ODD PROPER NAMES.

A Book for the Patriarchal Steads to He Abbore Dress Suits and Umbrellan Families

At last complexity, and it happens it a woman, has written a book that modeled on nobody's and will prove meet comforting possession for the sends of patriarchal families, says the New York World. In a word, it to # sok made up solvly of aurnames actually in use of the most violengly striking order. Any man or woman who has been burdened with an un comety or suggestively uncomfortable name will find solace in the perusal o names like those taken from life and recorded in this book.

For the benefit of specialists the names have been ingeniously arranged secording to their kind, as a list from the anatomical section will indicate Back, Firmback, Brownback, Slyback Noback, Shoulders, Spine, Waist, Leg Foot, Knee, Barefoot, Loudfoot, Clinkerfoot. Heel and Soles."

Again, in the list of medicated names one finds new support for the theory that surnames were not chosen but inflicted upon their bearers. Otherwise how account for names like these Doctor, Bonecutter, Apothecary, Patient, Sickman, Paleman, Nurse, Vigit Lint, Splint, Brace, Sling, Swab Crutch, Bottles, Vial, Stopper, Cork Label, Dose, Diet, Drugs, Cordial, Balsam, Bitters, Arnica, Hartsborn, Logwood, Brimstone, Morphia, Pill, Pellet. Powders, Plasters, Salve, Malady, Ache Shiver, Chill, Cough, Grip, Croup Bumps, Lump, Bruise, Scar Sprain, Warts, Splinter, Fester, Well Shock, Gash, Gore, Matter Itchings, Twitchings, Lame Blind, Slender, Slim, Lean, Lank, Hag-Pale, Delicate, Frail, Sallow Paint, Sickly, Ill, Weak, Weary, Palling, Moan, Groan, Suffer, Heal, Cure Pat, Tall, Straight, Hearty, Well."

The supply of domestic names is re markably full and interesting: "Kitchen, Cook, Servant, Scullion, Coke, Shovel, Range, Kindling, Fagot, Coal Smoke, Bellows, Spark, Blaze, Hotfira Burn, Clinker, Soot, Kettle, Washer Wringer, Pump, Sink, Drain, Dipper Jug, Crock, Tins, Knife, Fork, Spoon Coffee, Cream, Sugar, Tea, Butter Bread, Yeast, Muffin, Rolls, Johnny Oyster, Clam, Pickles, Olive Peppers, Cinnamon, Mace, and Mus-

As a book to while away the minutes without taxing the brain unduly this volume will be of especial value to the sick and the weary.

A Lucky Accident.

The discovery of a method of tinting paper was due to a curious accident ped the "blue bag" ( a bag containing made, says Anton Roman in the Over-blue for laundry purposes) into a vat land. My own recollection of the ingive the entire mass a bluish tint, be- from Mr. Harte's. "Genou, March 18.-1830.-Went to the king's palace. The king and queen sleep together, and on each side of the royal bed is an assortment of lvory paims, crucifixes, boxes for holy water and other spiritual guards for their souls. For the comfort of their bodies he has had a machine made like a car, which is drawn up by a chaffi from the bottom to the top of the house: It holds about six people, who can be at pleasure elevated to any story, and at each landing place there is a contrivance to let them in and the is of cut glass with sliver decora-out."—"The Greville Memoirs."

THE KAISEN'S WARDROUS.

Not Entracagnet.

The haiser is a military man from crown to foot, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. His numerous wardrobes contain only five suits of muftl, spontly made in Vienna. Like most German officers, he never looks well in them. He has a particular abneigung against the swallow-tail, which reminds him of the sember surroundings of a funeral. This unconquerable objection is accountable for an imperial regulation ordaining that wherever possible courtiers and guests shall wear the frock coat a la Anglaise, otherwise the newly introduced court dress is de rigeur. The black swallow-tail is thus fast being forced out of German court circles. Umbrellas are his pet aversion—he never possessed one in his life, and, as to sticks, they are usually the cheapest be can buy. His rifles are under the special care of the leibjager, and are kept in a special cupboard. A remarkable feature of this collection, says the Pall Mail Gazette, is the hunting sticks which his majesty has cut with his own hand while out hunting or received as presents during his expeditions, from gentry and peasantry alike. The kalser's wardrobes occupy a suite of five rooms in the old castle at Berlin. They are massive and of oak. In the middle of one of the rooms is a large table for spreading out the uniforms. There is a sixth room, in which small repairs are undertaken. Here a tailor is permanently employed, for Kaiser Wilbelm does not throw away clothes until they are well worn. He keeps about eighteen pairs of white military gloves in use. These are cleaned and repaired from time to time. The glover receives a small yearly sum for his services. Each pair is supposed to have a certain "life." Should the leather show any defect it is returned to the unlucky glover, with a peremptory demand for an explanation. When a suit is ordered, woe to the tailor should it not fit like a glove, though a "try on" is never permitted. Directly a suit has been taken off it is returned to the wardrobe and there subjected to the closest scrutiny. The orders and decorations are kept in an iron safe and represent in value about 1,500,000 marks.
