

A TURBULENT CROWD.

Several Persons Assaulted in Spite of Police Protection.

The Proposed Lecture of Rev. J. G. White Postponed—Men Assaulted by Troughs.

The article which is appended was published in the Kansas City Journal of June 28, 1893. It will be found to be a very nearly true report of the affair.

Rev. J. G. White, of Streator, Ill., advertised that he would lecture to "men only" at the Third avenue armory last night, but he did not lecture.

It became noted about that trouble would arise if he attempted to carry out his intention, and a number of persons waited upon Colonel L. E. Irwin in the afternoon and requested him not to allow the armory to be used for the purpose of holding such a meeting.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD REGIMENT, N. G. M.—The armory of this regiment will be closed during the day and night of June 29, and no one will be admitted.

The meeting had been well advertised, and by 8 o'clock last night fully 2,500 men were in the street in front of the main entrance of the armory.

A number of persons who were interested in the meeting and who were instrumental in arranging for the lecture, were there, and called upon Colonel Irwin to know why they were denied admittance to the building.

The persons who had the meeting in charge attempted to secure Music hall, but failed. Then they decided to postpone the lecture to Friday night and to secure the Auditorium if possible.

A committee was accordingly sent to see Manager McAllister, of the Auditorium, and soon returned with the information that the hall had been secured and the lecture would surely be delivered there on Friday night.

While this parleying was going on, the crowd in the street became boisterous, and a number of free fights occurred.

Notwithstanding the fact that fifteen uniformed policemen and a number of officers in citizens' dress were on duty at the scene, no less than a dozen men were knocked down, and a number of them badly hurt.

Albert Johnson, a respectable and peaceable appearing young man, was struck in the eye and badly injured. At the corner of Twelfth and Harrison streets several other persons were assaulted and some of them roughly used, but they were so anxious to get away from the scene that their names could not be ascertained.

Neilson Howard, an old gentleman residing at Thirty-ninth and Woodland avenue was knocked down at the northeast corner of Twelfth and Trossel by a big, burly fellow and kicked into insensibility. The old man was taken into a grocery store on the corner and the police surgeon sent for. Dr. Inenfeldt took his injuries were not of a serious nature. He was taken to his home. Officer Hanson pursued the assailant for several blocks but could not catch him.

Chief Speers meanwhile had arrived on the scene and ordered the crowd to disperse, which seemed to have a quieting effect, but a number of persons loitered around the corner until a late hour.

The men who have the meeting in charge declare their intention to have Mr. White speak publicly in the city if it takes until Christmas.

Arrested for Preaching. A policeman, O'Mally by name, a day or two ago arrested Mrs. Emma Rice, whose crime was that of preaching on Peoria street, near to Madison.

The zeal of O'Mally is suspicious. Why has he never arrested any one of the street fakirs who orate by day and by night at the corners of Desplaines, Green, Peoria and Madison streets? Why is a woman who preaches a gospel according to Protestantism selected by O'Mally as subject to arrest for obstructing the streets, while the fellows who sell vermifuges, pencil sharpeners, brass jewelry and other shams, go unmolested? Who moved O'Mally toward this arrest? These questions are pertinent, and should be answered satisfactorily, or, in default thereof, O'Mally should be reprimanded, if not suspended, by his superiors.

ground of arrest why are not street fakirs arrested? Does any sane man believe that the man who sells vermifuge and draws a crowd of hundreds to listen to his laudation of his alleged medicine is sincere in his talk? Is the brass jewelry man a model of sincerity? The impertinent interjection of the plea of insincerity aggravates the case of O'Mally.

Neither preachers nor fakirs, neither men nor women have right to constitute themselves nuisances, or to create disturbances on the streets. But, taking it for granted that Mrs. Rice's preaching did create disturbances, was there no other way of dealing with her than putting her into a patrol wagon and then locking her up in a cell? Might not a remonstrance have been sufficient? Did O'Mally try remonstrance? Would not the matron's room have been a sufficient place of detention pending trial? Was she treated more severely than the street fakira are? In fact, was O'Mally—to say the least—injurious in his treatment of Mrs. Rice? These questions, we repeat, are pertinent. The liberty of the person is one not lightly to be abused by policemen, and especially is this true when personal liberty is abridged under circumstances open to suspicion of religious persecution.

A Pretty Event. At the close of this month of roses and weddings occurred one of the prettiest events of the season—the marriage of Mr. Chas. S. West and Miss Bessie M. Park, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Park, 3221 Leavenworth St., Wednesday evening, at 8:30 sharp.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. C. Clendenning while Rev. T. C. Clendenning performed the ceremony, after which the happy couple received congratulations from their many friends. The house was beautifully decorated with palms and La France roses. The bride was attired in a simple gown of cream mull with Valenciennes lace, and carried a large bouquet of bride roses.

The persons who had the meeting in charge attempted to secure Music hall, but failed. Then they decided to postpone the lecture to Friday night and to secure the Auditorium if possible.
