Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 19, 1893.

Gentlemen—I have been a victim of rheumatism for several years past. I have suffered intensely with it. One day I suffered from one of the most violent attacks of the disease, and at once began taking hot salt water baths at your new and splendid hot house in this city. Under the care of your gentlemanly and efficient attendant, Mr. Henry Schmitt, I have, I think, entirely recovered. From a experience and my observation of the results of treatment of many patients at the Hot Springs above named and at your bath house, I am convinced that better and quicker results can be obtained by a course of hot salt water baths at your bath house than at any other place in the country. I do not hesitate to not only to recommend, but to urge every person suffering from rheumatism to try a course of baths at your bath house under the directions of one of the physicians in charge. I believe your new and magnificent bath house will prove a great blessing to the many victims of rheumatism in this vicinity, and I hope it will result in the liberal patronage of the public. You have not requested of me any testimonial, but I deem it proper that I should acknowledge the great relief I have received at your hands, and you may use what I have said in such manner as you may deem proper. Very respectfully,
 J. B. STRODE.

The above from Judge Strode is but a sample of the many similar testimonials we have received without solicitation and which will appear from time to time in these columns.

THE SILVER DEBATE.

And Still it Drags Its Weary Length Along.

SENATOR HARRIS IS INDIGNANT

He Resents the Criticism of Memphis Merchants on His Actions—Messrs Voorhees and Cockrell Speak.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—When the senate met to-day Mr. Harris of Tennessee, replied in caustic terms to a resolution from the Memphis Merchants exchange, which, he said, criticised in terms more or less severe his colleague (Mr. Bate) and himself and charged dereliction of duty in opposing repeal. He said that he believed he knew his own duty better than they did.

Mr. Wolcott took the floor to speak on the resolution directing the committee on finance to report a bill embodying the declaration of policy contained in the Voorhees substitute.

Mr. Wolcott criticised severely the letter of the president to Governor Northern of Georgia, which he characterized as one of the most remarkable pronouncements of this generation. He also spoke of extraordinary activity of the administration to force individual views on congress and condemned the action of the secretary of the treasury in failing to purchase the amount of silver required by law.

Mr. Voorhees replied at great length and with some feeling.

The repeal bill was then taken up and Senator Cockrell of Missouri, addressed the senate against unconditional repeal.

The Democratic senators took advantage of the Sunday quiet to hold a conference at the capitol yesterday for the purpose, if possible, of agreeing upon a course with reference to the repeal bill. It is known that no agreement was reached and the discrepancy was made again that it would be very difficult to reach an understanding. It also appeared that the party in the senate was almost evenly divided upon the question of unconditional repeal, twenty-one being favorably thereto and twenty-four opposed.

Should the senate dispose of the silver problem this week everything else would be laid aside in the house to act upon it. The sentiment in the house is very strong that a compromise should be the result, but if that compromise should be rejected with it a provision for a bond issue, it would encounter most bitter and formidable opposition. Indeed the Democratic leaders do not hesitate to give it as their opinion that a proposition for a bond issue could never be passed in the lower branch of congress.

Secretary Carlisle was at the capitol Saturday and held a long conference with Democratic senators. It was at first reported that he was figuring on a compromise, but later Senators Vance and Voorhees and Mr. Carlisle himself declared that the administration had no compromise to offer, but that the repeal fight would continue indefinitely without any recess of the senate.

Mr. Martin of Kansas gave notice Saturday that he would speak on the silver question Wednesday.

STILL ON ELECTIONS REPEAL.

Western Members Pay Their Compliments to Chicago and New York.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Mr. Aldrich, the representative from Chicago, opened the debate in the house on the election bill this morning with a vigorous defense of the Republican attempt to check the "Democratic frauds" in that great city and put down the alleged "Carter Harrison ring."

Mr. Dolliver of Iowa followed in the same strain. The repeal of the election laws, he said, placed the government in the attitude of disowning the men who defended its life and of leaving them without civil rights except by the grace of state laws, invented to destroy their right of suffrage. He then made a vigorous attack on Tammany, an organization which, he said, lived upon tithes exacted from the votes, the misfortunes and contracts of the great American city.

Mr. Boutelle of Maine, after delivering a glowing apostrophe to New England, in which he made some sarcastic allusions to Dr. Everett of Massachusetts, was about to read an extract from James Russell Lowell, which he said described the dough face of 1861 and enabled him to throw upon the scene of the house a photograph of the dough face of 1893. Suddenly Mr. Springer took exception against applying the epithet "dough face" to a member of the house.

