

The Markets

Weekly market letter, furnished by H. R. Penney & Co., 121 South Eleventh St., Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln, Neb., May 16.—As expected, the government report tumbled the price of wheat in Chicago down two cents. The government showed conditions of $5.3, or 6.2 points better than last month. The figures gave speculators the impression that the crop prospect had improved during April, whereas, the change in the figures were due to the eliminating 2 1/2 bu. of abandoned acreage and calculating the condition on the remainder. The present outlook for winter wheat is an increase of about 20 millions bu. over last year. The reserve carried over this year will probably be 40 million bu. less than last year, so even if the maximum expectations are realized, there will not be a burdensome surplus of wheat for the coming year, when it is also remembered that the European crops now promise to turn out considerable less than they did last year. The new crop year is approaching with a liberal supply of old wheat piled at the market centers which has caused many speculative holders to let go of their long stuff, and take losses and quit. This always occurs just at the time when there is more chance for an improvement, than for some time back. The critical season of the year is at hand, and any reports of hot wind and weather will arouse numerous anxieties. A week of weather without rain and the temperature above 90 and high wind, will alter the feeling that is, supreme at this time of year about the Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma wheat crops.

The past two days market has reiterated its foregoing to some extent. Monday with reports from part of the wheatbelt there was too much rain falling, and from other parts that it was too dry caused quite a flurry, and prices up to today have recovered the loss and stands at practically the same price as before the government report was issued.

Monday the Visible Supply was issued showing a decrease of 2,204,000 bu. and with Bradstreet's Worlds Visible issued today showing another decrease of 4,300,000 bu. also helped the weather in bracing up prices.

The receipts of wheat last week were a little less than the previous week, but they were greatly in excess of a year ago. The shipments from primary points has dwindled some, but they were larger than the receipts. The worlds shipments for the week somewhat less than usual owing to smaller exports from the U. S. and Argentina.

Prices in corn recorded a figure during the past week, showing more than 6% decline from the extreme higher mark of a few weeks ago. The movement from the country during the first half of May has been smaller than was expected and the exports have been large enough to rapidly cut down the stocks at market centers. Receipts at Western points have been little larger than those of last year and they were small for this season of the year. The trouble has not been with the receipts however, but with the export demand. Foreigners have been spare buyers and it was the pressure of cash corn going out of store that caused most of the weakness. A leading bull in Chicago who has been holding on through the recent declines is reported to have let go of his line. Everything up to yesterday morning seemed to be in favor of the bears. July corn declining rapidly to 36 1/2, and as rapidly recovering the loss, and today selling at a higher price than for over a week. The rapid advance was probably due to shorts trying to cover after they had put out their lines, as anything else, as the conditions seem to still be as favorable as at any time.

The Visible Monday showed a decrease of 1,382,000 bu. but this was about what was looked for.

The market in oats has been about the most stubborn thing on the board, when the other cereals were declining oats were strong and inclined to move up, and with the increase shown in the Visible still seem to be strong. The supply of oats is not much more than enough to go around and better prices are to be expected.

Market in Provisions has been featureless, fluctuations in pork ranging about 30c per bbl. during the week, and not much trade seems to be doing. It is likely that provisions will gradually work lower.

Industrial Conditions in Guam

The vice governor of the island of Guam in describing the industrial conditions in that island says that every native is a landowner and farmer. A man may know how to bake bread, make shoes or build a house, yet such a thing as a regular baker, shoemaker, or carpenter is unknown in Guam. You may be kept waiting weeks for a pair of shoes or a chest or a pair of trousers, because the man engaged to work for you has to harvest his corn, or build a hut on his ranch, or plant rice. Did you ever imagine what the condition would be if every one were rich? These are the conditions in Guam. If you had a farm producing corn, sweet potatoes, yams, taro, chickens, pigs, coffee, chocolate, syrup of coconut sap, vinegar, cider, sugar, beans, pumpkins, etc., would you go to work on the road for fifty cents a day, or hire yourself as a farmhand for $6 a month, Mexican, and food? The people of Guam will not do this, and are therefore called by some lazy and worthless.

