-THE PACIFIC. Shall Women Vote at City Elections?

Misgovernment in cities is the peril of the day. Demagogues combine with the vicious classes and the moral and upright are left at their mercy.

Any influence that will purify city government will tend directly to purify the politics of the state. Tammany had its hand on the national legislature and though checked by ah uprising against it, when Boss Tweed began boastfully to ask, "What are you going to do about it?" it is not yet crushed. A man low enough to combine with that element, may thrust himself into the presidential or gubernstorial chair.

What is true in New York is true in Omaha, and similar influences curse

Omaha, and similar influences curse and corrupt many of our cities.

From the dens of vice there fostered come the criminals for whose care we are taxed, and out of the same dens come the ignorant purchasable voter.

We quote again the boastful question that once roused men against Tammany: "w hat are you going t. do about it?"

Joseph Cook says: "I believe the vices in our large cities will never be overcome without the help of woman's ballots" Other wise men have expressed the same idea in other words.

The need of better city officials has been made most apparent to the people of Nebraska, in their last election.

to call into use whatever reserve force of purity we may have.

The details of city management resemble house keeping; economy in expenditure is wanted; watchfulness regarding cleanliness, safe-guards to life if and property, and the utter banishment of those places where the young are trained in vice and crime. The mothers are peculiarly fitted to see the remedy for the present state of affairs. Party politics should have no control in city matters. Clean, pure officials are wanted, sustained by the votes of all good citizens, including the women. Because, the women will always constitute, to a great extent, an independent force, not moved by the desire of office.

Because, an overwhelming majority of women are on the side of purity and good government.

Because, as citizen tax-payers, and as mothers they have much at stake in these concerns. these concerns.

Because, they have the ability to judge and choose wisely; therefore, we conclude that their interest in good government, their freedom from party obligations, and their practical wisdom, would cause their ballots to be a purifier of city government and lessan the present danger of political corruption in these centers of population. In the words of Senator Hoar: "No nation, no city, no household, ever took a lofty no city, no household, ever took a lofty place where the influence of woman did not inspire it with the heroic tem-per. And when she takes this new and final step, bringing to the service of the state her purity, her devotion, her insight, her faith, she will not only ennoble the state, but will elevate also General Booth has been charged with unfairness in failing to deal with the drink problem in his great book, "In Darkest England," and as a conse-quence of this be has been actively enquence of this be has been actively engaged for several weeks in asserting his abhorence of the drink traffic and belief that the triumph of prohibition is the ultimate end of all he seeks. But rescue work, he declares, is the only means available at this juncture. "Suppose," he says, "that we were on a rockbound coast, strewed with the wrecks of all kinds of vessels, and that shrieking men and women on board of these were on the point of going down bewere on the point of going down be-neath the waters. Suppose that many of those perishing were within reach of the shore. If I were there I know what I should consider my duty. I should get together the best crew that ever went out with their lives in their hands, with human hearts in their breasts, and with English determination in their wills. I should say. This way, my brave fellows; let us try and save these poor creatures. But some one might say, 'Wouldn't it be better for you to direct your attention to the reefs out there, and blow them up?' I would reply, 'Decidedly; that is an excellent plan; but at present I have no dynamite. Besides, I understand the reefs are under the gevernment control. I do not belong to one political section or the other, or perhaps I might do something with regard to them.' I am of the speaker's chair after adjournment.

Through the patent influence of a re-Through the patent influence of a reform press we are awakening to the wrongs we have borne and to the rights to which the constitution and Heavens will entitle us. The pioneer journalists who so bravely have stemmed the tremendous tide of an utterly corrupt and vicious national journalism cannot be too highly honored or prized. Our little band of workers and seekers after knowledge know nothing of the high pianacle of excellence occupied by the Express years and years ago, but we do know of the splendid labors of Willis Jones and Mrs. Todd. We regard them as noble champions of the people, as as noble champions of the people, as wise and fearless standard bearers of the poor and oppressed; and we therefore resent with indignation the gratuitous insults so needlessly, it seems to us, heaped by the present nameless management upon them.

Breeders of Improved Stock. An important meeting for Stockmen and tarmers. At that time the annual meeting of the Improved Stock Breeder's association will be held, and the galaxy of speakers was never so prominent in the history of the association. This society has always been sustained by the foremost men in the state and has done yeoman service in adding and abetting the stockman and grain grower; it is a missionary association, and its meetings are held at points which best please the members from year to year. At the 1890 meeting, held in Lincoln, it was decided to hold the rich and fertile, prosperous and enterprising country in Southern Nebraska there are those who it is thought, and we still think, will take a sincere interest in this forthcoming meeting. The largest hall or the Opera house will be filled with earnest men and wemen seeking information en such matters they themselves are intently interested in. Let Southern Nebraska show to the state the interest it takes in live stock and agriculture by attending this meet.

