BETHANY.

John Olmsted came from Holyoke, Colo., last week to attend school here this year.

Walter Monroe, a graduate of Cotner last spring, recently returned from a trip to Europe and the Paris exposition and has taken up post-graduate work at the state university.

We had a heavy rain here last Monday afternoon, which fell very quietly without being accompanied with the usual wind, thunder and lightning.

Miss Hannah Morphet will leave Bethany soon to spend a while with her sister, Mrs. M. W. Miller, after which she will go home to Elvidere, Neb.

Harry Johnson preached at Mina, Kas., last Sunday.

Austine Hollingsworth of Memphis, Neb., is attending college here this year.

J. B. Brescoe is suffering with a sore eye.

Miss Evelyn Hanna's sprained ankle is giving her much pain.

A large number of new students have already enrolled at the college, while a great many of the old ones have not yet returned.

Mrs. F. F. Pettit and Miss Edna Bush returned from Schuyler Wednesday where they had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Harmon for a few days.

Mr. L. Fisher returned home last week from Indiana where he spent most of the summer.

The faculty recital of music was rendered at the college on last Thursday evening.

The Matheson Literary society gave their first program of the year on last Friday evening.

A great many of the Bethany people attended the East Lincoln Christian church jubilee services on last Sunday evening. All of the indebtedness is paid off and the mortgage was burned in the presence of a large audience.

All of the poor houses being moved out of Bethany last year and year before gives opportunity for new ones to be built now as houses are in demand.

AGNEW.

The Nebraska Elevator company is having its elevator at this place enlarged to double its former capacity, in order to be able to handle the immense corn crop in this territory.

Our genial postmaster, C. H. Gieseler, is considerably worried over the national political outlook. He wants to appear to have been on the winning side, so he will keep mum until after the election.

Mrs. Millen, nee Miss Askin, formerly of Lincoln, who is teaching the Agnew lads and lassies to become good American citizens, seems to be a success.

Some of the young bloods of this vicinity, who think it is smart to carry jugs (jugs), bottles, knives and pop, who shoot off lots of vulgarities and profanity on the street and cut well ropes and other high capers, will probably have a crop of wild oats of their own sowing to reap in the near future.

Frank Clark has been busy for several weeks cutting up corn with a Deering binder. He is not able to do half as much as the farmers would like to have done. The corn is drying up very rapidly—some fields naturally and others on account of chinch bugs.

There will be a large acreage of wheat and rye sown here this fall. The ground is now in splendid condition.

The creamery at this place is doing a steady and apparently satisfactory business.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Weber returned last week from an extended visit in the east. They had been gone since last April, visiting their old home and friends in Illinois, and also their childhood homes in New England. It is a great pleasure to hear Mr. Weber tell about what he saw and heard and thought while in the east.

NORMAL.

Mr. Pryor returned Wednesday from Fairbury where, for the last few days, he had been visiting old friends.

Normal has an addition to her population. A new family has moved into the old college dormitory. They expect to swell the ranks of the corn-buskers a little later in the season.

Mr. A. Roberts and son, Mr. D. E. Roberts, have just returned from western Colorado, where they have been staying for the last four weeks. They report a fine and plentiful fruit crop there.

Mr. Macy and his wife are now living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Baker while the latter are visiting in Iowa.

COLLEGE VIEW.

Prof. E. C. Kellogg returned last week from a visit in South Dakota.

Prof. Newton and family returned last week from an extended tour in Europe.

Willard Hale has turned up in Denver. He is said to be working in a restaurant.

The younger brother of J. F. Nelson, the tailor, who has been down with the typhoid fever for four weeks, is convalescent now.

Elder N. P. Nelson's son, who has had the typhoid fever for several weeks, is up and around again.

Mr. Chas. Aronson, a farmer living east of town, reports that his hogs are dying of the cholera. He fears he may lose his entire herd of sixty-three head.

Mr. Tom Cole's family have taken up temporary quarters in their large new barn until their new house is completed.

"Lafe" Sonery and family are back from a two weeks' visit in northern Illinois. While there they spent a day in Chicago seeing the sights.

O. P. Norman returned last week from a trip through western Iowa, where he was looking for a location for his barber shop. He made the trip on his wheel and was accompanied by his brother, Henry.

Mr. Jim Anderson, an old Union College boy, came up from Kansas last week on business. Jim will teach school in South Dakota again this year. His many friends here wish him success.

