When the B. & M. Journal published its statement that the above numbered pass had been "issued to Mr. Burrows," it knew it was publishing an infamous lie by withholding part of the truth.

POST'S CRIME. We publish on our first page full and conclusive evidence of the guilt of A. M. Post of seducing a 16-year-old girl under promise of marriage.

THE LAST APPEAL. This is the last opportunity we will have to address the voters of the state before the election on next Tuesday.

THE PEOPLE'S WILL IS IRRESISTIBLE. The desperate efforts of the old party press and speakers to convince the voting public that the Farmers' Alliance and independent party is already in control of worse men than the old party bosses, the railroad tools which the people declared independence from...

THE CAMPAIGN IN LANCASTER COUNTY. The fight in this county has been a reasonably clean one. The independents have had no disposition to throw mud, the republicans have had no opportunity.

ARE PASSES BRIBES? The Journal believes the question whether a pass is a bribe depends on the mental or moral attitude of the acceptor of the same. THE ALLIANCE believes that no free pass was ever offered to a public official or an editor by a corporation which was not intended as a bribe.

BORN FOR A MIGHTY WORK. To say that the old party press, machines, managers and palace car passengers were greatly shaken up and confounded by the vote of the united independents a year ago, is to state a manifest truth. How could a party so suddenly spring into existence? Organization is not easy; it is usually a slow process, and especially difficult is it when it must grow by disintegrating other organizations.

"THE BRIBE TAKERS" AND "THE FREE PASS VILLAINRY." An open letter from J. Burrows, to whom it may concern: On my return to Lincoln on Saturday the 24th I was shown an article in the State Journal of the 22nd, under the caption of "The Bribe Takers," in which was the following:

I also saw the Journal of Saturday, in which I was criticized for having received a pass while denouncing the roads for issuing and other men for using them. In his issue of the 22nd the Journal editor said "for J. Burrows we can only blush."

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 23, 1891. In your issue of the 23d inst. I find a paragraph under the head of "The Bribe Takers," reading as follows: "On February 25, 1891, there was issued to J. Burrows, on request of R. R. Randall, from the office of the C. B. & Q. railroad, a round trip pass No. 222,492, to Chicago and return, good until March 31, 1891."

On Saturday evening, the 24th, I wrote a short statement of the facts and sent it by a messenger to the editor of the Journal in ample time for his Sunday morning edition, requesting him, as his article did me the grossest injustice, to give the facts the same publicity he had given the charge. This he refused to do.

THE HONEST MILLIONAIRE. "Christianity is the only sure foundation for character, and character is a positive advantage to anyone, from the day laborer to the millionaire." REV. CHAS. B. NEWMAN.

ARE PASSES BRIBES? The Journal believes the question whether a pass is a bribe depends on the mental or moral attitude of the acceptor of the same. THE ALLIANCE believes that no free pass was ever offered to a public official or an editor by a corporation which was not intended as a bribe.

LET US REFLECT. Two sisters, Margaret and Bridget Breen, aged seventy-five and seventy-eight years, starved two weeks since in Boston, Massachusetts. They were found in the two attic rooms of a four story brick tenement in the rear of No. 61 Prince street, where they had lived thirty years.

highest, most useful, permanent office, and they are ready to serve us for $10,000 a year and pay their necessary very considerable expenses out of this salary. They would probably as just judges have to hear cases on the supreme bench at least 200 years before they could be millionaires. But we need not confine ourselves to estimates of a million. Rockefeller thirty years ago was a poor man.

They would probably as just judges have to hear cases on the supreme bench at least 200 years before they could be millionaires. But we need not confine ourselves to estimates of a million. Rockefeller thirty years ago was a poor man.

I add to Mr. Randall's statement that I had not solicited and did not expect any appointment on the proposed commission, and Mr. Randall's obtaining of the pass was a voluntary kindness on his part without my knowledge—that I knew nothing of it until I saw it in the Journal on Saturday. The term "issued to J. Burrows," used by both the Journal and Mr. Randall, is only true in the sense that it was issued in my name.

Another legacy of the republican party was the increase in judicial districts and judges. The 21st session had to provide for only twenty-one judges and twenty-one stenographers, at a cost of $108,000.

Death by hunger in sight of the palatial residences of scores of millionaires! Sixty years of labor so poorly paid that five years of attic life in feeble old age must be ended in the agonies of slow starvation! Erect, heroic women who preferred

A FRAUDULENT AUDITOR'S REPORT. His satanic majesty Auditor Benton has issued a report of the expenses and appropriations of the last legislature which is a square fraud, intended solely to misinform and mislead the public as to that legislature. Of course he has done this for political purposes.

He gives as "legislative expenses, 23rd session, $175,000." He then gives as total paid to members, officers and employes of the senate, $37,410.30. Total paid to members, officers and employes of the house, $52,245.35. He then gives as the total paid for all incidental expenses of this legislature $40,022.57.

ROSEY'S CAMPAIGN PROGRESSING. Rosewater has again spoken his piece, this time at Genoa. He proves by "a mire of assertions" that the people's independent candidates are all either fools or knaves, and that the railroad republican candidates are the only candidates who will care for the people's interests.

SECRETARY PIRTLE'S PASS. The following letters show the facts about Secretary Pirtle's Pass, and his rejection of the same. ("Walt" is Walt Seelye, secretary republican state committee.) HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN INDEPENDENT PARTY, LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 28, 1891.

Chairman Mercer to Republican Speakers. "Be good to the democrats. They hold the balance of power; we can't get there without their help. If we can't secure more of them than we have so far our cake is dough. The Australian ballot law interferes with our usual method of obtaining votes; therefore all attacks upon the tariff should be abandoned, and it will be well to intimate that reciprocity might be profitably carried much further than it is likely to be—especially in this election. Be good to the democrats."
