

BIGGEST OF THEM ALL

A Strike in the Lone Star in Poverty Gulch Worth $200,000 a Ton.

Ore That Is Almost Solid Sylvaniaite a Little More Than 100 Feet Below the Surface.

When ore is found that runs better than $100,000 per ton in gold it is worthy of more than passing notice, even in the Cripple Creek district, says the Cripple Creek Times of the 15th inst. Any place else on earth people would be wild, but when one meets the average citizen of the Cripple Creek district, who of course has mined more or less himself, and asks if he has seen that $100,000 stuff they are digging out just up Myers avenue here, three or four blocks from the heart of town, in Poverty gulch, little surprise is manifested. The man who is informed that there is rock in Poverty gulch worth from $100,000 to $200,000 per ton in gold, simply responds: "Well, that is pretty good," and goes on thinking about what he'll have to show them when he gets a little further along with his tunnel in Squaw gulch or sinks his shaft a little deeper in Cow mountain.

The Lone Star, the property of the Arcadia company in Poverty gulch at the head of Myers avenue—that is in full the name and location of the richest strike ever made in the district. In the same gulch a little further up is the oldest mine in this district, discovered about five years. And it is even said that this same locality, bearing as it does to-day the ignominious title of "Poverty gulch," was visited by the adventurers who first came to Pike's Peak in search for gold in 1859. The gold was there in quantities in excess of the wildest dreams of either the original or latter day prospectors. They have been finding it for a few years past, but not till yesterday was made the crowning discovery of centuries—the fabulous riches of the Arcadia.

Mining was conducted in a desultory sort of way in the immediate vicinity of this strike during a part of last year and it was on the Abe Lincoln, an adjoining and overlapping claim, that the first indication of a possibly future great mine was given. Lessees were working the block of ground close to the Lone Star side line and opened the vein. This lease is still worked by DeWitt, Tutt and Penrose, and is producing the same general character of sylvaniaite ore from a shaft now in excess of 100 feet and scarcely 100 feet distant from the Lone Star works. The Marinet company is working further east and north on the same vein and sinking a shaft rapidly to catch the same chute.

To describe more minutely the big find of yesterday, it should be stated that the streak of sylvaniaite that runs into the hundreds of thousands in value was opened in the drift from the 130-foot level, a distance of about fifty feet from the shaft. The specimens taken out yesterday, and seen at the mine by the Times reporter, showed an average of an inch or more of stuff that is pure sylvaniaite. There is a little rock to be sure in this rich part of the vein, but not enough to discourage the tender-foot miner who once complained of there being more rock than gold in the ore. One assay made yesterday ran over $200,000.

CITY AND STATE

Hon. Thomas D. Crane has been looking after legal business in Lincoln and Seward this week.

Judge G. W. Corvill is attending legal business in DeKalb, Mo. He will return about the 20th inst.

Hon. I. R. Andrews expects to leave the city on the 18th for a short vacation which he will spend in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Phil E. Winter, assistant county attorney, is spending a brief holiday in Blue Rapids, Kan., where he is the guest of relatives and friends.

Congressman D. H. Mercer left for Washington Tuesday evening to resume his duties as secretary of the national congressional campaign committee.

The Modern Woodmen will hold their annual picnic at Blair next Tuesday. The excursion train will leave in the early morning from the Webster street depot.

Things around the office of Saunders & Macfarland are on the move. They are busy closing up many old cases and preparing new ones. They announce that they will have no time for vacation this year.

Senator Thurston has returned home from the East, where he attended a meeting of the national Republican committee. He expects to take the stump in the interest of the Republican ticket in a short time.

A number of the members of American L. O. L. of this city visited their Council Bluffs brethren Thursday evening, where they were royally entertained by L. O. L. No. 332, which is one of the most prosperous lodges in Iowa.

U. P. Lodge No. 17, A. O. U. W., gives an excursion and picnic to Blair on the 25th inst. All the members can be supplied with tickets by attending lodge next Friday night or applying to Brother McCoy, financial secretary of the lodge.

About twenty-five citizens of Omaha visited Hastings this week in the interest of the Trans-Mississippi Exposition. They expect to visit many of the surrounding towns and thereby work up the interest of every place west of the Mississippi river.

Herbert S. Crane, the attorney, is receiving considerable recognition at the Douglas county bar. Since his relocation in this city many of his old clients have again placed their business in his hands, and he has added many new ones to the list. He offices with his brother, Senator Thomas D. Crane.

The John L. Webster Republican Club has about perfected plans for a grand ratification meeting which will be held the evening of July 30. Speeches will be delivered by Hon. John L. Webster, Hon. A. S. Churchill, Hon. J. H. MacColl and other prominent Republicans. Of this fact let every member of the club take due notice and govern himself accordingly.

There is necessity for us to more than mention the fact that an accident occurred last Saturday to the excursion train which carried the U. P. Pioneers to Logan, Ia., on a picnic, which caused the death of twenty-nine citizens of Omaha, Council Bluffs and Missouri Valley, and wounded probably twice that number. The daily papers were all filled with accounts at the time. Since that time the conductor and engineer of the excursion train have been adjudged guilty of disobeying orders and have been held to the district court.