Will Stansberry, who has been sick with the typhoid fever for several weeks, has gone to his home in Kansas. He was accompanied by Chris. Nelson, a nurse from the Sanitarium.

Mr. Frank Richards, who is taking a course in the American Medical Missionary college of Chicago, is home for a visit with his parents. Frank spent the summer vacation canvassing for a medical book in Washington county, Iowa. He will attend the Seward campmeeting before returning to resume his studies. Frank is an enterprising young man and is making his own way through college.

If the republicans were the sons of Abraham (Lincoln) they would do the work of Abraham. They are trying to wrench away the liberties of the brown man. This did not Abraham. He rejoiced that he could bestow liberty on four millions of black men.

The Lincoln Traction company has completed the improvement in their track north of town. A section of the track, beginning at the Normal school house and running west about a quarter of a mile, has been moved from the north to the south side of the street. This was done to avoid the heavy snow drifts that gather around the trees and shrubs bordering the north side of the street. Cars will hereafter run on schedule time during the winter snow storms.

The postoffice building here is conspicuously decorated inside with clippings from republican newspapers, setting forth the blessings of McKinley's administration of prosperity. If we could be convinced that the "prosperity wave" was not conditional on the state of crops we would see and believe. We doubt whether the closest scrutiny would detect the faintest ripple of the "sawdust wave" in the drought-stricken districts of western Nebraska and Kansas. If God were given the credit belonging to him there would be none left for McKinley but that resulting from the heavy expenses of carrying on a distant war with a liberty-seeking people.

UNIVERSITY PLACE.

Fowler avenue has been graded for two blocks directly opposite the uni-

Mr. Clark and family from Lewistown, Neb., have lately entered the Calkins residence which he bought some months ago.

Mr. Arthur Rand and family of Denver have rented the living rooms of Mr. Dalley and family. Mr. Rand is travelling salesman for the Hutchinson Hat company of St. Louis, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Dalley will board the coming winter.

Mr. George Sims left Thursday to transact business in Bellevue, Neb. Mrs. McCosh of Du Bois, Neb., has purchased the residence of Mr. Perry. The latter expects to leave the city, residing in Lincoln during the winter.

F. S. Johnson's residence has been sold to Mr. Ames of Havelock.

Mrs. Howard has purchased property in the west end of town. As is easily seen, the number of non-resident property owners is constantly decreasing. A sign of increasing value in real estate.

In no year previous has as great an amount of real estate business been transacted as in this. Improvements have been made all over the city. Now the future of this city depends upon the success of the university. If it prospers the town will receive the same impulse and grow as swiftly.

Mrs. McPherrin has moved to Illinois, where she expects to reside with her son. Miss McPherrin will resume her work as instructor of music in Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. R. D. McPherrin is seeking a location to practice law in California.

Thursday night a stag reception was held in the chapel. The evening was spent in getting acquainted and hunting fruit which was hidden all over the third floor. About 10 o'clock the crowd marched to the residence of Prof. Kirk and after a short serenade they proceeded down town to eat fruit at the professor's expense. About ninety gentlemen were present.

The annual open reception of the Y. W. C. A. was held Friday from 3 to 5 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Prof. Rose. It proved a grand success in every feature. Refreshments were served and the time spent in getting acquainted and competing for handsome prizes.

Miss Alice Shepherd, instructor of violin in the conservatory, arrived Thursday last from her home in Burlington, Kas. Miss Shepherd spent six weeks this summer studying under the celebrated violinist, Bernhard Liestman of Chicago. Her exceptional ability in her line of work is well attested by the unbounded success she has given wherever she has appeared.

Miss McMann of Chicago will this year have charge of the kindergarten department. Miss McMann is well recommended.

An appropriation of $1,000 for the Wesleyan library has been received. The name of the donor is held obscure. Sunday morning the chancellor addressed the student body in the chapel. His theme was in two divisions: "What you are" and "What you will be." He spoke of that power within man to ameliorate as a God-given force. He referred to the necessity of first realizing one's own powers are they sought to master foreign subjects. He pointed out those powers instrumental in the building of the youth and advised that all things be thoroughly and systematically done. The chapel was seated to its utmost limit.

A. E. SUTHERLAND.

A. E. Sutherland, the fusion candidate for county commissioner of Lancaster county, was born in Peoria county, Illinois, in 1864, moved to Sedgewick county, Kansas, in 1884, and four years later came to Nebraska, marrying Miss Minnie F. Olson near Colon in Saunders county, and settled on their farm three and a half miles north of Waverly in 1890. Two children survive and bless their home, Rachel, six years old, and Allen Jennings, age four.