His Vindication by the Independent Members of the House.

WHEREAS, A paper has been circu lated in the county of Logan, state of Nebraska, the home of Hon. C. D. Shrader, purporting to be an appeal for immediate relief for the drouth stricken portion of our state; and

WHEREAS, One W. Quincy Mahan, the party circulating said petition, had no other object in view than to reflect on said Shrader and if possible disrupt the ranks of the Independent party, and to carry out the diabolical schemes of the old parties backed up by the monied powers, corporations, and the nefarious politicians and political demagogues; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Independent members of the house of representatives of the state of Nebraska, not only tives of the state of Nebraska, not only denounce as absolutely false the aforesaid petition, but also the reports sent out by the Omaha Bee, World-Herald and State Journal. Be it further Resolved, That the Hon. C. D. Shrader, through his untiring efforts, has done as much if not more than anyone in the state for our destitute people in the western portion of the state by securing from a single firm (in writing) a credit of $35,000 worth of groceries, and from twelve to fifteen cars of flour per day until the amount needed shall be had; also in securing a pledge from a number of heavy capitalists of this city to guarantee the payment of such goods that could not be obtained on the pledge of the legislature to appropriate enough to cover all such purchase; also to guarantee to pay all freight charges on such goods. The railroad companies have refused to forward supplies upon either the pledge of the legislature or the capitalists. And further be it

Resolved. We are prepared for all such attacks upon any other true Independents, and ask only that the people of Nebraska reserve their judgment of our actions until fully informed of the low-down influences brought to bear upon us by the common enemy of hon-

New York Correspondence.

New York, Jan., 26. EDITOR OF THE PEOPLE:-The all engrossing topic in political circles the past week has been the election of Governor Hill to the senatorship. Although it was known that he would be the democratic candidate on the Saturday before the election, his majority on joint ballot was so small as to render the race exciting, and the Democratic managers were afraid that by some ac cident several assemblymen might be absent when the vote was taken. Two democratic assemblymen were so ill that it was feared that they would tion, while Stein of New York was ab-sent no one knew where, and Demorest of Nyack had been arrested for embezziement a few days previou ly. He was released, however, and with the three others were present in Albany in time to vote, so that Governor Hill was to vote, so that Governor Hill was elected senator by a majority of two. It is rumored that Governor Hill will not vacate the gubernatorial chair until next December unless a special session of Congress is called. Doubt is expressed as to his ability to hold a federal and state office at the same time, and some newspapers here are demanding that he resign the governorship at once. Cleveland when he was elected presi-dent in 1884, resigned over two months dent in 1884, resigned over two months before his inauguration, and other cases have been cited showing that this has been the custom. If Governor Hill, however, does not resign his office until next December, when Congress convenes, and any objection is raised, he will probably turn his compensation for the first nine months of his term back into the treasury, and thus shelve any question that might arise as to the propriety of holding both offices at once.

While the better class of citizens here regret that they are to be represented regret that they are to be represented in the United States senate for the next chinery of the democratic party in this state, which he has manipulated for years for his own private gain.

A meeting was held Saturday afternoon in the lecture room of the American Museum of National History, under the auspices of the New York State Forestry Association to promote the passage of the bill for the Adirondack State Park. Over 1,500 persons were

It was pointed out that the preservation of the forests, especially in the Adirondack region, is essential to the prosperity of the state, as their destruction would mean the failure of the water supply of the Erie and other canals, be sides great damage and inconvenience by floods in the spring and drought in the summer and autumn. Already the effect of the destruction of extensive areas of forest lands is felt. The average height of the Hudson river above age height of the Hudson river above Troy has, in the past five years, decreased eight feet in summer and increased six feet in the spring, while in other streams in the northern part of the state, the average summer level has decreased from 30 to 70 per cent in the Resolutions were adopted demanding that action be taken immediately by the legislature to prevent further destrucsuch lands as are necessary to preserve the watersheds of the rivers in the Adi-rondacks. The state owns large tracts of land in this section and less than $5,000,000 would be required to pur-chase enough land to make a park of over 3,000,000 acres, the income from which would net the state a considerable revenue.
