Set Up in Washington.

Another addition to the artistic adornment of the national capital will soon be on view. A handsome monument to Jean Baptiste De Vimeur, comte de Rochambeau, is to be erected in Washington and will signalize American gratitude to one who rendered the young republic vital service in the hour of its peril. On March 3 congress passed a bill appropriating $7.500 to purchase a replica of the original statue by Fernand Hamar. This fine work of art was unveiled at Vendome, France, last June.
