

THOSE BANK CIRCULARS.

As an illustration of the campaign of lying that has just passed, we publish the following authenticated facts from the Chicago Sentinel as to the same kind of work that was done in former years, and who paid for it:

The old party press have had the impudence to question the authenticity of the Buell and Hazzard circulars. Let them keep on asserting that "they are bogus," that they are "the inventions of the flat lunatics," etc. They are simply making a rope with which to strangle their own lying gullets.

The American Association of Bankers was organized in September, 1877. Its secretary at that time was James Buell. The association still exists. It is still at work bribing newspapers, hiring eloquent oratorical liars, bull-dozing courts and congressmen. It is still doing business at the same old stand and in the same old way.

Before us lies one of the 1877 "circulars." Perhaps the Inter Ocean will deny its authenticity. Will it? It shows how the old greenback party was made to suffer. It shows how the third party is being made to suffer. It accounts for the spiteful, malicious and wholesale lying that is being done by the whole craft of prominent dailies about the third party. We ask again will the Inter Ocean deny that it ever published such an article? At all events, here it is:

New York, Oct. 9, 1877. Private and Suggestive. Dear Sir—It is advisable to do all in your power to sustain such daily and weekly prominent newspapers, especially the religious and agricultural press, as will oppose the issue of greenback paper money, and that you also withhold patronage or favors from all applicants who are not willing to oppose the greenback or government issue of money.

The above circular was sent to bankers and we have a copy received by a banker. The following circular was published in the Inter Ocean. Concerning it the I. O. said:

The Inter Ocean acknowledges the receipt of the following circular document which came to our office from New York Saturday morning:

"The American Bankers' Ass'n." No. 47 Broadway, Room 4. New York, Oct. 9, 1877.

Dear Sir—Please insert the enclosed slip as laid matter on the editorial page of your first issue immediately following the receipt of this and send marked copy with bill to your truly, James Buell, Secretary.

247 Broadway, Room 4. Comments on the slip not to exceed half a column will be paid for, if filled at the same time."

The following is the document which we are asked (says the I. O.) to insert as leaded matter on the editorial page, or in other words, as a statement made by the Inter Ocean:

The greenback party has offered through its managers to sell out to the democrats and hereafter to work in democratic harness, if a place for a few of their leaders can be provided for them. This merely shows how much dependence there is to be placed on the leaders of lunatics, who clamor for money based on nothing."

We insert this, but we shall send no bill for it. We shall send no bill, because in the first place we don't follow directions about leading set, and secondly, because we are compelled to say that we don't believe a word of the statement to be true. The attempt to thus maliciously defame the character of the greenback party without submitting a word of proof is a piece of shameless and brazen effrontery which ought to be beneath any body of commercial gentlemen and especially the American Bankers' Association."

Here is another, said to have been sent to the New York Sun, which says:

"The following was received yesterday at the office of the Sun: American Bankers' Association, 247 Broadway, New York, October 9, 1877.

(Strictly Private.) Please insert the enclosed slip as editorial and send marked copy of paper with bill to James Buell, Secretary, 247 Broadway, Room 4.

"The prospect is that in six months there will not be a greenback leader in all the land. Overtures have been made by the leaders of the greenback movement to President Hayes to abandon the greenback as a lost cause, providing he will give good official positions to about twenty of the most blatant of the clamorous for more money that is based on nothing."

Omaha Jottings. EDITOR FARMERS' ALLIANCE: The old party papers are making an extra effort at the present time to make the people believe that the People's Independent party are advocating such a money as there is at present in the Argentine Republic, and I would like a few lines of space in your paper to show how far that is from the truth. The Argentine currency is the product of a plan by the aristocrat class of Europe to rob the people of that country of the product of their toil. It has been truly said that that country has been for years the pasture ground of the British money power. They have had their own way in almost every thing regarding the finance of that country, and the result is the same as they would do for us, only probably in a different way—if we continue to let them handle the leaders of the law-making powers in this country. They have in the Argentine Republic $100,000,000 of currency based on alleged coin when there is no coin. They also have $400,000,000 of currency which they call land or mortgage loan currency. It is not redeemable only by foreclosure which is very expensive and assists very little at keeping it at par. Not a dollar of this money is receivable in the revenues of the government. It is not a legal tender, and there are very few of the debts that are not payable in coin. So that the debt is doubled and trebled, and it is made that much harder to pay. Any sane man must know that we are not advocating such a money here, for we ask and demand that all money shall be a full legal tender—good for all debts. We demand that the government issue the money, and not the private banks. That it be issued at a much less rate of interest than the banks charge at present, or in a word that the government treat all alike. But through the insatiate greed of the

