POETRY.

SHOULD JESUS COME AGAIN.

Should Jesus come to earth again
Clad in a simple peasant gown,
Would I at the world reject him still,
And make for him of thorns a crown?

If he should try to lift the poor,
To the life divine,
Would he be better understood,
Than once he was in Palestine?

If he should teach that love is love,
And not a God of jealous hate,
How many even now his words
At their true worth would estimate!

Should he insist the Golden Rule
Ought to be preached and practiced too,
Would he find ready those who would
Both practicing and preaching do?

If chance should carry him some morn
Into a church with cushioned pews,
How many of the worshippers
Would offer him the seat they use!

Might he not say: "Let this cup pass,"
On seeing wealth and beauty there,
Who sometimes go to worship God,
But oft to show the clothes they wear!

Should he denounce the pomp and show
The church displays on every side,
Would Christian people anywhere
Acknowledge him as friend and guide!

PREHISTORIC FIND.

The Remains of the King of Mound Builders Dug Up in Ohio.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Nov. 17.—Mr. Warren K. Morehead, and Dr. Cresson, who have been prosecuting excavations here for the past three months in the interest of the world's fair, have just made one of the richest finds of the century in the way of pre-historic remains. These gentlemen have confined their excavation to the Hopewell farm, seven miles from here, upon which are located some twenty old Indian mounds. On Saturday they were at work on a mound 500 feet in length, 200 feet wide and 28 in height. At the depth of ten feet near the center of the mound they exhumed the massive skeleton of a man, which was encased in a veritable copper armor. The head was covered by an oval shaped copper cap. The jaws had copper moldings and the arms were dressed in copper. Copper plates covered the chest and stomach. On each side of the head protruding sticks were wooden antlers ornamented with copper. The mouth was stuffed with genuine pearls of immense size, but much decayed by the ravages of time. Around the neck was a necklace of bears' teeth set with pearls. At the side of the male skeleton was also found a female skeleton, the two supposed to be man and wife. It is estimated that the bodies were buried where they were found fully six hundred years ago. Messrs. Morehead and Cresson consider this find one of the most important that they have yet made, and believe that they have at last found the king of the mound builders.

THANKSGIVING IN NEBRASKA.

Governor Thayer Enumerates the Blessings Showered Upon the State.

LINCOLN, Nov. 17.—Governor Thayer issued his Thanksgiving proclamation as follows:
Now, more than ever, have the people of Nebraska most convincing reasons for lifting their hearts in gratitude to the Supreme Ruler of the universe for the untold blessings they have enjoyed during the year which is now drawing to a close. The disastrous effects of the drought which afflicted some portions of the state a year ago have been followed by the sunshine of prosperity. The windows of heaven were opened, the rains came, and now the earth has responded with a most abundant increase; the labors of the husbandmen have been most lavishly rewarded; the fields have been almost weighed down with grain—the trees with fruit—the garner are now full to repletion; new vigor and energy have been infused into every department of human effort; joy sits in the hearts of the people where there was lamentation a year ago; general health prevails and peace reigns within our borders. It is most becoming, as well as the performance of a sacred duty, that all should manifest in a public manner their appreciation of, and their gratitude for, these priceless blessings. Now, therefore, I, John M. Thayer, governor of the state of Nebraska, do hereby designate Thursday, the 26th day of the present month, as a day of thanksgiving and praise.

LUMPY JAW IN CATTLE.

The Case Now Pending in the District Court at Peoria of Importance to Cattlemen.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—A case now pending in the district court at Peoria—the Distillers and Cattle Feeders' company vs. the Illinois board of live stock commissioners—in which the distillers' company seeks to recover from the board on a number of cattle condemned by them on the ground that they were afflicted with lumpy jaw, is attracting wide attention throughout the west. Cattle dealers and raisers regard the case as of the utmost importance to cattle interests, the precedent involved in the case will lose no opportunity of calling property to cattle interests. The excitement at the union stock yards is at fever heat. The cattlemen contend that this action of the board in condemning lumpy jaw cattle is unwarranted and a willful disregard of the rights of the cattle raisers. They say that never in the history of the cattle business has a case of lumpy jaw been shown to be contagious to public health. This is not only true, they contend, of this country, but that Secretary Rankin, in his report, shows conclusively the experience abroad establishes their claim indisputably. The secretary in the report states:
In most, if not all European countries inspectors, according to their reports, freely pass for consumption the meat of animals affected with foot and mouth disease, pleuro-pneumonia, tuberculosis, actinomycosis, and similar diseases which, according to the views and customs of this country, must be condemned.

