About one-fourth the land was held by the church.

The fact protrudes at every point of observation that the Roman church is now, as perhaps never in its history, actuated by the lust of greed. In following up this money ambition the most unserupulous means are resorted to although this is quite incredible to those who are not in a situation to observe the unprincipled and disgusting methods of greed, such persons are amazed at the simple facts.

I do not quite like to hear anyone lecture upon the filthiness of Rome, for I somehow think that in handling pitch some is liable to soil the one who handles it. There is enough, God knows, in all her monstrous claims, in all her black history, (which as infallible she cannot escape from), in all the current history of countries that own, or have recently owned her supremacy, in all her distortions of truth, to employ the pen and tongue of our men of metal, without touching on-except indeed sparingly-her infamous impurity.

I often wonder to myself, and question why it is, that our Protestant pulpits so rarely touch upon this question. "CUPRIC ELECTROLYSIS."

How the Mysterious Agent May Be Utilized to Control Hemorrhages.

One of the most wonderful of modern discoveries in the region of electrotherapy is the system of "cupric electrolysis" brought out by Gautier of Paris, by which a metallio deposit can be made on any part of the body, internal or external. The process will be understood by recalling the fact that an iron needle connected to the positive pole plunged into human tis-sue is quickly attacked by the oxygen, and chlorine set free at this pole is converted into oxychloride of iron, a double salt, and is soon completely destroyed.

The same is true of any metal attacked by oxygen or chlorine. A copper needle or bulb or other conveniently shaped electrode penetrating tissue or laid against I have always thought that it was dark- mucous membrane, especially within the cavities of the body, is converted into oxychloride of copper, zinc into oxychloride of zinc, and so on. This method has only recently been introduced into this country, but its benefits promise to be farreaching when it is brought into general practice.

In gynecological work especially it secures results attainable by no other means, as the introduction of the positive copper sound affords not only the intrinsic advantage of the current, but also the further beneficial action of an antiseptic salt whose permeation into the tissues contributes to their strength and nutrition. In other words, the metallic deposit is first made, and then by what is termed "cataphoresis" driven into the tissues. It is highly probable that this will be the treatment of the future in catarrh cases, copper bulb, through which an electric current is passing, is swept over the nasal, throat and mucous membranes and depos its and drives in the copper salts. This method is both rapid and painless. and its effects are described as magical. An eminent electrotherapeutist states that in his hands its results far surpass the most sanguine claim of any other treatment. It is also likely to create a new practice in the antisepticizing and healing of unhealthy ulcerations and discharging cavities, the dispersion of tumors and the reduction to a healthy state of the granular eyelids of conjunctivitis. Dr. Augustin Goelet now calls attention to the adaptability of this principle to the control of hemorrhage, especially in connection with internal operation, such as have frequently to be carried out in gynecology. Dr. Goelet does further commendable service by showing wherein it has at times proved unsuccessful and pointing out how failure can to a great extent be avoided. He insists that if the applications are persevered with and are properly made, they will in the majority of cases control an active hemorrhage. One point of supreme importance is that there should be actual and complete contact between the electrode and the surface acted upon, and for the attainment of this object the use of an enlarged and possibly egg shaped electrode may at times be advisable. It is most satisfactory to know, on such authority, that electricity can be so effectively applied to a disastrous ailment against which every resource of the physician has heretofore but too often proved powerless .- St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Unsociable.

We envy neither the men nor the wom en who cannot speak to a fellow creature out of their own circle or to any body without the formality of an introduction. There is no computing the amount of profit as well as pleasure such persons lose by hedging themselves in with this stupid fence of fastidiousness. We have always found more of this feeling among persons who were more touchy on their social position than among those self respecting persons who thought nothing about it. A great deal of intelligence is floating round the world without being labeled, and those men or women who have the good sense to recognize this fact and act upon it not only are educating themselves, but conferring that pleasure which we are all bound by the common ties of humanity to exchange with one another. It seems to us that it is only the snob and pretender who take a different view of this ques-
