

S. R. McKELVIE, Candidate for Lieut.-Governor

Born and Reared on a Nebraska Farm
 Publisher of The Nebraska Farmer—"Nebraska's Real Farm Paper"

S. R. McKelvie has filed for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor. He is young in years but old in business experience. He was one of the youngest members of the last legislature, and he made a splendid record. His chances for securing the nomination are growing better every day.—Hastings Tribune.

Another young man who should not be forgotten in this busy political year is our friend, S. R. McKelvie of Lincoln, a progressive, who is a candidate for lieutenant governor on the republican ticket. McKelvie is a live wire, one of the very few good men in the last, late lamented legislature and a man of whom his many friends are very proud. He should get the nomination.—Nebraska City Press.

Representative S. R. McKelvie of Lincoln has filed as a candidate for lieutenant governor on the republican ticket, subject to the state primaries next April. He is the first candidate to make a formal declaration for that office on that ticket. He is identified with the progressive element of his party. Mr. McKelvie served in the last legislature from Lancaster county, being one of the youngest house members. He was identified with all measures before the legislature affecting agricultural interests. He also introduced and pushed a bill to appropriate $25,000 for state advertising, but did not succeed in getting it passed. Some years ago Mr. McKelvie was a member of the Lincoln city council, holding that place for a part of one term. The candidate for lieutenant governor has been prominent in the Ad Club movement, and is now president of the northwestern division of the National Association of Ad Clubs. He is also president of the Nebraska Publicity League, which works in harmony with the clubs. He was president of the Lincoln Ad Club last year. Mr. McKelvie is the publisher of the Nebraska Farmer, having been identified with that paper for the last seven years.—The Lincoln Daily Star.

In a recent issue of the Sun we called attention to the candidacy of S. R. (Roy) McKelvie for lieutenant governor. We notice in our exchanges that he is becoming a favorite in many parts of the state. His wide acquaintance through his publication of the Nebraska Farmer, and his activity in the legislature last winter, will be strong factors in his favor, and we predict that the fact of his being a Clay Center product, and the high standing of the McKelvie family here, will make his name a household word among our people.—Clay Center Sun.

Swindled Out of $100,000,000.

Washington.—The result of a year's crusade against get-rich-quick schemers, who have been using the United States mails in the consummation of their schemes, has exposed to the inspectors of the postoffice department, and through them to the public, a distinct line of new criminals. An estimate made by Postmaster General Hitchcock shows that the American public has been, within the last year, swindled out of $100,000,000 through the illegitimate business of this class of criminals.

Dr. Wiley Will Lecture.

New York.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley has closed a contract to give 100 lectures next season. The tour will begin in October and will include engagements from Maine to California.

Nebraska Man Drops Dead.

Logansport, Ind.—Samuel Cotner, general manager of the Bankers Life Insurance company of Omaha, Neb., an active supporter of Cotner university, near Lincoln, dropped dead here Friday from joy at seeing his aged sister, Mrs. Mary Barnett.

Heaviest Snowfall of Winter.

Winnebago, Man.—Ten inches of snow fell in Manitoba Saturday night. It is the heaviest fall during the winter. Seeding will be delayed for several days.

Statue for Naval Hero.

Washington.—Impressive military and civic exercises will mark the official dedication two weeks hence of the memorial erected in Potomac park to John Paul Jones.

In the interest of small cattle and sheep growers, President Taft has issued an order designated to break up the monopoly maintained by cattle and sheep kings on springs and small streams in the great Salt Lake desert in western Utah.

Mexico City.—Rebel forces were routed from the city of Juchitán, Morelos, an important commercial center, Tuesday, and 500 of their number were killed in the battle, according to dispatches.

No other event holds as much of speculative interest in the Mexican political situation as the arrival at the City of Mexico of Francisco Leon de la Barra after an absence of four and one-half months.

