came also from the most unexpected sources. The most distinguished democrats in the state have appealed to The Independent, for the sake of harmony in the democratic party and the cause of reform, asking it make a vigorous reply and declare that the mass of democratic voters in the state are as much opposed to the course of the World-Herald, as was the most enthusiastic populist.

The following indictment against the course of the World-Herald for some years is the summing up of many letters received by The Independent, some of which indulged in serious forebodings for the future on account of the wobbings of that paper.

"The World-Herald abandoned Bryan for a while and fought for the gold standard." "The World-Herald sold part of its editorial page to the republican state committee in the midst of an important campaign." "The World-Herald attack the fusion state officers without cause and made charges against them that even a republican investigating committee composed of some of the rankest partisans in the state would not sustain." "That democratic sheet has been the apologist and defender of every republican thief that the fusion forces have been able to convict." "It (World-Herald) defended the pardon of Bollen, the parole of Bartley—a thing that decent republicans repudiated—and it now attacks the populist platform in the defense of Bartley's partner."

These are some of the protests that have poured in on The Independent. As many, if not more, have come from democrats as have come from populists. The Independent therefore concludes that the ground taken by some populists that the democratic party is responsible for the erratic career of the World-Herald and that any further fusion with that party by the populists is a disgrace and dishonor, is not well taken. There are just as true men in the democratic party as there are in the populist party and they denounce this action of the World-Herald with as much, if not more bitterness than the populists themselves.

The populists claim that the selection of Millard for United States senator was a disgrace to the state. He has no qualifications for the office, has never taken any part in the discussion of public questions, he knows nothing of legislation, is a man of very low quality of intellect, yet he was taken as the republican idea of what a United States senator should be, utterly ignoring the many brilliant orators and legislators in the party and given the greatest honor in the power of the party to bestow. The only qualifications that he was known to have was that he was a national banker and was Bartley's partner in the theft of $150,000 from the state. The whole history of that transaction is related in another column of this paper, written up by Mr. De France. The attention of all the readers of The Independent is called to the record in regard to Senator Millard's connection with that matter.

Hardy's Column

Coming Candidates: Republican Fusion, More Soldiers, Bragg over Revenue, County Treasurer, Veto Statesmanship, The Commoner, We Approve Self-Employment.

Already republicans begin to shout Roosevelt for president and Dietrich for vice president in 1904. A good republican team. Statesmanship about equally wild and obstinate.

It is almost as bad as murder for pope and Bryan democrats to fuse in Nebraska, but for republicans to fuse with a half dozen independent parties in the city of New York is dove-like and patriotic. Senator Platt, who carries the republican party in his pocket, favors fusion.

The English general in South Africa asks for more men and the news from the Philippines indicate more men will be needed. A few days ago reports from both places came that fighting was through and complete peace was near. It is quite certain that a large army will be needed for many years in both countries while an independent government of their own would have resulted in peace long ago.

Treasurer Gage brags about the increase of revenue and enlarged pile of surplus, which means more tariff paid, more whisky and beer drank and more tobacco smoked and chewed.

Our County Treasurer McLaughlin is a candidate for a second term and we hope he will be re-elected, for as fast as the tax money comes in he pays it out on county debts instead of putting it in banks and putting the interest in his pocket. We voted for him because we knew him to be honest, not because he was a Bryan man. So we voted for Jake Roca, not because he was a republican, but we knew him to be honest.

The statesmanship of ex-Governor Dietrich shows up grandly in his veto of the bill ordering how the state university money should be expended. Now nearly a hundred thousand dollars will lay in the state treasurer's hands until the next legislature orders what shall be done with it.

The Commoner is a paper that every working man and woman should read. It is not a forty-acre paper filled with matter of no interest or utility, but a paper that can be read in an hour or two and every line is interesting. Political questions, economic questions and domestic questions are discussed in an interesting manner. It is a dictionary history of the present time. Bryan is its editor.

We stand ready to approve a good streak in anybody, and where and at any time. Our new president's new position on the old high protective tariff we are pleased with. If his party swallows his new republican doctrine we shall be surprised again. Their minds are so twisted that no reform for the benefit of the farmer can get in. He and McKinley both turned Bryanites on the tariff.

