Buffalo County Alliance.

KEARNEY, Neb., January 25, 1893. Editor ALLIANCE-INDEPENDENT:

Buffalo County Alliance met yesterday in city hall with a very good attendance. A fine set of resolution was a topted which were ordered printed in your paper.

G. H Reiter was elected president, C. A. Borders vice-president. Thos. A. Donahoe secretary John Hogg lecturer. There was a committee of president, secretary and lecturer organized to push the literary work which I think will be of great service to the cause. There was a resolution adopted and forwarded to representa ives to stay by the caucus nominee, Mr. Powers, and keep in the middle of the road and help neither old party to elect a United States senator.

Yours fraternally, THOS. A. DONAHOE.

The Call to Duty.

CLRKS, Neb., Jan. 26, 1893.

Editor ALLIANCE-INDEPRNDENT: State Lecturer S. C. Fairchild has be n with us in Merrick county and held two meetings. In behalf of Brother Fairchild and our noble order, I desire to urge upon all our prethren to make a special effort to attend his meetings, and urge upon alloutside the Alliance the importance of attending the various meetgs which he will hold the coming par. Truth can never die, but how unfortunate that error is often enthroned in the minds of mankind only to lution which was adopted: lead people to misery, destruction and death. Brother Fairchild's plain practical and original manner of presenting postponed. truth, will remove prejudice and error, establish alliance principles which underlie all true government, thus tending to lead the masses toward a grand and better life. To all members of the Alliance and the many fr. ids throughout the state, let me urge pon you the great importance of keeping alive the Alliance, which is the best school ever established in which the wealth producers can be taught the science of true government. The subsidized press is a misleading teacher in our boasted land of liberty, and in the hands of those who are robbing the wealth p oducers of their earnings, is a powerful engine of evil leading toward serfdom and slavery By them the laws of Moses and the prophets and the sermon on the mount, if they ever knew them, have been forgotten. In the present and future as in the past, if our country is saved it must be done by the great common wealth producing people. Through the educational work of the Alliance the great plain people can be saved. I leave off as I began, do not fail to attend Brother Fa rchi d's meetings, and all along the line let us have a revival sof the Alliance that means freedom from corporate power to an entire

NEBRASKA LEGISLATURE.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 25-Senator Stewart plunged the senate into an animated discussion over an attempt on his part to alter the journal. He raised the question that the minutes were not correct for the reason that the motion to adopt the resolution offered by Senator Babcock for the dismissal of the committee on employes was not legal. The gen-tleman was informed that the question of legality was not at isone, but could be raised at some other time, after which the journal was approved. Bills were read for the first time as follows: By Graham, to amend the code relalows: By Graham, to amend the code relative to civil procedure; by Pope, to fix and regulate telephone charges; by Everett, to amend the code of civil procedure, to provide that 50 per cent. wages of heads of families shall be exempt from execution and garnishment; by Sanders, to suppress gambling; by Egleston, to prevent cruelty to animals; by Campbell, to define the term "real property;" by Gray, to reduce passenger rates to 21-2 cents per mile and to prohibit free transportation; by Packwood, relating to assessment of personal wood, relating to assessment of personal property; by North, to provide for the selection of judges pro tem of the district

After a brief recess the senate ad journed and went over to the house to listen to individual preferences for United States senator. Senator Thomsen sent up a resolution of respect to Representative Farrell, and that out of respect to his memory the senate do ad-journ until morning. The motion pre-vailed and the senate adjourned.

The special house committee, consisting of Gifford, Beal, Gerdes and Smith, to investigate all the state offices, asked to be excused for lack of time to attend to the matter. The request was granted. The house went into committee of the whole to consider house foll 30, a measure to permit farmers to purchase lumber and coal of wholesalers in carload lots at the same rate as regular carload lots at the same rates as regular dealers. The bill was reported back to the committee on miscellaneous relief

An attempt was made to have the judiciary committee look into the matter of the penitentiary contract, but the matter was tabled. Resolutions were adopted respecting the death of Representative Farrell.

THURSDAY, Jan. 26.—The hall of the house of representatives was heavily draped in mourning when the members assembled this morning. It was the silent tribute of the members to the memory of their deceased fellow representative, Farrell of North Bend.