A prairie farm to start with is now all under a high state of cultivation, nicely arranged with comfortable buildings, good stock, a forest grove, orchard and more than the usual amount of the smaller fruits.

In 1897, running for this same office, he came within 405 of carrying the county and with his extensive acquaintance has bright hopes of election. No one questions his ability. At present he is the president of the Lancaster County Farmers' Mutual Insurance company and is a worker and successful exhibitor of the county agricultural society. Considering the probability of character along with his energy there is no good reason why the voters of Lancaster county should not give the minority parties a representative on the board by electing him commissioner.

Lincoln and Vicinity

Lieut. Burt Whedon, late of the First Nebraska regiment, has gone to Harvard university.

A large number of sheep have been brought into this county recently, particularly in the vicinity of Bennet.

Mr. J. M. Rose, formerly of Bennet, who was living 30 miles inland from Galveston, lost his barn and many fruit trees.

Mr. George O. Barnes, who was hospital steward in the First Nebraska regiment, has accepted a position in a drug store in Nelson, Neb.

That Thomas Riordan of this city was drowned has been confirmed by a letter from James Riordan, who was also a sufferer in the Galveston storm.

Mr. Fred A. Hovey, formerly in the implement business in this city, was a heavy loser in the Galveston storm. The wind and rain ruined his house and destroyed his entire crop.

Detective Pound has recovered a horse that was stolen from A. F. Howard. It was found in the possession of some horse traders at Twenty-third and Douglas streets.

Hon. J. N. Gaffin, oil inspector, has gone to Colorado to spend a week or ten days with a hope that he may recover from a stroke of paralysis which attacked him a short time ago.

The Lincoln Y. M. C. A. has a new secretary, Mr. C. M. Mayne of Omaha. Mr. Mayne has been an assistant secretary of the Omaha association for six years, and will push the work in Lincoln rapidly.

The city schools in Lincoln are filled to their utmost capacity. The enrollment shows an increase of more than 500 pupils. In many localities it will be necessary to engage store rooms and additional buildings.

The supreme court has denied the motion of Mayer Bros. for a mandamus on the justice of the peace for possession of the building occupied by the Armstrong company in this city. The case will come before the court again in another form.

The fusionists have stretched a large banner across O street between Tenth and Eleventh streets, less than a block west of the banner showing the full dinner pail put up by the republican block of the banner showing portraits of Bryan and Stevenson, with a line underneath reading "Save the Republic."

The Eureka Paint and Equipment company filed articles of incorporation yesterday with the secretary of state. The offices and ware rooms of the company are to be located in this city. Messrs. N. L. Heckman, A. H. Peters of Sterling, Ill., and O. C. Sands, now of University Place, Neb., but recently from Brashear, Mo., are the incorporators.

Attorney General Smyth filed an information in the supreme court yesterday to enjoin J. Sterling Morton's starch company at Nebraska City from doing business in this state under the present management. The allegation is made that the Argo Manufacturing company sold out to the United Starch company.

Three sets of plans for the new Carnegie library building are now at the city library ready for the use of prospective bidders. The plans for the heating, plumbing and electric wiring will be completed in a short time. The members of the library board are anxious to let the contract to home people, but so far much more interest has been shown by outside contractors than by those residing in the city.

Henry Ives, a barber working in an O street shop, has left the city, leaving his family here in destitute circumstances. It is said that Ives was forced to leave because of the attentions he had been paying the wife of another Lincoln citizen. Two of his children will be sent to their grandparents at Talmage, Neb. The oldest child is fourteen years of age. Mrs. Ives, to whom his disappearance came as a surprise, will remain in the city.

L. B. Denman of 407 South Fourteenth street put to flight two would-be robbers Tuesday night. He was walking along Sixteenth street near J in the early evening, intending to call on R. M. Turner to talk over a business matter. Suddenly two men appeared before him and one of them, holding a gun pointed at his head, commanded him to throw up his hands. In doing so Mr. Denman struck the man with the gun a blow in the face and started to run. The robbers started to run also, leaving that locality by running through the alley. Mr. Denman had about $60 with him. He described the men as follows: One tall, weighing about 175; the other about five feet four inches, weight about 140 pounds. Mr. Denman could not see in the darkness whether the men were masked or not.

