A Good Order for Good People

What is a Good Samaritan?

A man or woman whose heart overflows with the milk of human kindness; who is the soul of hospitality; the pulse and throb of good will, and a benefactor of the human race. One whose life is a silver stream flowing into the dark and troubled ocean of humanity, and like the Gulf Stream, a warm and soothing current, melting the frigid nature and bearing the Pilgrim on his frail bark to the haven of rest and reward.

The good ship Hospitality is about to sail for the port of Humanity.

A tried and dauntless captain with a brave and hardy crew are awaiting your arrival and will gladly welcome you. All tickets first-class.

Bacon's Rule for Study.

Lord Bacon laid down the rule that in our studies we should select those things that please us most, because we then develop our talents, and all the things that displease us most, because then we discipline the mind. He insisted, furthermore, that the latter studies are the more important of the two. It would be well to have these old truths recalled, revived and re-taught. They should be put back not only into our public schools but into our national life.

Vastness of the Ocean.

To stow away the contents of the Pacific ocean it would be necessary to fill a tank one mile long, one mile wide, and one mile deep every day for 440 years. The figures of the other oceans are in the same startling proportions. It would take all the sea water in the world 2,000,000 years to flow over Niagara.

Taking Grease Spots From Woolens.

For a mixture that is excellent for removing grease spots from woolens, use an ounce of pulverized borax, half an ounce of gum camphor and a quart of boiling water. Bottle the mixture and shake well before using.

Shopping Up to Date.

"No, none of these hats suggest my personality at all. You see, I'm a great racegoer, adore drama, read classics in the original, sympathize with the woman's movement, travel a good deal, and am intensely temperamental. The hat I want must convey all this."

Argument for Vegetarianism.

Vegetarianism has been claimed as a part of the wisdom of the east, and it clearly has its uses, for two centuries ago an Edinburgh physician who weighed 32 stone "by regular adherence to this regimen reduced his weight to almost a third, became strong, cheerful, active and healthy."

Making One Look Small.

To be mistaken for a deer is sufficiently humiliating, but when one is potted for a partridge, as happened a Quebec guide, it's making him look small indeed.

U Joy!

More Persimmons—Wal, I just borried money enough to git de license! Now I hab'n't got no worry about till my dock due!—Puck.

Moving Stairways.

The advantages of moving stairways include the following: (a) There is no waiting. (b) The service is continuous throughout traffic hours. (c) Passengers are carried practically to the point of their destination, and the necessity for long connecting passageways is thus avoided. (d) Moving stairways can deliver the same number of people for a short or long rise, whereas with lifts the capacity is dependent on the number of lifts and the depths of the shafts. (e) In case of breakdown passengers can walk up a moving stairway as up an ordinary staircase.

Bursting With Self-Importance.

"What is the matter with Jones? He used to be a modest sort of fellow, but lately he seems almost bursting with self-importance." "Haven't you heard? Mrs. Jones is suing another woman for alienating his affections, and put the damages at fifty thousand dollars."—Judge.

Perish the Thought of Proofs.

"Wait a moment," said the budding novelist. "I will show you the proofs of my novel." But the other hastened away. "No, no," he said. "I don't need proofs. Your word is enough."

A. M. MORRISSEY.

Candidate for the Democratic Nomination for Attorney General, at the Primaries April 19th, 1912.

From the spring of 1898 to the fall of 1911, Mr. Morrissey was engaged in the practice of the law at Valentine, the county seat of Cherry county, and during the first four years of that time, he was the county attorney of that county. At the expiration of his second term, he declined to hold the office longer and engaged in private practice. As prosecuting officer of this big county he met and tried cases against many of the foremost lawyers of the profession, his reputation as a trial lawyer spread into the adjoining counties and for the past ten years he has been rated as one of the most successful men at the bar. In the summer of 1911 he gave up his residence at Valentine and removed to Lincoln, where he is now engaged in the practice of his profession.

He was a delegate to the last democratic national convention and has a wide acquaintance with the party workers of the state. His friends believe that his nomination will greatly strengthen the state ticket, as he is the only man who has fled who is representative of the western end of the state, and this, together with his high standing as a lawyer, will help to round out a ticket that will appeal to the voters next fall.

