LABOR EXPENSE VERY HEAVY

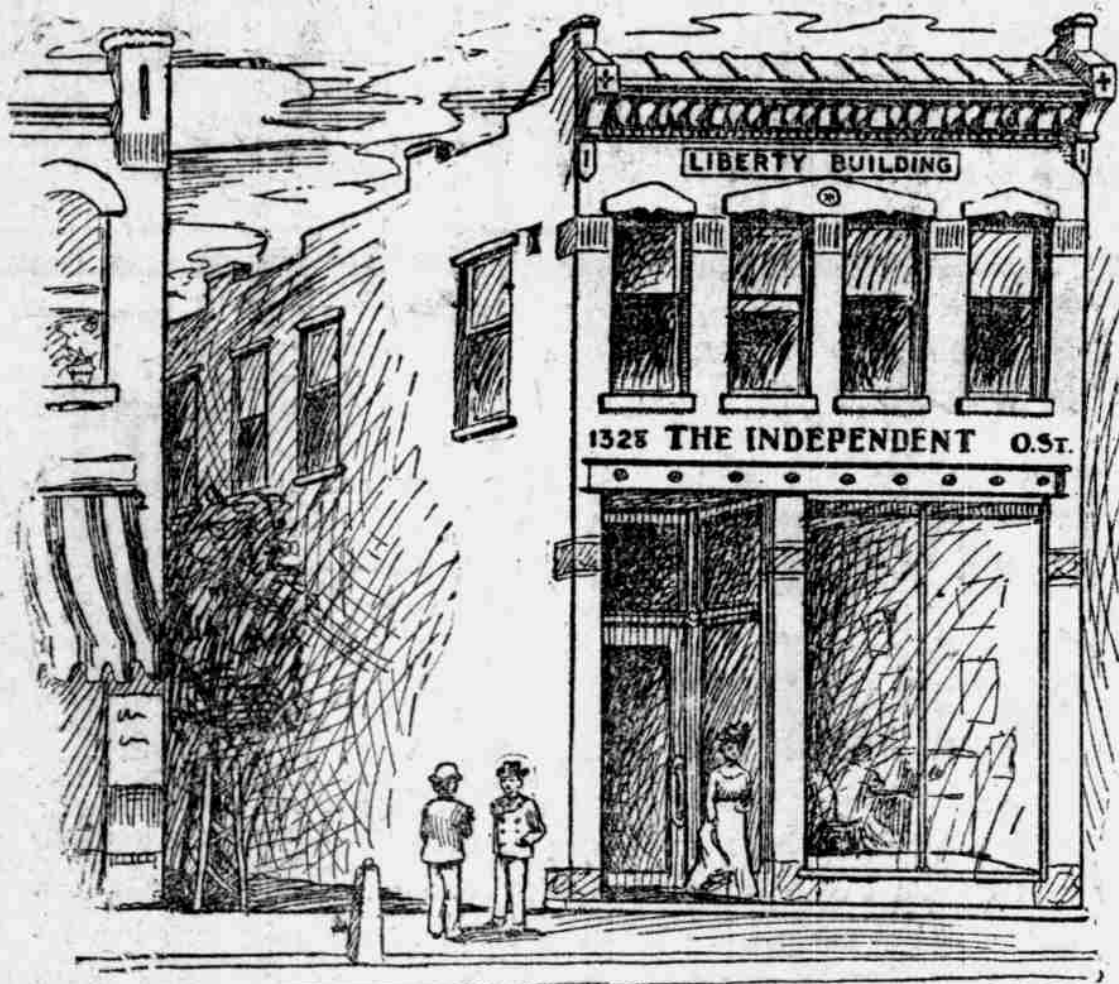

Those Who are Delinquent for Subscription Should Pay Without Longer Delay. We Need the Money