Upon the adoption of Johnston's resolution providing for a committee of three, one from each political party, to act in conjunction with the senate committee in examining into the condition of the Capital National bank, with ref-erence to funds of the state deposited there, the speaker appointed Johnston, Brockman and Sinclair as such committee. House rolls 79, 12, 60 and 87 were recommended for indefinite postpone-ment. The consideration of Watson's silver resolution went over by common

At the afternoon session the house went into committee of the whole and a number of bills were considered. Dobson's usury bill precipitated a hot argument. The committee finally rose, reported progress and asked leave to sit again upon the bill. The senate took on an air of business for the first time since the session commenced. The fish committee reported senate file No. 14 for reference to the committee on finance, ways and means. Senate file No. 14 was recommended for passage, as was No. 39, to provide for the appointment of bailiffs for grand

Porter immediately offered an amendment embodied in a resolution to the effect that the house snould remain in session six days in a week. The motion to adjourn to Tuesday finally carried.

House rolls 67, 65 and 81 were indefinitely postponed. One of them provided for the payment of bounties for the destruction of wild animals and the backwoods members opposed the postpon-ment vigorously and succeeded in having the bill placed on the general file. McKesson offered the following resoin the senate Mullen from the railroad committee reported senate bill 57, a bill to provide for reorganizing the state board of transportation and reducing the salaries of the secretaries to $1,000 per anum, with a recommendation that it be placed on the general file. Tefft's resolution that no employes name be placed upon the pay roll who had not been appointed by a voge of the senate was adopted. The action of the senate in indefinitely postponing the bill to secure depositors in banks was reconsidered and placed on the general file. A number of bills were introduced and the senate went into committee of the whole on house roll 93. After one or two important amendments were made the committe rose and reported the bill for passage. The report was adopted. The senate then went into committee of the whole to consider bills on the general file. At noon the senate adjourned to go into joint convention.

When the senate recovened a communication was received from Attorney General Hastings in response to questions embodied in a resolution adopted early in the week in regard to the liability of the outgoing and incoming state treasurers for money lost in the Capital National bank failure. The attorney general says that the outgoing treasure.'s bond is liable for the loss. After considering bills on the general file the senate adjourned. SATURDAY, Jan. 28 .- An attempt was made to re-open the Dougias county con test cases by a motion by Rhodes to strike from the journal that part per taining to the contest proceeding, on the ground that the action of the house was illegal and unconstitutional.

McKesson raised the point of order that motion partook cathe nature of a reconsideration of the previous days' proceedings, and as such, action was barred. Howe raised another point of order and asserted that Rhodes wanted an excuse with which to go before his constituents. Upon a call of the house on the motion to strike out the motion was lost by a vote of 27

Davies offered a resolution relating to the state's indebtedness to W. H. Dor-gan and it was adopted.

After the joint convention the special message of the governor was read and the house adjourned.

Senator McDonald presented a peti-tica asking for the passage of the mu-nicipal suffrage bill now on the general file of the senate. The secretary, for the information of the senate, read a communication from Charles A. Coe, president of the Nebraska Columbian exposition, transmitting the plans and specifications, statement of expendi-tures, contracts, etc. The wnole mat-ter was referred to the World's Fair was read and the senate adjourned.

After wrangling for awhile over the matter of employes the senate listened to the reading of the senate files 114 to 127 inclusive and adjourned to go into joint convention. After the joint convention the governor's special message was read and the senate adjourned.

Monday, Jan. 30.—At the opening of the house today Mr. Luikart of Madison was appointed member of the committee on elections and privileges. Beal of Custer offered a resolution that no employe be allowed for extra time unless it be at the same rate paid per hour for regular work. The entire morning session was spent in discussing this resolution and the law passed by the last legislature wherein eight hours constitutes a day's labor and extra time demands double the pay.

The senate made no attempt to transact business this forenoon. After the joint convent on the senate took a recess until 2:30. After the senate convened in the afternoon the following was of-tered by Mr. Moore and adopted:

Resolved. That the honorable supreme court of this state be and is hereby requested to advise this senate whether or not the law passed in 1891 requiring the state treasurer to deposit in banks, at interest current funds of the state, is in that respect in conflict with that portion of section 23 of article 3 of the constitution which reads as follows:

No money shall be drawn from the

No money shall be drawn from the treasury except in pursuance of a specific appropriation made by law and on the presentation of a warrant issued by the auditor thereon, and no money shall be diverted from any appropriation made, for any purpose, or taken from any fund whatever, either by joint or separate reso-

The senate then on the motion of North adjourned out of respect to the memory of James G. Blaine.

TUESDAY, Jan. 81, -The senate indulged in a squabble over the matter of employes this morning. The difficul-ty was caused by a resolution which was offered one day last week to place the names of T. D. Worrell, supply clerk, and J. B. Romain, night watch in the secretary's office on the pay roll. Senator Campbell declared that both men were needed, but Senator Pope asserted that the alleged night watchman had not performed his duties and that he spent the night in playing high five. Senator Everett offered a substitute authorizing the secretary of state to purchase or rent a safe in which to store important papers, and his substitute was agreed to. Another contest arose over the question of paying the two men for their services already rendered, and after some further discussion it was voted to pay them for their services up to date. A few bills were introduced, after which the senate adjourned to go into joint convention.

