LAND FORCES OFF SANTIAGO.

Admiral Sampson Hoists His Flag on the Battleship Massachusetts - Schley's Bombardment Was Only a Preliminary Skirmish to the General Attack.

WASHINGTON, June 3. - Secretary Long is still waiting for Schley and Sampson to report on the Santiago encagement. The secretary of the navy is not at the department to-day, having been detained at his apartment by a alight indisposition. The only information he had received concerning the reportedSantiago battle up to 10:15 o'clock this morning came to him through the press dispatches. The press accounts of the bombardment of Santiago were sent to the secretary and the President last night, but the official dispatch received at the state department contained nothing to confirm the press reports of the engagement.

From an official source it is learned that the only positive information received in Washington from Santiago during the last twenty-four hours is to the effect that the Spanish fleet made bold attempt to escape from the harbor of Santiago Monday night, but was driven back by Commodore Schley's ships. From the same source it is learned that Admiral Cervera is short of coal and provisions and he realizes that certain destruction ewaits him should he remain there.

The bombardment of the fortifications at the entrance of Santiago is regarded by the naval authorities as a preliminary skirmish, to be followed by a general attack upon Santiage without further delay. Admiral Sampson having relieved Commodore Schley, in front of Santiago, will proceed to wage an aggressive warfare against the land and sea forces of the Spaniards in and out of Santiago. It is believed that Admiral Sampson has run up his flag on the Massachusetts, which probably accounts for the hauling down of Schley's flag from the peak of the Brooklyn. The attack on Santiago may begin to-day and it is understood a portion of the land forces are off Santiago prepared to make a landing and co-operate with Admiral Sampson.

The United States May Ask France for Indomnity.

LONDON, June 3. - Documents proving the American citizenship of Dr. Cornelius Herz, who was prominently connected with Panama canal matters, are now on their way to Washington.

It is said that Secretary Day has informed Dr. Herz that if he can show he has done all possible, without avail, to obtain compensation from France for his seeming persecution, the United States will take up his case. Consequently, the sworn proofs of his Amer-

Spanish Republican Leader in Trouble Through Criticising Queen Regent.

MADRID, June 1 - An article signed by Senor Emilio Castelar, the distinguished Republican statesman, which appeared in the Petite Revue Internacionale, and which has been reproduced in several Spanish papers that are being prosecuted for their production, has caused a great sensation. Senor Castelar attacks the queen regent, reproaching her for being a foreigner and unpopular, and with interfering unjustifiably in political affairs. He compares her present position with that of Queen Marie Antoinette on the eve of the French revolution.

The matter came before the senate to-day, Duke De Roca demanding the prosecution of Castelar, and other senator expressing in violent terms their indignation at Senor Castelar's conduct. Senor Capedon, the minister of the interior, announced that the matter had already been placed before the law officers.

QUEEN REGENT IS A MAINSTAY.

But for Her the Monarchy Would Surely Perish in Spain.

NEW YORK, June 3.-Hannis Taylor, recently United States minister to Spain, discusses in the June number of the North American Review, the political future of Spain.

"The most priceless possession of Spain," says Mr. Taylor, "is Maria Christina, because she alone bars the door to a renewal of the civil war which at this moment would be destructive to the country. In this dark hour of Spain's misfortune, her pure, womanly character shines forth like a light in a dark place, round which all patriotic Spaniards gather.

"If monarchical institutions survive. her overthrow means the accession of Don Carlos, who, apart from his utter and admitted worthlessness as a man. represents a set of medaeval ideas and inspirations that would set Spain far into the past-at least a century."

The British Coal Condemned.

KEY WEST, Fla., June 3 -The United States prize court yesterday condemned as a lawful prize the coal composing the cargo of the English steamer Restormel.

By noon on Saturday the converted yacht Vixen had also coaled and at 1 cers of the St. Paul have heard nothing o'clock, not having heard from the St. Paul, the American war ships moved again toward Santiago.

First standing off the coast about fifteen miles, the squadron afterward circled in front of Morro castle, but not close enough in to get a view of the inside of the harbor, guarding carefully against the possibilities of a torpedo boat attack.

At night the squadron lay off a point of land and in the morning, Sunday, the St. Paul came along, but did not get any knowledge of the Spanish ships' whereabouts.

Consequently Commodore Schley de-termined to find it himself, and with the flagship in the lead he started toward the harbor. The Spanish troops at the earthworks and batteries could be seen through glasses, preparing in haste to give the American ships as warm a reception as possible.

Morally certain that Cervera was within, but not positive on that score. the commodore ordered the Marblehead to run close under the guns of Morro, to reach the entrance to the narrow and tortuous channel and to see as far as possible into the bay in order to ascertain the location of the enemy's fleet.

The Marblehead obeyed orders, and even exceeded them, for her daring commander, Captain McCalla, actually entered the channel mouth. She was going at a high rate of speed as she passed Morro, and she avoided shoal water with great dexterity. She entered the channel between Morrillo point and the Diamond bank, and all on board had a clean sweep with their eyes of the bay as far as Punta Gorda. What they saw caused every heart to beat faster and every man to wish that the time had arrived for action, for there in the bay, some distance below the city, were four Spanish cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers. The Spaniards had evidently been lulled into a sense of security by the absence of any attack, for they had dropped a considerable distance down toward the channel's mouth. The vessels were lying behind the batteries. and the Spaniards had made use of the old Reina Mercedes, for she was in their midst with guns mounted. She has long since seen her fighting days. but she had been placed in front of the fleet, and it was evidently the intention of Cervera to use her as a means of defense as long as she would last.

The Marblehead lost no time in running out of the channel and at full speed again passed Morro and reached the Brooklyn, the flagship of Commodore Schley, with the news. It was and there are now over 200 letters ad-definitely ascertained that the vessels the soldiers or sailors held in Twinting vs. Am. Nat. Shore Batteries.

PARIS. June 3.- A dispatch to the Figaro from Hong Kong says that the Spaniards are busily employed in fortifying the shore at Manila. They are bringing all the field guns from the various points in the interior, in order to use them in the shore batteries. Engineer and artillery officers have little faith in the ability of the Spanish defenses to withstand the heavy American guns, but the infantry officers still profess to believe that they will be able to hold the city.

The correspondent also confirms the statement that Captain General Augusti has set a price of $25,000 on the head of Aguinaldo, the leader of the Philippine insurgents. This money will be paid for Aguinaldo, dead or alive.