GARNETS FOR RUBIES.

A Philadelphia Lady's Recent Purchase in Paris.

A sister of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, of the Academy of Natural Sciences, and daughter of Isaac Dixon, recently walked into the establishment of a lapidary on Chestnut street, says the Philadelphia Press. She had on one of her fingers a very beautiful ring with three precious stones, one of which was a water-white diamond.

The other two precious stones were what she supposed were pigeon-blood Oriental rubies. A pigeon-blood Oriental ruby is the most costly gem in the world. A five-carat ruby of this kind is worth ten times as much as a five-carat first-water Brazilian diamond, which is the most precious species of diamonds in the world.

"I wish to show you two superb rubies, which have just been purchased for me in Paris," said the young lady to the man skilled in discerning the quality of precious stones. She took the ring off her finger and handed it to the lapidary. The latter adjusted his monocular and went to the light of the window. He looked intently for a minute or so and then returned.

"Were those stones bought for rubies?" queried he anxiously.

"Yes, I wanted two pigeon-blood Oriental rubies on either side of this water-white diamond, and not being able to get the finest in this country, I sent to Paris for them. Why, aren't they pigeon-blood Oriental rubies?" the lady looked at them once more and seriously said: "No; they are not. They are, however, the finest kind of Oriental garnets and are worth about $20 apiece."

The young lady stepped back in surprise. The gems had cost about $2,000. One of the best jewelry firms in Paris had recommended the house from which the alleged rubies had come. The lapidary was positive that his decision was correct, and he advised them to be returned to the Parisian jewelry firm.

The young lady went to a notary with the lapidary. The two garnets were removed from the ring and carefully sealed in a package. The lapidary made an affidavit that these stones were Oriental garnets and not pigeon-blood Oriental rubies. This affidavit was inclosed in the package and the package shipped back to the Parisian jewelry firm.

The next mail steamer from France, after the receipt of the alleged rubies and the affidavit, brought $2,000 from the jewelry house and a letter acknowledging regretfully that the stones were only Oriental garnets. The Parisian firm pleaded in excuse that they had been deceived themselves in the stones. Jewelry firms in this city report that impositions upon Americans by European houses are of frequent occurrence. The case just cited is, however, the most flagrant that has ever come to the knowledge of Philadelphia jewelers.

Artificial vs. Natural Ice. The ice men in New York City who got up a "boom" and squeezed consumers' nerves when ice was scarce two years ago, are wishing they had no more of it now.

Several companies were formed for the purpose of manufacturing ice, and they seem now to be in a way to drive the natural ice dealers out of the market completely. They are making ice in blocks of 100 pounds from distilled water, which is therefore pure, and they are selling it at wholesale for twenty cents a block. They have already captured the trade of the great hotels and markets, and the scales which used to be made use of to weigh the natural ice have been given up.

ETCHINGS FROM LIFE. An American on his first trip on an English railway quite held his breath at the rapid running. "Oh, no, sir," replied the guard, "we never run of the line here, sir." Resolutions of Condolence. PLUM CREEK, ALLIANCE, NOV. 7, '91. The following resolutions of respect were passed at the regular meeting held November 7, 1891:

WHEREAS, It has pleased a Divine Providence to remove by a very sudden and unexpected death our most highly esteemed and beloved brother, F. C. McNair.

Resolved, That in the death of Brother McNair there has been removed from our midst one of our best and truest members, an accommodating neighbor and true friend.