Self-employment should be the text upon which sermons should be preached, lectures delivered and editorials written. Too many men and women lean upon others for employment. Let a few thousand wage-earners go to work for themselves and strikes would be unnecessary for those who remained at work could dictate terms. There are certain occupations and professions which involve serving others and yet their fees and salaries depend upon their success, so they really work for themselves. The doctor, doctors others, the lawyer pleads the cases of others, the preacher preaches to others, sailors and railroad men must work for others and yet the responsibility of doing the work properly rests upon their own shoulders and not upon the shoulders of a boss. Book education is good and yet practical business education is much better if but one can be afforded. Boys and girls should be allowed an opportunity to make a little money for themselves and to spend it as they choose. A patch of garden, a setting hen, a pig or calf should be given over to their care and ownership and then their rights should be respected. In that way they will learn to plan and to manage. Farmer boys and girls usually begin learning business as soon as they are large enough to pull a weed, feed a chicken or milk a cow. It is a fact farmer boys get the best places in cities for as a rule they are more to be relied upon. But they should be discouraged from coming into cities. One of the great evils of the day is the tendency to flock to cities. There are no vile streets in the country. Working with the hands is no disgrace or lowering of dignity. We advise farmers' boys and girls to stick to the farm. If you can read English there is no excuse for your not being intelligent. The plea that all the farm land is now under cultivation is a mistake. There are thousands of valleys between the Mississippi and the Pacific coast, now wild in nature, that could be made into Eden gardens by cultivation and irrigation. "Go west young man," leave the filthy city, locate where you can grow with the trees and breathe the free mountain air and feed upon the rich products of the earth with no forbidden fruit in sight.

ECONOMICS FOR FARMERS

The Great Decline in the Price of Farm Products During the Thirty Years. Editor Independent: The statement printed below I clipped from the Nebraska State Journal of September 24,

Every little girl loves a doll. How delighted she would be with a doll like the big dolls which "play house." These dolls are nearly heads that will not break, eyes that will not fall out, and they are so made that they are likely to encounter. They are the model of the old fashioned doll that grandmothers used to make. They are made of extra heavy material and will not break. They are made in bright colors that will not fade. They are very durable and will last for years. They are made in the shape of a doll and will give you four beautiful dolls for the price of one. They are made in the shape of a doll and will give you four beautiful dolls for the price of one. They are made in the shape of a doll and will give you four beautiful dolls for the price of one.

A WONDERFUL RECORD.

"For the twelve months ending August 31st last, the exports from the United States aggregated something over $1,500,000,000. It was only the other day, under McKinley prosperity, that we were electrified by the announcement that the products we had sold abroad had mounted up during one year to a round billion. That we should so soon make it a billion and a half did not for a moment strike us.

There has been some improvements in appliances and methods during the last thirty years that would cheapen the cost of producing a pound of cotton, but the ever-increasing cost of fertilizing the land on which the pound of cotton was raised would be as much or more than the saving made with improved appliances or methods. This being the case, is it any wonder that there is discontent in the southland as well as a race question having large proportions?

The net farm product that I will take is wheat. These wise and grave editors that preside over the various columns in the daily papers have had much to say about the prosperous wheat farmers. The export price of wheat for 1871 was $1.31 per bushel; 1872, $1.47; 1873, $1.31; 1879, 74 cents per bushel; 1900, 72c; 1901, 73c. The above figures show a decline of 74 cents on one bushel of wheat. There is no question but what the cost of producing a bushel of wheat on an average wheat farm from ocean to ocean was as great during 1901 as during 1872. The extra cost of fertilizing during 1901 would more than absorb the amount saved by improved machinery. Oh! these wise editors, writing about the great prosperity of the wheat average and the great export of wheat, do not attempt to tell their readers just what caused the decline in the export price of wheat from $1.47 in 1872 to 73 cents in 1901.

The export prices of corn run as follows: 1871, 76 cents per bushel; 1872, 70c; 1873, 62c; 1897, 30c; 1899, 39c; 1900, 40c; 1901, 46c. The decline in the export price of corn from 76 cents in 1871 to 30 cents per bushel in 1897 was 46 cents. This decline in the export price of 46 cents on a bushel of corn from 1871 to 1897 has caused more misery, loss of prosperity and crime than nearly all other things combined. The rise in the export price of corn from 30 cents per bushel in 1897 to 46 cents in 1901 which has been caused by wars and famine, makes much better times and conditions than prevailed during the time that the export price of corn was at such a low price. But to say that there is great prosperity in this country when it takes as much labor to produce a bushel of corn on an average corn farm the country over, as it did during 1871, when the export price is only a little more than half what it was at the above date, is making a statement that has but very little foundation in facts.

I suggest that these editors of the daily papers tell their readers just what caused the decline in the export price of corn of 46 cents per bushel from 1871 to 1897, instead of telling them that they are prosperous when they know fully as much about that as these editors do. C. G. BULLOCK.

