have something tangible before their eyes they revolt. They have stood by their party and shouted for imperialism, McKinley and the gold standard, not being capable to understand what the plication was a complete surprise and tens of thousands of them stand aghast.

The passage of the bill to tax the Porto Ricans without representation, the declaration that the constitution does not follow the flag, and that the citizens of our territories are not citizens at all but subjects of the 45 states, was a thing that they could not understand. The concentration of nearly all the wealth in the hands of the few by controling the volume of money they could not comprehend. The result is that the bill has been held up in the senate on account of the avalanche of protests that have poured in onto the members of that august body. The men from the western states have been told in thousands of letters that if they voted for that bill, their party would be buried under an avalanche of votes the very first time the people had a chance to vote. Senators whose terms were about to expire got frightened. They found themselves in the worst predicament that senators ever got into. On one hand were the trusts and the protected interests whose contributions had made their election possible, and on the other their constituents declaring that they would never vote for them again if they supported the bill. As for the senators, having no principles to guide them, they stand irresolute and undecided.

There has been nothing of special im portance in South Africa. The Boers have continued to retreat to their new lines of defense. There has been but one fight and in that the Boers were successful. The English continue to pour troops into the country and the prospects are that there will be severe fighting again in the near future.

The investigation of the military bull pen in Idaho continues and there are startling disclosures of cruelties practiced upon the men confined therein being testified to every day. One old soldier of the war of the rebellion while John Hay would ever think of demandwalking at the rear of a column of prisoners marching in lock step, was proded dence in England has quite trasmogrifiup with a bayonet by a negro soldier. Senator Pettigrew asked permission to have some quotations from Abraham Lincoln printed in the Congressional Record. Several republican senators objected. That was the same day that the imperialists of Lincoln were having a big feast put up by what they call the Abraham Lincoln club. These Lincoln chaps were of the same mind as the objecting senators. They had no use for the words of Lincoln. The only ones who quote them these days are pops and silver democrats. here a

The latest news from South Africa is that the Boers have developed another general, the equal to Cronje. Commandant Olivier has performed a feat that is the admiration of every military man in Europe. Though pressed by Lord Roberts and fifty or sixty thousand British troops, he has brought off a wagon and ordnance train said to be 45 miles long, and that while he had only three thousand men with which to fight and maneuver. Of course the long and forced fighting of Cronje was what gave him his chance. The British now say that the reason that Olivier was able to get all his stores, guns, and equipments behind the new line of defense was, that the British cavalry, horses and men were utterly worn out and could not follow up the retreating Boers.

It is now announced in London that it may be weeks before the British can make another forward move. The distances to be covered are very great and the whole population in their rear seems to be in sympathy with the Boers and are willing to give them any assistance in their power.

Sir John Hay, McKinley's secretary of state, now acknowledges that the English censor did break the United States seals and open the official mail of Consul Macrum, but that British government has informed him that it was all a mistake. He also, with a great deal of indignation, denies that he ever demanded an apology of the British government and says that that government sent an apology of its own motion. ### BRILLIANCY IN WAR

Presented in South Africa.

Lord Roberts is the greatest military genius of modern times. Lord Kitchener is the most marvelous chief of staff that ever "organized victory," Thomas Atkins is the most miraculous combination of courage, dash and endurance that ever stopped a fifty-pound shell with his bare hands. Therefore the war office at London announces that 30,000 men are now afloat on the way to re-inforce the 220,000 Lord Roberts already has in South Africa, and that arrangements are being rapidly perfected to send 20,000 more.

Within thirty daps the British army confronting the Boers is expected to reach 220,000 men, and within two months between 270,000 and 275,000. The total strength of the Boer armies is placed at from 30,000 to 35,000 men, and if there is any truth in the stories of the wholesale submission of the Free Staters this figure is probably an overestimate. Therefore, the supreme military genius and the marvelous organizer of victory and the heroic Atkins will be of victory and the heroic Atkins will able to attack the enemy with forces outnumbereng him by about nine to and pride. No wonder she tells the world exultingly that there never was a war like this. The world will readily admit that there never was.

The forces with which Lord Roberts expects to conquer the Boers will contain nearly twice as many soldiers as there are men, women and children in both republics combined. It is as if England had sent 5,000,000 men to suppress our revolution, or as if German able to overrun France with a horde of over 50,000,000.

Magnetism and Electricity

Some people do not seen to understand the method of either in the treatment of disease, or the method of the application of them.

There are almost as many methods of applying Magnetism as there are operators, for nearly every operator soon gets into the habit of using a method of their own, and perhaps it is best, for the most thorough application of Magnetism is by far the best. Dr. Mesmer, the discoverer, made passes from the head to the feet; Dr. Boughton made motions as though he intended to strike the person, yet not and it is probable that they make up the whole of the voting force fuzzies wuzzies operator seems that almost every operator likes to pat, or hit the body lightly.
