Sunday Closing Disposed of by the Commission.

The Delay Said to He Caused by Scheming Workmen-They Wast an all Summer Jeb-Brasil's Commission In a Peck of CHICAGO, May 26, Sunday closing. in so far as the national commission is concerned, was knocked out in the final bout before that body Thursday. Commissioner Hundley of Alabama, who has been assisting Mr. Massey in the Sunday closing movement, and who is a member of the judiciary committee, brought the matter up on what he called "unfinished business". He said the minority report was substituted for the majority report two days ago simply for action, and in the order of business, but it did not dispose of the report providing for the closing of the gates on Sunday. Mr. Hundley made a strong argument and his law points were well taken, but from common usage and custom, the chair thought there was no unfinished business before the commission. Mr. Hundley persisted, however, in pushing the matter and was only beaten on a point of "no quorum." This effectually settles the national commission's opposition to the Sunday fair, as there is no likelihood of a quorum being obtained before July 1.

An Injunction May Step It. Unless District Attorney Milchrist takes some action in the courts to enjoin the officials, the fair will open next Sunday. At all events the impression is general that the fair will be open on that day. The council of administration did not take up the matter at its meeting, but the executive officers of the fair have been instructed to make arrangements for Sunday as to the usual guards, gatemen and ticket sellers.

Chief Justice Fuller May Decide. When District Attorney Michrist returns from Washington the probability is that he will file on Saturday in the United States circuit court an injunction to restrain the World's fair directory from opening the gates on Sunday. The matter will then rest with the court to issue or withhold a writ. It is within the range of possibility that Chief Justice Fuller may decide to sit in the case as he will arrive in this city early next week.

Not Used to American Ways.

Even a casual observer who passe through the departmental and foreign buildings, or walks past the incomplete structures in different parts of the grounds, cannot help noticing that much of the delay in completing pavillions and installations of exhibits is caused by the workmen who are employed by the various commissions. This is especially true of the foreign pavillions, buildings and exhibits, The commissioners are not accustomed to their rights, the ways and schemes of the American union workmen and, as a result, they are being badly treated. It seems as though every man wants to make his dall of Coffey county, Kansas, reached job last until the end of October. The the stock yards with his big steer Pro-Brazilian buildings were silent Thursday, the workmen having quit by order of their unions because the contractor did not pay them last Saturday, The commission has ample funds to meet all obligations, but the contractor does not intend to go shead until he has consulted the director general as to the best means to be taken to finish the building. The Fair Completed.

The members of the state World's fair commissions met and decided to issue a statement to their various constituents that the fair is now in a completed condition and that it is advisable for the people to begin their pilgrimages to the exposition now before the rush of the latter months comes.

Austria's contribution to the fine art display was opened to the public Thursday afternoon.

The formal opening of the Electricity building, which was announced for Saturday night, will not be given until Thursday of next week.

A Narrow Escape.

St. Louis, May 26.-While Arthur Foley, a millwright, was at work in the Plant flour mill, at Third and Chouteau avenue, his clothes were caught in some machinery and he was slowly drawn in, and just when it seemed he would be crushed by the heavy cogs he caught hold of a crossbeam and hung on for dear life. His clothes were torn from his back, and a large piece of flesh from under his left arm. Run on a Benver Bank Cheeked by the Clearing House.

DENVER, May 24. The run on the People's Savings bank, which gained such force Wednesday, was practically broken by the prompt action of the Clearing House association. A large number of depositors were present when INCOMEPLETE FOREIGN EXHIBITS the bank opened Thursday, but they were confronted with a notice that on all sums over $25, the usual notice of withdrawal of deposits under the rules of the bank, must be given, and many went away without even taking that step, but a majority gave notice of a withdrawal of their deposits. All the savings banks in the city announced that they would require notice under their rules for the withdrawal of all sums to excess of $25, and there was no run on any of them, although a number of depositors came around to make inquiries, and it is certain the run will not cause the suspension of the People's Savings Baptist Bible Study to Be Altered.

OPPOSED TO SUNDAY OPENING.

Important Questions Decided by the Presbyterian General Assembly Arguments in the Briggs Case Concluded. Other Religious Bedies In Seaston.

DENVER, May 26,-The second day's session or the American Baptist Publication society opened with devotional exercises. After a number of interesting addresses, the following recommendations were made:

First-That we publish an alternative course of bible study on the inductive plan, to include both the old and new testament, to begin with the study of the life of Christ in chronological order. Second-That there be two grades, junior and senior, the present "inductive quarterly" constituting the latter.

Third—That we publish an additional course of lessons of the primary department, beginning with the life of Christ, and including such selections from both the Old and the New Testament as may seem best adapted to the department.

In the discussion which followed the general inclination appeared to be for a change in the arrangement of the Sunday school series and, if need be, by going it alone as Baptists. The report of the Sunday school committee as a whole was adopted.

Dr. Henson read the report of the committee on Sunday closing of the Vorld's fair. It was in the form of resolutions which were greeted with applause and declared in unequivocal terms, that the opening of the fair on Sunday would be a flagrant act of dishonesty on the part of the fair committee. A number of earnest speeches were made upon the subject.

In the afternoon the first address on the programe was one on "The Bible Among the People," by the Rev. W. P. Hellings, D. D., Omaha.

Officers of the publication society were elected. In addition there was a board of 25 managers. The closing meeting of publication society was held at night.

THE PRESBYTERIANS

Work of the General Assembly on Thurs-

WASHINGTON, May 26 .- The Presbyterian general assembly has adopted the recommendation of the judicial committee that the six complaints against the New York synod, growing out of the Briggs trial, be referred to the judicial committee for trial. It also adopted, without dissent, the recommendations on overtures from the presbyteries concerning appeals from presbyteries direct to the general assembly, that such appeals are proper as to all matters relating to the policy of the church, but an overture from a presbytery as to a pending judicial case, such as that of Professor Briggs, advising the general assembly as to what action it should take in such cases, is irregular and unprecedented in ecclesiastical procedure and that the proper way for presbyteries to influence pending cases is through their respective commissioners on the floor of the general assembly.

After appointing a committee to certain whether the World's fair will be open on Sundays, the assembly resolved itself into a court and Professor Briggs concluded his speech in defense of the action of the New York presbytery in his case and in opposition to entertaining the appeal therefrom.

The general assembly reached the conclusion of the argument by parties interested in the case against Rev. Charles A. Briggs.