"It is an epithet," returned Mr. Boutelle defiantly, "which can be applied with equal force as well to the gentleman from Illinois as the gentleman from Maine."

Mr. Springer's face grew white with rage as he cried: "Do I understand you to say that you applied that epithet to me?"

"You understood it as well as you are capable of understanding anything," retorted Mr. Boutelle.

"I want you to know, sir," replied Mr. Springer, striding toward his adversary with fire in his eyes, "that you dare not apply such an epithet to me."

"Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Illinois cannot be impertinent to me under the guise of a point of order," replied Mr. Boutelle. "But I withdraw the epithet," he continued moving his arms magnanimously in Mr. Springer's direction. "In order that I may go on with my speech. I deny, however, that it was unparliamentary. The attempt to make it so is as silly as the attempt in the last congress to take exception to the word 'nug-wump'."

Mr. Springer was evidently far from being satisfied with the boat, but he seated himself and Mr. Boutelle read the extract from Lowell.

Barratt Scott's Case.

O'NEILL, Neb., Oct. 10.—Several new phases in the Scott case came up yesterday. At 3 o'clock yesterday morning injunction papers were served by Scott's attorneys upon the First National bank, restraining it from paying the $2,000 deposited there for the reward of Sheriff Cunningham for capturing Scott. The object of the injunction is twofold, first to prevent the payment of a reward to Cunningham and second to cancel the warrants. Plaintiffs in the case allege that Cunningham did not earn the reward; that Scott was willing and in fact coming home when arrested by the sheriff and that Cunningham held him in old Mexico unlawfully, waiting to get a larger reward. This plaintiff claims to be able to prove. Court convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock to adjust Scott's bond, but adjourned before noon without completing the same. Judge Kinkaid having to go to Boyd county to hold court. The case will be resumed Saturday. There was considerable excitement in town Monday and an undercurrent of strong feeling existed on both sides, yet everything is quiet now and no trouble is anticipated. The dispatch of yesterday went too far in describing conditions Saturday night and did the town and Cunningham an injustice. There was no possibility of a riot either time. Scott was brought up from the train in the evening and Cunningham and his deputy were on the streets as late as 10:30.

Not Fully Identified.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 10.—The remains of Charles Fisher, the burglar who was killed by Officer Smith on Thursday night were interred by Undertaker Troyer yesterday afternoon, no word as yet having been received from the relatives of the deceased. Fanny Fisher of Omaha telegraphed Saturday, requesting that a picture be sent to her, and a photograph was taken and mailed. No reply has been received here. One Charles Fisher, a man of about thirty years, came through from Denver, bound for Omaha, Sunday. He was interviewed by the police and questioned as to whether he was the brother of the man in Omaha, he said, and one whose whereabouts he did not know. He resembled the dead man in general features, but was heavier. It is generally believed that the relatives are either hindered by moderate means from claiming the remains or that they do not want to own him.

Made Lively Resistance.

OMAHA, Oct. 10.—A bold attempt at highway robbery was made at Twenty-sixth and Cass streets last night and both of the robbers were afterwards captured. A man named Bradshaw was pulled from his wagon by two men who knocked him down and attempted to rob him. Bradshaw made such spirited resistance and called so loudly for help that the highwaymen were compelled to flee for safety. He reported the matter to the police, with an accurate description of the men, and at midnight Detectives Hayes and Hudson recognized Harry Hill and Charles Foster as the two who committed the assault, and placed them under arrest.

An Old Settler Gone.

HARVARD, Neb., Oct. 10.—Mr. George Colburn, residing two miles northeast of Harvard, died on Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, aged between thirty-five and forty years. The deceased had lived a long time in this vicinity and was universally respected. He leaves a widow and six children. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. O. Work, delivering an appropriate discourse in the presence of a large audience. The members of the lodge of Modern Woodmen, of which Mr. Colburn had been a member, attended in a body.

Burglars at Waterloo.

WATERLOO, Neb., Oct. 10.—Saturday night thieves visited the house of John McGiven and stole 600 pounds of cumbed seed, valued at $150, and got away without leaving any trace behind other than the track of a wagon. The seed was in an iron tank near the river, a few rods from McGiven's residence, and during the night the thieves happened that way, took everything out of the tank and drove away. The next morning the wagon track was followed as far as Elk City, where it was lost.

Crushed His Foot.

