Their First Entertainment.

Of course you didn't go to the ball and card party given by Council No. 3, W. A. P. A. the evening of the 20th inst., if you had you would have enjoyed yourself so well that the next day you would have talked about it so much that all your friends would have died of envy thinking of the pleasures they had denied themselves.

The dancing began about 9 o'clock and continued throughout the night. The grand march was participated in by about forty couples, and the first quadrille by ten sets.

About 11 o'clock a lunch was served in the hall. This was in charge of Mrs. Shammel and Mrs. Griffith, and was as toothsome a repast as was ever placed before a crowd of dancers.

The music was furnished by six artists, and the "caller" was the best in the city.

When the party finally broke up everybody pronounced the entertainment a complete success, both financially and otherwise.

Much of the credit for the success is due to the untiring efforts of Mesdames Fitch, Livingston, Haas, Musser, Hall, Wilson, Baldwin, Cathrow, Garnor, and Misses Bond, Hopper, Doubt and Astleford, and they are well satisfied with the outcome. They will net quite a sum.

North Omaha Citizens can get their Christmas presents and savetime and car fare at Bro. Stephen Collins has come and gone. He certainly is a wonderful man, a gentleman in every sense of the word, a man of sterling worth.

While in St. Louis and the State, he endeared himself to all the members he met. He has accomplished a great work in our midst. The work grew under his magical touch in a most wonderful way. He has such a quiet way of working; no bluster or flurry, and seeks to gain no notoriety, preferring to give others the credit for work accomplished. The members in Missouri bid him God speed in his chosen work, and a long and happy life.—Jno. B. Glancie, M. D.

Rome and Prostitution.

Legalizing harlotry, no doubt, leads to this vice. According to ex-priests of Rome and others, the confessional and the forced celibacy of the priests are fruitful sources of social impurity.

The church of Rome grants for cash dispensations to break the seventh commandment, and according to ex-priest J. A. O'Connor, the priests sell masses to the keepers of houses of ill fame for the prosperity of their business. M. M. Wolfe, superintendent of the Memorial House for Homeless

Girls in New Orleans says: "I visited a 'Gilded Palace,' and talked with the proprietor, who had kept a house of prostitution for thirty years. She told me that her house was the most genteel and quiet of any in this city, and that in all the thirty years she had been in business, she had never been obliged to appear before the police court. The inmates of this house were young girls. She said when she first got them they were kept for a time quite secluded, not permitted to appear in the parlors until she had taught them that even in a house of prostitution they need not go down in the mud. And she also taught them their duty to the church. In a room of this house candles burn before a crucifix, and a fountain of holy water stands by a cold, hard image where these poor creatures prostrate themselves, making the sign to the cross and mumbling prayers."—The A. Smith.

Church Taxation.

The Roman Catholic church, unlike any other church in this country, is an alien church, whose official authority, supervision and direction, policy and purposes come from Italy. It is not a Canadian church. It is an Italian church. It is a medieval church, with its headquarters in Rome. Its officers are appointed by the prince, to whom they swear allegiance, not elected by the people of this country.

Another reason for taxation which we would give, is that a very considerable amount of property of the Romish church is business property, used for purposes of direct revenue.

We here cite to you a proof of this statement in Canada. Please notice the connection in which it occurs.

In the session of the Quebec legislature, in 1876 and 1877, the "sisters of providence" obtained the passing of an act by a large majority—the vote was forty against thirteen—giving them authority to carry on every kind of manufacture in the convent.

Why should a factory carried on by a corporation pay a tax for its property and its product, and a factory carried on under the name of a convent or a monastery go free of taxation, both as to its property and its product? Let any workman answer that.—Patriotic Canadian.

Naturalization.

It is high time that our naturalization laws should be amended in the interest of the public safety. The facility with which citizens are now made existing laws exposes the country to very serious and formidable dangers.

Over in New Jersey, in certain counties, Russians, Italians and Hebrews, who had no perception whatever of the nature and dignity of citizenship, and no understanding of the Constitution and the laws were naturalized in squads of ten and one hundred at a time, the provisions of the law being deliberately disregarded by the courts in their eagerness to serve partisan bosses.

All experience go to show that our existing laws admit of the wholesale admission to citizenship of classes of men who constitute a serious menace to the social order and to good government. There can be no protection against misuse and the domination of the corrupt and vicious until we shall amend these laws, by making a longer preliminary residence a requisite to naturalization, and requiring every person who appears as an applicant to be able to read and write the English tongue.

It has happened more than once that the character of the National administration and the quality of our National law has been actually determined by the votes of newly naturalized aliens who had been dumped upon our shores as the refuse of the effete populations of Europe.