If you want to show your colors wear a Bryan button. We give the finest that are made as a premium for clubs of campaign subscriptions. They are not for sale. You can only obtain them by sending in clubs of subscriptions. One inch button for club of two. One and five-eighths inch button for club of three.

Mr. G. W. Davis, a painter on the grand Memorial Hall at the state university, fell twenty feet from a ladder and fractured several ribs. The injury is not serious, and he will recover. He resides at 1512 Vine street.

Against Dr. Lang

District court at Beatrice issues an order of ouster.

The case of Governor Poynter vs. Dr. Lang, a petition for mandamus requiring the defendant to vacate the superintendency of the state institution, came to a close about 1 o'clock the court taking the noon hour in order to wind it up. The decision of Judge Stull was that "the writ of mandamus be granted, and it was so ordered and issued. Attorneys for the defendant entered an exception and three days' time was granted for filing a motion for a new trial. As a super-sedeas does not intervene in mandamus in an appeal is taken Dr. Lang would still have to obey the order of Judge Stull and give possession.

State University News

Outlook For 1900.

The athletic board has no bad debts hanging over it. No disgusting quarrels marred the pleasure of the inter-collegiate football and baseball games. Dignity and courtesy was carried out by the student managers.

The faculty members on the board have been diligent and faithful in helping to direct the work, so that clean men and honest workers may represent the university in athletics.

There is one department in the university which not only is winning a name for itself, but helping to brace up every other department; that is the work of physical training.

The boys and girls who took gymnasium work regularly three times a week are heard in class when they recite. Their voices are strong. They soon acquire full confidence in their own power and that insipid false modesty is soon lost.

The gymnasium boys and girls are recognized in the law colleges, in the musical conservatory and in every professional line. They are wide awake, cool-headed, good-natured students.

If the gymnasium work and three or four years of vigorous training in elocution and voice culture were obligatory upon every student, there would be better class records because the professors would not have to guess at what the students are talking about. There would be more powerful lecturers, like Dr. Fling and Dr. Ward; more orators like E. H. Smith; more winning voices like Guy Talbot's, and more singers like John Randolph.

So early in the season Nebraska never had better prospects for a winning football team. Captain Brew seems to have plenty available material in view. Manager Tukey has an elaborate schedule of games arranged and Coach Booth comes with an enviable reputation as a guard on the Princeton team and has the confidence of his pupils in advance. Discard, the deterrent factor for last year's team, will be almost entirely eliminated this season from all outward appearances. An entirely new set of men control a feature of the university this year, from captain and manager to athletic board. The old differences will be forgotten, school will be placed above individual reputation, and all will work in harmony for the interests of the institution, each man securing his place and holding it through merit alone.

The most serious losses to the team will be Benedict and Pearce. The fleet half-back, who has furnished the spectacular feature of Nebraska's game for the last four years, will be the most difficult to replace. There will be a number of aspiring candidates for his moleskins, however, and prospects promise no diminution of the effectiveness of the men behind the line.

Five available men are in sight for the position left vacant by Pearce, among them being Pillsbury, of the victorious '98 team; Fisher, Doane's crack tackle in '97; Gilbert, of Nebraska's '98 team, and Bollen, a new man in Nebraska circles, a member of the Tabor, Ia., college team in '97. He weighs over two hundred at present, and plays about 190. He is one of the most promising men in view at present.

There are so many old players in prospect that spirited competition is evident. The fact that a man once held a place on the team is no reason he will retain his place this season. Beginning with center, Koehler, who held that place last season, will have to outplay Welsh of the Omaha high school who was considered a heavy ready and scientific player for his experience last season. Captain Brew is accorded his place at left guard without question. Ringer will have to compete with Gilbert, who took Hanson's place in the Kansas game two years ago, Pillsbury, one of the heavy-hitting all-round athletes ever in the institution, and Bollen. Westover will no doubt retain his position at left tackle. Right will be a free-for-all with chances about even for Gilbert, Pillsbury, Bollen and Wallace. Drain and Cortelyou will both be back to work for their old places at either end. It is rumored that Stringer will be in school again and that he once more aspires to gridiron honors. Ryan, who tried for a place last year and failed, has been spending his vacation in the mountains, taking long walks and dieting himself with the firm intention of winning and holding a position this fall.

Ex-Captain Williams is said to have a desire to play quarter. He will be for competition "Stub" Crandall and Manager Tukey, both of whom played the position last year, together with Gordon, McKillop and Hooper. Hooper is heavy, nervy and possesses a fair understanding of the game. It is too early to attempt even a guess as to the identity of the successful man.

