He said, "I own it is my opinion, though I do not publish it in Dan or Beersheba, that the present government is not that which will answer the ends of society, by giving stability and protection to its rights, and that it will probably be found expedient to go into the British form." Oh, how modest, yet how treacherous. Speaker Henderson of the house of representatives, republican, says: "These doctrines of Hamilton must be the text words of the hour. I want elected a man who not only preached those doctrines, but, like McKinley, acted them from his heart." This is the damnable imperialistic doctrine taken up by the so-called republican party and voiced from "Dan to Beersheba" by men holding high office, before the body of our Sainted Lincoln had been laid in its final resting place. Following soon after the London Telegraph rejoicingly exclaimed that never again in America would be hoisted "a banner originally hoisted by Jefferson," and a presidential candidate in the same year, in a public speech, said: "I believe that the fame of Jefferson is waning and the fame of Hamilton waxing in the estimation of the American people. I am glad that we are." Mark A. Hanna said on his returning from Europe that the "English government is just as good as ours if not a little better." 'Tis a fact easily demonstrated that the party of Hanna with its figurehead McKinley are the lineal descendants of the antirepublicans of Jefferson's day. Those who cast their ballot at the coming election in November must choose between the anti-republicanism of Hamilton or the republicanism of deprespenetrating through the imperialistic cloud and can hear the tread of the people coming to the support of that matchless orator and statesman, William Jennings Bryan, who is bearing will be placed high in the temple of liberty and no traitors hand will ever dare to dray it down again. When writing to our advertisers always tell them that you saw their ad. than they were on the day that the in The Independent.

A lady in northern Nebraska writes a letter to the editor of The Independent and asks: "If Bryan is defeated will you give up?" We answer, "No." This writer has been defeated too often and then made defeats lead up to victory to ever give up fighting for a righteous cause. He remembers when he started in single-handed and alone to fight the Indian ring. He hunted through the whole period of our na- up lawyer after lawyer, he implored congressmen and senators, he fought battles in the courts and when after spending thousands of dollars, the supreme court, by a bare majority, decided against him, and on the very lines of imperialism which he is now fighting, he did not give up. He ap-1824 and in 1860 even in comparison to pealed to the people of many states the downfall of the republic in the year after year and though often insulted and rebuffed, he didn't give up. He kept on fighting. At last, after years of waiting, the senate and house of representatives yielded to long continued assaults and gave the Indians the right of citizenship. That was the death of the old Indian ring that had deluged our western frontiers with blod for a hundred years. That was the end of the "Century of Dishonor." Then he joined with a few farmers n another fight which at the beginning seemed more hopeful than the first. He undertook the overthrow of the oligarchy of corruption that the republicans had established in Nebraska. He has been but one in many thousands in this later fight. But he never gave up. He has fought on until oligarchy founded on theft, has been hurled from power and a set of officers elected who have conducted the government of this state for years without the loss of a single cent by misappropriation or embezzlement, a thing that seemed almost impossible in the beginning. He is not going to give up now. This effort to capture the government of the United States from the hands of the aristocrats and accumulators of wealth, is the greatest fight that the people have ever undertaken since the last time they assaulted it when it was bulwarked behind human slavery. We shall win, just as the people have won every battle in the end for human liberty that has been fought in the last four hundred years. Give up? Never.
