of these vessels is but a small part of the cost to this country of the claptrap gold standard. The whole cost of this clap-trap gold standard, so far as relates to our foreign dealings, when all my available proofs are made up will appear about as follows: A foreign debt of nine billion dollars, requiring an interest tribute of us of $360,000,000 yearly; the loss of our foreign carrying vessels, requiring $100,999,000 yearly tribute of us for carrying freight; the loss of ownership to several billion dollars of railroad and other property, requiring a $300,-000,000 yearly tribute for profits thereon to foreigners; and for expenses of American nabobs traveling in other countries, $100,000,000 yearly. This makes a total yearly tribute to foreigners now of $860,000,000, and it is all the time increasing. This estimate is true and very conservative as I will to thinking along lines of reform of hereafter prove. It is far below the reality as I believe, but it is high shough to make a fatal case for the the young women who had the cour-

REINDEER CARRY MAIL

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT. Five Hundred Mile Race Through the Snow Between Reindeer and Dog Teams - Friendship Between These Animals and Siberians. American Efforts to Introduce the Reindeer Into Alaska.

When reindeer were first proposed for use in the mail service in Alaska. the idea was ridiculed, says the New York Sun. Since then experiments have demonstrated the animal's value for this purpose. The first test showed its superiority over dog teams for traveling through the snow.

A reindeer team with a Lapp driver was selected to carry one of the mailbags over the Nome route and to return with the outgoing mail, the round trip being about 500 miles. Two days before the reindeer started three well equipped dog teams set out. The route lay through a country without road or trail, and the conditions were as bad as heavy snowfalls could make them. Early on the fifth day out the reindeer team caught up with the slowest of the dog outfits in a stretch of soft drifted snow. In this the dogs had been stalled, and their desperate flounderings had so wearled them that they were making little progress. The reindeer plowed through the drifts with little difficulty. That afternoon they passed the second dog team. The Lapp brought his mail to its destination, rested his deer thirty hours, started on the return trip and fifty miles out met the foremost of his competitors. Even more remarkable was a mail trip of 1,240 miles through a trackless wilderness made by reindeer.

the teams making as much as 110 miles a day under favorable conditions. Now that the value of these animals has been fully established the United States have become an importer and breeder of stock and will bring in the next few years thousands of reindeer into their northernward possession. There are now in Alaska eight herds comprising about 3,500 head. By Jan-

TRYING OCCUPATION FOR WOMEN WITH DELICATE NERVES

The Hard Work Entailed by the Charge of a School Room Often Causes the Health to Break Down

From The Tribune, Minneapolis, Minn.

From The Tribune, Minneapolis, Minn. Teaching school is an occupation which has many attractions for cultured women, but it also has many drawbacks and often affects their health seriously. Especially is this so in the case of women with delicate nervous systems and those with a tendency to pulmonary troubles. Miss Mary K. Powers, of Ellsworth, Wis., is a teacher whose health was broken down by the hard work which the charge of a large school entails. She says:

"During the winter of 1898, while teaching school, I became subject to nervousness, which grew worse until my whole system was run down. My back ached and at times. I was so dizzy that I could hardly stand. My limbs were swollen and always tired, so that I felt no more rested in the morning than when I went to bed. I was also troubled with a cough and the food ate did not strengthen me. This condition, accompanied by palpitation of the heart, kept up for several months until in March, when I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in a Juneau, Wisconsin, newspaper.

"I began taking the pills and in about a week I noticed a change for the better. I felt so encouraged by this improvement that I kept on taking them until I had used three boxes, and was entirely cured. I always keep Pink Pills by 'me and I take them occasionally when I feel the need of a tonic.

"I believe firmly in the good done by Pink Pills for Pale People and have advised many of my friends to use them."

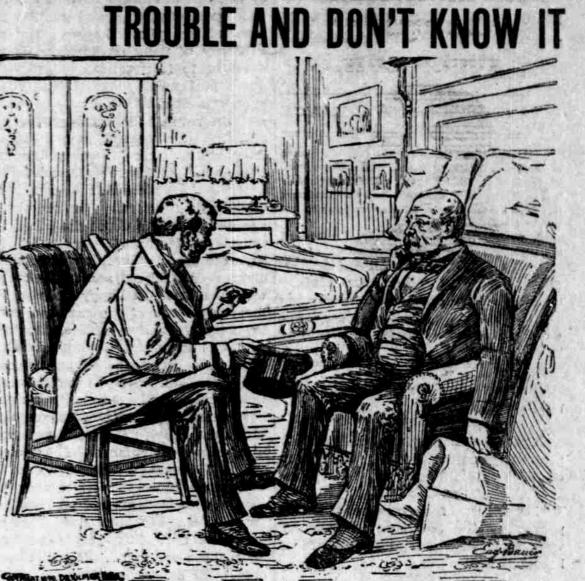

All the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves are contained, in a condensed form, in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis. St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, and all forms of weakness. ride from the east gate to the portico at full speed was almost unobserved by the small crowd which had gathered when Mr. and Mrs. Gray arrived. So the boys had dismounted, left their steeds standing unhitched and walked to the doorway, when the guards realized that a formidable cavalry troop was obstructing the driveway.

They were hurried away by the police, but returned in a few minutes, when their identity and the purpose of their visit were disclosed. They formed a band of delegates from various sections of the district. The leader was young Cartwright, son of the well known Connecticut Pie company manager in Georgetown; two were Robinsons, sons of a Capitol hill veterinarian, and two more were sons of Guhorst, an undertaker and livery stable keeper. They had come to extend to Kermit an invitation to take a ride with them. Understanding that the president had been a rough rider, they assumed that his oldest son had a pony. But Kermit had no pony at that time, LOW.

and the boys were told that he was taking his afternoon bicycle ride. They were surprised at this and for some moments gazed at the officers in astonishment. To make way for a vehicle. the five boys were ordered away. They dashed down the semicircular driveway through the west gate, then into Pennsylvania avenue to the east gate, thence again to the front of the mansion. This time they did not dismount, but were told to come again and perhaps they could see Kermit. The pres-

WHAT DEMOCRATS DID

If the Plutnerais in the Party Could Down Bryan They Would do the Same

Thing Over Again

Editor Independent: Upon four different occasions the democratic party, with a good working majority in the lower house, voted against the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

The forty-ninth congress, having a 8, 1886, killed a bill providing for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

The fifty-second congress, having a democratic majority of 148, on the 24th day of March, 1892, killed a free coinage bill at the ratio of 16 to 1.

On the 13th day of July following they overwhelmingly defeated another free coinage bill at the ratio of 16 to 1, after it had passed a republican senate. On August 23, 1893, the democrats, with a majority of 83 over republicans and populists, again declared against the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

When the above vote was taken there were 217 democrats present and voting of whom 191 were for and 116 against the bill. This shows that if the republicans and populists had been removed from congress, leaving the matter wholly with the democrats, free and unlimited coinage of silver would have been defeated by a majority of 15.

The broken promises of the democratic party remind me of two men that were in a boat out on a swolen river about to be cast away. One had good sense; the other was foolish. The one with sense asked the other to pray, and he commenced, "O. God, just let us get to the bank this time and I will give you a great big lump of tallow as big as my fist." "Where are you going to get that tallow from ?" asked his companion. He replied, Hush, you d- fool, I was just telling him so.

How many more times will it be necessary for the people to be deceived by the promises of democratic leaders before they find out that they, too, are just telling them so?

It has now been over 29 years since the demonstization swindle, one of the diseases of the rectum, are positively he would never again bother with dog most gigantic iniquities that ever had cured by their new treatment.