Kingsley will be expected to make a place at right half this year. He is quick in starting, heavy, runs low and fast, is hard to tackle and plays an admirable game on the defense. Follmer is expected back to try for a position behind the line, probably left-half. He showed exceptional form in '98, and at the close of the season was one of the most prominent figures on that famous team. At Fullback Carver, Bollen, Bell and Gordon are in sight.

With all this material there is every reason for optimism, especially when it is known that Coach Booth is to have the assistance of a number of graduates and former students. Wiggins, the famous Nebraska end of days gone by will be down from Omaha every week and lend his aid in building up that portion of the line. In this work he will be assisted by Rev. Mr. Manss, formerly of Yale, who did much last year to patch up misunderstandings and get the men to work in a hard and efficient manner. Ex-Captain Melford will be employed in the city until after the close of the season and may be relied on to assist in every way possible to put out a winning team. A training table is now one of the probabilities, also.

C. E. Matson.

Alumni.

Katherine Woods, '00, is teaching in Plattsmouth.

H. C. Root, '00, is attending the Omaha Medical college.

D. C. Hall, '97, is at Schnectady, N. Y., where he is working as an electrician.

Calvin Atwood is leading a life of activity and usefulness in the vicinity of Plattsmouth.

O. A. Davis, '00, is farming at Murray, Neb. He attended the state fair here a few days ago.

G. A. Johnson, J. E. Boyle, R. L. Waterman and Schaefer were selling Topics in Iowa and Minnesota.

S. W. Pinkerton has been surveying and railroad near Alliance. He is seized with a desire for ranching.

F. E. Edgerton and Cora O'Connell, both Naughty Naughts, will teach in the Fremont high school next year.

Rex Hulet '99, Union, is making a splendid record in the electric light and cold storage plant in Grand Island.

Laura Stratton spent the summer in Illinois and Wisconsin. She expects to return to Lincoln some time during the winter.

Chas. W. Jones '00 is the new superintendent of schools in Rapid City, S. D., one of the best towns in the Black Hills.

Bert Evans, assistant in civil engineering, was riding burrows around Sylvan Lake and up Harney's Peak in the Black Hills this summer.

George Kindler '98 was re-elected principal of schools at Cedar Rapids. Lou Pierson will have two of the grades under Prof. Kindler.

Harvey Newbranch has written a new biography of Col. W. J. Bryan. The new book is being published by Messrs. Towne and Crabtree. It's a beauty.

R. N. Miles, '00, and John Boose, '99, will attend the McCormick Theological Seminary, a Presbyterian college, in Chicago the coming year. Mr. Boose began attending that institution last year.

W. J. Meier has a clerkship in the Lancaster county treasurer's office, and Deputy Treasurer John Maguire has just readjusted and classified the records. There's no dust hanging on those shelves.

L. E. Aylsworth, '00, spent a portion of the summer at Madison, Wis., where he attended the summer school. While there he met some of the great American historians, one of whom was Professor Turner.

A. E. Garringer, E. E., '00, and Clarke Pool, '01, were offered good positions in a large electrical company in New York city where they are at present. They are now rooming together in Brooklyn.

Mr. Pool is spending several hours each day studying so that he can obtain his degree from this institution next spring. Recently he had a two weeks' vacation, during which time he visited the historic spots from New York city to Princeton and Philadelphia. He easily rode his wheel over 100 miles a day on the asphalt roads and cinder paths of that section.

W. N. Robertson, '00, goes to Chicago this week to attend the McCormick Theological Seminary, where he will take a regular three years' course. When he finishes his work he intends to go as a missionary to the Orient. He says he would prefer going to the Philippines, as he knows something of the needs of those islands, having been there a year as a member of the First Nebraska regiment.

Auburn, Neb., is fortunate in securing so many university graduates in her public schools. She has scheduled for principal and instructor in sciences and mathematics Zeno Crook, B. A., '98, and M. A., '00; for Latin and literature Miss Bynum, B. A., '97, M. A., '00, and Miss Gardner, B. S. (Wesleyan '99).

Last Saturday afternoon two golf teams, captained by Edwin Morrison, '99, and "Buck" McCreery, '99, played a game out in which the former team won by the score of 21 to 17. Several other university men took part in the game.

