

Labor and Capital.

From the second proposition made by the "State" in its issue of Sept. 10, I quote the essential parts. "Hundreds of millions of dollars represent the surplus earnings of individuals, workers in city and country."

The economic ideas expressed above are but the echo of popular fallacy, and if sincerely uttered simply indicate an erroneous idea of the functions of government, and of what money really is.

To illustrate the utter rottenness of this idea, suppose a government furnishes two-thirds its volume of money and individuals furnish one-third at 10 per cent per annum.

Twenty-five years ago the national banks began business with an issue fraction not to exceed $300,000,000. Straight 10 per cent on that sum would have transferred to them by the present time $750,000,000 of other money.

Some of our wise men have written volumes about the proper wages of labor. They split some hairs, and each one has determined the point to suit himself (or those who hired him) to where labor has its full reward, and capital its profit.

We have organized and are paying the expenses of an organization called government for certain beneficent purposes, and shall we also pay individuals for performing what our organization was intended to perform?

A Week-Keed Reason.

One of Ralph Burton's reasons for rejecting the principles of the People's party, is the fact that he fails to discover, in looking over the country, any of our recognized statesmen or great financiers espousing the cause.

great fields of discovery. It is quite natural that men of prominence, men enjoying the confidence of their parties in official positions would be slow to want a change in conditions.

MONOPOLY AND CORRUPTION.

Political Dishonesty and Government Control of Railroads.

The prevalence of political corruption is an argument in the mouths of the opponents of government control of transportation and production.

To illustrate the utter rottenness of this idea, suppose a government furnishes two-thirds its volume of money and individuals furnish one-third at 10 per cent per annum.

Twenty-five years ago the national banks began business with an issue fraction not to exceed $300,000,000. Straight 10 per cent on that sum would have transferred to them by the present time $750,000,000 of other money.

Some of our wise men have written volumes about the proper wages of labor. They split some hairs, and each one has determined the point to suit himself (or those who hired him) to where labor has its full reward, and capital its profit.

'Twas the General.

He Held a War Correspondent's Horse by Request.

Major General Hunter, who commanded in the Shenandoah Valley before Sheridan entered it, was a famous horseman, says the Rider and Driver.

Are Girls Faithful Workers.

The above question was promptly answered in the affirmative by a wide-awake business man who has a large corps of workers in his employ.

THE WOMAN'S KINGDOM.

THIS DEPARTMENT IS NOT INTENDED FOR MALE READERS.

Ombre Effects in Dress—One of Women's Ways—Are Girls Faithful Workers—A Sensible Woman.

Ombre Effects in Dress.

Satin and velvet and rich fabrics suited to the Medicean fashions are used in preference to the dull, heavy silks of other seasons.

The use of shaded effects and of various colors toned into each other by graduated shades is a feature of the season.

One of Woman's Ways.

The women have a great propensity for sitting on one foot in a street car as well as in the seclusion of their own homes.

The Wedding Flower.

The flowering of the "Wedding Flower," at Kew this year, says the London Garden, is an event of more than ordinary interest.

New Toilets for Weddings.

Some rather pronounced French color combinations are noticed among new toilets prepared for weddings and other ceremonial occasions.

English University Life for Women.

The thousands of American graduates of girls' colleges will be greatly interested in the story of the daily life of their English sisters.

A Hint for the Girls.

"That was quite a romantic episode," said Hicks, describing how a friend of his fell in love.

position or salary they were just as eager as at first to obtain the employment, and as they all appeared bright and smart, it was really a difficult matter to decide among them.

"Useful Knowledge."

To purify water, hang a small bag of charcoal in it.

For toothache, try oil of sassafras, and apply it frequently, if necessary.

Vinegar bottles may be bleached with crushed egg-shells in a little water.

If the color has been taken out of silks by fruit stains, ammonia will usually restore the color.

To brighten carpets, wipe them with warm water in which has been poured a few drops of ammonia.

A good liniment for inflammation, rheumatism, swellings, etc., is olive oil well saturated with camphor.

A good cement for metal alum, but it will not be used where water and heat come in contact with it.

When onions are being cooked, the strong, disagreeable odor may be lessened by placing vinegar on the stove.

To purify the air in a newly-painted room, put several tubs of water in it, and it will absorb much of the odor.

To clear a stove of cinders, put a handful of salt into it during a hot fire. When cooled, remove the cinders with a cold chisel.

Fine shavings from soft pine wood make a pleasant pillow.

Have special curative virtues for coughs and lung troubles.

Remove ink stains from silver-plated ware by rubbing them with a paste composed of chloride of lime and water; then wash and wipe dry.

Clean collars on woolen jackets, men's coats, etc., by sponging with ammonia and water, then with alcohol, then rub dry with a flannel cloth.

Copper kettles may be cleaned and polished by taking a lemon, cutting it in two; dip one of the pieces in salt and rub well over the copper.—Good Housekeeping.

A Sensible Woman.

"Just what all of this evolution in the matter of dress skirts will end in, goodness only knows!" exclaimed a young society woman, as she shook out the skirt of one of her tailor costumes, and examined its soiled, frayed, and worn out hem with an expression of annoyance and disgust.
