TRUTH ABOUT CHICAGO

The Chicago garment workers' strike was fully terminated on the 13th, when a final agreement was announced between the firm of Hart, Schaffner & Marx and its employes. By the terms of the agreement the workers are granted practically every concession for which they fought for months, and the unionists are jubilant over the outcome. The settlement was to have been made by an arbitration board of three members, but was finally reached through conferences between the members of the firm, the employes, Attorney Carl Meyer, for the firm, and Clarence Darrow, for the employes. President Thomas A. Rickert of the United Garment Workers of America, Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the Women's Trade Union league, and John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, were present at every meeting. Certain increases of wages were granted and maximum hours of labor per week were agreed to. Rest-rooms are to be provided for women employes. Also, any employe has a right to present his grievances to the firm, either personally or through a body of his fellow workmen, and should an adjustment fail to be reached through this medium a standing arbitration board, consisting of Attorney Meyer and Darrow, has been appointed for two years as the final court of appeal. —Chicago Public.