WAR IN THE PHILIPPINES

S. infantry—wounded—have just arrived from Balangiga; remainder company killed. Insurgents secured all company supplies and all rifles except 12. Company was attacked during breakfast morning September 28; company seventy-two strong; officers, Thomas W. Connolly (captain); Edward A. Bumpus (major lieutenant); Dr. R. S. Griswold (major surgeon), escaped. (Signed) "CHAFFEE."

Notwithstanding that war in the Philippines has been declared officially a hundred times to be over, it seems to be going on just as it has for the last three years since the United States took possession and the two centuries preceding under the Spanish.

The latest news is to the effect that the officers and practically the whole company with the exception of three or four of the Ninth infantry were killed and wounded and all their arms and equipment captured. In the company were two Nebraskans, Charles Amundson of North Platte and Taylor B. Hickman of Beatrice. There seems to be trouble elsewhere in the Philippines. Another dispatch says: "The conditions in Tayantas (Tayabas?) and Batangas are not reassuring. The worst form of guerilla warfare prevails there. The insurgent forces are distributed, under cover, along every road and trail and wait for travelers in ambush. The insurgent leader Caballos (who formerly belonged to General Cailles' command, but who refused to surrender with Cailles) is retreating to the mountains. The main forces of the insurgents are scattered in bands over the province, where they did up rifles when there is an opportunity to use them."

The Boer Answer

Within three or four days after Kitchener's "no quarter" order went into effect, the Boers replied as follows: Scheepers' Nek, where three companies of British were taken, the scene of a similar exploit eighteen months ago, is 100 miles north of Ladysmith. Ladysmith itself, scene of the gallant defense of Gen. White, now once more partially surrounded by Boers, is in British territory; the Natal militia have been called out to its defense.

Herschell, where Kritzinger inflicted heavy loss on Lovatt's scouts, is on the Orange River just east of Allwal North. Elands River Poort, where Smuts gallantly evaded capture, is in the western Transvaal.

Viakfontein, where two cannon were taken from the British, is almost under the guns of Pretoria, now British military headquarters. Adenburg and Carolina, where two Boer commandoes were taken, are apparently in Cape Colony.

The London Express reports the Boers in arms forty miles from Cape Town and along the coast each side of it, and says that "the Dutch element in the colony is in revolt."

Admiral Schley

They're fighting the battle all over again; The big guns are booming once more; And Sampson today lingers far, far away While Schley bears the brunt—as before. On the old fighter's track the entire and snarling pack. Have followed with hue and with cry, Till now, when he faces them all, they slink back From the sight of brave Admiral Schley.

When heroes were needed, he stood on the bridge And met the proud navy of Spain. He followed it on till the battle was won And its vessels went down in the main. When heroes are honored he's slighted and spurned, While others are praised to the sky. He yet is deprived of the glory he earned, Our gallant old Admiral Schley.

But though he's insulted by puppets in power, The people are slow to forget. They only await a more fortunate hour To crown him in victory yet. His fame is secure. When the scroll is unrolled His name will be written on high 'Mid those of our gallant sea-fighters of old, Made brighter by Admiral Schley.

The man who is right can afford to repose. In the homage and love of the just; To reckon that Time is his friend; and his foes At last will go down in the dust. The victim of hate with assurance can wait. For wrong and detraction to die. The world holds a crown of esteem and renown For the brow of brave Admiral Schley. —J. A. Edgerton.

NEBRASKA SANITARIUM

An Institution of Merit With Large Corps of Physicians and Trained Nurses at College View Near Lincoln

A representative of The Independent was called a few days ago to the beautiful little village of College View. He was agreeably surprised to find a little city within itself, so pleasantly situated and containing such an intelligent and progressive class of citizens. It is here that the Nebraska Sanitarium is situated, whose influence upon the diseases that afflict mankind has become almost world-wide. The institution, always under a careful and conservative management, has grown with the years since its birth to be one of the largest and best known of its kind in the west. Lately, however, Mr. D. R. Callahan has been placed in charge of the business management and he has so arranged matters that its financial failure is an utter impossibility.

The medical staff consists of Dr. J. H. Keegan, a surgeon who is second to none in ability, and whose reputation is so thoroughly established that it needs no words of commendation. Dr. George is the physician in charge, and he has as his assistants two lady doctors, and a corps of about fifty nurses and helpers.