He is a native of the state of New York, but has lived for twenty years in western Nebraska and may be said to be one of the pioneers of the state.

Wanted It Located.

At an inquest in Ellinwood a doctor was testifying: "Where did the motor car strike him?" the coroner asked. "At the junction of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae," replied the medicine man. "Will you please point that out on the map?" said the coroner, pointing to a map of Barton county on the wall.—Kansas City Star.

Odd Nest.

A curious freak on the part of wasps was recently discovered in Maryland. The wasps were noticed going in and out of a lock that secured a workshop door. The owner of the shop had the lock removed to satisfy his curiosity about the doings of the busy workers. He found a nest inside. The cells were made of mud and were full of larvae. There were several dead wasps inside the lock. As the lock was in daily use, the wasps could not have had a peaceful home.

Chinese Delicacies.

The Chinese have several tastes in which we do not join. The beche de mer is one of these, a big sort of a wormlike creature that is fished up out of the Pacific for his especial benefit. Sharks' fins also are in demand. These are saved by Pacific islanders everywhere and sold to traders who collect them for the Chinese market. The bird's nest soup is a well-known delicacy. The nests are among the most expensive articles of food to be paid for anywhere.

Millionaire's Humor.

Baron Gustave de Rothschild had a pleasant mixture of caution and waggery. Once while in the synagogue his neighbor suddenly plucked him by the sleeve and whispered hoarsely, "I have come away this morning without locking the safe!" "Don't worry," replied Rothschild, looking round at the vast congregation, "we are all of us here!"

Somewhat Rough on the Fish.

The Japanese have a novel way of keeping fish fresh for use. You go into the restaurant and pick out your own fish in the tank. If there is more fish than you want the chef cuts off a piece to fit and returns the rest to the tank to swim about till wanted.

Abbreviated.

Words, says the Houston Post, should never be subjected to abbreviation save when it is appropriately done. "Xmas" is almost criminal. If you find abbreviation necessary, write it "Xmas," and you will have it about right.

Baltimore's Experience.

The more you hear about what boomers is going to do the more you don't hear about what he is going to work and did.—Sun.

What Could She Mean?

Miss Oldgirl—"When I am doing serious work I hate to have a lot of men hanging around bothering me." Miss Pert—"You do a great deal of serious work, do you not?"—Baltimore American.

Through the Swiss Mountains.

At Beviex (Old Bex), among the Alps, the railroad passes the rock salt mines, from which the Swiss government procures most of the salt whose sale is a government monopoly, and often sold only by the local postmaster, who deals not only in stamps, but in salt. At this point a toothed rail is brought into play, and the gradient rapidly increases, as the cars pass through woods of walnuts and chestnuts, here an important item of the diet and income of their owners.

Had a Practical Mind.

An English Sabbath school teacher was laboring away on the subject of eternal punishment. One small girl sat so entranced by her lurid descriptions of fire, and brimstone that the teacher was much encouraged until transfixed by the explanatory question of: "Please, teacher, what becomes of all the smoke?"

When Walls Are Damp.

The walls of cupboards and pantries are often damp on wet or sultry days without apparent reason when other sections of the kitchen wall will be comparatively dry. The best device for any wall that is inclined to "damp" is to make it impervious to moisture by applying a varnish of one part shellac and two parts naphtha.

Frehman Knew.

It was reported to Charles Frohman that one of his most prosperous male stars was in a fair way of getting married. "I don't believe it," answered the manager, who is himself a confirmed single man; "he will escape; he was always a good fighter."

For the Darkness Draws Near.

If a man have the truth in him, the thought of his own death as an ever-present possibility will, far from paralyzing effort, drive him to a more faithful performance of duty. As the poet says, "then let him turn today."—Exchange.

The Real Puzzle.

The puzzle is not whether Bacon or Shakespeare wrote the plays, but that one person could get them all accepted.

Gas.

Mrs. Bacon—"The man was here today, dear, looking for the gas leak." Mr. Bacon—"And did he find it?" "Yes, but they haven't found the man yet."—Statesman.

Real Trouble About Reform.

"I specks," said Uncle Eben, "dat reform would be a heap easier if dar wasn't so many different people kickin' 'bout so many different things."
