AND STILL THEY COME.

Hon. B. Clark Wheeler, a Delegate to the Minneapolis Convention Joins the People's Party.

How Harrison Was Nominated—Forty Papers in Colorado Desert the G. O. P. and Take Up the People's Cause.

A New Convert Speaks.

Hon. B. Clark Wheeler, editor of the Aspen, (Col.) Daily Times, and one of the leading republicans of Colorado, has come out for the people's party. He was a delegate to the republican national convention at Minneapolis. Speaking of that convention he says:

"I went to Minneapolis and studied the situation thoroughly and well. I found that candidates were preceded by their strikers. There was John C. New, Harrison's consul general to London, who draws a salary of $25,000 a year, and nearly doubles that amount in perquisites, and his son, and Michener, and the son of United States Attorney General Miller, to secure the nomination of Harrison. I got into their precincts behind their forces. I saw as delegates to that convention 123 office holders sent by Harrison from the south, and more than 60 additional officeholders from the north. Others were promised offices as a consideration for their support and when that failed they had $100,000 with which to buy votes. It was not the people who were there to nominate a president, but Harrison's hirelings."

These words were uttered in a speech before a people's party meeting. After discussing the situation at some length he closed with the following words:

I am going to be with the people's party. I will not be in the republican convention to oppose his nomination, but I'll be on the stump to oppose him for election. If you men who have pledged yourselves are sincere, if you mean business, if you are ready to fulfill what you have said, you cannot fall into line and into active service for the people's party too soon, nor can you make the movement effective unless you go from top to bottom. Hois your state, your district and county ticket. Nominate your candidates for governor, congress; nominate your judges and county officers—all—and then press forward with the determination to elect them. We can do it, and while we are at it, let's take the whole hog. I know it's hard to part with the old party, but our firesides, our homes, our investments and our country is at stake. The hour has arrived for us to protect ourselves. I am with you, the people's party, first, last and all the time.

THEY DESERT THE PLUTOCRATIC OLD PARTIES.

The Coming Crisis of Pueblo, Col., publishes the names of forty papers in that state that have deserted the old parties and come out for the people's party since the national conventions were held. Twenty-three of them came from the democratic party, and seventeen from the republican party. Six of the forty are dailies, and the leading papers of the state.

These papers have gone to the new party because their subscribers have gone before them. The people's party will make a clean sweep in the Centennial state.

And Still Another.

The Review, Madison county, Iowa says:

Hon. Geo. W. Seevers, one of our well known and prominent attorneys, who of late years affiliated with the democratic party, addressed the people's party club last Tuesday night. He will support Weaver and Field this year. Mr. Seevers made a masterly address and claimed the party had wandered away from its time honored principles in an abject surrender to, and blind idolatry of, the stuffed prophet of William Street and in the interest of the plutocrats of the country. Mr. Seevers' speech was listened to with great interest and furnished honest democrats much food for reflection.

Van Wyck In Brown County.

LONG PINE, Neb., July 22, 1892.

Gen C H. Van Wyck addressed a large audience at the court house in Ainsworth yesterday. I believe it was the largest political gathering ever held in the place. The largest delegation coming in from the west was received by a procession of those already assembled, and headed by a martial band was escorted through the principal streets to the court house which was soon filled to overflowing.

In his speech the general showed the hopelessness of expecting relief through either of the old parties; that reform was necessary and must come from the laboring people themselves. The people, he said, never had too much money and had never had any depreciated currency except that which the bondholder forced on the soldier during the war. He was frequently cheered throughout his speech.

W. J. STOCKWELL.

Our song entitled "The Taxpayers Settle the Bills," relates in the keenest, funniest, most sarcastic way the difference between the Robbin Hood style of usurers and their latter day friends.

At Ulysses.

On Saturday afternoon the opera house at Ulysses was crowded to overflowing with people who came out to hear State Lecturer Dech who spoke on the issues of the day, especially the money question. He was followed by Hon. Jerome Shamp who made an excellent speech on the transportation question. The enthusiasm ran high.

At Wabash.

The Alliance people of Cass county had a very successful picnic at Wabash on last Saturday. Willard Kiefer, president of the county Alliance, presided. Hon W. F. Wright was the principal speaker.

J. Lynch, a young farmer, and Mrs. Kiefer make snort speeches. Music by the Wabash band. About 800 present. The young people had a dance in the evening.

At Hazard.

The independents of the southwestern part of Sherman county had a magnificent rally on July 16th. They had a parade with nearly three hundred teams in line. The speakers were Rev. J. M. Snyder, Hon. Stanley Thompson of Kearney, and Hon. John H. Powers. There was singing by the Hazard glee club, music by the band and a grand picnic dinner. The business men of Litchfield and Hazard closed their houses from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., an example of courtesy that might well be followed elsewhere.

Meetings in Cass County.

LINCOLN, July 22, 1892.

Notwithstanding the intense heat of last week I closed a series of very successful series of six meetings in Cass county. At Eagle, Elmwood, Union and Cascade Alliances held rousing good meetings. At Alva and Wabash a grand rally at each point. Cass county people party men and women are thoroughly aroused and there are no more earnest workers in the state.

The demo-repubs at every point are on the run. Our boys are crowding them to the wall, and a more woe-begone set of politicians than the repubs and demos has not been seen since the year One of the "earth's creation."

W. F. WRIGHT,

Assistant State Lecturer.

A great fight is on in Texas. Mr. Mills and Mr. Reagan have entered the campaign and are trying to save their state from going over to the people's party. But they have no easy task. There has been a revolution in Texas in the minds of the people. Mills' old district has been carried by an independent and he is renominated for a full term. The whole state is aroused, and well it may be. Texas is getting a little pre-election taste of the approaching land-slide. And Texas is not alone in the shaking up: The political tremors are becoming epidemic from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

Two Fine Hogs Worth $25 00 Each to be Given Away.

Bischel Bros. of Kearney are proprietors of the U. S. Tecumseh Corwin Herd of Poland China hogs. They are also enthusiastic workers in the people's movement. In a letter received a few days ago they make the following offer. To the person raising the largest number of subscribers to the ALLIANCE-INDEPENDENT before Sept. 1, '92, they will ship the first choice of their spring pigs; and to the person getting the second largest club they will ship the second choice. These pigs will be worth not less than $25.00 each. They will be about five months old. They are bred from stock selected from the best herds in Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Nebraska. They are as good as can be found anywhere. Their hogs are mainly of the U. S., the Corwin and Tecumseh strains of Poland Chinas.

The editor of the ALLIANCE-INDEPENDENT is well acquainted with the Bischel Bros., and can vouch for the genuineness of this offer, and the reliability of their representations.

Here is a fine opportunity for some patriotic independent to help on the cause of reform, and improve his stock at the same time. Who will try it? Let us hear from you at once. We will accept subscribers under this offer for one year, six months, or for the campaign. One yearly subscriber counts as much as two for six months, or four for the campaign. If you want to work for this premium, mark every list you send in "For hog premium."

The Fremont Tribune and the State Journal are worried because so many men "who ought to be killing weeds, are trying to reform the world." Just so. Let the people go on killing weeds and meeting all the drudgery in life, and leave it to the republican leaders to reform the world and reap the income from the toil of the masses and all will be well. These old ringsters are greatly alarmed lest these weed killers should band together and enjoy some of the fruits of their own hard labor instead of turning it all over to the bankers and railroad managers and political managers. And there is good ground for this alarm. The farmers and the laboring men are getting together, and in due course of time the horde of idle political managers who have lived in luxury by the sweat of other men's brows will have to do some of the weed-pulling themselves.