Chauncey Warner, '99, is one of the republican candidates from Lancaster county for the legislature. If previous elections can be taken as any indication, Warner will assist Hawxy in naming our next senators.

Prof. Baldrige has left the professorship of pedagogy at Alliance and has launched out into the real estate business. He can buy or lease you a cattle ranch or secure town property for you.

J. E. Adamson, superintendent at Broken Bow, has conducted the city schools there for four years and also owns and manages the telephone system of three different lines in Custer county.

Harry Graybill, '00, has returned from an extended trip along the Atlantic coast. Harry will do post-graduate work this year.

Burt D. Whedon, '00, formerly adjutant of the First Nebraska regiment, will attend the Harvard law school this year.

Arthur Bischoff and William Wilson both alumni, are contending for the honors of county attorney in Otoe county.

F. G. Hawxy, '99, has been nominated for the legislature by the Nebraska county fusionists.

Pillsbury, '96, is filling the position of superintendent of schools at Falls City.

Miss Olive Stratton, '00, is assistant principal at the Madison high school. George Griffith, '99, has the principalship of the Pawnee City schools.

Things political in the university promise to be very exciting this fall. President Maxwell of the Hayward Republican Club is on the grounds enthusuing such of his followers as are here. President McNaughton of the Bimetallic league has also arrived and is hard at work making preparations for campaign work to be accomplished. Both men are strong personally and have the strength of the convictions for the respective beliefs. The campaign in the university is to be opened by a joint debate between the leading men of both clubs.

Football.

Coach Booth gets out in football rig at every practice.

Carver may not be able to get back to school this fall.

Eddie Gordon has been pitching ball for Kearney this summer.

Williams, captain of last year, is in fine physical condition and will be able to play fast ball this year.

Hancock, an old Wesleyan halfback, will be in school this year and may try for the team. He has plenty of speed and pounds.

Capt. Brew and Koehler of last year's team, Pillsbury of the '98 team and Bullard and Kellogg of the scrubs were out with the coach last week.

Donald, Fisher and Patten, three old players from Doane college, are expected in school this year. All are experienced men with plenty of weight.

Welch, a promising centre on the Omaha high school team last year, has been elected captain of the Creighton college team and will not be in the university as was expected.

The Crete men are even counting on victory. Perhaps they do not know that we have a new coach and about the strongest aggregation of players this year that ever wore the scarlet and cream.

The Lincoln high school sends up three promising candidates in Reynolds, Eager and Raymond. All are experienced players and all-around athletes and are expected to make a strong showing.

Ringer, Gordon, Drain, Crandall and Ryan will be out again this year. Ringer has a good chance at guard again, but the others will find many competitors for their places, but they have a fair chance of retaining their old positions.

The first football game of the season will be played with the Doane college team on the university grounds during the street fair week, October 4 or 6. "Dad" Mains of Crete has the Doane men in charge and will get the best results out of the available material, so a hard game is expected.

Financially the athletic association is in good condition. The baseball season brought money into the treasury, what depleted treasury and the '00 football season will open with no formidable debts in sight. However, there is no available fund for purchasing sweaters, suits and other togery for the players, which they will need at once. A subscription list if properly pushed would secure the needed funds.

In Memoriam.

Memorial services in honor of Mrs. L. A. Sherman were held in the chapel Sunday afternoon at 4:30. The services were conducted under the auspices of the Women's Faculty club.

In a few brief remarks Chancellor Andrews expressed for the university the deep sorrow felt because of the loss of one of its noble characters. He noted how difficult it is to do just the thing desired by the departed ones on such occasions. He said: "We cannot say one word to them to ask them what they would have us do. We do not all love to confess our debts, but we enjoy confessing our debts to this noble character whose death we mourn."

It was explained that ex-Chancellor MacLean was prevented by serious illness at home from being present and speaking in memory of Mrs. Sherman. His manuscript was read by Mrs. Hodgman, which expressed the grief of Chancellor and Mrs. MacLean, and stated in part, that their comment should be taken not as eulogies, but as a just tribute to her unselfish character. Incidents were related showing what a devoted life of faithful service she had led among sick and needy students.

Dr. Wharton's touching remarks emphasized the sphere of influence exercised by this devoted woman. In her life she was especially a beautiful character. She was beautiful in face, beautiful in mind, beautiful in spirit. Her life was devoted to the home. She was a mother content to decrease that those she loved might increase. He noted one instance of a student sick with scarlet fever, who was deserted by the father, who received the personal care and service of Mrs. Sherman
