Gambetta's Glass Eye.

At the age of nine Leon Gambetta was sent to the seminary near the village of Labastide. It has been related that the child voluntarily put out one of his own eyes with a pen-knife, when he was at the ecclesiastical seminary, in order to compel his parents to withing manner:

Leon always spent his holidays at home at Cahors. Next door to his constantly in the cutler's workshop One day as a workman was boring a hole in the headle of a knife with a steel drill, put in motion by means of a sort of bow, the steel rod broke and one of the pieces struck the child in the right eye. Henceforth Leon Gam-betta was blind of an eye. His eye re-mained in this way till 1867, when Dr. Wecker took out the diseased eye and substituted a glass one in its place.

Burning for Pive Months

In Georgia there is a tree on the mountains above the large cliff of mar-ble on the line of the Marietta & North Georgia railroad that has been burn-ing for five months. The whole mass is red hot, and the material when taken after being exposed for a few hours it slacks like lime. It is very strong with alkali and smells like sulphur.