As stated last week we purchased the large two-story and basement brick building located at West Lincoln, built several years ago by John Fitzgerald. The work of wrecking and tearing it down has begun and the indications and results obtained so far are better than was expected. No cement was used in the mortar and nearly every brick is as clean when it is picked up as the day it was put in the wall. They are naturally clean, but come up easily and almost none are broken. The long timbers are all white pine in the rough and as good as the day they were put in the building. The window and door casings and frames were all removed without difficulty and are in first class condition. Almost all of them can be used in Liberty Building without alteration. The base-board was nearly all in condition to be used again and even the quarter rounds are in fair condition. Twenty thousand lath were saved. Much of the flooring can be used again. The material will be hauled to town and the work of construction will be pushed as rapidly as possible. The heavy expense at this time is the labor and all the funds we can raise are needed to meet it. Those who have cards should dispose of them as rapidly as possible. Those who are delinquent for subscription should pay without longer delay. The quicker we can get the building enclosed and occupy it the quicker we will stop the expense of $65 per month for rent. That saving will enable us to improve The Independent in many lines. It is now the leading paper of its class in the United States, but we promise you that when we can reduce our running expenses we will make it still better. "The half was never told" of the extortions and corrupt practices of the corporations and plutocracy. We'll tell the other half as fast as we can. If you have cards, sell them as soon as you can. If you have not yet sent for a block of five you should do so at once. There are many in your neighborhood who should read The Independent. Why not see them and get their subscriptions? If you wish to try we'll send you a block of five. You need not pay for them until you have sold them. Any you cannot sell you may return. It costs you nothing to try. The indications are that Mr. Thompson and the candidates nominated at Grand Island will prove a strong and winning ticket. It is a battle between the people and the corporations. There is nothing you can do that will accomplish so much in the campaign as to help increase the circulation of The Independent. You can easily sell a block of five in your neighborhood. Hundreds of others have done so and found it easier than they had expected. Many have sold 4 or 5 blocks (20 or 25 cards) and some have sold as high as 10 blocks (50 cards). Why not send your order today?

Here is what others have done. Why not add your name to the roll of honor?

Proposed Liberty Building

A Home For The Independent. Two Stories 25x142 Being Erected From the Sale of Liberty Subscription Cards by the Readers of The Independent.

For many years the greatest need of The Independent has been a permanent location—a home of its own. Once secured, expenses can be reduced and the paper made a greater power for good and more valuable and interesting to its readers. To build this home The Independent has asked the co-operation of its readers in the sale of 10,000 subscription cards. The cards are printed on regular U. S. postals and are put up in blocks of five. Each card is good for a year's subscription. For the five cards (five yearly subscriptions to be sent to five different persons) the charge is $3.00, 60 cents for each card. The regular subscription price of The Independent is $1.00 per year, and for single subscriptions it does not accept less than that. It is only because funds are needed for the construction of Liberty Building that the unparalleled offer of five yearly subscriptions for only $3.00 is made.

Let Well Enough Alone

Editor Independent: During and since the last national campaign we have heard a good deal about "Letting well enough alone," and the people seem to have been lulled to sleep by the seductive influence of those who would profit by this deception.

When the Lord called Moses to lead the children of Israel out of bondage he answered the call by saying, "They will not believe me." They were content to let well enough alone.

When Christ wrought, in the flesh to establish His spiritual kingdom on earth, the multitudes would not believe. They charged Him with "troubling the people" and finally killed Him rather than have conditions changed. They wanted to "let well enough alone." The silver-smiths stirred up the people because the teachings of justice and equity interfered with their business of making images of the goddess Diana. In the light of truth they could no longer fool the public, therefore the doctrine of "let well enough alone" must be taught, the people must be kept in ignorance in order that they might be "worked" for the benefit of the few who lived by the trade, or labor of the many.

When Demosthenes, prompted by his love for the liberties of the people, spoke in masterful eloquence warning the Grecians against the advance of the mighty Macedonians, he uttered the sublime truth that "trust is the safeguard of free communities against tyrants." But the baleful influence of the deadly doctrine of "let well enough alone" has its perfect work and here, in the very cradle of freedom, liberty received its death-blow.

The history of the world and its people is full of instances of this kind. "Let well enough alone" is the most dangerous doctrine that was ever taught to men. It is the language of the thief, thug and tyrant; the plea of the robber, ruffian and rapist; the motive of the schemer, charlatan and seducer; the slogan of the public plunderer; the cry of the monopolist and the yell of the tyrants.

"Let well enough alone" is the devil's doctrine, plan of action and hope of success. Like the song of the sirens it lures men to death and destruction by its sweetness and restfulness. Like the warmth of death by freezing it is deception most deceitful. Like the illusions and delusions of insanity they are recognized by all except the afflicted ones.

