THE TRUE SITUATION IN THE SECOND DISTRICT.

J. W. PEARMAN'S FALSEHOODS.

EDITOR ALLIANCE—We are having a warm campaign in the second district. Mr. Harlan's friends, we conclude from their actions, have seen the hand writing on the wall without the aid of a prophet, and it is really awful to witness their depression.

Mud slinging is their only warfare.

The latest thing out is a two leaf pamphlet over which is spread what purports to be an address delivered by one Peaman at a camp-fire entertainment of old soldiers at the late re-union at Superior. In this address he takes occasion to hold up to ridicule a comrade whose character as a soldier he admits he knows nothing about. He also exposes his ignorance as to the aims and objects of the Alliance. He quotes extracts from southern papers and claims that it is certainly true that the southern democrats are working through the Alliance movement north and south to defeat pension legislation by congress.

But upon a careful reading of his extracts one can plainly see no such disposition, but on the contrary can see that some of those democratic Journals have begged the Alliance people both north and south to join with the democrats to accomplish such a purpose.

But the Alliance folks have made no response. On this same sheet we find that he says that the G. A. R. organization is a non-political one, yet he goes on to make a political tirade against our comrade W. A. McKeighan.

But when it is understood that the same man left Nebraska several years ago for reasons not generally known to every one, and established himself in Kansas where he has proved himself a complete success on failures, the reader will be better prepared to appreciate his objects in coming back here as a hoodlum campaigner.

If the vote was taken to-day Judge McKeighan would be elected by 15,000 majority, and they fully realize that fact, hence their desperate efforts. Their cry about this being a democratic move to get away with the g. o. p. has long ceased to be of any consequence in the second, and in a short time Peaman's boomlet will have shared the same fate. Some of their most conservative fellows console themselves by saying that they have only got a stick to run against McKeighan, and unless they beat him by mud-slinging they are hopelessly left out in the cold. Yours for the independent ticket.

ORGAN GRINDER.

A GRAND MEETING IN LANCASTER COUNTY.

EMERALD, NEB., Sep. 24, 1890.

EDITOR ALLIANCE—Desiring that the independents of Nebraska may know that our usually quiet and conservative people are aroused to a sense of their duty, we best leave to report our grand meeting of last evening. The Hon. J. W. Wolfe, our candidate for state treasurer, and Mr. Demaree, candidate for the legislature, spoke to a full house of earnest, attentive listeners. The audience was composed of men of all parties, but the keenest interest was maintained throughout. The practical an incontrovertible arguments of Mr. Wolfe were most convincing. His candid manner and honest face made him a host of friends. The effect of this meeting will be manifest on election day. But there is another power that is weakening the dominant party much more than these demonstrations are. The obnoxious editorial "Clear out the Slanders," in the State Journal of the 14th inst. is detaching more intelligent, self-respecting voters from the vaunted g. o. p. than anything that has been said since the beginning of the world. Many of the farmers of this community are well-to-do and intelligent men, and are most bitter in their denunciation of the attributes "shiftless, lazy and improvident," ascribed to them by the despicable editor of the State Journal. Not only do the "followers of Kem, Powers and McKeighan" denounce this unwarrantable attack upon the sacred rights of the toiler, but honorable republican farmers also express their intense indignation at such inexcusable insult. Such appellations as "paupers, and hogs" and such epithets as "lazy, shiftless and improvident" may not be resented by illiterate and stupid men, but the intelligent of the independents is indignant at these vilifying sheets.

Monsieur Gere's boomerang will react on the 4th of next November much to his consternation.

When this august quill-driver finds his "leaky ship" sinking midway in Salt river, he may cry in grief to the "paupers" and "hogs," the "lazy improvidents" to rescue him. But alas! No one will contaminate himself by rushing to the rescue of one who has "so bofoiled his own nest."

Spike The Guns.

By Mrs. J. T. KELLY.

TUNE—HOLD THE FORT.

Brothers, now the robber's cannon Are upon us turned, Aimed to show that we must give them Bread we justly earned.

CHORUS.

Spike the guns, O friends of labor, And they'll help us be; Pass the word to spike their cannon And we'll soon be free.

Their best cannon are their papers, Armed by money kings; Will you furnish ammunition To defeat their rings?

In this conflict none are neutral, They are friend or foe; If their friends we must support them, Quickly our friends we know.