I do not say it is for the good of the island that such conditions exist. The roads and bridges are bad, and nobody wants to mend them. Formerly all such work was done by convicts sent here from Spain and the Philippines. We need laborers, and need them badly. It would be an excellent thing to import two hundred or three hundred Chinese. I have seen them work in Hawaii, and know how industrious and frugal they are, and what good husbands they make when married to natives. The descendants of Chinese on the island have proved themselves to be excellent citizens. They are good rice planters, and we have much land here which could be cultivated in rice and sugar. Rice and sugar can not be grown by individuals. Even the cultivation of coffee on a large scale is an impossibility without laborers. I never saw a country in which coffee grew better, even down to the very level of the sea. Yet nobody makes a business of coffee planting. Each has his little patch, and none is exported.

Many young men have come here and gone away discouraged, simply from the fact that if they do acquire land they can get nobody to work on it, and it is a serious thing for a man with only two hands to get a living out of the earth. Workmen do not come here, because they can get better wages at home. We literally have no market—not a single store where you can go and buy a bushel of sweet potatoes or a dozen of oranges or a few turkeys. You have to beg people to sell you things. They don't want money. They get preserved food, which they really do not need, and rice from the traders in return for their dried coconut. We found that they were anxious to get a supply of ship's tobacco, and last year's supply of tobacco gave out so several of the officers laid in a supply of ship's tobacco and exchanged it for chickens, eggs, etc. It was the only way to induce the people to bring them.

Bryan and Towne

Bryan and Towne make a ticket after our own heart. No fitter running mate than Towne could be found for Bryan. He is as young as Bryan, but like Bryan, does not lack the knowledge and experience which are usually the fruit of experience. Like Bryan, Towne has led a clean, pure life. Like Bryan, he is possessed of the courage of his convictions; like Bryan, he belongs to the people; like Bryan, he has a heart which beats in sympathy with the higher aspirations of mankind. The delegates to the Sioux Falls convention are to be congratulated upon the wisdom of their choice.

The all-important question is now: What will the democrats do? If the convention at Kansas City allows wisdom to preside over its counsels, it will meet the people's party half way, for Towne is not identified with the people's party, nor has he ever been and it will make the Lincoln republicans, who are also to assemble in national convention in Kansas City, enthusiastic in their espousal of the ticket. It will also, almost certainly, throw Minnesota into the reform column, for state pride in Charlie Towne will rally the forces in his state around him. Let us hope that the triune forces will unite upon the ticket, Bryan and Towne.—Simpson's Bayonet.

Wealth Controls Republican Party

"Aggregated wealth today controls the action of the republican party. In an hour of peril the republican party can draft a man, but it cannot draft a pocket book, for the republican party has put the dollar above the man."—W. J. Bryan.

Assessing the Railroads

The state board of equalization, consisting of Governor Poynter, Auditor Cornell, and Treasurer Meserve, have fixed the valuation on railroad property in Nebraska for the purpose of the 1900 assessment.

The valuation of the various roads was left at precisely the same figure as that fixed in 1899. The only change made by the board, aside from re-establishing last year's figures, was to add to the assessment roll the 90.56 miles of Nebraska's Wyoming Western railroad, a branch of the Burlington system, built during the past year through Box Butte, Cheyenne, and Scott's Bluffs counties.

The total valuation amounts to $26,287,570.10 and the total mileage is $5,632.93.

WATCHES FOR EVERYBODY

Guaranteed Time-Keeper Free as a Premium for New Subscribers

With the object and for the purpose of putting the Independent into every populist home in Nebraska and adjoining states, and into the hands of thousands of conscientious but doubtful voters we have made arrangements to give a GUARANTEED WATCH to every man, woman, or child who will assist in increasing the circulation. The watch is a nickel plated, stem-wind and stem set, complete in every particular, guaranteed for one year. It is a watch that retails at all jewelry stores at from six to seven dollars. We can make the liberal offer we do only because (in connection with another publisher) we have bought them in lots of 1000 watches at a time. We could get a cheaper watch than the one we offer, but we prefer to give A GOOD ONE OR NONE. To make a long story short, it is a splendid watch, neat in appearance, a perfect time keeper, satisfactory in every particular, guaranteed one year.