The Young Men's Republican Thurston Club gave a reception to J. H. MacColl in the rotunda of the city hall Thursday from 8:30 to 10. Quite a large crowd was in attendance. Senator Thurston delivered one of his characteristic speeches, which was loudly applauded, after which Mr. MacColl addressed the gathering, shook the hand of each one present, and told them he was pleased to meet them. The hall was beautifully decorated with the national colors and those of the Ak-Sar-Ben. And orchestra under the direction of Julius Thiele rendered several fine selections.

The Chicago & Northwestern officials have been in the city the most of the week looking after affairs pertaining to the wreck last Saturday evening at Logan. The company has announced that it will pay the entire funeral expense of those killed and pay for the medical attendance of those injured. The wreck at Logan was the most serious that has ever occurred on the Northwestern system, and the company itself is not to blame, for had the engineer and conductor obeyed the rules regulating the running of trains, it would not have occurred. The company will have to pay the cost incidental to the negligence of its employees.

THE TRAMP PRIEST.

Rev. J. H. O'Brien, formerly vicar-general of the Roman Catholic diocese of Fort Wayne, Ind., tells in the July number of the Converted Catholic how the sacerdos vagabundus, or tramp priest, evolved. The observant and thoughtful American Protestant has doubtless often wondered why an Italian, Belgian or French priest should so often in this country be put over parishes composed of Americanized Irish. Why should Rome give this alien priests from the darkest corners of southern Europe charge of English speaking congregations in the cities, while she sends the American priest to minister to the wants of some little, out-of-the-way parish composed of mixed nationalities?

According to Mr. O'Brien, "no priest has ever freely left Europe and resigned his charge there to become a missionary to the United States. They have all been suspended and expelled from their own countries; the contrary idea is ridiculous, and they themselves would laugh at it. Having been dismissed by their own bishops, they come here, and our bishops receive them with open arms; and though they can scarcely make themselves intelligible in our language, they are provided with a very good living to the detriment of our own clergy." This love of Romish bishops in America for foreigners is "because they are so humble, so willing to do any dirty piece of business for them without asking questions."

The self-respecting American priest who has too much manhood about him to play the part of Uriah Heap in his ecclesiastical superior, soon finds himself either summarily suspended without even the show of a trial, or appointed to some poor country parish of rough, uneducated people. How he will conduct himself under the latter circumstances depends on the amount of grit and grace he possesses. He may be that rara avis, a devout, spiritually-minded priest who has voluntarily chosen his sacred calling instead of being forced into it by parental ambition or any other extraneous cause. In this case, he will toll, making the best of the discouraging features of his lot, and trying to be a faithful shepherd over his few sheep in the wilderness. If he has a preponderance of grit he will rebel and demand his rights. If he has neither grit nor grace, he will probably take to drink. The priest who presumes to tell his bishop that he is unjust is sure of suspension; the one who drowns his feelings of discouragement in drink and unworthy pleasures will be suspended as soon as his conduct becomes too open a scandal—not before. From these two classes comes the tramp priest.

Sometimes he is sacrificed to the jealousy of his superior pastor, in which case the latter seeks an opportunity for his removal, which he generally finds, perhaps through his housekeeper, who he engages as special detective. What she hears, and sees, and suspects, she retails to her master, and though it may be all one huge lie, the bishop soon hears enough to give the young man his marching orders, without taking the time or trouble to inquire whether the accusations made against him are true or false. He is not allowed to defend himself or call any witnesses, utterly unconscious though he may be of having done anything wrong. He is presumed guilty, and if he has incurred for any special reason the displeasure of his bishop, woe to the unfortunate man. He is set adrift, ruined and disgraced. Never having been taught a trade or profession, he is forced to beg, and becomes that most miserable of objects—a tramp priest, reduced to the position by a tyranny even more absolute and terrible than that of the unspeakable Turk.

The supreme council is reported to have decided to keep its hands out of the presidential contest.

DICK BLAND will now be a candidate for congress.

DR. C. GEE WO.

Read the following convincing testimonial from two prominent Omaha Citizens: Judge Isaac S. Hascall and R. F. Williams have this to say. We consider Dr. C. Gee Wo of 519 North 16th St., Omaha, Neb., one of the best physicians in the city for the following reasons: Four years ago our daughter became very nervous and at times sick and unable to control herself. We doctored with and consulted nine of the leading physicians of this city, but she gradually grew worse, until on the 7th of October, 1895, she was attacked with spasms. She was unconscious and delirious for weeks following the attack, and at a consultation of physicians they agreed that she could not get well. We then employed Dr. C. Gee Wo, and the patient began to improve at once, and in a remarkably short time was up. She is feeling better than she has for a long time. She is improving every day and bids fair to get entirely well. R. F. WILLIAMS, Father. ISAAC S. HASCALL, a near Relative. 2105 S. 12th St.

Ex-CONSTABLE S. B. CLARK, office 519 1/2-14th St., says: "I can't say too much for Dr. C. Gee Wo. My little boy and girl had diphtheria and other physicians said they could not recover. I then called in Dr. C. Gee Wo, and in less than 24 hours they were out of danger. He also cured myself of Lagrip and general debility, and my wife of inflammation of the bowels and female weakness, from which she had suffered many years. I can't thank him enough for what he has done in my family. S. B. CLARK and WIFE.