Time has been, and always will be, when men, mighty men, were and are needed to cry out against this monstrous doctrine that lulls patriots to sleep, dulls the conscience of the devotee and weakens the arm of the defender of the people's rights.

The manipulators of public opinion have thrown down the gauge of battle. We are asked to meet them upon this issue, "The country is prosperous." "Let well enough alone." Let us meet them upon their own ground. Admit the fact that prosperity is abroad in the land and thank the Lord for it, not the republican machine. Show the cause of the prosperity in the great crops that have been produced, and the high prices that prevail, due to the putting into operation of populist money theories. Show by the records that we have forced the old party to adopt our monetary system and at the same time show why they have done this. To save themselves and to cover up other schemes of robbing the common people of their very birthright. These facts can all be shown by the records that have been made and a persistent, united effort along these lines will convince the voter of the truth of our position. Surely the American citizen has not sunk to the level of the beast that is satisfied to eat and sleep, content that his wants are gratified regardless of the results for the next generation. We have gotten much from those that have gone before, let us do more for those that are to come after. Let us stamp out this pernicious doctrine that "our God is our belly" and teach that other, more noble sentiment that the greatest blessings that can come to man is the opportunity to serve his fellowman. That it is not all of life to live. That we must live for others if we fulfill the destinies of the race.

Let us exemplify Horace Mann's standard of an American statesman: "In our country and in our times no man is worthy the honored name of statesman who does not include the highest practicable education of the people in all his plans of administration. He may have eloquence, he may have a knowledge of all history, diplomacy, jurisprudence; and by these he might claim, in other countries, the elevated rank of a statesman; but unless he speaks, plans, labors, at all times and in all places, for the culture and edification of the whole people, he is not, he cannot be, an American statesman." H. E. DAWES.

NEW BUSINESS $1,325,000

INTERESTING INTERVIEW WITH B. H. ROBISON, PRESIDENT, SHOWING THE RAPID GROWTH OF THE

BANKERS RESERVE LIFE

Nebraska's Greatest Home Life Insurance Company—Nearly $5,000,000 Now at Risk.

"What do you say to this?" said B. H. Robison, the well known president of the Bankers Reserve Life Association, to a representative of the Bee a few days ago.

As the gentleman spoke he handed the reporter a bulletin issued July 1 for the information of policy holders and the public. Here are contents of the bulletin:

New business since January 1, 1902	$1,325,000
Premiums received since January 1, 1902	$1,466
Death claims incurred and paid	5,000
Reinsurance thereon received	2,500
Net death losses sustained and paid	2,500
Death claims reported and losses unpaid	None
Insurance in force	4,675,500
Net gain since Dec. 31, 1901	1,269,000

The reporter said in answer to Mr. Robison's inquiry that he thought the showing very remarkable.

"This company is now five years old. The first two and one-half years of its existence under the old insurance law of Nebraska were comparatively uneventful. From the time when the company entered the field as a stipulated premium company, in October, 1900, under the present stipulated premium law, its real growth begins.

"In two years and a half this company has written upon carefully selected lives over $4,000,000. The year 1902 is now half over. We have written, as the report shows, $1,325,000 this year. Our report for December 31, 1902, will show $3,000,000 at least for the year.

"Unless some unforeseen financial disaster destroys the business prosperity has written upon carefully selected lives will be a $10,000,000 company in 1903.

"Note the small number of deaths and the small number of losses. Observe, too, the reinsurance item which shows how conservatively we are managing our business.

"The death losses have been promptly paid on presentation of final proofs. All other obligations have been settled with like promptness. We do not owe a dollar for death losses or any other purpose that is unpaid.

"The bulletin does not tell us, however, the fact, but any business man knows that our assets are building up proportionately with the growth of the company's business. The Bankers Reserve Life Association is one of the permanent fiduciary institutions of the west—safe, secure and prosperous.

"We have the loyal support of the leading citizens in every county and section of the west, especially of our own state. The people extend liberal patronage, are vitally interested in the rapid growth and future prosperity of the BANKERS RESERVE LIFE ASSN."