- TERMS.
- No. 1. For sale, each - $2.00
- No. 2. The watch described and the Independent 1 year to a new subscriber - 2.50
- No. 3. To all subscribers on the list at present (who pay up all arrears) we will send the watch and the Independent for another year for - 2.25
- No. 4. The watch free as a premium for 12 CAMPAIGN SUBSCRIPTIONS at 35 cents each - 4.20
- No. 5. To those who can not get as many as twelve campaign subscriptions we will send the watch for 5 campaign subscriptions at 35 cents each, $1.75, and an additional $1.25 in cash - 3.00

We believe that we have placed this elegant premium within the reach of everyone. There will be much of interest during the coming campaign. No one will regret the payment of so small a sum as 35 cents for the Independent from now until November 6. It will contain a vast amount of information that cannot be obtained in any other paper. It is the most fearless champion of the rights of the people to be found in the west. It is first in the fight for "equal rights to all and special privileges to none." Why not take advantage of this liberal offer to secure a valuable premium for yourself or your boy and help to increase the circulation and influence of such an excellent paper as the Independent?

Bryan and Monnett

A newspaper man who accompanied Bryan in his recent trip through Michigan and Ohio gives the following account of the meeting between Bryan and Monnett, the republican Attorney General who got after the Standard Oil trust and was downed by Mark Hanna.

"Hardly had Mr. Bryan seated himself in the car which carried him from Columbus to Detroit today when he was greeted by a slender man whose earnest face and candid eyes marked him in the throng that pressed around the democratic leader. He was Frank Monnett, the Attorney-General of Ohio, who was politically degraded by Mark Hanna for enforcing the anti-trust law against the Standard Oil Company."

"Mr. Bryan congratulated Mr. Monnett heartily on the courage and intelligence he had shown in attempting to honestly enforce the law. It was an extraordinary scene, pregnant with meaning.

"Here was a faithful public officer, who refused a bribe of $400,000 and dragged the most dreaded law-breaker in the world to the bar of justice, and punished by the leader of the republican party, thanked and honored by the leader of the democratic party.

"The meeting was almost accidental, but it was none the less dramatic and significant. The two men looked earnestly into each other's faces and shook hands. Could there be anything more suggestive than that spectacle?"

"Mr. Monnett, the unbribeable, under-dressed Attorney-General, who dared to do his duty and succeeded in bringing the monstrous Standard Oil Company to its knees, was condemned by Mr. Hanna and thanked by Mr. Bryan."

Destroying Competition

The sugar trust has decided to destroy every trace of competition in the sugar refining business. This is clearly shown by the suit filed by Robert J. Trimble a stockholder of the trust in which he charges that the company has more than $1,000,000 of surplus and that this surplus is now being used to depress the price of sugar and to force Arbuckle Bros., independent refiners, into a combination with the American Sugar Refining Company, to illegally restrain trade.

Small Shippers Must Pay

All the trans-Mississippi railroads have again solemnly agreed to keep a solemn agreement. It is that of firmly but politely declining to any and all dockshippers a return pass home for less than two cars of stock shipped. It is an old-time agreement that the man who has reason to expect return transportation must have at least two carloads of sheep, cattle, or hogs. But in the rush of competition, several of the ambitious roads had been giving the return transportation to the shipper of one carload of stock, provided that he promised to say nothing about it. In the future the small shipper will be compelled to pay. It is an other illustration of the modern application of the old adage that "to him that hath shall be given, and from him that hath not shall be taken even that which he hath."

Ice Trust in Omaha

The people of Omaha are having a little experience with a trust close at hand. The ice companies of Omaha have combined under the title of the Reservoir Ice Company, which concern has an absolute monopoly of the ice business of that city.

The usual symptom of the trust has been manifested in the big advance in prices, and with an indifference due to a knowledge that it has the community by the throat, the protesting citizens are very plainly told that "if they don't like it, they can let it alone."

