

Sign the Bill, Governor!

The Sunday baseball bill has passed the legislature and is now up to the governor for veto or approval. Will Maupin's Weekly hopes that Governor Aldrich will be big enough and broad enough to approve the bill. The opposition of certain churchmen and church women is based upon a fallacy. Innocent amusement on the Lord's day is not only not inful but is really good. Especially is this true of those whose condition in life prevents them from enjoying innocent amusements upon any other day of the week. Time and again this newspaper has asserted, and it now repeats, that until the church of Jesus Christ provides the workers with a mid-week half holiday without loss of pay, it has no moral right to deny to those workers an opportunity to enjoy the pleasant things of life upon the only day of the week vouchsafed to them. If the church, after two thousand years of effort, has not succeeded in making men moral by force of precept and example, it illy become it now to seek the assistance of legislative enactment and a writ of the courts. To do so is a confession of failure.

The working men and working women of this country find it difficult enough to provide for their needs by working six days a week. To deny them the ordinary pleasures of life because such enjoyment must, perforce, be had upon Sunday, is wrong in principle, wrong in morals and wrong in theory. It belongs in the same category as burning at the stake for refusal to accept the established religion, or kissing one's own life upon the Sabbath day. To deny men the right to spend their rest day as they see fit, subject to the rights of others, is the first step towards compelling men to spend their rest day as others see fit.

In the name of the thousand of toilers whose only holiday and rest day is the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday; in the name of fair play and freedom of thought and action, and in the name of commonsense, Will Maupin's Weekly asks Governor Aldrich to approve the Sunday baseball bill as it has passed through both branches of the legislature.

Keep Cool and Sweet

The primaries are over and the candidates have been nominated. Now, for heaven's sake—and for the sake of Lincoln—let's fight out this excise question with good nature and in all friendship, with an eye single to the best interests of Lincoln and without personalities or recrimination. This city will not go to hell if we have saloons, nor will it be a heaven on earth if saloons are kept out. Saloons will not make the city prosperous; neither will they bankrupt it, morally or financially. The absence of saloons will not change human nature, nor will it make the city grow or hamper its growth. The men who honestly believe that license and regulation are the best methods of handling the liquor problem are not all "saloon bums" and advance agents of Satan; neither are all the opponents of license and regulation moral exemplars or saints ready for translation and transfiguration. Let's keep sweet and keep cool!

Some Butler Figures

Five million pounds of butter! Some butter, that. And yet the Beatrice Creamery Co., contracted to supply that amount to a Connecticut man inside of the next few months, and never batted an eye in making the dicker. The Beatrice Creamery Co. can make that much butter in less than three months, yet the product would fill 277 freight cars and make a train of butter more than three miles long. And five million pounds of butter represents less than 15 per cent of the capacity of this immense creamery plant. Talk about your gold production—why Nebraska's production of golden butter each year is worth twice as much as the gold production of any state or territory of this republic! Why go to Alaska and undergo all sorts of hardships and then stand nine chances in ten of failing to find the precious metal? Just build up a herd of dairy cows, feed them on Nebraska grain and grasses, and let them mint them into golden butter. As a gold producer the Nebraska dairy cow has got the mines of Alaska and California skinned both ways from the ace. How many people in Nebraska are aware of the fact that Nebraska's output of butter in 1910 was worth $11,000,000 more than the sugar production of the United States during the same year? Let's get wise to what we really have in Nebraska. And let us make it our business to acquaint the whole world with the truth about this wonderful state.

Welcome to Nebraska

A large slice of Union county, S. D., has wandered over into Nebraska and shows signs of remaining here. The slice came because the erratic Missouri river cut a new channel. That part of Union county and her people who now find themselves in Nebraska ought to feel grateful to the Missouri river. It has located them in a far better state than South Dakota may ever hope to be, and numbers them among the most intelligent and progressive people in the world. The old Missouri has cut some pretty means capers, and inflicted great injury upon numerous people, but in this case it has benefitted a lot of people while adding to the area of Nebraska. Welcome to Union county!