Public Ownership of Railways

According to Henry V. Poor, in his Manual of Railroads for 1884, the average cost per mile of the railroads in the United States did not exceed $30,000. Accepting that estimate, the 173,703 miles in the United States, according to the report of the interstate commerce commission of December, 1895, represented $5,381,240,000. Instead of $10,706,478,813. That is the capitalization was more than one-half water.

If the government bought the roads at their cost value by issuing bonds, and paid interest at 3 per cent on the bonds, the annual charge would be $160,000,000. In the depressed year ending June 30, 1894, the gross earnings of the roads were $1,073,361,707; gross expenses, $731,414,322; net profit, $341,947,375. Subtracting the interest from this, the nation could pay the interest on the bonds and clear $180,000,000 a year, which applied to a sinking fund would pay off the principal in 30 years and enable the nation, without a dollar's expense, to have a net income of $340,000,000 annually. This is based on the depressed profits of 1894 and making no allowance for economy, through nationalization, which is estimated at hundreds of millions of dollars, nor for putting the sinking fund at interest.—The Challenge.

The painful truth is that Dewey's present explanation discredits his own intelligence and his ability to serve his government. It leaves him in a much worse position than he had occupied. For him to have repeatedly told his government in the summer of 1898 that the Filipinos were far more capable than the Cubans of self-government, without explaining that he considered neither race capable of it, must have been so misleading that no officer in his right mind could have been capable of such an inept performance. The government was entitled to his whole opinion, not simply to one-half of it; and it was the good officer's part to be candid or be silent. Admiral Dewey's best friends are those who decline to accept the so-called explanation wheeled out of him by Senator Beveridge, since it stamps his suggestions to the government as lacking either in ordinary intelligence or in common candor.—Springfield Republican.

The Painful Truth

The painful truth is that Dewey's present explanation discredits his own intelligence and his ability to serve his government. It leaves him in a much worse position than he had occupied. For him to have repeatedly told his government in the summer of 1898 that the Filipinos were far more capable than the Cubans of self-government, without explaining that he considered neither race capable of it, must have been so misleading that no officer in his right mind could have been capable of such an inept performance. The government was entitled to his whole opinion, not simply to one-half of it; and it was the good officer's part to be candid or be silent. Admiral Dewey's best friends are those who decline to accept the so-called explanation wheeled out of him by Senator Beveridge, since it stamps his suggestions to the government as lacking either in ordinary intelligence or in common candor.—Springfield Republican.

Honor of the Army

Senator Patterson is right. General Merritt should now be asked to confirm or deny Admiral Dewey's statement that the engagement which preceded the surrender of Manila was a mock battle arranged to "save the face" of the Spanish general. General Merritt commanded the land forces at that time, and there could have been no such arrangement unless he had been a party to it. If he should deny Dewey's story, the matter would end, and Dewey would find it necessary, as against Merritt, to sustain himself by documentary or other evidence. If Merritt should acknowledge the truth of Dewey's statement, then he would deserve to be court-martialed, if the statute of limitations did not protect him.

It requires no courage to say that to arrange a mock battle with an enemy in war and then pass it along into history as the real thing is a highly dishonorable act, vastly discreditable to the army and the country. Much has been heard of late about attacking the army; but never has there been a severer attack upon the honor of the army than the statement made by Admiral Dewey. For the sake of American history, which should tell the truth, the president should at least order a court of inquiry whose duty it should be to sift this matter to the bottom.—Springfield Republican.

Noah's Ark Found

W. A. Reid, secretary of the Skagway Young Men's Christian association, has returned to Tacoma, Wash., from the interior of Alaska, where he talked with the Indians, whose earliest statements confirm various reports that the Indians of the lower Yukon have discovered an immense petrified ship on Porcupine river, near the Arctic circle and north of Rampart, Alaska. When asked regarding its size, the Indians traced its dimensions on the ground, indicating a length of 1,200 feet. Such Indians as are familiar with the Bible are convinced that the ship is none other than Noah's ark. Reid intends to return to the interior of Alaska this summer, when he will take some Indians and request army officers to detail soldiers to accompany him. The ship lies on a high hill, thousands of feet above the sea level.