A Pair of Sandy Monkeys.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 17.—A duel was to have been fought at noon at Moultrie Springs, near here, between H. V. Sevier, editor of The Evening Telegram, and Benjamin Harrison, editor of The Standard, and a nephew of ex-Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago. The Telegram has been publishing a colored society column and Harrison ridiculed it in his paper. The Telegram retorted, reflecting on Harrison as a coward and a liar. Harrison challenged Sevier. A warrant was sworn out by Father Kinney for the arrest of the principals, and both men were arrested and put under $1,000 bonds each. Harrison still insists he or Sevier must die. Both are men of high character and courage. Sevier is from Alabama and Harrison from Mississippi.

KNIGHTS AND THE FAIR.

They Refuse to Endorse the Sunday Closing of the Exposition.

FIXING UP THEIR FAITH.

New York Presbytery Engaged in Revision Work—Illinois Odd Fellows. World's W. C. T. U.—Other Deliberative Bodies.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 17.—At the Knights of Labor assembly the first business was the resolutions presented by the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union and the National Women's Christian Temperance Union. The first and second resolutions were at once agreed to, the first being a demand for equal pay for equal work to women and for woman suffrage; the second declaring in favor of the same standard of purity for men and women; the third demanding the closing of the world's fair on Sundays, was disagreed to, the knights declaring themselves in favor of having the fair open on Sundays for the education of the masses, provided that no one employed at the fair shall work more than six days per week. The fourth resolution was for the prevention of the sale of liquor on the world's fair grounds, and the knights declined to endorse this. The last resolution asked the endorsement of a petition to prohibit the sale of alcohol and opium and other narcotics, and to raise the standard of law everywhere to that of Christian morals. This was referred to a committee to prepare an answer in consonance with the wishes of the general assembly.

At the afternoon session Mr. Powderly made a statement to the assembly, denying all the charges made against him by Secretary Turner.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Dr. Briggs Takes an Important Part in the Revision Work.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—In the New York presbytery the entire afternoon was devoted to consideration of the report of the committee on revision submitted at the session a week ago. Dr. Charles A. Briggs and his friends were on hand. The professor succeeded in securing one or two important amendments to the report.

The most important discussion was that over the amendment recommended that all reference to foreordination or everlasting death or any doctrine of non-election should be dropped. It was recommended that the doctrine be stricken out because it is merely a logical and philosophical inference, deduced from the doctrine of election, and is not a part of the holy scriptures.

Demands of Railroad Men Which May Cause Trouble.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17.—There is trouble brewing among the freight conductors and brakemen of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis railroad which threatens to develop into a strike. The company refuses to accede to the demands. A meeting will be held next Wednesday, at which it is said the employees will declare a strike.

THE IOWA EVICTION CASES.

Position of the Government in the Des Moines River Land Case.

WILL BAR OUT PAUPERS.

Further Immigration Legislation Likely to Be Taken by Congress This Session—Additional Charges for Lieut. Dodge to Answer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The famous Iowa eviction cases are brought to mind by the arrival of Attorney General John Y. Stone of Greenwood. Mr. Stone is here as an attorney of the United States in the suit brought by the government to quiet its title to 109,000 acres of land on the Des Moines river. Years ago the general government decided this land to the state in consideration of the state government's opening up the river for navigation. In after years the state decided the land to the Des Moines River Navigation company. The work was never done. In the meantime settlers took possession of the land, thinking it was open to settlement. Thousands of families now live within the disputed tract, although the navigation company has ejected many. The government claims that, inasmuch as the improvements have not been made under the grant, the land reverts to the general government. If the suit establishes the government's claim, these settlers retain their homes; if the reverse is true, then all of these persons will be at the mercy of a private corporation. It necessarily follows that public sentiment is being aroused by the navigation company.

Will Bar Out Pauper Immigrants.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Superintendent Owen of the immigration bureau thinks there will be further legislation this winter. It is probable that a comprehensive measure for the regulation of immigration will be laid before the house, and as the subject has attracted great interest in the country during the last year the action of congress upon it will be closely watched. The questions involved, Mr. Owen claims, are not of a partisan or sectional nature, and it is believed by him that a satisfactory policy can be adopted at an early period of the session. The reports of the immigration commissioners who have been carrying on their investigations in Europe during the last half year will be before congress, and it is known that they contain a mass of facts which will be serviceable in the work of legislation.

One of the Most Important Amendments Which Mr. Owens Desires to Have Adopted is in Relation to Assisted Immigration.

Many thousands of steerage passengers, he claims, are sent from Europe to this country every year provided with free tickets. The British government has assisted a large number of them, including paupers, within the last year, and the statistics of pauperism in the several states show that many of the assisted persons are found in the