AURORA, Neb., Oct. 10.—J. Maninal, a stock man from Whitman, came in yesterday evening with a car of cattle. When the train reached this place he left the way car and went to the lunch counter to get a lunch. When he came out the train had started and was moving quite rapidly, but he attempted to climb on in such a way that the trucks ran over the toes of his right foot, crushing them so badly that they had to be amputated.

Funeral of Mrs. Corcoran.

YORK, Neb., Oct. 10.—The funeral services of Mrs. George F. Corcoran were held Sunday afternoon at the Catholic church. Mrs. Corcoran was the wife of Court Reporter Corcoran of the Fifth judicial district. The procession to the cemetery was composed of the fire company, A. O. U. W., Modern Woodmen and Hibernian society (of all of which Mr. Corcoran was a member) on foot, and 128 teams.

Swallowed Concentrated Lye.

TABLE ROCK, Neb., Oct. 10.—The two-year-old child of Charles Neader, living three miles southeast of here, swallowed quite an amount of concentrated lye which had been carelessly left in its reach, Saturday, and its throat and windpipe are severely burned. The physician has but slight hopes of its recovery.

Auburn People at the Fair.

AUBURN, Neb., Oct. 10.—Two special cars left Auburn Saturday for the world's fair via the Missouri Pacific & Milwaukee road, carrying sixty citizens, which, added to Friday's and Sunday's departure, make the number of Auburn people now in Chicago over one hundred.

Will Prove Fatal.

OMAHA, Oct. 10.—W. C. Brown, the victim of a violent prostration, is lying in view of the probable fatal outcome of his illness, who has been arrested as a fugitive from justice and is held in Council Bluffs. She will probably refuse to come without a reprieve, as she did once before.

THE VIGILANT WINS EASILY.

England's Cruik Yacht Badly Beaten in Her Own Wind.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—In just the weather the British desired the Vigilant beat the Valkyrie to-day in the second of the America's cup races and now there is not a person in New York who believes that the British yacht has a ghost of a chance to carry the trophy back to England, from which it came forty-two years ago.

The Vigilant started in the rear but beat its English rival by over three minutes to the first stake boat, increased this to six minutes at the second stake boat and passed the finish line at 2:50 o'clock while the Valkyrie passed the line at 3:02½—over two and one-half miles behind.

The victory of the American yacht was conceded on all hands to have been a most decisive one and when she went over the line, there was a wild scene of enthusiasm. The finish was witnessed by probably 30,000 people.

The start to-day was from Sandy Hook lighthouse, over a triangular course, ten miles to a leg.

At 10 o'clock a heavy mist crept along the shores of Long Island and the breeze was very light. Half an hour later, however, the fog had again cleared away and the wind had freshened to sixteen miles an hour.

When the Valkyrie appeared it was seen that Lady Duncraven was on board to cheer the sailors.

The wind increased steadily hour by hour and when the preparatory gun was fired, it was blowing eighteen miles an hour.

At 11:20 the signal was given and five minutes later the Valkyrie crossed the line followed in about five seconds by her American rival. The Vigilant took in one of her sails and soon the Valkyrie was four lengths ahead.

At 11:40 o'clock, the wind had freshened to a twenty mile breeze and the Valkyrie was more than holding her lead. Twenty minutes later, however, the Vigilant was closing up on her rival inch by inch and at 12:10 the two appeared to be on about even terms.

Ten minutes later the Vigilant was an eighth of a mile ahead and was able to take in her jib top-sail. The flagstaff may be just astern of the Vigilant and the gallant work of the American was cheered again and again, especially as the Englishmen had claimed that the better the wind the better the Valkyrie's chances, but the Vigilant was beating her on the wind as badly as on Saturday.

At 1:09 o'clock the Vigilant rounded the first stake boat nearly a mile ahead of the Valkyrie. The game was then so keen that the great spinnaker on the American boat was furled. Three minutes and fifteen seconds later, the Valkyrie also rounded the stake boat.

A few moments later the Vigilant was fairly flying on the dead run to leeward on the second leg, apparently increasing the gap that separated her from her rival. The Vigilant's time on the first leg was 1 hour and 44 minutes; the Valkyrie's 1:47:15. This was doing very well indeed, as the vessels in taking had to travel nearly double the length of the course of ten miles.

THOUSANDS ON STRIKE.

All the Woolen Mill Operatives of Olneyville, R. I., Resist Reduced Wages.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 11.—A big strike in the woolen mills at Olneyville was inaugurated this morning. Probably 6,000 people are out of work and the strike is growing rapidly. Before it stops, unless all signs fail, every manufacturing establishment in this state will be closed and there is talk of the cotton-workers joining in.