In the afternoon senate file No. 7, by Graham, authorizing J. E. Cobbey of Beatrice to compile and print the statutes of Nebraska, was read the third time and placed on its passage.

Senate file No. 3, by Eggleston, providing for the appointment of deputy county attorneys in counties having a population greater than 70,000 was passed.

The senate went into committee of the whole on Dysart's senate file No. 17 providing for the choice of presidential electors on the Michigan plan. The bill was referred back to the committee on constitutional amendments. The bill to provide for a constitutional convention was also referred to that committee. The senate then adjourned. Dobson's usury bill was considered by the committee of the whole in the house. An amendment offered by Davis provided for the forfeiture of the security or cancelation of the mortgage, but not forfeiting the princi-The amendment was defeated and the bill was finally recommended for passage. A number of bills were introduced. After the joint convention the house went into committee of the whole. House roll No. 2, to prevent undervaluation of property by assessors and the state board of equalization, was taken up and recommended to passage. The same course was followed by house roll Nos. 15, 25 and 50.

Harman's bill, reducing the rate of interest to be paid on tax sales at the time of redemption to 5 per cent. was amended to read 12 per cent., and was then recommitted.

The bill providing for the incorporation of villages situated in two or more counties; the bill Michiganizing the state, and the bill enabling judgment debtors to dissolve the general lien of judgment pending proceedings of appeal or error were recommended for passage.

That body concurred in all the reports and ordered the engressing of all the bills reported on favorably for a third day, at 8:18 a. m., December 9th, a d reading, with the exception of a tax sale and the Michiganizing bills.

Powers Dropped.

The Independent caucus dropped Powers and took up W. L. Greene of Kearney. The Paddock men are downhearted, while the Thurston boomers are jubilant and predict the selection of their chief at the next caucus. Four Populists announce their determination to stand by Powers to the last. The sitnation is more mixed than ever.

The senatorial ballot yesterday stood:
Powers, 53; Paddock, 2; Majors. 10;
Thurston, 6; Bryan, 8. The rest of the votes were scattered among thirteen

A STATEMENT OF FAUIS

Mr. J. M. Thompson's stock in the Alliance Publishing Company was sold at sheriff's sale on Tuesday. The circonstances were as follows: Last spring one A. J. Rigby was employed as advertising solicitor for the Atliance Publishing Company. While in the empley of the company he was guilty of criminal acts for which he was discharged. Mr. Toompson with the ther men bers of the company shielded him from exposure and puni-hment.

Rigby has since allied himself with the not rious Holden, and is now working on Liberty. Now he returns Mr. hom pson's kindness by suing him on a note which he (Rigby) holds against him, and selling his stock at forced sale, and at a great sacrifice.

This sale will have no effect on the standing or policy of the company. The present management owns a clear majority of the stock and have absolute control of the paper.

We are very sorry to lose Mr. Thompson from our company and especially under such circumstances

We make this plain statement at this time to forestall the enemies of the ALLIANCE INDEPENDENT who will doubtless undertake to misrepresent the facts.

THE SECRET OUT.

How. Wm. H. Rhawn one of the leading bankers of Philadelphia, lets out the secret of the "good roads" agitation in the following manner:

"It is proposed that these bonds shall cear the low rate of two and a half perent per annum, which invested at two and a palf per cent per annum, it is salculated, will repay the principal in eventy-two years, and the entire charge would, therefore, be at three er cent per annum divided equally beown-hip. Sucrements would be done
the least possible cost, for no county could otherwise obtain money at so low rate. The market for these bonds rould be practically unlimited, as they vould be available for every descripate bonds are throughout the world. f issued continually, and to the extent hey probably would be, they should at ce settle the question of the life of he national banking system supposed o depend up n th life of the present overnment bonds, as they would be qually a- valuable and acceptiable as a urity for the note- of national banks s the government bonds now are, hich is a most important consideraion, indeed it would seem second only o that of the improvement of the Jads."

Mr. Vest spoke of the action of the house of representatives of the Missouri legislature instructing the United States senators from that state to vote for the bill, and said he preferred his own self respect to personal or political applause. There was sueshine in other places besides Washington City, and the air of the prairies was purer than that of the senate chamber. He should, therefore, with the greatest pleasure, vote against the bill.
