

'T WAS CHICAGO DAY.

Tremendous Outpouring of People at the World's Fair.

HALF A MILLION PEOPLE TURN OUT.

The People Came From Everywhere and Thousands Were Compelled to Sleep in Stairways, Restaurants and Hotel Offices.

Imposing Scenes Presented.

CHICAGO, Oct. 01.—At day break this morning there were scores of people about the gates of the world's fair grounds, and when the ticket takers went to their places the scores had grown to thousands.

The people came from every direction. Thousands were compelled to sleep in stairways, restaurants and hotel offices last night as the city was completely filled and cots were at a premium.

While the people were scrambling through the gates, Simon Pokagon, the Pottawatomie chief, and John Young, son of the Indian who named Chicago, rang the new liberty bell.

At noon every avenue was filled with a restless, moving throng and the Midway, as well as the approaches thereto, was black with people. It was almost impossible to pass through the buildings.

The restaurants were wholly inadequate to serve the hungry. Half of the people carried lunch baskets.

Downtown business houses were locked up Saturday night not to be reopened until to-morrow. Merchants purchased tickets for their employes.

The decorations at the fair were superb. From the flagstaffs of the big buildings, keeping company with the stars and stripes, the colors of every nation waved.

It was 10 o'clock when the Chicago hussars, under command of Captain Brand, entered the grounds at the west end of Midway.

Combined bands numbering several hundred musicians, played the air of "All Nations." It was a grand spectacle. The height of enthusiasm was reached, however, when a chorus of 2,000 voices under the direction of Professor Tomlins, sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

The court of honor presented an imposing scene in the afternoon. There was a grand reunion of states represented by youths and maidens all attired in appropriate costumes symbolic of the states which they represented.

Chicago's guard of honor was comprised of youths representing the thirty-four wards of the city, each bearing a huge shield on which was inscribed the word "Welcome."

Following them were thirteen pretty misses representing the thirteen original states of the Union. They carried shields and olive branches and each wore a crown which was surmounted by a large gilt star.