In a recent publication of the Railway Publishing Co. there is the following write-up of this institution, which is appended because it so fittingly describes the Nebraska Sanitarium: "The spacious grounds and buildings of the Nebraska Sanitarium, four in number, cover about four city blocks and are situated on an elevated site overlooking the city of Lincoln at what is known as College View. The best of medical skill, trained nurses who are conscientious and attentive, combined with cheerful and pleasant surroundings, all offer the very best possible means to the invalid for regaining health in the shortest time and the most favorable manner there. The management have attempted to meet the demands of such an institution; how well they have succeeded in accomplishing this, can best be answered by the hundreds who have already enjoyed its benefits and now rejoice in renewed health and vigor."

It was founded 7 years ago as a branch of the Battle Creek, Mich., Sanitarium; the main building, an elegant five-story brick and stone structure, is spacious and provided with wide verandas and porches, hydraulic elevators, lighted by electricity, steam heat, electric call bells, well equipped toilet and bath rooms on each floor, in fact, it is provided throughout regardless of expense in the most elegant style, with all the appurtenances of a first-class sanitarium. The kitchen is located in the basement with store and bath rooms, also a finely appointed dining room which will accommodate 100 people at once, where choice cereal products and specially prepared foods manufactured by the Sanitas Food company of Battle Creek, Mich., are served in great variety; also hygienic vegetable foods are prepared by the best culinary skill. On the first floor are the business and medical offices, a well-equipped laboratory and dispensary, gymnasium, and a number of waiting rooms for patients, etc. The second and third floors are used exclusively for treatment apartments; the fourth floor is a surgical ward and apartments for the help, and the fifth floor operating departments with all modern and necessary improvements. A separate building is used exclusively for the bakery which is a substantial two-story frame building; and also a separate building for the laundry and power house. The sanitarium is provided with the most luxurious appointments. The corridors are large and sunny, and each individual room has outside connections, is abundantly supplied with fresh air and sunshine and very neatly and comfortably furnished; a training school is maintained in connection where from 25 to 50 trained nurses are always in attendance. Baths of every description, including the electric light bath, electrotherapy are given; massage and manual Swedish movements administered by trained manipulators, and trained nurses of both sexes are in attendance and three physicians with large experience in sanitarium and medical work.

The object of the founders has been to offer to those suffering from both acute and chronic disorders that cannot be treated well at home, the very best means of regaining their health. The expenses incurred are very moderate, considering the accommodations and services rendered.

TIRED OR FEEBLE WOMEN

[Find Peruna to be an Unfailing and Prompt Remedy.]

Miss Mary Goerbing

Miss Mary Goerbing, of Medford, Wis., speaks in glowing praise of Peruna as a cathartic tonic and nerve restorer. She says:

"I take great pleasure in acknowledging the curative powers of Peruna. As a nerve tonic, a gentle stimulator to a sluggish system, as an appetizer and restorer of lost strength and vitality of worn-out women, it is very superior."

"I find it is splendid as a preventative for catching cold, and whenever I feel used up I take a dose or two and it never fails to relieve me."

Tired Women.

Depression of the nervous system during the heat of summer months is a fertile source of blood impurities. That tired feeling, which is the natural result of the depressing effect of warm weather, quickly disappears when Peruna is taken.

Thousands are daily testifying to its priceless benefit. General lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continued tired feelings, with irregular appetite and sometimes loss of sleep. Peruna meets every indication and proves itself to be perfectly adapted to all their varied peculiarities. Peruna invigorates the system, rejuvenates the feelings, restores the normal appetite and produces regular sleep.

Roxa Tyler, vice president of the Illinois Woman's Alliance, speaks in high praise of Peruna to restore tired nerves and weak body. In a letter written to Dr. Hartman, from 910 East Sixtieth street, Chicago, Ill., she says the following: "During the past year I gradually lost flesh and strength until I was unable to perform my work properly. I tried different remedies, and finally Peruna was suggested to me. It gave me new life and strength. I cannot speak too highly of it."

Mrs. G. Briggs, Treasurer and Conductor William Down's Corps No. 48, Woman's Relief Corps, writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman from 2419 Central avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.: "A few months ago my health seemed to break down all at once. I had worked hard, too hard, for nearly six weeks, and nature simply refused to sustain me any longer. I lost my appetite, my sleep was fitful and I found no relief from the prescriptions of my physician. Several of the members of our Order told me of the wonderful help they had received from Peruna and advised me to try it. I sent for it and within a week after starting to use it a marked change for the better was felt; before finishing the second bottle I was completely restored."

As a tonic and nerve invigorator it has no equal. It builds up the nerves and gives strength to the circulation. No feeble woman should be without Peruna.

"Health and Beauty," a book written especially for women by Dr. Hartman, contains much invaluable advice to ailing women, sent free by addressing The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.