Lancaster.—Continually alone in his solitary cell in the hospital building at the penitentiary, Charles Morley, the only one of the three desperadoes who was taken alive after their recent escape from the prison, spends his time reading or gazing at his prison walls. Morley's nerves are in better condition than they were at the time he was brought back to the prison. Then they were badly shattered; now they are improved, but he is still nervous.

Players Awarded N's.

Seven Cornhusker basketball tossers were awarded the honor "N" at a meeting of the Nebraska athletic board at the state university Wednesday night. The following are the names of the players: Captain Frank Carrier, Stryker, Hiltner, Haskell, Nagl and Underwood.

P. F. ZIMMER

Republican Candidate for the Nomination for State Senator from Lancaster County Primaries April 19, 1912.

What the leading business men of Lincoln, irrespective of party politics, say of Mr. Zimmer:

"We, the undersigned business men and voters of Lincoln and Lancaster county, heartily endorse the filing of the name of P. F. Zimmer for the Legislature for the office of State Senator from this county. Mr. Zimmer is a thoroughly honest and reliable gentleman as well as a heavy taxpayer of this county, and is, we believe, capable to fill the position for which his name has been filed."

There is no candidate for the Legislature from this county who could possibly have a stronger endorsement than the one given to Mr. Zimmer from the above well known business men of his home town, who have known him for the past fifteen years.

Mr. Zimmer is a wide-awake young business man, born on a farm near Detroit, Michigan, of German parents, forty-one years ago. At the age of nineteen he started out in life to complete his education and earn his own living, in which he has been very successful, which is evidenced from the fact that he has paid upwards of $3,000 in taxes in Lincoln and Lancaster county in the past ten years. He is in every respect a self-made man, as every dollar he is worth he has accumulated from his own labors. On the date of the primaries, April 19th, it will be just twenty years since Mr. Zimmer left his home to come to Nebraska; since that time he has covered probably more miles of country roads in Nebraska than any other man in the state, so that he knows the needs of the people of the entire state in regard to legislation probably better than most men elected to make our laws, and being thoroughly progressive in his views, having fought for the direct primaries, and is a firm believer in the initiative and referendum, which if adopted by the voters at the next election will place in the hands of the people the power to make or repeal the laws that govern them.

He has also signed statement No. 1 agreeing to vote for the people's choice for United States Senator to be elected from this district during the next session of the Legislature.

BLUE LIGHT AN ANESTHETIC

Eastern Scientist Has Demonstrated the Fact in a Thorough Series of Experiments.

"One of the most remarkable actions of light has recently come to our attention," says the editor of the Journal of Surgery. "In an address before the Boston Physio-Therapeutic society Dr. E. C. Titus has demonstrated that blue light possessed remarkable anesthetic power.

"In his experiments he used a series of slender glass rods about one-eighth of an inch in thickness, placed side by side and tied together so as to form a kind of flexible mat which will adapt itself to various parts of the body. The glass must be of cobalt blue and transmit no red rays, this being a very important point. The rods are to be placed upon the area to be anesthetized, and some form of white light, preferably a tungsten lamp, brought as closely as possible without causing discomfort.

"Strange to relate, in twenty minutes the part becomes insensitive, so that superficial and even deep incisions or punctures are no longer felt. This anesthesia lasts for one-half hour or more, and has occurred so constantly that there is no reason to believe that it is the result of suggestion or accident. Minor surgical operations have been performed under this method and without the least pain or discomfort, and there seems to be enough in it to merit attention.

"More than thirty years ago there prevailed what was afterwards termed the blue glass craze. All sorts of ailments were thought to be amenable to the action of blue light, and the newspapers were filled with glowing accounts of cures. Enthusiasm ran riot for a time and then the matter dropped out of sight.

"Some time later there was a revival of interest in phototherapy when Finson demonstrated the curative properties of the ultra-violet ray in various affections, especially lupus. Since then the physiological action of light has been carefully investigated and although much remains to be learned, there can be no doubt that we are nearer to an appreciation of its possibilities in the treatment of disease."

Our Life's Story.