There had been discontent ever since a notice was posted in the mills last week of a reduction in wages. Several meetings of the operators were held and speeches of a nature to precipitate a strike were made by labor agitators. It was resolved to wait until this morning when it was understood the scale of prices was to be posted, before taking definite action.

Tried to Kill His Partner.

POTTER, Neb., Oct. 11.—Eric A. A. Miklund, a well-to-do Norwegian farmer, living fifteen miles north of here, shot and instantly killed Andrew Anderson on the latter's farm. The two men have had some words recently about Miklund's conduct toward his wife. Miklund is a wife-beater of the worst type, and Anderson was trying to pacify Miklund when he was killed. Intense excitement prevails among the Swedes and if they get hold of the murderer he will be stretched up.

Suicide of a Farmer.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 11.—William Goodwin, a farmer residing near Manhattan, committed suicide Saturday evening by cutting his throat with a razor. Goodwin and his wife were driving along the road in a wagon, when he suddenly stopped his team, sprang from the wagon, rushed into a thicket and committed the deed before his wife could interfere.

Midnight Tragedy at Dexter, Mo.

DEXTER, Mo., Oct. 11.—About midnight last night Joe Miller made an assault upon the home of Lee Edwards, with whom he sought a difficulty. In an effort to reach Edwards, who had retreated from Miller, the latter knocked Mrs. Edwards down. Edwards then shot Miller dead. He surrendered.

Took Morphine and Died.

RICHLAND, Mo., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Clara Ford took 50 cents worth of morphine and was found dead in bed. This was her fifth effort. She was young and handsome, but her married life was unhappy from incompatibility of temper.

Mining Plant Burned.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Oct. 11.—The Coshcocton mining plant owned by Coshcocton, Ohio, capitalists, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Loss, $15,000.

A GOOD INDIAN NOW.

Tom Ponsaka Was Shot Through the Heart.

PENALTY OF THE GREEK LAWS.

His Coffin and all Preparations for Burial at Hand—The Doomed Man Met His Fate With a Stoical Indifference.

Other Men Escape.

MCALISTER, Ind. Terr., Oct. 11.—Tom Ponsaka was a bad Indian. He was a murderer and bully and a reward of $500 was offered for his capture. He is a good Indian now.

Friday afternoon he paid the penalty of his crime to the Creek laws. His coffin and all preparations for burial were at hand. The doomed man looked down on them with stoical indifference. Quite a number of people gathered to see the execution, which occurred in front of the court house at Wellington. Light Horsemen Johnson and Edwards were the executioners.

When the hour arrived they told Ponsaka to take his position. With cool indifference he walked over and took a seat on his coffin box, crossed his hands in his lap and placed his feet one across the other and looked calmly at his executioners as they aimed the death shot at a distance of about three yards.

Two rifle shots rang out simultaneously and Ponsaka fell over and in a few minutes life was extinct. One ball entered the breast over the heart, and the other entered the breast centrally on a line with the heart.

Ponsaka last year shot down Light Horseman Simon Tully because he understood that the light horseman, in the discharge of his duty, had made application for a writ for him for horse stealing. It is said that a family feud was also mixed with the trouble. He escaped and made himself generally troublesome, and the Creek nation offered a reward of $500 for his capture. About a month ago he was captured, tried and convicted of murder, and his sentence and execution followed rapidly.

Choeks and Mose, two other Creek Indians, were to have been shot Friday, but both made their escape from the guards before the execution day.

DEFAULTER AND FUGITIVE.

Treasurer McCurtain of the Choctaw Nation Short Over $100,000.

TUSKALOOMA, I. T., Oct. 11.—National Choctaw Treasurer Green McCurtain has turned the funds of his office over to his successor, W. W. Wilson. Immediately after turning over his books he disappeared and has not since been heard from. It now turns out that he is short in his accounts about $140,000. His shortage in the lease district fund is over $100,000. The treasurer of the United States turned over to him $1,545,000. There were 13,749 Choctaws registered to draw $103 per capita. Out of this number something near fifty failed to draw. If they had all drawn it would have taken $1,416,147 to pay them, leaving a balance of $129,453. To this he has a credit of $24,727, but it will take about $5,000 from it to pay the balance of claims that are registered. There is $104,737 unaccounted for.

The Choctaw men are loud in denouncing him and a number of the Jones men denounce him. His bond is only $50,000. His shortage may reach $140,000 or $150,000.
