Keep in mind that this election is a fight with and against the railroads, the corporation monopolies, the money power. The Ree admits that for fifteen years the railroads have corrupted our state officials and dominated our lawmaking assemblies; and that the agricultural class, exasperated beyond endurance, organized to fight and overthrow this lobbying, corrupting, ever-

One man on the independent ticket railroads more intensely than any other man in Nebraska. Ex-Attorney General Leese they know. They have tested his incorruptible integrity. They have proof of his ability and wholehearted devotion to the cause of justice, the people's cause. They will do their utmost to defeat him, concentrating their power and bringing every political influence to bear to do it. But we believe he can be elected by a majority which will humble the high-handed meddlesome tyrants, and that they will hereafter have less confidence in their attempts to interfere with and thwart the people's will. Vote for and between now and election work for all the people's candidates. But especially exert yourselves in this district to elect General Leese.

town and country, all whose services should therefore unite.

It needs no argument to convince the voter that his interests will not be regarded by men who have a monopoly of anything he needs, or whose service he is compelled to obtain. Trusts are not formed to benefit the people. The railroads are not run for them, but the people exist for the railroads, at present.

Human nature is too selfish to be entrusted with despotic power, and the mistake of the past has been to allow men to secure monopoly titles and privileges. The people's party has arisen to dethrone the monopoly despots who now rule us, taxing and exploiting the workers without conscience. We want ington in 92." no kings of any kind in this country. Consider carefully and prayerfully the interests at stake. A judge of the Supreme Court is one of the officers to be elected. It is one third of the entire court, and the election is for six years. It is as its name implies the SUPREME court-the court of last resort. It is now composed of Cobb, Norval, and Maxwell. The first two have been recognized, and have shown themselves to be under railroad influence, if not rail-road control. The seople yet have confidence in Maxwell. So without Cobb the court would be a tie. It, therefore, needs no argument to show that the man elected this fall will hold the balance of power, and virtually be about pass Z 22,492, which it said was the supreme court of Nebraska for at

THE BATTLE OF THE AGES.

Do your brains weary and your intellects confuse trying to grasp, with what is just, the simple unmixed truth phistry, detecting the errors of those who contends

The secret of right thinking and safe conclusions is to begin at the beginning. Money is a circulating medium, a legal tender, its value being not what the material may happen to be worth as a commodity, as gold, silver, nickel, copper or paper, but the impression of a government stamp, of sovereign power, which enables it to discharge the debts and command the com-nodities and services of all citizens. Money should have a constant laber value, shou'd have power to command always the same amount of labor. That is perfect money which costs least, which is most convenient and which has no commodity value to interfere with its stamped value and free use, money which is first issued by a sovereign power in payment of labor value received (the necessary unchanging value upon which it is bottomed,) and which enters upon an endless round of circulation, discharging every citizen's debts and commanding every citizen's services without change of value measure. Gold is not a good or reliable material for money, because inconvenient, because insufficient in quantity, because its commodity value increases in time of danger, and because its commodity value exceeding its stamped value its use as money is not only destroyed, but ceasing to circulate as money it prevents the free exchange of commodities and blocks the wheels of industry. Gold could not be obtained in this country or by this country during the civil war to meet the war expenses, almost all creditors having to be paid with some one or other of the different issues of paper currency.

The banks of the country suspended specie payment December 28, 1861, and the government had no gold, no money of any kind with which to pay its fast accumulating war expenses. Money based directly upon labor, instead of indirectly upon abor in the form of gold, while constitutional, most economic and just, was almost a new idea. But to meet the pressing emergency $60,000,000 of paper money were issued and made by act of congress "a full legal tender, payable for all debts, public and private, including duties on imports." And being made a full legal tender these paper dollars kept on a par with gold even when the hoarded yellow metal mounted to $2.85, as compared with so-called dollars which were not created a full legal tender. No better money was ever issued than this terest, and no crushing, corrupting, class-legislating money power. We and hasten the day of full and final should be to day a free, prosperous, victory. happy people.

They purpose to issue when will be in it, in power government-stamped full legal tender paper money direct to the people, loaning it upon sufficient security at just enough to cover the cost of printing and handling it, two per cent or less. This will destroy not only the money - loaners', mortgage - holders', banker-robbers' power to oppress, but that of the capitalists also. All interest will be reduced to about the government rate. Money will thus be made the people's servant instead of their master, and this land will be in very truth "the home of the free." The producing classes uniting in the people's party are fighting the universal slave power, a power gigantic, injustice most ancient, but a power which cannot endure the light, which has grown mighty and subjugated this land by intrigue, under cover of custom and forms of $60,000,000 of paper legal tender and it law.