A week ago we realized that we were greatly overstocked on Ladies' Ready-To-Wear Suits, and as it is our rule not to carry ready made garments from one season to another we at once decided upon a great sacrifice sale. We are therefore offering our entire stock, more than five hundred suits, at exactly half price.

These suits are of the very latest styles, most of them having been in our store but a very few weeks, and we believe that in the matter of bargains this is the greatest special sale ever made in Lincoln. Think of it: $30 suits for $15, $20 suits for $10, $15 suits for $7.50, $10 suits for $5, and $6.50 suits for $3.25. Most of these prices are lower than the first cost of the materials. During this sale we are making special prices on other ready-made garments, such as Jackets, Capes, Dress Skirts, Shirt Waists, and Petticoats.

Nebraska Insurance Report

The annual report of the insurance commissioner is now ready for distribution and for all the heavy losses by fire the report shows a large gain for the Old Line Companies. After deducting the amount paid for losses it leaves a net gain of premiums over all losses amounting to $741,681.00 and still to hear the Old Line agent talk his company is paying out more money than received. But the above figures show just who is money out. Certainly the ones who are paying these enormous premiums to swell the income of the Old Line companies are not benefiting themselves any by the enormous profits these companies are making on their money. There is, however, one gratifying thing in the report. That is mutual companies operated at home keeping every dollar at home have made another great gain in the amount of insurance in force as compared with the report of 1898. All mutuals showed amount of insurance in force January 1st 1899 amounting to $85,000,000, while on January 1st 1900 they show a trifle over $90,000,000 in force. This is certainly a good showing. The cry that comes forth from Old Lines that Mutuals cannot pay heavy losses has also proven itself. The largest amount of loss paid by any one company in the state was paid by a Mutual only organized January 14th 1899, only one year old. The largest amount paid by any Old Line company was $56,909, out of an income of $124,918.00, while the United Mutual Fire Insurance association organized January 4, 1899 paid losses amounting to $62,974.00 and on April 18th paid an additional sum of $6,267 making a total of $69,241 out of an income of $55,376 which shows that a Mutual with an income of $29,542 less than the Largest Old Line, has paid $12,823 more losses than the Old Lines. The above figures are absolute proof that a well managed Mutual can pay and does pay a larger percentage of money collected from its members than any Old Line company.

Hail Insurance as Compared With Other Classes of Insurance on Farm Property

The United Mutual Hail Insurance association with $3,056,924 at risk suffered losses amounting to $76,600, while the largest Farm Mutual of state with $3,417,808 covering fire lightning cyclone, windstorms and also covering loss to live stock by fire, lightning and cyclone, suffered loss of only $38,374, being only one-half the loss on combined insurance on all other kinds of farm property, with eleven times the amount of risk, so if there is any kind of property a farmer should carry protection on it is certainly on his growing crops from destruction by hail storms.

She Was Too Fat

Ada St. Clair, the actress played leading lady parts from 1890 to 1896, when she became so stout that she had to leave the stage.

She tried many medical remedies and nostrums without avail. The more anti-fat remedies she swallowed the fatter she became, and in July, 1896, she weighed 205 pounds.

One day she found a perfect cure, and in two months thereafter she appeared in a high-class young girl part, weighing just 125 pounds, and the reduction in flesh was without the least injury to her health or purse.

What she did, how she did it, and what she used, and how the same treatment has cured many men and women since, Mrs. Lafarge will tell you, confidentially, in a letter, for the small fee of one dollar. There is no other charge hereafter. You can buy what she prescribes from your own druggist. The cure depends more on what you do and how you do it. No violent exercise, no starvation diet, or anything of that sort. You can follow instructions unknown to your friends, and during a month you will get rid of from one to two pounds of useless fat every day. If you think such a result worth One Dollar to you, send that amount (in a $1 bill or stamps).

Address Mrs. Louise Lafarge, Station E, Duffy Building, New York. If you find this treatment not based on common sense, and find it doesn't work she will send you your $1 back. If you question the value of this treatment, ask any proprietor of a first-class newspaper. They all know Mrs. Lafarge and what she has done.
