

HAT ROME TEACHES

the Year 1900 Rome Will... This Country and Keep It—Hecker.

She Hoasts That Religious Liberty is Only Endured Until the Opposite Side can Be Put into Effect Without Injury to the Roman Church.

Education outside of the Catholic Church is a damnable heresy.—Pope Pius IX.

Education must be controlled by Catholic authorities, even to war and bloodshed.—Catholic World.

I frankly confess that the Catholics stand before the country as the enemies of the public schools.—Father Phelan.

I would as soon administer sacrament to a dog as to Catholics who send their children to public schools.—Father Walker.

The public schools have produced nothing but a godless generation of thieves and blackguards.—Father Schaner.

It will be a glorious day in this country when under the laws the school system will be shivered to pieces.—Catholic Telegraph.

The public schools are nurseries of vice; they are godless and unless suppressed will prove the damnation of this country.—Father Walker.

We must take part in the elections, move in a solid mass in every state against the party pledged to sustain the integrity of the public schools.—McCloskey.

The common schools of this country are sinks of moral pollution and nurseries of hell.—Chicago Tablet.

The time is not far away when the Roman Catholic Church of the Republic of the United States, at the order of the Pope, will refuse to pay their school tax, and will send bullets to the breasts of the government agents rather than pay it.

It will come quickly at the click of a trigger, and will be obeyed, of course, as coming from Almighty God.—Mgr. Capel.

We hate Protestantism; we deal with our whole heart and soul.—Catholic Visitor.

"No man has a right to choose his religion."—Archbishop Hughes in Freeman's Journal, Jan. 29, 1852.

"If Catholics ever gain sufficient numerical majority in this country, religious freedom is at an end."—Catholic Shepherd of the Valley, Nov. 23, 1851.

"Protestantism, of every form, has not, and never can have any right where Catholicity is triumphant."—Dr. O. A. Brownson's Catholic Review, June, 1851.

"We have taken this principle for a basis: That the Catholic religion with all its rights, ought to be exclusively dominant, in such sort, that every other worship shall be banished and interdicted."—Pius IX. in his allocution to a Consistory of Cardinals, September, 1851.

"Protestantism—why, we should blow it away and quarter it, and hang up its crow's nest. We would tear it with pincers and fire it with hot irons! Fill it with molten lead and sink it in hell fire one hundred fathoms deep."—Father Phelan, Editor Western Watchman.

"Religious liberty is merely endured until the opposite side can be carried into effect, without peril to the Catholic Church."—Bishop O'Connor.

The Roman Catholic is to wield his vote for the purpose of securing Catholic ascendancy in this country."—Father Hecker, in the Catholic World, July, 1870.

"Undoubtedly it is the intention of the Pope to possess this country. In this intention he is aided by the Jesuits and Catholic prelates and priests."—Brownson's Catholic Review, July, 1854.

When a Catholic candidate is on a ticket and his opponent is a non-Catholic, let the Catholic candidate have the vote, no matter what he represents."—Catholic Review, July, 1894.

"In case of conflicting laws between the two powers, the laws of the church must prevail over the state."—Pius IX, Syllabus 1864.

"We hold the state to be only an inferior court, receiving its authority from the church and liable to have its decrees reversed upon appeal."—Brownson's Essays, p. 232.

"We do not accept this government or hold it to be any government at all, or as capable of performing any of the proper functions of government. If the American government is to be sustained and preserved at all, it must be by the rejection of the principles of the Reformation (that is, the government by the people), and the acceptance of the Catholic principle, which is the government of the pope."—Catholic World, September, 1871.

"I acknowledge no civil power."—Cardinal Manning, speaking in the name of the Pope. S. R. S., 1873.

"The Pope, as the head and mouthpiece of the Catholic Church, administers its discipline and issues orders to which every Catholic under pain of sin must yield obedience."—Catholic World, August, 1868.

"In 1900 Rome will take this country and keep it."—Priest Hecker.

"The will of the Pope is the supreme law of all lands."—Archbishop Ireland.

We have plenty of the issue of January 28, containing the exposure of Rome's plot to take this country by the sword. Ten for 30 cents; fifty for $1.25; 90 for $2. 500 for $7.50; 1,000 for $10. Have you sent any of that number to your friends? You should! They should not sleep longer.