Custer County Chief: The fusion ticket nominated at Grand Island last week is probably as strong as any ticket ever placed before the people of the state. No democrat or populist who has the best interest of the state at heart can do other than give it the most enthusiastic support. In the past the word "fusion" has operated on some of our pops and democrats very much like a smallpox placard, but as the people have become more thoroughly convinced that the only way to wrest the hand of monopoly from our state government, the fusion movement has gained until now it is almost unanimous in the two parties that stand for reform.

Butcher Smith

General Smith, the butcher of Samar, is apparently to escape without as much as a reprimand for his infamous orders to make a "howling" of Samar and "kill everybody" over 10 years old in that region. His counsel admitted that he gave the orders, which were only too faithfully carried out. General Smith does not belong, by nature or disposition, to the American army. The sultan or the sirdar could give him congenial work in warring upon women and children. Why does Mr. Roosevelt, himself a brave gentleman, give countenance to such swashbucklers as Smith and Fustun?—Boston Pilot.

Republicans never ceased to howl about the trouble among officers of the Beatrice institute, during Governor Poynter's term. Now the republicans are having trouble in the same institution, and the steward has been forced out. Besides the row at Beatrice, Dr. J. T. Mallalieu is said to have been forced out of the reform school at Kearney for reasons which the republicans dare not make public, though the reasons therefore are known to others and will be made public in due time. It is undoubtedly true that friction cannot always be avoided, but the hypocritical gang that was to redeem Nebraska is certainly showing its incompetence in a way not unexpected. The state's penal and charitable institutions were never so deplorably managed as they are to day with one or two exceptions, and though the fact is well known in the places where such institutions are located, little is said of it, for many reasons. But the truth will come out.—Hastings Democrat.

A MYSTERIOUS APPEARANCE

IN THE QUIET LITTLE VILLAGE OF WILSEY, KANSAS

A Strange Event With a More Wonderful Sequel—Its Effect on the After-Life of One Woman

About six years ago a stranger, a woman, came to the little village of Wilsey, Kansas, to live. This was the important link in a chain of events which set the whole town wondering. Mrs. Rachael A. Gardner, the person whose life was most affected by it, told the story.

"It was very strange," she says. "I never could tell what caused it and neither could anybody else. For a long time I had bad spells with my stomach. The pain would commence about my heart and was so deadly agonizing that I would have to scream aloud. Sometimes it would last several hours and I would have to take laudanum to stop it. Besides this I had a headache almost constantly, day and night, that nearly crazed me and hemorrhages caused by the change of life, so you see I suffered a great deal. And when I think of the agony it still makes me shudder.

"Doctors, did you say? Their medicine made me sicker. I couldn't take it and I kept growing worse until this lady came to our village. She advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I did. I only took half a box before I began to feel better and after taking the rest, was wholly converted to this wonderful medicine. It did me more good than I had ever hoped for. I kept on with the pills and now I recommend them to all who suffer."

"The pills which cured Mrs. Gardner have accomplished as wonderful results in hundreds and hundreds of other cases just as severe. They are an unfailing specific for locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and salivary complexion and all forms of weakness either in male or female. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold at all druggists, or will be sent direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., postpaid, on receipt of price, fifty cents per box; six boxes for two dollars and a half. Send for free booklet of medical advice.

Long after the populists had the demand for the referendum in their platforms this writer heard a United States senator ask at the Riggs House in Washington, in a jocular way, it is true, while he evidently wanted information on the subject: "What is this thing they call the referendum?" Is it something that they keep in the country stores to sell to populists?" Now a proposed amendment to the constitution in the state of Massachusetts received 111 votes in favor of it to 99 against, after a long debate. It was not a two-thirds majority, but it shows that even Massachusetts republicans have been to school to populists and how truly the populist party leads in the advanced thought of the nation. The republicans of Massachusetts have learned some more things besides that from the populists. A bill to change the law of injunction, so that trials for contempt of court should be before a jury was only beaten by five votes. The first attack on government by injunction in a political platform was made in a state populist convention in Nebraska and the motion to put it in the platform was made by Father Snyder. After the cultured citizens of Massachusetts go to school to populism a few years more, we may look for reform in that state.

Impatient to See

The arrival of Buffalo Bill's Wild West on August 1 will be a memorable event for this city. A good many of our people have already seen its brilliant and exciting performances in places farthest east, some of them journeying considerable distances to do so, and their reports have made the rest of us somewhat impatient to share their experience. And, as the proverb says, "everything comes to him who waits," our time comes at last.

