

To the Citizen Voters of Nebraska. The election is at hand. You are again brought face to face with the money power of Wall street and London...

ALLIANCE WOMEN.

AN EXCEEDINGLY INTERESTING LETTER From an Alliance Sister Who Interests Herself in all Questions. BLOOMFIELD, Neb., Oct. 11, '91.

CYRUS, Neb., Oct. 15, 1891. EDITOR ALLIANCE:—The independent at their convention at Sidney, Neb., nominated a straight independent ticket.

Judge Bryant Prophecies. HARTINGTON, Neb., Oct. 12, 1891. EDITOR ALLIANCE:—This county will give Edgerton 1,000 out of 1,500 votes.

Cherry County to the Front. VALENTINE, Neb., Oct. 14, 1891. EDITOR ALLIANCE:—The Cherry county independents are up in arms fighting for principle and the cause of the people.

Tabitha Home. Our readers may not generally know that we have in the city of Lincoln, noted for its public institutions, a home for orphan children supported entirely by private benevolence.

Resolutions of Condolence. NORTH LOUI, Neb., Sept. 29, 1891. Resolutions of condolence adopted by Davis Creek Alliance, No. 307.

The Oregon Alliance: Excessive taxes is eating the life out of the business enterprises not under the fostering care of monopoly in almost every city.

As long as gold and silver are used for money just so long will the people pay interest for their use. They are the basis of money gambling and having exclusive monetary functions they are easily cornered and labor forever compelled to pay a tribute for its use.

Why cannot every Alliance have a Mrs. Kelly to outshine and cheer them in the cause of down-trodden humanity? Our sex generally is always interested in the expenditure of dollars and cents, why should we not be equally so in the cause which makes them plenty or scarce?

14,000,000 Starving Peasants. Late dispatches to the Daily Telegraph from St. Petersburg says that a revolutionary society at Kiev is endeavoring to take advantage of the prevailing famine to excite a revolt.

Are Large Barns Best? There are some reasons why a large, roomy barn is better than two or more small ones. It is more convenient, of course, to have everything—hay, grain, cattle, horses, wagons and farm tools—under one roof.

THE FARM AND FIELD.

MATTERS TO INTEREST RURAL READERS. About Plowing—Absorbent Power of Straw—Making the Most of It—Are Large Barns Best?—Does Dairying Pay.

Whether it is best to plow deep or shallow is not one of the things "no fellow can find out," for experiment will generally show which is preferable. It would seem, on general principles, that deep plowing, with subsoiling, would yield the best results in every case.

Does Dairying Pay? What a question. If by pay you mean netting an income, it certainly will unless grossly mismanaged and neglected, but when you come to the amount of that income the question is instantly removed from the dairy to the man.

The Farmer's "Better Half." Not the least important factor in the success of farming operations, by any manner of means, is the farmer's wife. If she is a capable woman, like her of whom the Biblical proverb-maker wrote, she can do much to make farming pay.

Making the Most of It. There are some wisecracks who still maintain that it is easier and more profitable to grow two tons of hay on two acres than on one acre, or to raise forty bushels of corn on four acres than the same amount from one acre.

Farm Notes. The broken down mare will not foal tiptoe colts, no matter how good the sire may be. Ducks should always have dry quarters at night if they are to be kept thrifty and healthy.

cost of insurance is usually greater on a large barn, and on the stock, grains, hay and implements stored in it than on a number of small barns in which these things are distributed.

Absorbent Power of Straw. Some interesting experiments have been made to determine the absorbent power of wheat and other varieties of straw.

Does Dairying Pay? What a question. If by pay you mean netting an income, it certainly will unless grossly mismanaged and neglected, but when you come to the amount of that income the question is instantly removed from the dairy to the man.