Very often the success which attended our early efforts turns its back upon us in later years, and while for a time we may try to continue in detail the story of our alternate hopes and fears, our victories and our defeats, we soon realize that the record is a sorry one, and we feel ashamed to continue its recountal. We forget the early promises we made to be sincere in the matter of making up our record, and because the story is not one of unalloyed success and prosperity we grow disloyal to our better selves and believe that by making no further entries in our diaries we bring them to a close. Just as we recall to memory in later years, however, the small volumes of our early youth, with their interrupted stories, we are prone also to look deeply into the record we have written in the real diary of life. It was Barrie who said that "the life of every man is a diary in which he means to write one story and writes another, and his humblest hour is when he compares the volume as it is with what he vowed to make it."

We cannot release ourselves from the obligation of writing the diary of our lives. We make the records whether we are willing or not, and for each hour and day of the year of life given to us here on earth there is a faithful entry made.—Charleston News and Courier.

British Island Reclaimed by Dutch.

Canvey Island, which is again coming into prominence in connection with the proposal to establish a great wharf there, is one of the pieces of England which were reclaimed for us by the Dutch. At one period the island was covered with water at high tide, but early in the seventeenth century Cornelius Vermuyden, the famous Dutch engineer, who was afterward knighted by Charles I, reclaimed several thousand acres by the construction of a system of seawalls. The walls are still there, but where are the Dutchmen who made them? Cornelius Vermuyden brought over workmen from Holland and many are known to have stayed here, but now their names have disappeared entirely, from Canvey at least.—Westminster Gazette.

The Aftermath.

The great ball had been given, and Mrs. Noovo was running over the bills with her husband. When it was found that they totaled $10,000 Mr. Noovo winced.

"By ginger, Maria!" he ejaculated, "ten thousand dollars is a pile of money."

"We have to do it, Silas, to get into society," replied Mrs. Noovo.

"Well," said the old man, scratching his head, "judgin' from results it don't seem to me that we're gettin' into society quite so much as society is gettin' into us."—Harper's Weekly.

Boy Got the Penny.

At a country school in the Midlands the head master said: "Now, boys, I will give a penny to the first lad who can ask me a question which I cannot answer."

Several tried unsuccessfully, until one boy asked him: "Please, sir, if you stood up to your neck in soft mud and I threw a stone at your head, would you duck?"

The question remained unanswered.—Ideas.

WOOL BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

ADVOCATES IN HOUSE DISPLAY THEIR STRENGTH.

To Add to Fighting Strength of Mexican Army—Will Not Cut Government Revenue—Eddy Case Settled.

Washington.—The democratic wool bill passed the house, 189 to 92, with twenty progressive republicans voting for it. Representative Rucker of Colorado, who opposed in debate and answered "present" on the roll call, and Representative Francis of Ohio, who voted against it, were the only democrats who did not line up with the majority. Representative Payne moved to recommit the bill with instructions to the committee to report the republican substitute, but that was lost, 169 to 108. Supporters of the bill declared it would not cut the government's revenue, but would save more than $50,000,000 a year to consumers because of the readjustment of rates. All of the attempts of the republicans to amend the bill to increase the rates were lost.

OHIO TO HOLD TWO CONVENTIONS

EXPECTED WALKOUT OF MINERS NOW A FACT.

Ohio Republicans Will Hold Two State Conventions—Miners Take a Vacation—Narrow Escape for Senator Gore.

Indianapolis, Ind.—No anthracite or bituminous coal will be taken from the mines for some time by union miners as the result of the suspension which went into effect at midnight Sunday, due to wage troubles. More than 400,000 miners, about 150,000 in the anthracite field and 25,000 in the bituminous, will take a vacation, which probably will last only a few weeks. Different from a strike, the miners will leave pumpmen and others at work to protect the mines from flooding or other trouble due to a shut down of the plants.

The bituminous miners will be out only long enough for the wage agreement, reached in Cleveland, to be ratified by the miners by a referendum vote, as it is believed the agreement will be sanctioned by a large majority of the men. The suspension in the anthracite mines will be of longer duration, as no agreement has yet been reached between the miners and operators.