Like Linden, Mich., Feb., 21, 1898

Dear Sir:—

I received your Atlas of the World and I am well pleased; far beyond my expectations.

JOHN COLLING.

No man's influence is so small but what he could make it tell against Rome.

TEN POINTERS.

BY H. W. BOWMAN

Papal pills are sugar coated.

Credulity is the basis of Rome's religion.

Get a papist to thinking and the priest will curse you.

The priest's blindest eye is on the side where the most money comes from.

A Bible is the most harmful book a papist can read—if we judge from Rome's past acts.

No man can walk with civilization and stay in the woods of papal superstition.

Rome wears a religious cloak, yet has a cold heart.

A confessional box is the tomb of self-respect.

Wearing a cross does not cure crossness.

Hatred is nursed by papal prejudice.

The brighter history shines the darker Rome's record.

It is hard to convince a papist who lets the priest do his thinking.

To know that popery is a curse makes a man want to rid the earth of it.

Keeping knowledge in the hands of the priest starves the minds of the people.

You can never tell what a papist will do out of a church by his looks of devotion within.

Rome has trouble with the man who does his own thinking.

Popery throws the most mud at the whitest garments.

Are You Well?

GOOD HEALTH is a rare boon to generally neglected. Those fortunately thus endowed from birth are apt to be reckless of their heritage. It is so easy to lose or dissipate it that lucky fellows are lucky indeed, they have sense enough to learn how to maintain it. This all can do by reading "Plain Home Talk" on the causes of disease, errors in diet, excessive tea and coffee drinking, the usual abuse of stimulants, the bad habits of children, the prevalence of errors of the results of a road chase for wealth, of overwork, over study, failures in business, the fact that health is the basis of wealth—no vice, no crime, and the causes and effects of horrible melancholy—these are all matters it would be well for you to think over.

Are You Engaged?

ARE YOU ENGAGED? NLY hoping to be as yet, perhaps, "well" is not to be happy. It is so easy to get in and so difficult to get out, that it is well worth while to "be sure you are right before you go ahead." There is no book so helpful in enabling you to select wisely as "Plain Home Talk." You can learn something from other's mistakes. The History of Marriage of all kinds, in all countries, the experiments some nations have made, ancient and modern, marriage and civilization, help us to know what not to do. The sexual tumescence growing out of unassisted nature and marriage, the history of prostitution, its prevalence, its prevention, its dangers, the efforts of religious and secularists to subvert and control the dominant passion—all these subjects are treated in full, and in a plain, readable, and interesting manner. On the other hand, chapters on adaptation in marriage—physical, mental and moral;—on early marriage, intermarriage, elopements, etc., etc., add the reader to a good match, select happily for longer and shorter life, and to escape the rat trap and lottery kinds of marriage.

Are You Married?

THERE are chapters equally useful in showing you how to be happy though married. Many people would get along better if they knew how to adapt themselves to each other, and would try to understand one another's needs. They ought to read with "Plain Home Talk" says about the true philosophy of intercourse, the "natural" relations of the sexes, the influence on health and will of "perverts," "the wormwood" that constitutes social life, etc., etc. Many will find much satisfaction in the chapter on barrenness which has been the cause of great joy to many a childless pair, aiding them to discover and remove the obstacle. Others like its unique essays for married people, jealousy, indifference, prevention, continence, food for pregnant women, the explanation of child-making, why children of second husband resemble the first, etc., etc. In short, men and women hesitate to talk with their own physicians concerning many delicate questions that perplex them and that they really need to understand, and which this book will enlighten them on—but remember that if it fails to do so, the author stands ready to make up for the omission by replying free of charge to special letters of enquiry.

DON'T THINK you already have "something like it or just as good." Hundreds have declared that it is "peculiar to itself" and far ahead of all other works. DON'T FORGET that this work is offered for its own intrinsic merit and utility, and not distributed in cheap form to advertise proprietary medicines. TESTIMONIALS of the most enthusiastic kind from all countries where English is spoken. PROFESSIONAL men of all classes, clergymen, doctors, lawyers, editors, critics, have given flattering endorsement; remarkably few critical.