Resolved, That while we mourn his loss to our order we also extend our heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved friends.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be tendered his friends, a copy be placed on our records and a copy be furnished to THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE, People's Banner and Ulysses Dispatch for publication.

SOME SOLID FACTS.

Not To Be Read Unless You Have Time to Think.

If You Would Do Yourself a Service and Us a Favor, Study These Points Carefully.

When the working voters of the country come to fully understand the money question they will do this: Demand silver and gold, and by constitutional amendment provide for the issue of such an amount of non-redeemable treasury notes as shall raise the price of gold in general to a level previously determined upon, this level to be maintained by a regular increase of the circulation to any amount that may be necessary; this currency to be a full, and the only legal tender, and receivable by the government for all dues.

Is the present standard dollar a just dollar? No. A just dollar is a stationary dollar, one that neither appreciates nor depreciates. Our standard dollar has been steadily appreciating for the past fifteen years. It will never be a just dollar until it has depreciated to an equal extent. It can only be depreciated by what is called an inflation of the currency. Inflation is the natural and only remedy for appreciation. Remember that money is not wealth, but only the tool that exchanges it.

How much money is required by the people of this nation for the most economical exchange of products, and for all business purposes? No living man can tell.

How shall we find it out? By experiment.

Determine first what shall be the purchasing power of a dollar, as measured by all staple commodities. The two rubies were removed from the ring and carefully sealed in a package. The lapidary made an affidavit that these stones were Oriental garnets and not pigeon-blood Oriental rubies. THE ARENA

FOR 1892.

SIX GOOD REASONS WHY

Every member of the FARMERS' ALLIANCE should take THE ARENA FOR 1892.

I. During 1892 The Arena will contain papers on the Farmers' Alliance and its leaders, giving an authoritative history of the rise of the movement, and PORTRAITS of the leading spirits. It is the only journal of the people against monopolies, trusts, plutocracy and official corruption.

II. It will contain authoritative papers setting forth the central claims of each of the great parties of the day, and drawing clearly and sharply the lines of demarcation on all great political, economic and social problems.

III. It will be an encyclopaedia of political and social information, giving its readers a masterly exposition of the true conditions and needs of the present, depicting the evils of the hour, and suggesting remedial calculations to secure a wider and more just liberty for the great suffering millions of our land. From its inception, The Arena has been THE STAPLE AND CHAMPION OF THE PEOPLE, absolutely fearless in its denunciation of plutocracy, monopoly, and all means and measures that would multiply and infringe upon the liberty of the humblest citizen. In the future The Arena will be completely reorganized and brought into line with the rights of the masses against the privileged class.

IV. It will contain great papers by the greatest thinkers in the ALLIANCE and all the kindred organizations which are working for a radical reformation of existing abuses and unjust conditions.

VI. It will contain Hamlin Garland's powerful Alliance story, "A Spill of Oil," which will be the most graphic picture of the western West and the social and political conditions which called forth the Alliance ever presented.

THE ARENA PORTFOLIO Is a beautiful collection of twenty-six superb PORTRAITS of distinguished authors and leaders of thought in this great age of the people.

The Arena one year, price $5.00. The Portfolio, price $2.00. The Farmers' Alliance one year $1.00.

All for $5.30 $10.00

Utilizing Mill Waste. Useful products from bleaching powder-dregs and lime mud from paper mills can be obtained, according to a patent taken out by Mr. Hutchinson, of Manchester.

It is the usual custom to wash the bleaching powder-dregs so as to get all the bleaching powder out of them, and then throw away what is left. According to this patent these dregs constitute a milk of lime, and may be used to causticize carbonate of soda.

If they cannot be used for that they are to be filter-pressed and used in any convenient manner, but if used for causticizing, the carbonate of lime produced is pressed and washed in the filter-press, and may be compressed into bricks, which may be dried and burned into lime again. So far as this process prevents a nuisance and the pollution of water-courses by bleaching powder or caustic soda bottoms it is good, but the lime bottoms themselves are to be valued at a very low figure.—British Papermaker.