No friend will ask of us to let him Fight us half the time; He is with us or against us In each page and line.

Then their small guns are the speakers, With foul breath well timed; Keep out of range and you will spike them So they'll do no harm.

From Custer County.

OVER, NEB., Sep. 21, 1890.

EDITOR ALLIANCE: As it is a rare thing to see anything from Custer county in your paper, I thought I would write you a few lines.

There is one person at least who is deeply interested in the welfare of the poor abused farmer. I have felt in my bones for years that something must be done in his behalf. I think your paper is doing a good work in a good cause. The matter has got wrought up to such a pitch with me that I feel very much as I did in '61 when I shouldered my musket to help to quell that little disturbance.

Some might take exception to the words "little disturbance." But Bro. farmers, if my mind holds her throne, and I think she does, we are much more disturbed by the monopoly, money power and the railroad rings than the negroes were at the above date. And another idea that strikes me as being mighty thin is that this Alliance biz is a scheme of the democrats to get an office in the county. Now, I have always been a staunch republican, but I don't object to help in our critical condition because a man speaks his name with a D. instead of an R. "Whooop 'em up" Bro. farmers, if we don't get there this fall, we'll split on our hands and again to you. We have been treated as dogs just long enough to win when we get hold of the right root.

SALEM TWIST.

Grant Alliance No. 747.

[We are sorry we do not hear oftener from Custer county. We are sure it is not our fault. But come again, Bro. Twist.]

CORRECTION FROM GAGE CO.

ODELL, NEB., Sep. 22, 1890.

EDITOR ALLIANCE—In your report of the picnic at Beatrice on the 15th, some one has made an unwarranted blunder in speaking of the number of teams in line in the delegation from Pottawatomie county. Paddock and Glenwood precincts by your correspondent makes 24 teams in line, when by actual count there was 75, headed by the Latham band, and we traveled 24 miles.

The Beatrice delegation consisted of 70 teams and the Democrat 64 teams, while another delegation from the north had 54 teams, both delegations were well supplied with national flags and innumerable banners and notices. I am unwilling that my brethren in other parts of the state should be so badly informed. I want to say that Old Gage county is in line in this move, and will be heard from on Nov. 4th, and the news that you here let it be that Gage county has elected the entire independent ticket. And here let me say that 2 of the votes cast in Paddock and Glenwood precincts will be given to the independent candidates, and if the people all over the state do as well as old Gage county, H. Powers, the noblest of God's creation, an honest man, will be our next governor.

A republican who has bid his party good by.

THE UNPOPULAR SIDE.

EDITOR ALLIANCE—I attended an Alliance picnic at Mr. Putley's grove, and Mr. Trevelick was orator of the day. As a farmer I want to express my opinion in regard to his speech.

I do not claim to be an expert in judging speeches, and possibly I am getting a little above my calling, as I am only a farmer and a laborer. I listened to Mr. Trevelick's speech very attentively, and will say that I consider it one of the best speeches I ever had the pleasure of listening to. It was so much different from anything that I had ever heard of. Of all the public speakers I have heard, Mr. Trevelick was the first man to champion the cause of labor.

Some of our papers that style themselves anti-monopoly took occasion to denounce Mr. Trevelick as using language that was not fit to be used in the presence of ladies. If the editor of the Nebraska Signal had honored the occasion with his presence, possibly he might have had a different impression. It is true Mr. Trevelick is a very plain speaker. He says just what he thinks, bit or miss, and that is the kind of a man I like to hear.

If labor had been better represented in the platform, it would not have been the condition of things that exist to-day. A friend of labor.

L. G. STEWART.

Sawyer, Fillmore Co., Neb.

Furnas Co. to the Front.

ARAPAHOE, NEB., Sep. 27, 1890.

EDITOR ALLIANCE—At Beaver City, the capital of Furnas county, the farmers and Knights of Labor held one of the most successful meetings ever held in this county. About 1,000 people were in attendance. The Beaver City brass band furnished the music. At 2 p. m. sharp Morris L. Wheat mounted the rostrum, and for two hours he enlightened the people upon the issue of the day, being at many times obliged to wait until after the applauding of the people had subsided. The speaker carried the audience with him from beginning to end. Bro. Wheat then proceeded overland to "trap" and again entertained a large audience in the evening. Straws show which way the wind blows. The people show by public demonstration that they have had class legislation already too long for the tolling miltons.
