position as national committeeman of the people's party. No true populist denies Mr. Deaver's undoubted right to entertain such ideas as he chooses upon any and all questions; but he is not in accord with the people's party of Nebraska upon matters of vital importance and has no right to act as national committeeman for that party.

Further than that Mr. Deaver's actions in the campaign just ended show him to be a political ingrate, a traitor to his party, and a stool-pigeon for Rosewater. This latter accusation has been made before and vigorously denied by populists generally; but Mr. Deaver threw off his mask this campaign and showed that he has acted the successful hypocrite for a number of years. He should resign as national committeeman. Let every populist write Mr. Deaver at Omaha asking him to resign. If he has a spark of manhood left he will not longer hang to a position where he is not wanted.

INDIANA TRAITORS.

Gold Bug Democrats Planning to Get Control of the Party in That State.

Indiana was lost to Bryan in the last campaign through the influence of a lot of democratic traitors who were on the central committee. The same lot are now planning to do further evil work. There are not less than 50,000 free silver republicans and populists in the state who are ardent supporters of Bryan and every man in a good of the state knows that it will be impossible to win unless there is a full and honest co-operation of all the free silver forces. These conspirators know that as well as any one else and their whole effort is to prevent fusion in the hope that they can save the state in the presidential campaign for Mark Hanna and McKinley. In the last election, many thousands free silver democrats refused to go to the polls and vote because they had no confidence in the men on the state central committee who were running the campaign. Indiana free silver democrats have been sold out so often by their leaders, that thousands of them have taken a solemn pledge that they will never again vote for a man of that kind. They haven't forgotten Dan Voorhees and '33 and are not likely to.

If the national democratic committee really expect to carry Indiana, it will have to get a move on itself, get into Indiana and see that the men who have charge of the campaign in that state make every honorable effort for all the forces to co-operate. Attention is called to the following letter from Mr. Van Vorhis, who took no small part in the campaign in this state:

Editor Independent: By some means I have not received the paper. You will remember I subscribed and paid for it while there.

I congratulate you upon the splendid victory in Nebraska. The result in Nebraska and in the other states ought to be regarded, I think, as a demonstration of the necessity for complete and cordial co-operation of the reform elements. If our forces will heed the lesson, it will be worth to the cause in 1900 all it has cost in this election. Mr. Bryan must be greatly rejoiced at the result in Nebraska. He has been so persistent in his counselling generous harmony that the success of this policy in Nebraska must be a matter of great satisfaction to him. If there had been the same united effort in Ohio, the result shows that we should have won there, while in Kentucky the matter would not now be in doubt. I do not see very much change in the situation in Indiana. You understand the nature of the organization the democratic party has here. The present organization is not likely to give any assistance to any effort to change it. On the contrary, they are making an effort, I believe, to prevent any considerable interest being taken in the new committee to be selected in next month. I very much fear that the same old crowd will be in control of the organization, if indeed their control is not strengthened.

I send you herewith an editorial from this morning's Sentinel that will give you a little idea of what is going on. In looking over the list of interviewees you will see the Sentinel is very particular to interview no one except republicans and gold democrats except in two instances, Mr. Gooding and Mr. Wright. You have, probably, noticed that Mr. Morse of the Sentinel has announced himself as a candidate for delegate at large to the next national convention. These two columns of interviews, I suspect, have no purpose except to advance the interests of Murdoch for state chairman.

The burden of the democratic song is to be found in the last paragraph of Mr. Holzman's interview. He represents an element that refuses to treat either the populists or silver republicans with decent courtesy. As there are no factions in the democratic party, except Chicago platform democrats and gold democrats and their sympathizers, it is readily understood what is meant by stopping strife in the party.

Napoleon McKinley

Consider these two "regular principles" for the guidance of the United States in its relations with the Philippines, laid down by the commission as principles of "cardinal importance." ("1.) The supremacy of the United States must and will be enforced throughout every part of the archipelago, and those who resist it can accomplish no end other than their own ruin. (2.) To the Philippine people will be granted the most ample liberty and self-government reconcilable with the maintenance of a wise, just, stable, effective and economical administration of public affairs and compatible with the sovereign and international rights rights and the obligations of the United States." If the Filipinos submit to American rule, and recognize our sovereign rights they will be well treated. If not, they but accomplish their "own ruin." Truly a sentiment worthy of a Napoleon!—Chicago Record.

The Filipinos

They lead a happy life. The food is cooked over a crockery stove. It might be said that the cooks "fry" and "boil" on these stoves, but they cannot "roast" or "bake." The floor is the table; and all squat around the dishes of food, eating with their fingers and talking and laughing when their mouths are not too full: After night falls perhaps the oldest girl gets her guitar and signs the songs of her people. At times the songs are sad ones, and tell of the sudden storms at sea and the fathers who never returned. Again they are pathetic, portraying the heartache of a lovelorn maiden, and sometimes they are ringing with sentiment.—Harry A. Armstrong.

What They Want

New York, Nov. 8.—The New York board of trade and transportation today adopted the following:

"Resolved, That we ask the congress of the United States to enact a law establishing the gold dollar as a standard and measure of value, and providing that bonds and notes of the United States and all paper money, including national bank notes, shall be redeemable in gold.

"Resolved, That the business interests of the United States demand the creation of a separate government department, whose head shall be a cabinet officer, to be known as the department of commerce and manufactures; and the president of the United States is respectfully urged to recommend to congress early action to this end."
