POETRY.

For THE ALLIANCE, by Mrs. J. T. Kelle. Lament of the G. O. P.

Up in congress now forever Will be many a vacant chair...

But the hands and feet are still busy, And the brains are still at work...

Then we paid some railroad judges Five hundred dollars for a night...

Then we told our party papers That with these lies they must agree...

Then we told our party papers That with these lies they must agree...

Then we told our party papers That with these lies they must agree...

A Grievous Complaint.

"It's hard on a fellow, I do declare!" Said Tommy one day, with a pout...

"I'd like a suit of some patent kind, With pockets made wide and long..."