We are pretty good judges, out this way, of Indians, broncos, cowboys, cavalrymen and western girls and we want to see how Col. Cody (Buffalo Bill) and Nate Salsbury have arranged those components so as to give with them a show that has won the enthusiastic plaudits of the larger part of the civilized world. Of course, they have had a good deal of help from Col. Cody's "Congress of Rough Riders of the World," some of whom are said to be first-class astonishers, and from the Atlantic Coast Life-Savers and many other novel features, but natural pride in what we can claim as our own inclines us to take most interest in the really Wild Western part of the show. However, it's all great.

On July 1, Mr. Ed. Saar, of Glenwood, Ia., had on the South Omaha market a mixed bunch of Hereford steers and heifers, which were not finished, but had been on feed eight months, that sold for $7.65 per cwt., the highest price ever paid there for that kind of stock. He was very well pleased with his treatment in every way. The shipment was handled by the well known commission firm of Nye & Buchanan Co.

The Real Question

The railroads of Nebraska are sending out circulars in all directions by which they try to show how much heavier they are taxed than railroads in other states. We don't question this at all. But they fail to explain how much heavier the people of Nebraska are taxed than those of other states. The people of Nebraska are anxious to know how much the railroads are taxed compared with that of the people. On that point the railroads are silent.—Rising City Independent.

The government in the hands of republicans means the death of competition in all the leading industries. It prohibits competition in steel and iron and hands the whole business over to the steel trust by imposing a tariff on those products of about 40 per cent. That has enabled the steel trust to make a profit, according to its last report, of $64,000,000 during the last six months. In view of this, Mr. Dewey says: "Let well enough alone." Dave Hill says: "I am opposed to any radical changes in the tariff." Dave means it, too, for he saw to it when in the United States senate that 900 amendments were tacked onto the Wilson tariff bill.

Dewey in his memorandum given to the first Philippine committee says he wanted Aguinaldo's help. There is no doubt about that and that he wanted it bad. He turned over to Aguinaldo for safe-keeping several thousand Spanish prisoners. The Red Cross society of Spain has recently sent to Aguinaldo a gold medal in recognition of his kindness and humanity in the treatment of the prisoners. Dewey says that Aguinaldo is a loot and a robber, which, if he believes that, disgraces the admiral forever, for in that case the admiral was guilty of turning over to a robber United States prisoners to be looted and robbed.

It is officially announced from New York that Mr. Hill desires that the coming campaign should be fought on the tariff as the paramount issue, but is opposed to any radical change in the tariff. Hill and the Minnesota republicans seem to be drawing to the same pair of deuces. The Minnesota republicans are in favor of reciprocity, but declined because it was beaten and Hill wants tariff reform without changing the tariff.

Teddy says that he is going to fight the trusts. At the same time Teddy seems engaged in organizing the greatest combination on earth. It is a mutual admiration society composed of himself, his cabinet and General Wood. When Teddy gets on the stand and goes to telling about that wonderful combination, the world stands still.

Havemyer is not the big man in the sugar business any more. He never did sugar deeds as the redoubtable Oxnard has performed. Oxnard has downed two presidents and taken the republican party by the throat and choked it into obedience to his orders. When did Havemyer or Searls ever perform such deeds as that?

The Fourth of July pardon proclamation of the president in silence by the telegrams say, was received in silence by a small crowd of Filipinos who had gathered to hear it. Aguinaldo has not yet left the house where he was confined. All the remark that he made was that he would shortly take a trip; where, he did not say.

Making a Filipino swear allegiance and then bragging about it is about as silly a performance as any government ever indulged in. Allegiance is not secured in that way and boasting over a victory obtained by a great nation over a small and weak one is not indulged in by men of sense.

He Will That

Ollie James made a big hit before the Nebraska democratic convention. He went to Nebraska upon an invitation from the democratic committee of that state. James will also make his presence and influence felt in the national house of representatives.—Owensburg (Ky.) Messenger.

Those who have not had time to read the long speeches of our peregrinating president can rely on the following condensation as containing the gist of all of them: "Me and my cabinet, Wood and Taft, us and no more. Amen."
